We have heard numerous remarks on the pro and con of the Peach Festival, it's good, bad and indifferent points. This in itself is a healthy state for it shows an attitude of interest by local people However, many of these remarks were anti-social which means that they did not agree with decision of the various committees. We feel that it is common knowledge that you can't please everybody. Red Glasscock, Claud Blackwell and hundreds of others worked hard and did everything in their power to produce a Festival for which we Chilton Countians could be proud We feel that they accomplished this end. It is bad citizenship to talk down a project of which you are voluntarily or involuntarily a part. Some were part of the Peach Festival merely due to geography. Others had a true and sincere interest in the betterment of Chilton County. We know personally, that whatever the abovementioned men go after they usually come up with some sort of satisfactory results. Because the Festival did not please you completely do not condemn it as a failure. By and large and as far as we can tell it was a smashing success. If you do not share in our opinion at least find something good that did come from it rather than ever and eternally knocking the efforts of others. They are human and they make mistakes. Realizing this you should commend them for a job well done for the whole of Chilton County and its Peach industr. They gained nary a cent for the long hours which they put into the worthy project. Our hat's off to 'em!

Stale, soft chunks of bread, subbed over wallpaper in even, vertical strokes, "erase" soiled spots, even fingermarks.

Miss Carroll Is June Bride

WED HERE JUNE 25th.

BAPTIST CHURCH SCENE OF WYATT - CARROLL WEDDING

The First Baptist Church in Clanton was at 4:30 p m. Wednesday, June 25, of the wedding of Miss Peggy Louise Carroll and Billy Gene Wyatt.

Dr. J Gilbert Hutchinson performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hughey Carroll and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wyatt.

Nuptial music was presented by Miss Miriam Vessels of Birmingham and Mr. William Vessel of Demopolis, Soloist, sang "Bacause," "Through The Years" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Janice Wood was maid of honor. She wore a sheath dress of light blue darnish with sleeves and low neckline and an overskirt of blue net. She wore a headband of flowers with a brief circular veil and net mittons. She carried a fan shaped bouquet of deep pink split carnations with a background of Satin and lace.

Brides-maids were Linda Carroll, sister of the bride and Ophelia Wyatt, sister of the groom. Junior maid was Susan Pwell, cousin of the bride. They wore dresses like the maid of honor and carried small fan shaped bouquets of light pink carnations.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of imported Itlalian lace and nylon Tulle over Dutchess Satin with a bodice designed with an off shouldered effect and pointed sleeves and full skirt ended in a Catheridal trian. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a contour cap embroidered in seal pearls.

She carried a white orchid on a white Bible.

Mr. Earl Smith, brother-in-law of the groom served as best man. Ushers were Jimmy Clyde Powell, Johnny Mac Taylor, Bonnie Smith, and John Will Wyatt.

The brides mother wore a dress of pink cotton trimmed in beads and lace with a matching hat. The groom's mother wore a blue lace dress and white hat.

Both wore carnation corsages.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Miss Euna Powell.

For traveling the bride wore a light Blue dress with white accessories and her orchid from her bouquet. They will visit points of interest in Georgia and Florida.

Out of town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. William Deason, Jr., Marie Deason, and Mrs. M. . Bryan all of Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. T. C Bradley, Mr and Mrs. E. F Mims, Miss Mary Lois Williams all of Sylacauga.

Our preaching days are the first and third Sunday now. So Sunday July 6 is our regular preaching day. We invite everyone to come out to church Sunday and Sunday night. Our pastor is Rev. Ocie Colley and he would like to see everyone in this community to come and worship with us.

SHILOH CHURCH & SOCIAL ITEMS

The singing [illegible] homecoming here last Sunday [illegible] one of the best ever held at Shiloh. The singing got off to a good strat. Sunday morning with Mr. John Devaughn as Chairman. A bountiful lunch was enjoyed at noon. After lunch the house was filled to capacity, but the public address system permitted those outside to enjoy the wonderful singing under the shades of the trees.

During the afternoon session the singers asked to recognize Mr. W. A. Kemp. He joined Shiloh Church in 1886. He has been a member at First Baptist in Clanton for a number of years, but he has continued to attend the homecomings here when possible and stated Sunday that it was always an inspiration to come back. It is indeed an honor to have him with us and we invite him to attend our church at any time.

Pianist for the day were: Misses Ann Williams, Carolyn Stewart, Nelma J. Boockholdt and Carolyn Billingsley, Mrs. Esther Stalnaker, Mr. Amie Boswell, Clarence Billingsley and Edward Jones.

We enjoyed several numbers rendered by the Liberty Hill Quarter from Liberty Hill. Another outstanding number, "Amazing Grace" featuring Mrs. Carey Boockholdt and Mrs. Annie L. Billingsley singing trebble.

Leaders were Nelma Boockholdt, Mrs. Jones of Sylacauga, Mr. and Mrs. Hammonds, Jack Jones, Aubrey Devaughn, Mr. Stewart, Johnnie Boone, Henry Driver, James Boswell, Clarence Billingsley Johnnie Minor, I. D. Huett, Charlie Stalmaker, O. L. Devaughn, Tim Blackmon, A. O. Boswell, Edd Langston, Lloyd Boswell, Mr. Tilowers, Leonard Culp, Steve Baker, S. V. Miller, Edward Jones, William Lowery, Akin Collins, Stanford Boswell, Marvin Lowery, Harry and Mr. John Devaughn. We thank anyone who had a part in making this a very enjoyable day.

The week end guests of Mrs. J. S. Kendrick were Mrs. J. E Short and Evelyn of Maplesville, Mrs. Lucille Williams and girls, Betty and Carolyn and Erby Koen of Sylacauga.

Visiting the Cary Mullins family Thursday were Mr. Carson Ray and children, Rickey, Joan and Susan and Miss Linda Foshee of Montgomery.

Mrs. Earthie Carter spent the weekend with the Billy Carter family.

Northeast State Convention At Local Colored Church

I wish to announce and invite all who desire to attend the North East State Convention, which will convene at the Union Baptist Church, Clanton, Ala. Rev. S. W. Wilson, pastor. On Wednesday July 9 - July 11, 1958. We solicit your cooperation and good behavior.

As Moderator of the District, I deem this an opportunity and time to ask all friends white and colored to contribute to the feeding of our Delegates by donations of food.

If you have no way to deliver what you donate, may I have the opportunity to pick up at any designated place. Thanking you in advance for your cooperation in making this a unified project for our city. — E. W. Burt, Moderator

MIMS - DOBBS

Last Friday morning June 27, Miss Shirley Mims became the birde of Mr. Douglas Dobbs in a double ring ceremony at the home of Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Cox

They will make their home near Clanton where they both are employed.

Hudson Bay "Explorers" Plan Far North Trips

Two tours for the "company of Hudson Bay Explorers" will be operated this summer from Winnipeg to Churchill on the shore of Hudson Bay; August 8 and 18.

The unique excursions to the far north annually attract scores of Americans who like to do their exploring the comfortable way, by special Canadian National Railways train which serves as a "home on wheels" for the week-long Churchill expeditions.

Enroute to the nothern land the special "explorer" trains will pass through country where history is being made. Along the 510-mile route from The Pas to Churchill, small towns and settlements are being opened up; men roam far and wide seeking the mineral wealth stored in the rich Manitoba earth. There is still untold wealth in fur-bearing animals and the area is rapidly becoming a sportsman's paradise.

Stops are made at Dauphin, a thriving city and center of a rich farming area. Here "Explorer Train" passengers will be entertained at a reception; at Flin Flon, one of the fabulous mining cities of the north country, excursionists will be guests at a picnic and entertained at a dance; at Cranberry Portage where there will be church services at an hour convenient for the "Explorers."

Churchill, gateway to the far North and Manitoba's only seaport, is an interesting and romantic spot. Ships from far off ports may be seen taking on grain cargoes; Eskimos and Indians frequently visit town to "see the sights" and may be seen hunting white whales in the Bay. There are Missions with their museums and exhibits, and the ruins of Prince of Wales' Fort with its walls 42 feet thick. The climax of the Churchill visit is a dance held in the visitors' honor.

Everywhere on the trip dress is informal. Travelers are urged to bring along a stout pair of shoes, rubbers and a raincoat, as well as a warm coat or windbreaker, as the breeze of Hudson Bay may be — and can be — chilly. Lighter clothing should also be carried as pleasant summer weather prevails at stopover points. FNS

A red-coated Royal Canadian Mounted Policeman guides tourists through the ruins of two - century - old Prince of Wales' Fort at Churchill—where the walls are 42 feet thick.

BAPTIST QUARTERLY

T. U. MEETING AT MULBERRY

The Quarterly Training Union Meeting of the Chilton-Unity Association will be held at the Mulberry Baptist Church next Monday night at 7:30 o'clock. A brief devotion will be given by Rev. Richard Sharp, pastor of the Liberty Hill Baptist Church. Conferences will be held by the leaders of the various groups. There will be no particular subject under discussion, but each one will have the privilege to discuss problems peculiar to their circumstances in their Training Unions.

We hope that all of our churches will be well represented, even though we realize that it is a busy time with the farmers and even others. Since there will be no message except th devotion, the time will be given mostly to the conferences. Therefore, the meeting will not be lengthy. So, don't forget the time, place and the importance of the meeting. Please announce the meeting in your church this week end. — M. Lockhart, Ass. Missionary.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

WATER FLUORIDATION

Fluoridation of water supplies to prevent tooth decay is now in operation in 1500 cities in the United States with a combined population of 32 million persons. We had immunization against infectious diseases, chlorination of drinking water to prevent typhoid, and pasteurization of milk to prevent tuberculosis. Fluoridation of public water supplies already has reduced tooth decay up to 60 percent in children in several test cities where extensive studies have been conducted.

About one-third of the population of the United States lives in small towns and rural areas where a public water supply is not available. Children in these areas need not be denied the protection offered by fluoridation. Fluoride solution applied to the surface of the teeth of children is an effective preventive measure against excessive tooth decay. Studies of fluoride solution application to the teeth show that it reduces the amount of dental decay by as much as 40 per cent. Application of the fluoride solution to the teeth is a simple procedure without discomfort and it may save trouble and expense later on.

Fluoride, a natural dietary mineral, is incorporated into the crown of the tooth in a form that makes the tooth enamel more resistent to the bacteria that cause decay. Fluoride, either in public water supplies or applied by a dentist directly to the teeth, will prevent tooth decay, but application can do nothing about teeth that are already decayed. Good diet and proper care of the teeth are still necessary as fluoride is a partial preventive, not a cure all.

Compare These With Any Other Plans in America

We are proud of the four outstanding plans offered by Physician's National Life Insurance Company.

They are the result of interviews with numerous doctors who were asked to outline a medical plan that would fit the needs of the people of their own communities.

We urge that you investigate our plans thoroughly. Compare them with other policies. Consult your own physician about them.

Physician's National Insurance Company, in the three years since its incorporation, has experienced one of the soundest records of growth of any insurance company in the nation.

The record shows the following increase in number of families using the Physician's National plans:

1954 — 1,400 families enrolled.
1955 — 30,000 families enrolled.
1956 — 70,000 families enrolled. 1957 — 100,000 families enrolled.

This remarkable growth is evidence of the sound management and conscientious service of Physician's National Life Insurance Company.

In payment of claims, in all dealings with its members, Physician's National maintains its policy of "Serving To Grow, Growing To Serve."

VINES FOR QUICK SHADE

Need some quick shade for one of those frequently used spots around the house, such as the carport, patio, or outdoor fireplace?

Then try one of the quick-growing annual vines. Not only are they an attractive addition to any yard; they are also useful in many respects.

Vines grow into a natural shield for windows on the southwestern side of a house. They also soften the lines of patio walls and screen sheds and farm buildings from view. Vines grow rapidly and come into use for shade more quickly than do trees or shrubs, pointed out the specialist. And their flowers and foliage effects are as splendid as those of any more permanent planting.

Some of the favorite quick growing vines in Alabama are gourds, morning glory, ballon vine, searlet runner bean, coral vine cleek vine, and moon flowers. Annual vines are planted after soil preparation similar to that for annual flower beds, but since rapid growth is sought, the soil should be in an especially fertile condition. Vines can be planted now or up to the middle of July.

If delays make you NERVOUS try our prompt, efficient REPAIR SERVICE Your watch is our business!

Origin Of The Bible

This is the 6th in a series presented by the Com. of Jehovah's Witnesses with the cooperation of your Chilton County News.

Joshua

With the composition of this book Jehovah brought into service his second amanuensis or writer. Moses had been used to write the first five books, but now Moses was dead. Millions of Israelites and stranger companions were poised on Jordan's eastern bank awaiting the crossing signal. The entry into the Promised Land, anticipated during forty years of wilderness wandering, was at hand. Heathen trespassers were to be outside; battles were to be fought. In short, momentous happenings impended -- happenings made more momentous by the prophetic significance they were to hold. (1 Cor. 10:6 11) They must be recorded for posterity, even to extend to the limits of the "last days," of the twentieth century of Christ. The one whose name designates this sixth book of the Bible Jehovah used as his second recorder: "And Joshua wrote these words in the book of the law of God." (24:26) The last verses (24:29-33) were obviously added under Jehovah's direction later.

Some contest Joshua's writership but the following verse proves the account was written by some one contemporaneous with the times: "Joshua saved Rahab the harlot alive, and her father's household, and all that she had; and she dwelleth in Israel even unto this [illegible] of writing of this [illegible] Joshua was the [illegible] under the [illegible] of his predecessor Moses, he had in that man of God a good [illegible] recording events. Jewish [illegible] Joshua with [illegible] the Scripture [illegible] and clinches the [illegible] completed.

About the year 1454 B. C., the probable year of Joshua's death. The book covers the history of Israel spanning the twenty years from approximately 1474 B. C. [illegible] Hebrew [illegible] The [illegible] See [illegible] and Shortly after Moses, death Jehovah sounds the keynote for Joshua's success: "Be thous strong and very courageous, . . . the law shall not depart out of thy mouth; but thou shalt mediate therein day and night, that thou mayest observe to do according to all that is written therein: for then thou shalt make thy way prosperous, and then thou shalt have good success." (1:1-9) The reason for Joshua's success was no secret; and the formula is just as true today for God's servants. A summary of the contents of this book shows unqualified success in service.

After receiving his charge, Joshua acted quickly. Spies were dispatched to reconnoiter the first Canaanite city, Jericho. The people prepared victuals, for in three days they would cross Jordan. The spies returned with a good report, aided in their scouting mission by righteously disposed Rahab. Despite flood stage, the Israelites crossed Jordan on schedule. By Jehovah's power the raging torrent was stopped and heaped up and backed back; and the Israelites passed over on dry ground. Suitable memorial stones were erected to remind of the miracle. (2:1-4:24) Their first encampment in Canaan was at Gilgal, and here it was that Jehovah's law of circumcision was carried out, the passover kept, the manna ceased to fall, and the Israelites began eating of the fruit of Canaan land. Here it was, too, that an event of importance relating to the fight ahead occurred. Joshua spied a man standing with drawn sword and asked, "Art thou for us, or for our adversaries. The thrilling answer came, "Nay, but as captain of the host of the LORD as I now come." (5-13-15) This mighty Leader of Jehovah's invisible host was undoubtedly the Word, God's only-begotten Son, and his presence at the outset of the strenuous warfare ahead assured victory.

And the subsequent battles did constitute a victory march, and clearly indicated the powerful hand of the "captain of the host of the LORD". First came the smashing defeat of the strongly fortified Jericho. On the seventh day of ramping around the heathen stronghold Jehovah flattened its walls and opened the way to victory. Next Ai fell in a second assault employing the stratagem of ambush. The power of the Canaanite kings in the south was broken by the next series of engagements, particularly so at Gibeon. The Gibeonites had come to Joshua at Gilgal, and by a ruse affected a league between themselves and the Israelites. This provoked a confederacy of five kings, headed by the one at Jersualem, who moved against the Gibeonites. In a forced march Joshua and his armies rushed to the aid of the besieged ones and Jehovah magnified His power by administering a stunning blow upon the confederated kings of Canaan.

It was on this occasion that Jehovah cast down from heaven upon the fleeting foe great hailstones killing more than did the Israelites with the sword. Then, an even greater miracle! Joshua cried out "Sun ,stand thou still upon Gibeon and thou, Moon, in the valley of Ajalon." The Lord hearkened, and the sun extended the time of its shinning about the space of a whole day. (10:11-14) Higher critics, who do not believe the Bible, try to explain away God's miracle of halting the sun in its course, or at least minimize and "water it down", by saying it was an optical illusion or a mistake in the time of day, or some other insipid substitution. Jehovah's Word give the true account, trusted in by men of faith, and it is not necessary to superimpose on the Bible record human theory and vain speculation. The Armageddon fight foreshadofed by this battle at Gibeon, will witness acts of Jehovah on a far grander scale, which will convince, at the cost of their lives, those that scoff at Jehovah's power to work miracles.

Joshua's fame spread. In the north of the Canaanitish chiefs banded together and assembled a multitudinous host, fully equipped for battle, at the waters of Merom. They were scattered, and Joshua swept through the northern part of Canaan in a victorious drive that swelled the roll of his conquests to thirty-one kings, listed a Joshua chapter 12. The enemy was not extirpated by the campaign such was not Jehovah's purpose at that time. (Deut. 7:22; Jud. 2-20-23) Their power and [illegible] resistance, however, were broken -- 11:23; 21:43-45.

Six years of almost constant warfare had elapsed since the memorable crossing of the [illegible] Jordan. Now came the division of the land among the tribes for an inheritance. Also, it was during this time of land division that the tabernacle of the congregation was set up at Shiloh, the forty-eight cities assigned to the Levites, and six of them designated as cities of refuge. (20:1-9; Num. 35:6, 7) Then, after an undisclosed period of time, Joshua assembled the nation and in a valedictory address offered wise counsel, charging then to be valiant in fight and warning of the snares of demon religion. Subsequently he reviewed the Lord's mighty works in behalf of His people, exhorted them to serve Jehovah rather than heathen gods and put the issue squarely before them in these words: "Choose you this day whom ye will serve . . . as for me and my house, we will serve the LORD." -- 24-14, 15.

Thus the book of Joshua records the history of the conquest of Canaan in Jehovah's strength, the division of the Promised Land among the tribes, the establishment of the tabernacle at Shiloh, the settlement of the Levites, and the two stirring, closing exhortations of Joshua. It well foreshadows how the Greater Joshua, Christ Jesus, as Jehovah's executioner will rid the earth of all enemies of God at Armageddon. Jah saves!

CON. CHURCH NEWS

Vacation time is here, and of course some of our regular attendants will be away from time to time, but for those of us who are here during service time we think you for your attendance and interest.

Rev. N. A. Long, our pastor, left Sunday afternoon to attend the General Council of Congregational Churches, meeting in Boston, Mass., June 24-30. This is the national gathering of our churches and draws delegates and visitors from every part of the nation. The outstanding leaders of the Church will be there to share with us their knowledge and enthusiasm. We are indeed glad for our pastor to attend. He will have much of interest to tell us on his return.

He plans to stop by on return trip and visit their daughter and family, Mrs. H. D. Davis, Langley A. F. B. Va. Expects to arrive home in the afternoon of July 4th

After staying with us over the week end, he will go to his old home near Dothan, Ala., and begin anew the work on their new home. He will return each week end for the services during July. In August he will continue the work on house, taking 3 weeks of his vacation, reserving one week of the vacation to use when his son, John L. & wife, Mary Lou Long who is employed by Standard Oil in Venezeula, S. A. visit them in October. They will be returning from an extended trip to Europe; and naturally will have a score of interesting things to tell.

The N. A. Long's have resigned effective Dec. 31, to retire. They will go to the farm on which Mr. Long was born and where their new home is being built, and which they hope to have finished by December 31.

November 9, 1918, Rev. Long was called to his first pastorate the Dorcas Church, Crestview, Fl. On that date this year he will have served in the ministry 40 years.

Airman Robert Yeargan of Kingsville Texas arrived here Friday to spend a few days with parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Yearean.

Mrs. A A Conway spent last week with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dubose and son Ronny in Cullman.

Mr and Mrs. J C. Satterwhite of Miami Fla. has been visiting Mrs. Effie Robinson for the last 10 days.

Mrs Bertha Littleton of Birmingham is spending several days here with her sister, Mr. and Mrs Emmett Billingsley.

Mrs Ed Baraham and children of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., mother Mrs. McDaniel of Lanett, Ala., visited Mrs. T. E. Baraham and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Gean Davenport Sunday.

HOSPITALIZED

Mrs. Delbert Collins was seriously burned and also broke an arm, while canning at her home last Wednesday. She was rushed to Chilton County Hospital and has been hospitalized ever since.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bratton of Savannah, Ga., visited Mr. and Mrs. Willie Bratton Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cleckler visited Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cleckler in Loxley the weekend

JULY

Each July bring. to us a new realization of the responsibilities shouldered by our forefathers. The flag of our country has been dusted off and brought out for display in all public places as well as in our homes. In song we re-dedicate her allegiance to the FLAG that is the emblem of all we hold dear All this is an outward example of patriotism and expresses love for our country.

It behooves each one to protect the country we love and to go forward and not lose ground, to safe guard and protect the coming generation from enemies without and within.

Blessed is the nation whose GOD is the LORD; and the people whom he has chosen for his own inheritance." Psalms 33:12.

We are told a BELL is a hollow metallic instrument giving forth a clear ringing sound when struck There are many kinds of bells: chimes on a clock mark the passing of time; church bells calling all to worship; dinner bells calling harvesters to meals; Christmas bells heralding the good tidings of great joy; Liberty bell that announced the signing of the Declaration of Independence on July 4th, 1776, and still rings in the hearts of American people. A reminder of the many liberties and freedoms they enjoy.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

AN ARAB SEES JESUS

Dr. Van Ess, the great Christian missionary to Iraq, tells of a sermon preached by one of his friends to a group of simple Arabs. The subject was "What Jesus Is Like." As he preached and described the Man from Nazareth, one of the Arabs brightened and exclaimed, "Oh, I have met him!"

The missionary frowned and explained to them that Jesus lived 1900 years ago. It would be impossible for anyone to meet him now.

"Oh, no," the native insisted, "I have met him!" And upon further discussion, it turned out that a Swedish doctor who lived and healed and worked among a tribe some distance away so fitted the missionary's description of Jesus as to rouse that quiver of recognition in the Arab.

Let me assure you that Christ does live in his followers. How is he recognized? By the same characteristics being seen in us that were seen in him—the same attitudes, the same emotions, the same service, the same love.

Now what was he like? We are told that he was sympathetic, full of pity and closely touched by the needs of those about him. We sing "More about Jesus." I suggest that we need to sing "More like Jesus." For the very word "Christian" means Christ-like.

Dr. Rambo told of saying good-by to an old Indian woman on the steps of his dispensary in mid-India, after having successfully operated on her eyes for cataracts. As she started away, she bowed low and said, "Good-by, God."

The doctor hastily explained that he was not God. He was only a poor, weak servant of God But she would not have it and as she went down the road she turned every few steps and waved, gratefully shouting, "Good-by, God, good-by, God."

The Bible tells us that God was in Christ. That means that God is in us when Christ lives there. And a genuine Christian can shout with Paul, the greatest apostle, "Christ liveth in me!"

So Jesus still moves in our world today. He moves, speaks, works and is seen and felt every time one of us acts and lives in a Christ-like way. But the genuine essence of this Christ-likeness comes from within. It is very wearisome to try to be like Christ, whether from a moral or ethical outward compulsion. The stimulus must come from within. And it can only come from within when Christ himself lives inside

I believe in a personal knowledge and experience of receiving Christ. Just how it happens or when it happens is not always easily defined or explained. But the essential thing is that Christ must be invited and when he is invited he always enters.

The greatest miracle on this earth is for Christ to live again in the lives of his followers. This is what is known as a "saint"—one in whom Christ is felt and seen to live again.

SPECIAL TV PROGRAM, JLY 4th

As part of it's July 4th programming. Channels 7, 10 and 2 (The Alabama Educational TV Network) will present a dramatization on the drawing of the Declaration of Independence at 4:30 (with a repeat at 9:30 p. m.)

Based on documentel evidence the half hour telecast shows the tribulations and trials with accompanied the development and final stages of the document before it was presented for approval by the early Constitution Convention.

The program credits Thomas Jefferson for his independence and strong stand for what he felt should be included as the rights for all of the people.

"The Independent Mr. Jefferson" stars Hollywood actor William Price, and was written by Morton Wishengrad, writer for numerous top TV shows. It is being presented on the Alabama Educational TV Network by the University of Alabama studios in cooperation with the National Educational TV Center.

TOO MANY BREAM IN POND

One of the biggest faults of Alabama farm fish ponds is the oversupply of bream.

When there are too many bream competition for food becomes so great that none of them grow any longer than a few inches. Usually there are only a few bass in the pond, and they can eat only a small number of bream; the remaining bream eat all the bass eggs.

"This typical situation can be avoided by throwing back all bass less than 11 inches long which are caught in the pond. These small bass will help keep the bream population down. A one-pound bass must have three to five pounds of bluegills a year in order to grow.

If the ration of ba[illegible]bream has already become unbalanced, the best procedure is to drain the pond and apply rotenone to the remaining water. Your county agent can advise you on proper poisoning and restocking procedures.

Another problem with farm ponds is overgrowth of aquatic vegetation. These plants will benefit the water of nutrients needed by plankton, a vital fish food, and serve as a hiding place for the smaller fish. When the small fish have places to hide, the larger fish starve.

Underwater growth can be controlled with sodium arsenite. Since this is a very dangerous poison farmers must see their county agents before handling it. Apply the poison to one-third to one-half of the pond at a time. Wait 10 days or two weeks between applications, and keep cattle away from the pond for two to three weeks after each application.

Temperature in an uninsulated farm building can be reduced from five to 15 degrees F., if the roof is painted white to reflect the sun This difference may be less in well-ventilated buildings.

SYSTEMIC GRUBICIDES

Each year cattle grubs cause cattlemen to lose almost a hundred million dollars by damaging carcasses and hides

"In the past the only way to avoid this multimillion-dollar loss was to spray cattle in fall and winter with a rotenone-type spray every 30 days. Now there is the possibility that damage can be eliminated by the use of a new product, the systemic grubicide."

This compound works internally and can be given in pill or spray form. According to manufacturer one application of either is sufficient to kill the grubs for the season. As the animal absorbs the pill or the spray into his system it circulates with the body fluid and kills the pests while they are in the larval stage in his body, before they can emerge through the skin.

When taken in pill form, dosage requirements listed by the drug of pany are one pill per 300 pounds of live animal weight, or one-half pill per 150 pounds of weight. If using the spray, says the manufacturer, wet the animals skin first then apply as much as is needed to penetrate the hairs. This will take between two and four quarts, depending on the size of the animal

There are certain precautions and prohibitions in using this medication. It must not be used with dairy animals, because it will appear in their milk. It should it be administered to slaughter animals within 60 days of slaughter. Calves under six weeks old should not be treated, and added precautions should be taken when the grubicides are used on calves under three months. If an animal goes off feed for a few days after treatment, consult a veterinarian.

NEW WEAPON FOR THE WEED KILL'RS' ARSENAL

Ask any farmer and he'll tell you that nature made too many different kinds of weeds. But luckily for us, modern research has discovered almost as many weed killers as there are weeds.

The more commonly used herbicides, such at 2,4-D and 2,4,5-T are familiar to most growers But, there are other compounds, newer to the market, which provide more flexibility in the weed-control program. The family of chemicals to which 2,4-D and its relatives belong is highly volatile -- that is, they easily produce fumes. Unexpected winds may blow the fumes onto nearby plants that may be injured by the material. Among the advantages of the newer chemicals is the fact that they can often be safely used under conditions where older herbicides would present a danger to neighboring crops.

Dowpon, for example, can be used with great effte against bermuda grass, johnson grass, and other perennial weed grasses. Another new chemical, amitrol is excellent for killing poison ivy in shady places and in places where the fumes from 2,4-D would endanger other plants.

For other special uses, there are other compounds. If it is necessary to eliminate all vegetation, as on a driveway or tennis court either monuron or simazin can be used. Silvex is unusually effective [illegible] broad-leaved [illegible] weeds such as dandelion, plantain, wild garlic, and chickweed

FOLKS and THINGS About Town

by Ben

THE Lady Pilots arrived at their destination Tuesday ending a 2100 mile race across the continent. Mrs. Charles Wade reported that two of the ladybirds probably saved their lives when they landed at the lighte field at Clanton's airport. Weather conditions were terrible for the fliers and 13 planes failed to finish in the Derby. There were 61 entered and 48 finished. Mrs. Wade took some Chilton County peaches down to Montgomery where they are checking in for their Annual Convention and passed them out to the ladies. Some of the visitors are from Australia, Canada, Ireland, Alaska, Mexico and most of the 48 states. She said the lady pilots "had a fit" over the wonderful Chilco peaches.

THE letter we printed last week asking the whereabouts of a gentleman who had relatives in these parts brought results. He was a brother-in-law to, R. L. Duffey of Clanton. Mr. Duffey said he was very much interested in the case and was doing a little checking himself to get the location of the family.

SOME reader would come up with the question after the article last week regarding garbage cans and flies and want to know about other things that breed flies. He asks about chickens within the city limits and cow pens and the like. He seems to think that they also breed flies and should be looked into. Now looking into garbage cans is bad enough, but looking into chicken pens and cow stalls is something else.

YOU can never do a kindness too soon, because you never know how soon it will be too late.

REMOVING his shoes, he climbed the stairs, opened the door of the room, entered, and closed it after him without being detected. Just as he was about to get into bed, his wife aroused from sleep, turned, and sleepily said: "Is that you Fido?" And for once in his life he had real presence of mind--he licked her hand.

PLEASE go to the polls next Tuesday and vote for the school tax. It is not a new tax, it will not change your present tax rates in the least. It merely renews an old, old tax that has been in use for many years to maintain our schools. It will only take a few minutes of your time but believe me, it is important.

MONDAY night as we went home about ten o'clock a man was standing at the corner of the Selma Road and 4th Avenue trying to get a ride. Early next morning the hitchhiker was still standing at the corner as we came to work. Now we don't know, and it has us worried; did the fellow get a place to sleep that night or have people gotten to where they are desperately afraid of hitchhikers? If that is so--and we're afraid it is--the world has come to a bad state.

REV. J. W. Jones is having a Revival at one of his churches next week. It is at New Harmony, the church he started his pastorate in, more than 54 years ago. During the ensuing years he has had pastorates in many counties of the State and at many churches. His is a full life, and one filled with that satisfaction that it is a life well spent. The wonderful thing about Rev. Jones is that he has many more years of devoted service to humanity in his system and we hope he continues to enjoy and love people as he does now.

NAT'L. TOLL REACHED 650 4TH OF JULY

ONE TRAFFIC DEATH IN CHILTON COUNTY

SIX HUNDRED and fifty persons were killed during the three day Fourth of July week-end in highway mishaps and other accidents.

Of the number highway deaths totaled 350--one taking place in Chilton County. The other deaths were from drownings and other accidents.

James Robert Fuller was killed early Friday morning when his tractor-truck was hit by a passenger train at a crossing just south of Thorsby. Fuller, who was 40 years old, is survived by a wife, one son and one daughter.

TEMPLE ASSEMBLY OF GOD- "GOD IS MY LANDLORD"

The color sound film, "God Is My Landlord", will be shown at the Temple Assembly of God on Sunday night, July 13, at 7:15 p. m.

This inspiring film is the story of Perry Hayden, the "Quaker Miller", who with Henry Ford staged one of the most dramatic experiments of faith in history. In 1940 he planted a cubic inch of wheat which by 1946 fed thousands of starving people in Europe.

This 45 minute Gospel film required seven years to produce. Henry Ford, Cap't. Eddie Rickenbacker, R. G. LeTourneau, James Kraft, and others appear and speak in the picture.

Pastor, Nelson E. White invites the public to attend.

BIG "J" MET IN CLANTON MONDAY NOON

FOR CLANTON INDUSTRY--

Industrial Committee To Hold Open Meeting

THE Chilton County Industrial Development Committee will hold an open meeting Friday evening at 7:30 at the City Hall in Clanton. The purpose of the meeting is to formulate plans to present to representatives of the new industry that is contemplating coming to Clanton.

Members of the Committee: Reedie Taylor, Lee Thompson, Grady Heflin, R. C. Williams, Claud Craig and Skeeter Stokes urge the general public to attend the meeting Friday night to lend their aid in securing this new industry for Chilton County.

According to the Committee the chances are good and it only remains for the citizens of Chilton County to raise the money and get it. If it is not done quickly some other town or city will raise the money and get the new industry. The company is a producer of business forms on a large scale doing specialized printing, ruling, assembling, and binding. Financing will be done by the sale of bonds bearing 4 per cent interest over a period of 30 years.

A meeting of the Industrial Development Board was held with prominent businessmen Tuesday night and the groundwork was laid for the coming meeting

It is of great importance that you be a part of this new development. The Board and businessmen urged that you attend the meeting Friday night at the city hall.

Lecroy Urges Notice Of Tax Election

Next Tuesday, July 15 is the date when citizens of Chilton County will be called upon to relevy the three mill and one mill school taxes. These are the same taxes people of our county have been paying for the past forty years. They are relevied for twenty year periods the last relevy being in 1939. This means that in order for us to continue to qualify for state monies which account for about $8700 of each $100.00 spent for education in Chilton County we must relevy these taxes

On August 12 citizens will be given the privilege to relevy District A and District B three mill taxes. These taxes are also re-

The tournament will again be played in Sylacauga with Shades Valley of Birmingham playing Talladega in the first round. Childersburg, Sylacauga, and Clanton all drew byes in the first round of the double elimination set. Sylacauga and Childersburg play the first game of the second round; and Clanton will meet the winner of the Valley vs Talladega game on Tuesday, July 15 at 6:15 p. m.

Coach Theron Fisher and Henry Wyatt will be the managers of the All Stars representing our league. They were named in a meeting of the officers and managers of the League last Monday; and also named 18 players to the roster which will be reduced to 15 during the weeks work outs. The 18 boys are: Buddy Baker, Douglas Coe, Warren Edwards, Harold Wright from Clanton Blues; Earl Gritt, Mickey Littlejohn, Elliott Monroe, Tommy Shelton, and Hilliard Wyatt from Clanton Greens; from Jemison will be Dwight Cobb, Dick Northcutt, Charles Ed Price and Gene Sorrell; Montevallo has Pete Gehan, Larry Pickett, Doug Smitherman, Danny Thornton, and George Underwood.

Tonight (Thursday) these All Stars will meet Shades Valley of Birmingham here in City Park at 7:00 p. m., and will play the strong Childersburg nine there on Friday evening.

DIPTHERIA IN ALABAMA

Seven states have reported more diptheria cases than Alabama this year. According to a report by the National Office of Vital Statistics, 14 cases had occurred in Alabama by June 14. States reporting more cases were Texas 36, Georgia 24, Oklahoma 20, Florida 19, New York, Pennsylvania and Montana 15 each. Virginia has also had 14.

At this time last year, Alabama had had 24 cases, a figure exceeded by only Texas, Georgia and Florida.

Eggs returned almost two billion dollars to poultrymen during 1957 which is 9.6 percent less than they brought in 1956.

LOCAL VETS GET SET TO "PUNCH" POOCHES

IF YOU'RE LATE IT'LL COST YA'

Dr. Thomas A. Hayes and Dr. Ed Minor announce that all dogs three months of age and older are required by law to be vaccinated against rabies. We have had several cases of rabies in the County in the past 12 months. It should be of personal interest to each individual to aid in elimination of rabies by having their dogs vaccinated.

Below is a list of places where the clinics will be held. The price will be $1.00 per dog until September 1st, then it will be $2.00. Local vets ask that you please meet at your most convenient location.

Rabies clinics will be held the remainder of this month at prices and times indicated below:

Big Kickoff Campaign for Wanda Here Tonite 7:30

Donations Pouring IN; Goal is $1800

Reports this week are that Little Wanda Limbrick, 8, of Billingsley, Alabama is nourishing hope that her many neighbors and friends will help her in her fight to become a normal, healthy child.

Wanda, said the doctors when she was born, has a fatal condition. Modern science has proved them in error up to this point, but now an operation is necessary to keep Wanda with us. The doctor who will perform this operation has performed 20 such operations and 10 have survived.

You may feel that this is not much of a chance at life, but Little Wanda, her sponsors the Civitan Clubs of surrounding area and the Blue Baby Fund have a different opinion of this. They feel that it is a fine chance at life for one who has lived so close to death for the first eight years of her life.

Thursday night, at City Grill, Clanton, the local Civitan Club, long noted for its successful work and hard-driving membership, will launch an extended campaign for the purpose of giving Wanda her chance at living. Wanda will be present at this meeting as will other interested parties.

To quote one of the interested parties "there is a glimmer of light in Little Wanda's darkened heart. Die way down deep and let's put this drive across & give her a chance to become 'just like any other child'!"

The date for the operation has been forwarded.

BLACKWELL IS ONE OF 11 'STARS'

One of eleven "Alabama All - Stars" named by the Southern Farm Bureau Life Insurance Company on the basis of a recent four-months sales contest was Claude Blackwell agent for Chilton County, who was awarded a week's expense-paid vacation to Ellinor Beach, Florida.

Mr. Blackwell's production for the contest period was $125,500.00 out of a state total of $4,054,648.00 and $37,211,062.00 for the eleven states in which the farmer-owned company operates.

REVIVAL AT OLD MACEDONIA

The revival will begin the 4th Sunday, July 27. Everyone is invited to come out to our service. Come and be with us every night.

We have preaching every Sunday and Sunday night. If you do not attend church some other place come and be with us, Rev. George Ham is the pastor.—V. G. Smith.

Red Cross Says Bloodmobile Is Due Here On July 14th

Bloodmobile unit from Birmingham Red Cross Regional Blood Center will be in Clanton, July 14th at the First Baptist Church form 12 until 6:00 p. m.

All persons from 21 through 59 years of age are able to donate blood and we urge you to come and give a pint of blood. Persons from 18 to 21 years old are required to have a written notice from their parent giving them permission to donate. Of course, all donors who have not given blood in the last 8 months - should come in on the above date and renew their cards in order for the donor and his family to remain eligible to receive free blood. Also we would like to remind you to bring your last blood donor card with you as well as your blood donation record folder.

A prospective blood donor may eat normally until four hours before donation of blood. You should however, avoid eating fatty foods during this four hours because: Fat remain in the blood 3 to 4 hours after fatty foods are eaten. Fatty whole blood cannot be transferred because the patient receiving blood may be sensitive to fat -- many people are. An ill person often cannot tolerate fat. Fat solids interfere with transfusion. Plasma made from fatty blood cannot be dried and preserved successfully.

We are again asking you to pledge a pint of blood to help save a life both in Civilian Hospitals and for Defense.

For further information please call Mrs. Maye P. Esco, telephone 701 in Clanton.

People who take themselves too seriously never enjoy life.

We've learned that little sympathy goes to the man who feels sorry for himself.

Nothing helps so much in time of trouble than a sense of humor.

Never quarrel over that which is not worth quarreling about.

It's much easier to borrow trouble than it is to give it away.

Never wait for words of encouragement. While you're waiting the fellow who couldn't wait will reach the top.

Nothing will encourage a man to answer the call of duty like the ring of a silver dollar.

COOPERATION --

Geoffrey Birt, Director of Publicity for the State of Alabama informs us that 71 weekly newspapers in the state carried the picture and story of our recent Peach Festival.

That from our sister counties is deeply appreciated by the citizens of Chilton County and along with the Peach growers we wish to extend our thanks. Too, we will try in every way to repay the nice favors when they have an outstanding event they wish publicized.

DEATH TOOK NO HOLIDAY --

Among the counties reporting deaths during the long holiday week-end was Chilton County.

The reminder is old but it must be said again and again, something must be done about the slaughter on our highways. The highway system of our United States is not keeping up with the speed and power put under the hood of our automobiles. If anything needs "investigating" it is our antiquated highway system and steps taken immediately to rectify the condition that now exists.

After a loved one is dead through the carelessness or irresponsibility of a reckless driver, nothing is so useless as to say "this or that" could have prevented the tragedy.

Thoughtless drivers could stand a little investigating too.

SHOWERS OF BLESSINGS --

The peach crop this year turned out to be better than most growers expected -- that is, in abundance, not price. Naturally with the fruit being so plentiful the price goes down.

The most beautiful basket of peaches can be purchased quite cheap at most any orchard around the county. So now is the time, if you are a peach lover, to can all you can can.

HARD HEADS AND HARD TIMES --

Like a sturdy ship tossed by a storm, the U. S. economy now shows signs of righting itself. The recession still is felt, and the economy has survived, but the things that brought on the recession still are with us.

Congress, reassured too soon, has turned a deaf ear to the pleas that the high tax rates have interfered with business expansion. When the increase in the number of people who need jobs passes the rate of business expansion which would give them jobs we will have mounting unemployment again.

And nothing has been done about the power of monopoly unions to force wage increases higher than the gains in productivity warrant. That means that we are in for new grounds of wage increases. And that in turn means that goods will be costlier than people are able or willing to pay, and that consumer resistance will again become a problem.

There are many who have learned no lessons from the recession of 1958.

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

The House of Representatives last Wednesday voted to reduce President Eisenhower's foreign aid request by $878 million. This reduction had been recommended earlier by the House Appropriations Committee after many weeks of exhaustive hearings and careful study. As approved by the House, the appropriation measure carries total funds of approximately $3 billion.

The bill must now be considered by the Senate where most observers believe a portion of the House cut will be restored.

COURT RULE CLARIFIED

Last year the U. S. Supreme Court reversed the death penalty of a convicted rapist, Andrew Mallory of Washington, D. C., on the grounds that he was held too long between the time he was arrested and the time he was brought before the committing magistrate. Because of the delay in arraignment, the Supreme Court ruled that the full confession Mallory gave police had to be disregarded and today Mallory walks the streets of Washington a free man.

Many law enforcement problems have arisen as a result of the Supreme Court's ecision, and today no lower court is certain as to what should be the length of time between arrest and arraignment.

Congress began work on legislation designed to clarify the ruling shortly after the Court's decision was handed down. This legislation reache the House floor last week and was overwhelmingly approved on a 294 to 79 vote.

The House bill provides that a confusion to police that is "otherwise admissible" shall not be excluded from evidence solely because of a delay in arraignment. At the same time, however, it requires police to warn an arrested suspect before questioning that he is not required to talk to them and that anything he says can be used against him in court.

The measure has now been sent to the Senate for consideration, where a Judiciary Subcommittee has already issued a report calling for clarification of the Mallory decision through legislation. Should this bill become law before Congress adjourns, U. S. criminal justice will be well served and the Supreme Court justifiably rebuked.

OTHER HOUSE BILLS

With only one dissenting vote, the House voted to continue for three years the special school milk program which makes flund milk available at reduced prices to children in schools, summer camps, and child-care institutions. After passage, the bill was referred to the President.

The House also passed and sent to the Senate a bill which raises from $150 to $250 the maximum amount that the Veterans Administration is authorized to pay for the funeral expenses of a deceased veteran.

ALASKA STATEHOOD

Of course, the biggest legislative news last week centered around Senate passage of the bill giving statehood to Alaska. By a decisive vote of 64 to 20, the Senators voted to admit the Territory of Alaska as the 49th state after certain prerequisites are met. The same bill, approved by the House on May 28, will probably be signed by the President this week.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Probably because it is an election year, the tubs are being thumped loudly to increase unemployment benefits as a recession panacea. Both increasing weekly benefits, or lengthening time for which benefits may be received are part of this ballyhoo.

C. W. Harder

Some of the proposed programs would pay the idle an average of $51 per week for sitting home, in place of the present $25 per week average.

Yet there exists some substantial evidence that thousands, if not millions, now prefer to sit home and draw $25 per week than go to work for the federal minimum wage of $40 per week. After all, from the $25 per week there are no deductions for income tax, unemployment tax, social security, union dues and other deductions.

It is significant that every year since 1947 2.9% of the work force has been idle, even under the manpower shortage conditions that existed during Korea and immediately afterward.

For even with the present average of $28 per week, a man of any talent at all can live as well as his worker brother whose check is clipped for all kinds of taxes, and dues, et al, et al. A quick odd job for an hour or two now and then, perhaps his own vegetable garden, a little of this and a little of that, and a lot of unemployment benefit recipients virtually live the life of Riley with no strain and time for fishing, hunting, just plain loafing, even visits to the old country.

When unemployment insurance was first launched, it was designed to give people something to eat on until they found a new job. It was never intended to create a new leisure class.

And of course, the bulk of the money that goes into building up these reserves for the idle comes from a tax on employers based on their payrolls.

For example, New York has raised employers' tax another ½ of 1% on their payroll to raise the unemployment benefits.

While Big Steel or Big Autos could conceivably pay this extra money merely by passing onto the consumer, to thousands of small business firms, this would be an added burden that could not be passed on.

And of course, as published in the Congressional Record, the average wage earner makes $76 per week at the present time, or a take home pay of less than $68 per week, out of which he must bear the additional costs of job transportation, work clothes, etc.

Thus, it seems apparent, that if by being without work, a man could get $51 per week, as proposed, there would be a powerful incentive to stay home and "let George do the work."

And thus, not only would the nations independent business be further burdened . . . but loss of national income would soar eventually into the billions.

In addition, this would be contrary to the sound principles expressed many times by the nation's independent businessmen voting through the National Federation of Independent Business.

That principle is that instead of continuing to shackle business with higher taxes of all sorts, reduce taxes on independent business and watch free enterprise provide employment.

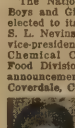
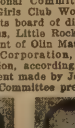
4-H Alumni Sponsor Named to National 4-H Committee Board

The National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work has elected to its board of directors S. L. Nevins, Little Rock, Ark., vice-president of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation, Plant Food Division, according to an announcement made by John W. Coverdale, Committee president.



S. L. Nevins



Alexander Nunn

Mr. Nevins is one of 12 directors who manage the affairs of the Committee, a non-profit organization cooperating with State and Federal Extension Services in furthering 4-H Club work.

Aids 4-H Alumni Program

Long active in youth and community service, Mr. Nevins has been particularly interested in former 4-H Club members. For the past six years he has given special attention to the national 4-H Alumni Recognition program which the Plant Food Division supports.

Nearly 6,000 men and women throughout the nation have been honored for perpetuating 4-H ideals. These distinguished former 4-H'ers received awards on the county, state and national levels provided by Olin Mathieson. They include certificates, plaques and the 4-H Alumni gold key awards.

Editor Nunn Honored

Mr. Nevins will present the national 4-H key award for 1958 to Alexander Nunn, vice-president and former Youngstolk editor of the Progressive Farmer, Birmingham, at the annual alumni banquet held during the National 4-H Club Congress next December.

Editor Nunn's role in furthering 4-H Club work is a most significant one. In person and through the pages of his publication he has inspired and given credit to scores of 4-H Club members and their leaders as well.

4-H Benefits 20 Million

Seven other men and women will receive 4-H key awards at the Congress. Among them are a university president, dairy farmer, housewife and movie star. The winners were selected by the Cooperative Extension Service. It has been estimated that some 20 million persons have participated in 4-H Club work since its inception.

THINGS We see and hear

by BOB

Instead of always going off on a brief crusade of doing good and being better why don't we all strive to live -- every day -- the way we think other folks ought to.

Individual rights, freedom and the pursuit of happiness. Many of us fail to see what blessings being an individual can sometimes bring. It does not necessarily mean being bull-headed just to disagree with the crowd. Your individualness preserves your rights as a citizen and a human being. Don't give up your opinion for the fortune or fame it might bring from your fellow beings.

Police: "The internal organization or regulation of a state; such regulation with respect to matters affecting the comfort, health, morals, safety, or prosperity of the public. . ." That is a definition of a body. Policeman: "A member of a body of police". Judging from this definition there is definite purpose in being a policeman. His duty is to the public and the aforementioned conditions of that public. It is the duty of every city, town and hamlet to define well the duties of a policeman to a man before giving him a badge a gun and authority to use both. It is our opinion that steps should be made to correct some of the abuses and misunderstandings of some policemen as to their specific duties and their particular way of doing things. Plain and simply, a policeman should set a good example, not be a bad one.

One of the best tests of the general "wide-awakeness" of a town like Clanton or Maplesville or Thorsby is the response to an appeal such as was made last week in behalf of little Wanda Limbrick of Billingsley. A sincere desire to help others is, to our way of thinking, one of the best ways in the world to judge how a town stacks up as a place to live. There is no doubt in our minds that the citizens of Chilton County, as a whole are the most wide - awake in the world -- bar none!

Noticed where a minister was having trouble with summer attendance at his particular church so he, realizing the benefits of advertising, ran a classified advertisement to the effect that there were such a number of sheep strayed from the fold and that a table was prepared for them, that no questions would be asked and that their cup would overflowth should they return. His attendance picked up.

First Methodist Church here in Clanton seems to be having a bit of this same difficulty at their evening services. How many of you sheep are interested in attending church with us next Sunday night? The time is 7:30. We assure you there will be no questions asked by any party.

We are extremely let down at the remarks we have received from local peach growers when we mentioned anything about the graders and shippers here in Chilton County. It seems that the good Lord has so endowed us with good Chilton County peaches this year that we literally have the limbs a breaking. The farmers cannot peddle them. We have been under the impression that organizations were such in Chilton County that the peach grower would have a market for his peaches should be desire to dispose of them through local channels. We understand that there is a market alright, but according to the local growers, "the graders and markets get the profit and we get the headaches". Now if any of this be true we may be a little old - fashioned, but we don't cotton to the "fairness" of the whole thing. We know we don't know what we're talking about when it comes to peaches or markets, but by golly the Chilton County peach grower knows, and that's who we've been listening to.

The businessmen of Chilton County thrive on the peach. Why on God's wonderful earth don't they have the foresight to see that if they don't help the grower in his struggle for existence that their will eventually be no growers. That some of them will turn to other crops and cattle. Wake up Chilton County! Without the peach grower, where are we sittin' financially? We're sitting in a hole, that's where; and the only thing that will get us out of it or keep us out of it is the fair dealings with and for the peach grower. We don't mean lean over backwards for them either, just straighten up and face them -- the ones we know will be more than willing to meet you halfway on practically anything that will benefit all concerned.

There are a lot of fine men who have worked for Chilton's peach industry. We would hate like the mischief to see their hard work shattered by misunderstandings or by unfair dealings which leave the peach grower holding the bag. To understand a situation you must seek the source. Our source is the grower without whom there'd be no industry.

One of Clanton's police force certainly looks out for Chilton County News force when it comes to good things to eat! Tuesday made the second time that Cliff Parrish has brought us a good, cold, ripe melon and we certainly appreciate it. Not only the melon, but the break in the drudgery of the day. Much obliged!

J. C.'s And Lions Came Out On Top Independence Day

Two exiciting Little League Baseball games helped to round out the celebration of the Fourth of July. The J. C's beat the Kiwanis Team 3-2 and the Lions defeated the Methodist Braves 3-1. It one of the best games of the season thus far, the league-leading J. C. Team barely slipped by the Kiwanis boys to defeat them by one point. Ray Cox, the J. C. pitcher made the difference by hitting a home run with one man on base to bring in the winning runs. As pitcher Ray Cox struck out 12 men and gave up 4 hits. The Kiwanis pitcher, Donnie Barker struck out 10 men and gave up 8 hits.

In the second game the Lions trailed the Methodist Braves the first half of the game, tied up the score in the 4th inning and then defeated the Braves in the 6th inning, by a score of 3-1. Bill Thrash pitched 4 innings for the Lions striking out 4 men and giving up 4 hits. Lowell Johnson pitched the last two innings for the Lions striking out 4 men and giving up 3 hits. Joe Maddox pitched for the Braves striking out 4 men and giving up 6 hits. The Lions and Braves were credited with 2 errors each.

The plate umpire for the games was Henry Wyatt. The umpire at first base was Cecil Martin and at third Pete Maddox.

The team standings after the games on the Fourth of July were: Team No. 1: J. C., won 7, lost 0. No. 2: Lions won 5, lost 2. No. 3: won 2, lost 5; and No. 4 Methodist Braves won 0, lost 7.

All of the Team Managers have worked faithfully and hard with their teams. These men who are giving a great deal of time and ... to the youth of our community are. J. C. Manager, Don Finlayson, Lions Managers, Johnny Smith and Claude Blackwell, Kiwanis Manager, G. D. Jones, and Braves Managers W. E. Edwards and Jerry Bodden.

The Little League season will end on Tuesday, July 15.

ENTERPRISE H. D. MEET

The Enterprise Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday, June 24th, with Mrs. Russel Gray.

Mrs. Russel Gray, president called the meeting to order and Mrs Lillian Burkhalter gave the devotion.

An interesting demonstration on "How do You Can" was given by Mrs. JohnnieLane.

The Club welcomed Mrs. B. R Heath and Mrs. R. L. Moore as new members.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to the Club. The Club adjourned to meet again in July with Mrs. Lillian Burkhalter.

Origin Of The Bible

JUDGES

"Judges" is a translation of the Hebrew name Shophetim, which is derived from shaphat, meaning "to judge, to vindicate, to punish, to govern." It is applied to the visible governors or judges in the typical Theocracy from the time of Moses to the reign of Saul. They were not elected to office, but were Jehovah's appointees. The office was not passed on to descendants, as was kingship later on. The judges drew no salary neither did they live in pomp. They were the servants of Jehovah and administered in the interests of the people.

Who was the writer of the book? The answer cannot be given with certainty, but the weight of evidence points to Samuel. Some assign the book of Hezekiah, others credit Ezra, and still others claim it was the work of Phinehas. The time of the composition of the book seems to narrow the field of possibilities down to just one man, namely Samuel. The repeated phrase that such and such events occurred at the time when "there was no king in Israel" clearly indicates that there was a king when the record was written (17:6; 18:1; 19:1; 21:25). Furthermore, at the time of writing the Jebusites were still in possession. The children of Benjamin did not drive out the Jebusites that inhabited Jerusalem: but the Jebusites dwell with the children of Benjamin in Jerusalem unto this day (of the writing of the record)." (1:21) But early in the reign of King David the Jebusites were subjugated. (2 Sam. 5:6, 7) Hence the record must have been written during the reign of Israel's first king, Saul. Phinehas lived long before this time, and Hezekiah and Ezra long after. Circumstantial evidence indicates Samuel was the writer.

The total years that judges ruled in Israel cannot be ascertained with sureness because the time in office of some of the judges overlapped, and other chronological difficulties complicate the time features of this period. But it seems fairly certain that the time of the judges from Joshua's taking office to the enthronement of the first Israelite king was about 356 years. This figure is arrived at as follows. According to 1 Kings 6:1, Solomon started to build the temple in the four hundred and eighteenth year after the exodus. That was in the fourth year of his reign. David had reigned before him for 40 years, and Saul before David for another 40 years. Adding to this 84 years the 40 years spent in the wilderness, which ended with Joshua's taking office, we get 124 years. Subtracting this from 480 there remains 356. To thus assign the round figure of 350 years to the period of judges does not violence to the statement at Acts 13:19, 20, as would seem to be the case when one reads that reference in the King James Version. Translations making use of the best manuscript data available at this time resolve the difficulty raised by the King James Version of 1611. (See American Standard Version, Rotherham, Weymouth, and An American Translation.)

The period of judges was a turbulent time in Israel's history. It was marked by ups and downs in proportion to their obediences and disobediences. By pressing the warfare against the heathen trespassers of the Promised Land the Israelites came into full power But they did not drive out the idol-worshipers; instead they put them under slavery. True to God's warning, this course led the Israelites into the snare of religion (2:1-16) They compromised and made leagues with the inhabitants of the land, and failed to root out and utterly destroy demon religion; rather they came under bondage to it. Therefore, Jehovah said, "I will not drive them out from before you; but they shall be as thorns in your sides, and their gods shall be a snare unto you." (2:3) Permitting themselves to be ensnared by religion, "the anger of the LORD was hot against Israel and he delivered them into the hands of spoilers that spoiled them, and he sold them into the hands of their enemies round about, so that they could not any longer stand before their enemies. . . Nevertheless the LORD raised up judges, which delivered them out of the hand of those that spoiled them. . . And it came to pass, when the judge was dead, that they returned, and corrupted themselves." (2:14-19) The Lord left those heathen nations in the land to prove whether Israel would walk in the way of true worship or in demon religion. — 2:20-23

The first two chapter of Judges having set the stage, with a rush the ups and downs of those centuries race before the reader's eyes. The Israelites sink into Baal-worship, suffer under Mesopotamia's king, cry unto the Lord, and are delivered by him through Judge Othniel and rise to true worship. (3:5-11) Forty years pass, and they take another downward plunge into religion. This time it is the piercing blade of Judge Ehud's dagger in fatty Eglon's midriff that is used to bring deliverance. (3:12-30) But after each deliverance and upswing to the high plane of Jehovah's true worship, the Israelites soon start to hobnob with the demon-worshiping worldlings of Canaan land. These evil companionships corrupt good morals and right worship, and once again the unstable Israelites succumb to religion and reap its crop of divine woes. In regular cycles this sequence of events recurs again and again as history repeats itself in the book of Judges.

It is as a God of justice that their backslidings into religion, but Jehovah causes them to pay for as a God of mercy his ears are ever open unto their sincere cries of repentance. Then deliverance comes, and with it a show of divine power and an act of vindication. Miraculous was the deliverance in the time of Judge Barak, when Jabin's hosts under Captain Sisera flaunted its mechanized might before Barak's little band, just prior to what seemed sure and easy victory. At the crucial time the windows of heaven seemed to open, and the unseasonable electrical storm that flashed and thundered and downpoured broke the power of the Canaanite oppressors. (4:1-5:31) Then there was the time farmer Gideon was made judge and with a picked band of 300 completely routed the sprawling encampment of maruding Midianites, by divinely directed generalship. (6:1-8:35) And remember how that fighter Jephthah led his warriors in an unstoppable victory sweep against the Ammonites and riddled their power over Israel, and how his desire for divine aid was emphasibed by a well-considered vow that was duly fulfilled by his virgin daughter's service at the tabernacle at Shiloh. (11:1-40) But best known of the judges, perhaps, was strong Samson. He is was that killed a lion with his bare hands, fired the fields of the Philistines by turning tail to tail 150 pairs of jackals and loosing them into the grain after lighting each firebrand between each pair of tails, slew a thousand demon-worshipers with the new jawbone of an ass, carried off the ponderous gates of Gaza, and in death killed more heathen enemies than in life by pulling down upon his own head the Temple of Dagon when it was packed with demon-worshipers. — 13:1-16:31.

Chapters 17 and 18 recount the idolatry of a man of Ephraim, Micah by name, who tried to set up his own form of worship and by-pass the Lord's established worship at the tabernacle at Shiloh. The disastrous outcome of matters stands as a warning against religious short-cuts. The three closing chapters of Judges contain the horrifying experience of a Levite of Ephraim. After patching up a domestic quarrel, he is on his return journey home when the men of Gibeah (a Benjamite city) so basely and bastially use his concubine that he dies. He carves her body into twelve pieces, sends a piece to each tribe, and later describes the horrible deeds of the Gibeathites to the tribes that subsequently assemble. The Benjamites refuse to deliver up the offending men of Gibaeh, and as a result their tribe is nearly cut off from Israel. The closing chapter shows how a vow is kept and a stratagem executed to preserve the tribe of Benjamin. These last five chapters are not in their chronological order. Their events actually occurred toward the beginning of the period of Judges, but they are tacked on at the end of the book as a sort of appendix.

UNEMPLOYMENT --

BENEFITS FOR VETERANS

Senator Lister Hill, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, announced today that his Committee has approved and sent to the Senate a bill to provide unemployment compensation for veterans of peacetime military service at a miximum of $26 a week for a maximum of 21 weeks. The bill, sponsored by Senator Hill, would also extend the life of a similar program now available to veterans of the Korean War from the present 1960 cut-off date to 5 years beyond the end of compulsory military service.

Hill said that Korean and peacetime veterans residing in Alabama would be eligible to receive under this bill in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1959, benefits amounting to $4,329,000. In the fiscal year 1960 Alabama veterans would be eligible to receive $2,801,000, and in fiscal year 1961, $1,797,000.

To be eligible for benefits the peacetime veterans, under the Hill-sponsored bill, must have served on active duty for a period of 2 years, except that in the case of a veteran who is separated from service for the convenience of the government, eligibility would be established after only 1 year of active duty.

The program for peacetime veterans will become effective 30 days after the bill is enacted into law and will terminate 5 years after the end of compulsory military service, Hill stated.

Hill estimated that during fiscal years 1956, '57, and '58, a total of 2,192,000 Korean and peacetime veterans were discharged from the military service and will be eligible for these unemployment benefits. The Alabama Senator also estimated that another 1,760,00 Korean and peacetime veterans will be discharged in the next 3 fiscal years and also become eligible for compensation in the event they are unemployed.

The bill now goes on the Calendar of the Senate, and Senator Hill expects it will be given early consideration, so as to permit action by the House and enactment into law during the present Session of Congress.

Milk cows on a test diet of low-quality hay and a concentrate mixed with some roughage dropped their milk production drastically. In fact, farmers feeding such a ration would have lost money on the operation.

A good plant-rooting mixture can be made from equal parts of peat moss and sand, well mixed.

That the book of Judges is authentic is shown by the numerous quotations from and references to it made in other parts of the Hebrew Scriptures and also in the Greek Scriptures. The eleventh chapter of Hebrews is an example The book does not honor men, not even the judges used as deliverers. Their prowess was from God. The things exalted are Jehovah's justice and mercy and long-suffering. RUTH next in series.

IT'S SENSIBLE SPARKMAN SAYS

"Judge Lemley's decision was sound and sensible," John Sparkman (D., Ala.,) said today.

"The situation at Little Rock is an explosive one, brought on as a result of the supreme Court's attempts to legislate rather than interpret and by the unfortunate Eisenhower-Nixon mixture of politics and bayonets," Sparkman said. He predicted a long hot summer as pro- and anti-integration forces jockey for legal advantages in anticipation of the Little Rock school opening in the fall."

Meanwhile the NAACP continued its campaign to bypass the United States Court of Appeals and seek to have the Supreme Court set aside the integration suspension order handed integration suspension order handed down by Federal Judge Harry J. Lemley recently.

"It seems that the pro-integration forces are only interested in complying with Federal court rulings when such rulings favor integration," he said, "Judge Lemley's ruling against immediate integration at Little Rock is just as legal as the Federal court order which resulted in the President sending troops to Little Rock and immensely more sensible.

"The experience at that school shows clearly the futility and danger of the Federal Government trying to legislate people's habits and customs at the State and local levels," Sparkman said. "It would be far better for the NAACP and the other sources of outside pressure to leave the South alone to work out its own racial problems."

FULMER AT MIDWAY CHURCH OF CHRIST

Clyde Fulmer, minister of Church of Christ, Capital Heights Montgomery will preach each night at the Midway Congregation of the Church of Christ. Located on U. S. 31 between Verbena and Mt. Creek. Services will start at 7:30 with Congregational singing until 7:45 p. m., at which time Bro. Fulmer will preach. If you can not make 7:30 you will be welcome at 7:45 without interruption of services.

Bro. Fulmer is well known in this section of Alabama. As the regular minister at the Capital Heights Congregation for over 20 years, Bro. Fulmer has a reputation for speaking the "Truth in Love."

During the last few years he has held numerous meetings at Midway Stoney Point, Lightwood, Rockford and countless other congregations in Central Alabama.

Bro. Fulmer is heard each Sunday morning over WBAM Radio Station on the "Words of Life" program.

Members of all denominations are invited to come and bring their Bibles to see "whether the things said are so". If you do not find that "Truth" is being taught you will not be expected to return.

The Midway Congregation is possibly 75 years old and although a rural congregation is still growing. As with all rural churches there is a constant shifting and losing of members to city congregations yet in the face of these normal problems Midway is stronger than ever. During last two years 25 members have moved to worship with other congregations (some through marriage and some seeking employment in more populous locations), but today the little congregations have more active members than at that time.

The church extends a hearty welcome to its neighbors in Coopers, Clanton, Verbena, Mt. Creek, Lightwood, Rockford, Wadsworth, Pine Flats and other communities.

No collections. Any questions submitted will be answered in Love. Please come. — Everette Maddox.

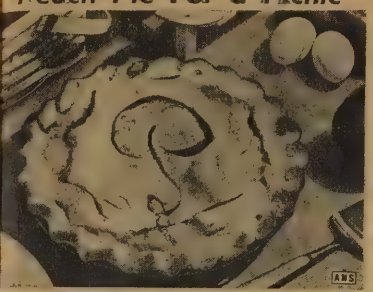
Peach Pie For a Picnic



"P[illegible]S FOR PICNIC—and for "Peach Pie," too. There was a time when carrying a pie to a picnic presented difficulties, but nowadays there are so many ingeniously designed picnic baskets and containers that almost any food you serve at home can be brought along, undamaged, in car or boat.

Because easy-to-use quick-cooking tapioca is the thickener in this pie, the filling has exactly the right consistency, the juice is clear and sparkling, the taste of fresh peaches is unaffected by any other flavor. So for a perfect picnic treat we recommend:

FRESH PEACH PIE

⅓ to ½ tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca	4 cups sliced fresh peaches
⅔ to 1 cup sugar	1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt	Pastry for two-crust 9-inch pie
	1 tablespoon butter

Combine quick-cooking tapioca, sugar, salt, peaches, and lemon juice. Roll half the pastry ⅛ inch thick. Line a 9-inch pie pan and trim pastry at edge of rim. Roll remaining pastry ⅛ inch thick and cut several 2-inch slits or a fancy design near center. Fill pie shell with peach mixture. Dot with butter. Moisten edge of bottom crust. To adjust top crust, fold pastry half or roll loosely on rolling pin; center on filling. Open slits with a knife. (Well-opened slits are important to permit escape of steam during baking.) Trim top crust, allowing it to extend 1 inch over rim. To seal, press top and bottom crusts together on rim. Then fold edge of top crust under bottom crust and flute. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 55 minutes, or until syrup boils with heavy bubbles that do not burst.

Know Your America Better

A new 1958 travel book containing guest privileges worth up to $4.00 is now available for 25¢ a copy. Prepared in cooperation with the American Automobile Association (AAA), it is especially designed for the millions of Americans who are looking forward to getting behind the wheels of their cars and taking advantage of good weather ahead.

In addition to giving you all the information you will ever need to know about turnpikes, the book features a Guest Card —which entitles you to a free tour of any one of six outstanding places in America.

The tours include New York City's spectacular Rockefeller Center; the nation's capital, Washington, D. C.; Florida's famed Marine Studios at Marineland; the entertainment capital of the world, Hollywood; the Buffalo Bill Museum in Wyoming and the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village in Michigan.

In addition, the Guidebook contains many features you will find of real help.

A special test will aid you in deciding where to go this summer. Pointers on how to drive on turnpikes, how to eat on turnpikes and where to stay when traveling turnpikes will be of assistance to you. And of special worth is a chart titled "Turnpikes at a Glance," which, among other facts, gives total lengths of turnpikes, average distances between restaurants, tolls, speed limits and total driving times. And you will find invaluable the page devoted to helping you estimate your expenses for a trip. Too, special places of interest in America are highlighted in the "Calendar of Major Events."

—You can get your copy of this new Travel Book and Map for 1958 by sending 25¢ to Parade, Box 1640, Dept. TP, Grand Central Station, New York 17, N. Y.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

CHARLIE MET THE MASTER WEAVER

Once I saw one of the most expensive rugs in the world. It was worth more than $50,000

I picked up a corner of it, turned it over and looked at the other side. The threads were running crazily in every direction. There was no order, beauty or design. Then I flipped it over again; on that side was a beautiful design woven by the hands of a master craftsman

God's hand is like that. He can pick up a human life that is all mixed up, confused and flowing out in a hundred different directions. He can fit the affairs of our life into something of exquisite beauty

I Charlie C—— of Glendale, California, stood looking down upon the slowly moving bosom of the Mississippi River. Just one quick jump over the handrail and the "father of waters" would enfold him in a dark embrace

A few months before, he was heading for the top of his chosen profession—a stock and bond salesman But suddenly his entire world lay at his feet in ruins. He was left absolutely penniless.

As he stood that day on the bridge he realized that he was a total failure Now the question—what should he do? Should he jump? It was a way out! But maybe he could find another way.

He walked by a mission on the back side of town. Perhaps this thing called "religion" would help. So he joined the others present in the outward form of worship. When the offering plate was passed, he dropped the last two dollars he had in the plate. Eagerly he waited to see what would happen. Nothing happened. As soon as the service was over, he returned to his apartment. The experiment in religion had failed

But suddenly it dawned on him that if God had the answer for his life and his problems, he couldn't buy that answer for two dollars or two million dollars. But if he would only believe and have faith, God would give it to him.

He leaped to his feet and rushed out. It was ten o'clock, at the little mission the lights had been turned out. But he shouted to the little group who were still talking out front, "Turn your lights back on. Let's go back into the church. You have a red-hot prospect here!"

The language of the salesman was the only language that he knew. But the preacher understood what he meant. Together they knelt at the altar.

From that moment he was a new man. His attitude toward life was completely changed. He loved God, and he loved all of God's creatures.

Things began to break again for him in the business world—not overnight—but with a steady climb. Today Charlie is an outstanding real estate and building contractor.

He found that when we let the "Master Weaver" take the tangled strands of our lives, the pattern begins to assume a wonderful shape. Suddenly life comes into focus, revealing to us the beauty and steadfastness of God's love

Tomatoes, other crops--

How to Control Hornworm Pest

Tobacco and tomato hornworms are giants among the insects that occus in Alabama. The dark-colored moths, the adult stage of these insects, have a wing expanse of five inches and are often mistaken for hummingbirds. The worms, when mature, are four inches long and larger around than a lead pencil.

As their names indicate, these insects are pests of tobacco and tomatoes. However, they're often found feeding on eggplants, peppers, potatoes, and weeds. Both species occur in all parts of the U .S. and are often found together in the same garden. The tomato hornworm ranges from the northern states into South America, and the tobacco hornworm ranges from the southern states into Canada.

Hornworms spend the winter in large, brown, spindle-shaped pupae. Pupae are two inches long, and a slender tongue case, bent around like the handle of a pitcher, projects from the front end of each.

Adults emerge in May and June. They are large, grayish-black moths with pointed wings. Flying only at dusk, they look much like hummingbirds as they hover around beds of petunias, sucking nectar from the flowers. The adults cause no damage to plants.

In Alabama, there are three or four generations of hornworms each year. The insects complete their life cycle in 40 to 60 days. The females lay small, spherical, greenish-yellow eggs one in a place, on the under side of the leaves. Eggs hatch in about one week, and the worms feed ravenously for three or four weeks. Each worm will destroy large areas of leaf surface in that length of time.

At the end of the feeding period, the worms are at least four inches long; they are green, marked with white stripes, and have a single, dangerous looking horn protruding from the tail end. In the tobacco hornworm, the horn is black, and the eight white lines found along each side hook backward, forming an L or V.

The tomato fruitworm has a red horn and there are seven oblique white lines along the sides of the body.

Hand-picking is a practical way to destroy tomato hornworms on a few plants in the garden, but insecticides applications are required to control the pests under field conditions. The percent TDE (rothane), 20 percent toxaphene, two percent endrine, five percent DDT, or one percent parathion dust, applied at the rate of 20 to 30 pounds per acre, are effective in controlling hornworms. An equal amount of one of these materials applied as a spray is also effective. Only TDE and endrin, at the dosage indicated are recommended for use on tobacco.

The insecticide shoul be applied while the worms are small, since poisoning the full-grown worms is almost impossible If applied at the right time, only one or two treatments are needed for control. All plants left in the field after the crop has been harvested should be destroyed.

Peach Queen Grateful For Chance To See Washington

By Janice Wood

Certainly the highlight of the Peach Queen's reign is her wonderfully exciting trip to Washington. My reign has been no exception, for I truly enjoyed my trip to our beautiful Capitol.

Mr. E. A. Shirley, champion peach grower, Mrs. Harold Smith, Chairman of the Queen Selection Committee, and I left Birmingham on Eastern Airlines for Washington, D. C. Wednesday night, and arrived in Washington Thursday morning.

We were met by Tommy Gilbert, Representative Armistead Selden's secretary, who took us to the Hotel Congressional. Later that morning we took a special tour through the White House. Since this tour had been arranged by Mr. Selden we saw more of the White House than the regular tours do. The tour was especially fascinating because our guide told us many interesting facts about the different rooms and their furnishings. After the White House tour we journeyed to the Bureau of Engraving and Printing to watch the production of United States currency.

With dollar signs still registering before our eyes, we went on to meet Representative Selden. The prize peaches had arrived before us and were receiving loud acclaim there. Mr. Selden took us from there to meet the illustrious Sam Rayburn, Speaker of the House, and present to him a basket of Chilton County peaches. Speaker Rayburn was most gracious and told us that peaches are his favorite fruit. Later we watched Mr. Rayburn open a session of the House and saw our law makers at work.

The luncheon in our honor was next on the schedule. There we met the members of the Alabama delegation and had a wonderful time talking with them and watching them enjoy those delicious Chilton County peaches.

After the luncheon Senator Sparkman took us to the Senate Gallery where we watched the Senate in session. It was really a thrill to see the men and women upon whose shoulders the fate of our nation rest.

The afternoon session of sightseeing included a trip to Arlington Cemetery where we watched the very impressive changing of the guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Later we went to the Curtis-Lee Mansion and the Smithsonian Institute.

Thursday night we rode around the city and saw the Jefferson Memorial and the Lincoln Memorial. These two memorials are especially beautiful and awe-inspiring at night. We also rode by the National Cathedral, other churches of interest, and some of the embassies.

Friday morning we boarded Eastern Airlines again for a very pleasant flight home.

All in all, it was a most thrilling and rewarding experience. As one person said, it really puts a lump in one's throat to see the seat of our government and to remember the great Americans that have lived and are living lives of dedication to the task of making America the great nation it is today.

I would like to thank the peach industry of Chilton County in behalf of Mrs. Smith and Mr. Shirley for making this trip possible for us. We would also like to express our appreciation to Representative Selden and his staff for making our stay in Washington so enjoyable. I would also like to say that no matter where one is - Alabama or Washington, D. C. - "Chilton County Peaches are truly Tops."

THANKS FROM GEO. WALLACE

I am deeply grateful for the nine vote I received in the governor's race. I wish it were possible to thank everyone personally who worked and voted for me. Even though I lost I have no regrets for having made the race for governor I met hundreds of fine people in our State. This race made it possible for me to realize the great potentialities of our State and her people for a greater Alabama. I will always be interested in this great State and want to join with all Alabamians to make it greater. — Geo. . Wallace.

FALLS AND FIRES ACCOUNT FOR MANY ACCIDENTS

Almost one-third of Alabama's accidental deaths during April were the result of home accidents. A report prepared by the State Health Department's Bureau of Vital Statistics shows the April total to be 158. Of this number, 51 were home accident fatalities.

The home accident deaths followed the usual pattern in that most of the victims were either elderly persons or very young. Twenty-four were 65 years of age or over, and 12 were four years old or younger. There were three deaths in the five and 14 age group and none in the 15-24 group. Five victims were between the ages of 25 and 44 while seven were between 45 and 64.

Fires and falls were the kinds of fatal home accidents morst frequently reported. Eighteen of the April deaths were ascribed to falls and 15 to fires. Ten deaths resulted from suffocation, three from poisoning and one from firearms. The kind of accident was not described in four cases.

These figures are provisional and may vary when final reports are received.

levied every twenty years.

Education in Chilton County is facing a crisis and it is up to the citizens to determine the future of our public schools. At the present time it would be a real tragedy if a school building were to be destroyed by fire or other causes or if a school bus had to be replaced. There would be no money available from the state to make the replacements. Until these taxes are relevied your Board of Education would not have any money to obligate for replacement. Neither does the Board have any money to build badly needed classrooms to relieve crowded conditions which exists in some schools.

At the present time there is anger on several schools losing their standing of accreditment with the state and Southern Association of Secondary Schools due to lack of facilities and overcrowded conditions. We cannot afford to let a thing of this kind happen in Chilton County.

A seven mill tax for edusation is the minimum being collected by any county in the state and in many counties the millage is eleven. In some cities where there is a building program underway the tax is sixteen, seventeen, eighteen, and even nineteen mills. This is pointed out simply to inform the citizens that seven mills is the minimum required to operate our schools

by Ben

NO news from Mrs. George Naish this week. She is our Jemison correspondent but reports there is sickness in the family and she is unable to get the news. We hope for her loved ones a quick recovery.

THE Dr. Goldens have returned from a trip to the West where they visited Pike's Peak and Yellowstone National Park. Doc was telling us there was snow all over the ground at Pike's Peak. In fact he reported the cold was so uncomfortable that he couldn't even enjoy fishing. You can bet they didn't hang around there for very long.

SPEAKING of trips the Dick Hayes have just returned from Miama, Fla., and Nassau. Seems Dick and Bess had a problem to work out about fishing too. Dick fished his way through Florida but when they took the boat to Nassau all fishing equipment went into storage for the rest of the trip. From then on the trip belonged to Bess.

THE hillbilly father was sore as a wet hen. "Which one of you pushed the outhouse into the creek." he asked. "Me, Paw," spoke up Zeke, boy. Come into the washshed. I'm gonna tan your hide good." "But, paw," countered Zeke, "George Washington's paw didn't lick him when he told the truth." "Maybe not," replied the father, "but George's pay wasn't sitting in that cherry tree either."

YOU finally get to the age where all you want for your birthday is not to be reminded of it.

WE understand a fellow came down to the river last week to do a weeks fishing. The fish were biting so good that he did his weeks fishing in two days.

CHILTON County Hospital came in for some good publicity this month in the Journal of the American Hospital Association. The Hospital magazine has the largest nation-wide circulation of any of the hospital journals and devoted two pages to the local hospital and nursing home. The article was prepared by James N. Sudduth, administrator of the local hospital and was complete with pictures of patients, some of the personnel, visitors, rooms and comfortable lobby by which Mr. Sudduth says encourages the patient to leave their rooms and beds and visit one another. The article is very well written and the pictures are exceptionally good to illustrate the story. We highly compliment Jim Sudduth on the fine publicity he secured for this most modern hospital and nursing home that we are proud to call Chilton County Hospital.

O. K. YOU fellows, get on the ball and find Cecil Wade's baseball glove that he lost the first of the week. His name is printed in the glove with ink, "C. WADE", so it will be no trouble to identify it. Cecil plays for the Lions Club team and along with Cecil the Lions, the parents, and the boy will appreciate your calling him at 271 if you know where the glove is.

4 - 0 SHUTOUT---

Jemison Lad Leads All-Star Victory March

Tuesday night, the Chilton County Babe Ruth League All-Stars met their first opponent of the tournament, Talladega, and smashed home to victory by a score of 4-0.

Pitching the 4 hit shutout was Dick Northcutt of Jemison who also drove in 3 runs and started 2 double plays. He struck out 9 and walked "nary a one".

Also outstanding in this game was Larry Pickett of Montevallo who daubled and opened the door to the scoring and also got a single.

Warren Edwards, second base, handled 7 chances at that spot for the evening without an error.

Wednesday night at press time, the All-Stars met Childersburg in the second game. If all went well Wednesday Chilton's Stars are still in the running with not far to gor for the top.

AFTER 49 YEARS —

LETTER TO THE ED. BRINGS BROTHERS TOGETHER

BY ESTELLE HAYES

Two weeks ago there was a clipping in the Chilton County News, written by a Mrs. Murphy in Oregan, inquiring about relatives of Jas. M. Wilians, the article told about him. led the Williams family to believe that he was their brother, who has been gone for 49 years. Mr. Williams was the oldest son of the late Jimmie and Fishie Williams, who passed away believing ther son was dead. He is the brother of Mr. Rube Williams and Horace of Thorsby, Ala.

The boys called, wrote letters, and found it to be their brother they were looking for, Bob the youngest, now living in Birmingham, called the police in Oregan, and the police made a special effort to find out all they could leading to his condition. The police made several calls to Bob in Birmingham, telling him, that his brother was fine except for Asthma. Mr. Rube Williams and Bob left Saturday for Oregan to visit him and they are hoping that he will return home with them. For further information, read the Chilton County News.

REVIVAL AT FLOYD CHURCH

The Rev. Luzell Gray, pastor of Indian Grave Baptist Church, will be the Evangelist for revival services beginning July 20th at Floyd Baptist Church, located on the Enterprise - Verbena Road. There will be special music each night. Services will be held nightly at 7:00 p. m. Everyone is cordially invited.

Only about 50 percent of a meat animal is edible.

PRACTICALLY half of the votes cast against the one and three mil tax that was voted on again Tuesday were cast in one box. The only reasonable explanation is that the people were uninformed and thought it was some kind of new tax being saddled up on them, Just goes to show what would happen to any kind of tax election held in Chilton County at this time.

21 PINTS BLOOD WOULD HAVE MADE QUOTA

We regret to report that again we did not reach our blood quota of 130 pints in Chilton County. Only 109 pints were collected at the local blood center in Clanton July 14th.

We would like to take this means of saying thank you to the fifteen volunteers who worked so diligently in the center during the six hour blood program operation.

Also we are grateful to Mr. Roy Traywick for donating Coco Colas for this center and Mrs. Brinker who always donates sweet milk for this occasion. We are always grateful to our local doctors who are always willing and who give one hour each of their time to this worthy cause. Mr. O. N. Esco assisted by giving toward payment of refreshments used in the canteen

Thanks again to Dr. J. Gilbert Hutchinson and Miss Bryant for their kind cooperation at the First Baptist Church. — (Mrs.) Maye P. Esco, Vol. Chrm.

TRYING TO IMPROVE OUR LOOKS --

SHOWN HERE are members of the Jemison Future Farmers of America working on their project of improving the looks of school building and grounds for the coming year.

We know it's a painful thought kids, but there is a rumor that there will be another school year alright. These fellows have landscaped the grounds and put up posts to remind themselves and classmates to "go around instead of "cut throuh".

FORMER PASTOR

GUEST AT TEMPLE CHURCH

REV. J. D. STEVENS

A former pastor, Rev. J D Stevens of Prichard, Ala., will be the guest speaker for all services Sunday at the Temple Assembly of God.

Rev. Stevens pastored the Temple Church in 1944. For the past twelve years he has pastored the Prichard Assembly of God.

Rev. Nelson E. White, the present pastor invites the public to attend. Service times are at 9:45 a. m., 11:00 a. m., and 7:15 p. m.

Charles Carter, student in the Seminary at Louisville, Ky., will be the evangelist. Charles is known in Chilton County as a God called preacher and a man of God. You will receive a great blessing from hearing this man with God's message for these troublesome days.

The American Foundation for the Blind has sent 25,210 pieces of literature about blindness in the last twelve months from its Department of Public Education.

AT MAPLESVILLE

CHILTON - UNITY YOUTH RALLY

Looking for something to do Saturday night? Then won't you come to the Maplesville Baptist Church, located on Main Street next to the bank. The Chilton - Unity Youth Rally will be meeting there. Services consisting of special singing, and a message by Alfred Littleton of West End; fellowship and refreshments, will begin at 7:30. We shall be looking forward to seeing YOU. — Ola Faye Pierce.

ALMOST UNANIMOUS---

Voting Sees School Tax In Firmly

The Three Mil tax was voted in Tuesday by a very one-sided vote. The unofficial count of all county boxes showed 1034 for the tax and 35 against the tax. That was the total in the One Mil tax vote. In the Three Mil tax vote the count was 1018 for and 36 against.

These taxes have been in force for schools for the past forty years and the election renewed the tax for twenty more years.

On August 12 the citizens will be given the opportunity to relevy District A and District B three mil taxes. These taxes are also levied every 20 years.

AMERICAN LEGION —

POST NO. 6 TO ELLECT OFFICERS

American Legion Post No. 6 will elect officers for the coming year at their regular meeting July 21st Monday evening 7:30 p. m. at the Veterans Club on Enterprise Highway.

W R Cobb, Commander. urges that all members be present to take part in this all important election as the officers elected will be yours for the ensuing year. All Veterans with honorable wartime service should belong to the American Legion and take an active part in it. In order to appreciate the wonderful work that the Legion is doing Locally and Nationally, one must become better acquainted with it. Any Legionaire will be most happy to take your application and if you are in doubt as where to contact one, your Veterans Service in the Wade building will be glad to take your application.

Recreation each evening will be under the direction of Morris Moattes.

Worship program for each evening will be under the direction of Elliott Monroe, chairman of Christian Faith.

MISS MINOR WINS ALBUM FOR SUPPORT

IN HEART FUND DRIVE

For playing an important role in the success of the annual HEART FUND in Alabama, the Lawrence Welk album "WITH A SONG IN MY HEART" has been presented to young Ruth Kate Minor, daughter of Mrs. Kermit Gore. of Rt. 1, Clanton, it was announced today by the Alabama Heart Association.

The Album is a collection of "Heart" songs from Welk's TV program of last February that was dedicated to the 1958 HEART FUND and was made possible by Coral Records an Welk's own generosity. In making the presentation Dr. Maxwell Moody, Jr., President, extended "the sincere appreciation of the Alabama Heart Association" to Ruth for her "active and personal support of HEART FUND Campaigns in the past."

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OBSERVES YOUTH WEEK

The young people of the First Baptist Church are having Youth Week during the week of July 20-27. They will be in full charge of the officers and workers activities.

Avoid farm commodity market gluts by providing on-the-farm storage.

The American Foundation for the Blind granted 20 scholarships to blind persons in the last twelve months.

FROM THE PUBLISHER:

Understanding Chilton County Is A Big Part Of Our Job

Beginning the 21st day of July "Your Community Newspaper" is sponsoring a concentrated effort to reach more Chilton Countians through greater circulation.

During these days of possible progress or possible failure your hometown press is your voice and the expression of your opinion.

Chilton County is growing. With this unmistakeable growth there is an urgent need for the public to be informed of their County government, social life, church and civic activities and valuable news coverage which only their local press can give them.

It is the progress of Chilton County (of which we are so much in favor) to which we are dedicated. Upholding the principals of our people and service to their way of life is our primary aim.

You expect honest, efficient, unbiased reporting of your affairs; that's exactly what we strive -- day and night -- to accomplish; to keep you informed.

WOMEN OF COMMUNITIES REPRESENT LOCAL NEWSPAPER

WITH the sunrise on July 21st ladies from practically every community in Chilton County will start a campaign which is designed to reach more people with the weekly press to better inform the general public on the affairs of Chilton County.

The ladies have set the dates of July 21 through August 31 as the period in which they will make an all out effort to establish "Your Community Newspaper soundly in every nook and cranny in Chilton County -- bar none -- so that every individual will be represented in the affairs of the day, resulting in a better informed public and a more progressive County.

Should you desire to know more of your County and its "moving parts, we urge you to contact one of these ladies during the period mentioned and see how you can become better informed about what's going on. You need not know their names here; they will make themselves known.

There are big savings to be had during this campaign and now is the time to get in on the "paved road to better information and a better understanding of your neighbor".

The County press is your only representation, when it comes to complete freedom of expressing your opinion. The beauty of it is, any man, woman or child may use

Now I lay me down to sleep?...

WANDA Limbrick, shown here in prayerful pose for help received, help given and the Divine guidance and grace needed for the months ahead is at least one jump ahead of most healthy, normal children of her eight years. She has the satisfaction of having probably more friends and well wishers than any little girl her age, and she is humble in this knowledge.

True, an eight-year-old is not likely to know what it's all about, but Wanda is sweet, quiet and friendly under all circumstances.

Wanda has a heart condition. Whether she lives to a ripe old age or not depends now on a doctor, your donations, and the Divine hand. Wanda now has a 50-50 chance at living. The money needed for her operation has been obtained.

Some say Wanda's operation, if successful, is just a start on her road to recovery. Her family, having other abnormal difficulty at this time will need money, prayers, time and anything else you might be abel to give in the months ahead.

Take another look at the picture above. If you're healty, it's a little harder to appreciate Wanda's condition. You are human, however, and being so, you will want to help another human being for their "Chance At Living."

VERBENA STARTS REVIVAL SUNDAY

The revival of the Verbena Baptist Church will begin the Third Sunday. July 20th, and will continue through Friday night of the following week. Services each morning 10:30 and 7:30 o'clock for the evening service.

BEFORE you start that new idea rolling be sure it is headed in the right direction.

THE fellow who blows his own horn usually comes out on the little end.

THE world is filled with all manner of men -- all endowed with all manner of manners.

FUNNY, but it's never drab or dreary if you have important work to do.

WE have come to the conclusion that people who do as they please get along just about as well as people who try to please everybody.

"A LITTLE CHILD SHALL LEAD THEM"

NOTHING can tear at the heart-strngs like the suffering of a little child. Nothing has brought the people of this community to a warmer hearted attitude than the plea for the aid for a little girl who needs assistance for an operation by a specialist in his field.

THE people of Chilton and Autauga Counties cannot be commended too highly for the response they have made in money and sympathy to this little girl. Keep the good work up -- until the job is finished and little Wanda Limbrick is restored to good health again.

NO EASY MATTER --

MEMBERS of the Committee urging the sale of bonds for the new industry to Chlton County are finding it no easy matter. All of the people who kick because we have no new industries coming our way are not necessarily interested enough to help in getting those industries.

We heard it said this week if every man who had been heard kicking because we had no new industry, would put up a hundred dollars towards getting one, we would have no trouble at all. It just goes to show -- boosters don't knock, and knockers don't boost.

A SERIOUS QUESTION --

SINCE you have brought up the question we'll just tell you the facts. You may not be aware of it but dead crocodiles do bite. A witness to this fact is a professor of zoology in Bogata. Now you just better watch when you're walking around among dead crockodiles.

The professor has twice been bitten by "dead" reptiles. Actually it was a cayman which we suppose is a member of the "crock" family.

The explanation, which we know you're dieing to hear is that the reptiles nervous system controls the snout, is disconnected from the rest of the nervous system. Therefore even if the reptile is dead and just accidentaly or on purpose stick your cotton-picking hand in the creature's mouth the jaws will snap shut and from then on you will be known as "lefty".

Since so many people in this community are interested in killing crocodiles we just thought we'ed past this bit of interesting information along and possibly save you a hand or foot or something. Anyway the next time you come across a dead cayman don't do anything till you call us and we'll run with you.

LAURELS AND BOUQUETS --

ONE of the finest youth organizations of today is centered around Little League and Babe Ruth baseball teams. Clanton's Babe Ruthers have expressed a desire to thank the many merchants and individuals who have helped them this season and who are supporting their local teams. "The officers, managers and the boys who have participated, again want to express appreciation to The Brotherhood of First Baptist Church and to the Civitans and Hayes Aircraft for the financial support of our league; and to Pig's Grocery, Campbell Auto Parts, Standard Oil Agent, City Tire Service, and Suburban Gas Company for making is possible for us to play under the lights. Your fine cooperation is the very best; your continued suport is humbly and urgently requested."

THE JOKE'S ON US . . . BUT WE AIN'T LAFFIN'» »

As any of you who read the News regularly know, our "Big Change" that has been taking place for the past month or so was suppose to culminate with a boxholder edition on July 3rd.

Well, we were all set, but the powers that be in making some parts for our new press saw fit to take a two weeks vacation just about the time our order was received. Needless to say this hampered our progress considerably.

After much orderly confusion we have received notice that our machinery parts will be shipped in time for us to come out on July 31st with our big changeover edition to a better publication for Chilton County citizens.

Community campaigns are in progress now to see that every family in Chilton County has an opportunity to begin receiving the publication that is entirely for them and to fit their needs.

We would like here and now to request that any advertisers who wish to really sell a particular item during this time of the year and would like to take advantage of the obvious "Saturated Circulation" that will come about on July 31st contact us (phone 32) at once so that our sales representative may begin working with you on your advertising. No advance in prices, but the advance in sales will amaze you.

Don't forget now -- that's July 31st -- and we ain't kidding! !

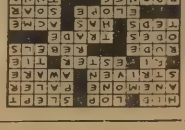
Answer to Puzzle



Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

In another of its highly controversial decisions, the U. S. Supreme Court ruled two years ago that nonsensitive federal jobs must be exempted from the government's security program. As a result, virtually all government employees except those who have access to classified information have been excluded. Those of us in the House of Representatives whi believe that the Supreme Court's decision poses a serious threat to our national security voted last week to extend the loyalty provisions to employees in nonessential jobs.

Under the terms of the House bill, the head of a government department or agency is authorized to suspend an employee who holds membership in the Communist Party or who is otherwise believed to be a danger to national security. However, the legislation also gives the accused the right to appeal directly to the Civil Service Commission -- a right which present law does not extend to federal employees.

In addition, the House measure provides for the separation of cases involving actual disloyalty and threats to national security from those concerning character defects, such as unsavory companions, past associations, and alcoholism. The character defects and other charges not directly related to loyalty will be handled under regular civil service firing procedures.

ALA. MILITARY POSTS

Several Alabama milltary installations will benefit from an armed forces construction bill passed by the House of Representatives last week.

As approved by the House, the bill contains authorizations in the amount of $16 million for construction at seven military installations in the State. The largest share -- $8.5 million -- goes to Redstone Arsenal. The remaining funds are designated for Forts McClellan and Rucker, Brookley and Craig Air Force Bases, Army National Guard units at Ashford and at the Birmingham Municipal Airport, and the Air Force Reserve at Bates Field in Mobile.

In addition, the construction bill provides for the transfer of the multi-million dollar San Jacinto Ordnance Depot from Houston, Texas to Point Aux Pins in Mobile County.

HOLT LOCK and DAM

Last Friday the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors deferred final action on the Holt Lock and Dam Project in order to collect additional information on the cost of constructing power facilities. The next meeting of the Board is scheduled for September, and definitive action may be taken on the Holt project at that time.

The Holt Lock and Dam is planned as a replacement for existing Locks and Dams 13, 14, 15 and 16 that are located on the Warrior River between the John Hollis Bankhead Lock and Dam and the City of Tuscaloosa.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

BEST GAMBLE OF HIS LIFE

"This afternoon I visited the Casino at Monte Carlo. It is a beautiful building and famous the world over. The entrance and lobby are of clear glass and light brown marble.

"There are two gambling saloons. The saloons contain several tables.

"We walked from table to table to watch the game, but actually I was more interested in the faces of the gamblers. On not a single face was there a trace of a smile. They all seemed to be clutched by an unseen power—as if they were writhing in the coils of an invisible python from which they could not get free. Despair, misery and fear were written on their tired, haggard faces.

"Many of these people lose their all at the gambling tables. Many of them go up to the Monaco Castle close by. There, from a high cliff a few yards from the palace of the Prince of Monaco, they jump to their death on the rocks and in the sea far below. A boat is always ready to go out and bring in their bodies. A search is made for identification papers and, whenever possible, the family is informed; but nothing is ever published in the newspapers." So writes Francis Grim.

How terrible and unfortunate! These people are gripped by an all-consuming passion. It is a passion that seizes the soul, traps the mind, imprisons the will and destroys the very moral fiber of a human being. It is a disease—a tragic disease brought on by the powers of evil.

But Jesus came to set the captive free. In Him there is freedom from every imprisonment.

Sam R— — was a gambler. He would rather gamble than eat. His payday could not come soon enough. And when it came, he seldom reached home with his pay.

His wife was unhappy, his children undernourished and his house ill-furnished, for while he was the finest sort of man otherwise, he could not control his passion for the gambling table.

One day a new pastor came to town. He visited the home and persuaded Sam to begin going to Sunday School. Weeks and months passed.

Then one night at church Sam had a transforming experience. In his sermon the minister said, "I want to offer you the greatest 'stakes' ever offered. I offer you Christ. You've tried everything else. Will you take a chance on Him?"

Sam took that chance—accepted Christ. The chains that had bound him so tightly dropped away, and for the first time he was free from his uncontrollable desire to gamble.

One Sunday morning a few weeks later, he felt bad. He did not go to church, but his children did.

Just before the morning message was over, someone called the children outside. Sam R— — had just dropped dead of a heart attack. But before he died, he whispered this to his wife:

"Everything is all right. That chance I took a few weeks ago was the best gamble I ever made." And it was! For he lost nothing.... He gained everything!

LITTLE LEAGUE ALL-STARS CHOSEN

Little League fans will want to congratulate the following boys who have been selected to represent Clanton as all-stars: Wayne Johnson and Ray Smitherman of the Methodist Braves; Bobby Powers, Woody Fulmer, Lowell Johnson, and Dan Brock of the Lions; Jimmy Minshew, Donnie Baker, Mike Cox tnd Butch Carter of the Kiwanis; Ray Cox, Ray Mahan, Perry Fulmer, and Mike Dennis of the J. C's.

Mr. Don Finlayson will serve as manager for the all-Star team. Mr. G. D. Jones will be his assistant.

The first game of the Little League Tournament will be held in Childersburg, Ala., on Monday, July 21st at 7 o'clock. Clanton will play against Childersburg. The winners of this game will then meet Vincent, Ala.

Congratulate your All-Stars, then give them your support by coming to see them play to win.

TELL ME

THINGS We see and hear

by BOB

You've heard of ". . ., master of none". We have been a paper boy, a janitor, a delivery boy, an editorialist, a mechanic, a typist, a columnist, a Linotype operator, a printer's devil, a pressman, a machinist, a salesman, a public relations representative, a reporter, a mailman, a stock cutter, a clerk, a painter and a foreman. That is of course, not to mention, a carpenter, office boy, electrician and general flunkie to mention only a few. What does it prove? Absolutely nothing. 'There's just one thing to all of this -- we've never held but one job in our entire 23 years of living.

The above terms are used very loosely and in their broadest sense. We probably couldn't get a job as any one of them.

Doggonit, there're more honest people! Checked the change box this afternoon and there was an odd four cents there. Checked it a couple hours later and there was a lone penny present. It's a good, world after all, eh!

Our hat is off and we bow low to one Noel Robinson (President of Clanton Civitan Club) for his cocoon - like metamorphosis from a so-called nobody to a real, honest - to - goodness somebody in the broadest sense. Noel, as we understand it, used to be a far cry from the go-getting, neat, brother-loving fellow he is today and needless to say, his townsfolk as well as his family of Civitans think a whole lot of his self-made character and his honest effort in aiding others and improving his community.

Most people, as individuals, are good. Why is it that collectively we make such a shabby display of things at times.

Johnny Smith's wife says a good way to stop a "kid" from holding its breath is to throw water in its face. Johnny Smith says that a board on the other end will relieve the situation also. We don't know about the Missus' method, but old Johnny boys" is tried and true.

Too many people think quality is fanciness. Many times quality is the essence of simplicity. Fanciness is a front merely for the insincere or the unconfident.

Understand they are having some difficulty getting the money raised for the new industry. One fellow remarked "if we could just get those who gripe about not having any industry in Clanton to buy some small share in this undertaking we'd have enough money" and then some. That about sums it up -- we want it, but we don't want it bad enough to help out. Some of us cannot help financially, but as Glen Bashore once said "I don't know about these bonds, etc. etc., but what I want to know if there isn't some way we fellows who don't have the money can help out too". That's the biggest thing anyway; an eagerness, a desire to help with the thing. It doesn't have to be monetary, but those who can help financially should do so. If you want the raw side of it ,it's for their benefit in the long run anyhow, so what have they to gripe about.

A tip O' the hat to Mr. Leo Thompson while we're on the subject. Lately he has given very generously of his time and experience toward this new industry for Clanton and we can only say, we need more like Mr. Leo in this respect.

Probate Judge Tingle, Morris Moates and James Duke Heflin are just three of the many who are working on Library facilities for Autauga, Elmore and Chilton Counties. Working with local Jaycees on the project is the Public Library Service Division of the State of Alabama. The project would constitute Federal, State and County funds and would serve these three counties, which are considered rural under the Library Services Act. b means of a Bookmobile from a Regional Office located as near the center of the 1,926 square mile area of these three counties as possible. You will find additional information about this project in this week's News and we will also keep you posted on future developments. It is apparently a very worthwhile thing--one which we could use time and time again.

What we'd like you to do -- think on it before you start knocking it as a poor way to spend your hard -earned tax dollar]. How do you know until you've checked.

Origin Of The Bible

This is the 7th in a series of articles presented to you by the local Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses with the Cooperation of your Chilton County News.

RUTH

General concention has it that the book of Ruth is no more than a simple narrative of pastoral rural life, having a goodly share [illegible] at the beginning, but [illegible] a beautiful [illegible]. It is not a mere idyl Jehovah's purpose in making the Bible record is not to entertain, but to instruct, and particularly to instruct in these last days". The dramatic events of the book of Ruth are filled with prophetic significance. "Ruth" means "friend, friendship; appearance, beauty".

The writership and date of writing of the book are uncertain. Consensus of opinion attributes it to Samuel, though many contend it was written after his time. The opening phrase, "in the days when the judges ruled," indicates that the time of [illegible] was written. Since Samuel is the probable author [illegible] position was [illegible] during the reign of Saul. Even more definitely locating the time of writing the genealogy of David's house at the close of the book suggests that he was actually a contemporary of Samuel. Also the introductory words, "in the days when the judges ruled," set the events of the drama at the time of the judges. While the record does not say so conclusively, evidence suggests that they occurred during the reign of Moab's king glon, and thereafter. The account in Ruth covers a time period of at leat eleven years. -- 1:2-4; 4:13.

The account brings into sharp focus the law of levirate marriage, giving a rare and striking illustration of its application. (Deut. 25: 5-10) Moreover, its significance in this instance is multiplied by the fact that it was a means of preserving unbroken the royal line of Judah leading up to David, and ultimately to the Greater David, hrist Jesus. onsider the narrated events leading up to this climax.

Chapter I discloses a famine stalking through the land of Judah, and a family fleeing from its ravages. Elimelech and his wife Naomi with their two sons Mahlon and Chilion, seek refuge in Moab. The husband dies in that land and the two sons marry two Moabitesses. After about ten years of sojourn Mahlon and Chilion die, childless. This leaves three women, and no seed unto Elimelech. Only a levirate marriage could provide a seed, and only in Israel were near kinsmen qualified to fulfill that law. The three women turn their faces westward and start the trek to Judah. Twice Naomi warns of the scant possibility of husband and home for the two young Moabitesses in a strange land, and invites them to count the coast. They do. Upon the second warning one turns back; the other, Ruth, makes a touching plea and voices determined resolve, saying: "Whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge; thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God: where thou diest, will I die, and there will I be buried: the LORD do so to me, and more also, if ought but death part thee and me." (Vss. 16, 17) The elder Naomi and her daughter-in-law Ruth journey on to Bethlehem, arriving at the beginning of barley harvest.

The second chapter carries matters a step nearer the climax, locating the near kinsman in whom hope centers to provide a seed for Elimelech. Ruth's industry and Boaz' respect for the stranger's gleaning rights open the way; but doubtless Jehovah was directing events. Her first day of labor finds her gleaning after the reapers of Boaz, an elderly Jew. Boaz' inquires concerning the Moabitess acquaint him with Ruth's loyalty to Naomi and her willingness to leave home and native land to dwell among Jehovah's people. He shows himself friendly, tells her to glean in no fields but his, provides her with noon meals, and causes special favor to be shown her in the gleaning work. When Ruth relates to her mother-in-law her blessed lot in Boaz' field, Naomi sees in it the hand of the Lord. On Naomi's instructions Ruth continues to glean in the field of Boaz throughout both barley and wheat harvest.

Chapter 3 brings matters to a head, sets the stage for a settlement in harmony with the levirate marriage law. Naomi says, "My laughter, shall I not seek rest for thee, that it may be well with thee?" She then recommended that Ruth go to Boaz at the threshing-floor at night and lie at his feet. But she was not suggesting unchaste conduct. Naomi was too old to participate in a levirate marriage; so Ruth was to act in her stead. Thus it was proper for her to "seek rest" or the married state for Ruth. Ruth's lying at Boaz' feet was not a proposal of impure relationship, but an invitation for him "to spread therefore thy skirt over thine handmaid; for thou art a near kinsman". (Vs, 9) This was a symbolical way in Israel of taking a woman to wife. Naomi's advised course was a call to Boaz to perform the kinsman's part in levirate marriage. He so understood it, but one obstacle stood in the way: there was one kinsman nearer.

The fourth chapter of the book shows the settlement of this complication and relates the climax and conclusion of matters. Informal court was called into session at the gate of the city; the nearer kinsman was haled in by Boaz and acquainted with the facts and his responsibility. Would he redeem? His answere was yes when it seemed that he would thereby swell his own wealth, but was quickly changed to no when he further learned that through Ruth he must raise up seed unto Elimelech, which seed would inherit Elimelech's redeemed lands. This refusal left Boaz next in line to redeem. To the people gathered at the gate he said, "Ye are witnesses this day that I have bought all that was Elimelch's, and all that was Chilion's and Mahlon's of the hand of Naomi. Moreover Ruth the Moabitess, the wife of Mahlon, have I purchased to be my wife, to raise up the name of the dead upon his inheritance, that the name of the dead be not cut off from among his brethern, and from the gate of his place." Vss. 9,10) Thereafter by Ruth a son was born to Boaz, named Obed, who in time became the grandfather of David. The levirate marriage law was carried out, a breach in the royal line avoided, and significant prophetic drama brought to a close.

The closing verses state the genealogy from Pharez to David. Between Obed and Jesse no one is mentioned. Is this due to the lack of importance of connecting links, or did each one from Nahshon to Jesse live to be of a very great age, and each one in his extreme old age bring forth a son? This latter conclusion appears to be the correct one, and emphasizes Satan's effort to break the royal line leading to David and Jesus, and Jehovah's watchcare to see it that it was unbroken.

The canonical authority of the book of Ruth is sufficiently confirmed by the fact that Ruth the Moabitess is mentioned in Matthew 1:5 as one of the ancestresses of Jesus, but fulfillment of the prophetic drama in these "last days" incontrovertibly proves its divine inspiration. The facts fit the drama and prove the record true.

YOUR Health

More deaths are caused by barbiturates, accidentally swallowed or taken with sucicidal intent, than by any other poison. The symptoms of barbiturate intoxication resemble those of alcoholic intoxication.

Abuse of a barbiturate is classified in two forms; acute and chronic intoxication. Acute intoxication with barbiturates accounts for approximately 25 percent of all patients with acute poisoning admitted to general hospitals. It is generally accepted now that chronic abuse of barbiturates leads to physical dependence. Physicians are familar with what is known as the abstinence syndrome in barbiturate intoxication which resembles the sometimes seen on withdrawal alcohol which is delirium tremens if discountinued abruptly. Physical dependence does not develop when barbiturates are properly administered and taken as prescribed by the physician. There are some emotionally unstable persons, especially those prone to abuse alcohol who should not be given barbiturates regularly. These individuals are liable to accept the barbiturates as an enduring crutch to help them over their emotional hurdles ,and may even substitute barbiturates for alcohol.

The important and difficult future in treating those who have a physicial dependence on barbiturates is to correct, if possible, the emotional disorders that have provoked the excessive use of barbiturates. Reduction of dosage is the simplest phase of treatment. Usually treatment calls for extended psychiatric help.

Library Specialist Stresses Local Need For Good Books

Mrs. Elizabeth Beamguard, field representative for the Alabama Public Service Division, addressed the Scottsboro Library Board Tuesday evening at a dinner meeting at Freck's Chicken House. Working with libraries in this section is Mrs. Beamguard's responsibility, and board members state that she has been of invaluable assistance in the operation of the local library.

Stressed at the meeting were the facts that the library is being used more extensively than ever, and that the library has been forced to operate on a budget that has been entirely inadequate.

Mrs. Beamguard informed the members of the activities and programs of other libraries in this area and her comments indicated that the local library has not had the funds available to place it on par with the majority of these.

The visitor explained the Library Services Act and the method whereby two or three counties might develop a region so as to share in funds provided by the act. Mrs. Beamguard presented the following explanation of the regional library system.

Library development over the entire nation for the last several years has proven that a municipality or single county finds it economically difficult to support a lone an adequate library system.

For this reason, standard library service requires the financial support of two or more appropriating bodies.

Where two or more counties agree to share a library system it is called a regional system.

The advantages of the regional systems are:

1. The pooling of finances for a larger book collection.

2. Stronger personnel.

3. Library services to rural areas.

Our interest in helping counties to develop a region within the next three years is that funds from the Library Services Act are available for those costly items of book collection, which counties can seldom afford over and above cost of operation.

As to personnel, pooled resources will furnish a trained administrator for a region, so that the county or community libraries will have the benefit of professional guidance at all times. This would mean that each community librarian would be guided in book selection, service to readers, community program planning, reading guidance for children, and reference service for businessmen.

The individual library (a member of the regional system) would benefit by:

1. Relieving local librarian for more direct work with readers. (Technical details are cared for by regional library.)

2. More books are available to people.

3. Books cataloged and processed headquarters office.

4. More chance to give reference service, service to children, films, records, etc.

Mrs. Boyd Turner is chairman of the Scottsboro Library Board. Other members are: Mrs. Harold Blanks (also city librarian) Miss Ida Moody, Miss Mattie Lou Stockton, D. Donald Word and Guy Hollis.

MAINTAIN EGG QUALITY; SELL MORE HENFRUIT

Every [illegible] egg grower knows that [illegible] summer months [illegible] in the job of maintaining [illegible] egg quality.

And [illegible] intends to stay in the poultry business the grower must put high quality eggs on the market. Besides [illegible] him command a better price for his product, doing so will establish his reputation for good eggs.

You can keep the quality of your eggs high, according to Davis, of API if you follow these rules:

1. Produce clean eggs - - that means having clean nests and clean litter in the house.

2. Make sure all eggs are infertile.

3. Gather the eggs frequently. During the summer they should be collected three or four times a day.

4. Cool them as rapidly as possible. The temperature should be lowered to between 55 and 60 degrees within two hours.

"For cooling large quantities of eggs -- that is those from flocks of over 1,000 layers -- a refrigerated egg room is desirable." "But for flocks smaller than this, there are several other effective methods. Egg placed in cooling trays, basements, cellars, or dug-outs will keep well.

"Another good method is to place an electric fan in front of wet sacks, and blow the cooled air onto the eggs. This method has the added avantage of maintaining a proper humidity level." "It is just as important to store eggs at 70 to 80 percent humidity as it is to keep them cool," "because as eggs lose moisture, they lose flavor."

Jaycees Call Meet For Establishment Of Region. Library

The Clanton Junior Chamber of Commerce announced a meeting in the interest of the establishment of a regional library, with a bookmobile service for Chilton County.

Interested leaders of various civic organizations, Study Clubs, Home Demonstration Club, City and County officials and community leaders have been invited to a meeting to be held Monday, July 21st at the Clanton City Hall at 7:30 p. m. Mrs. Elizabeth P. Beamguard, field representative of the State Library Service, will be present to explain how we can establish a regional library.

The Clanton Jaycees feel this is a service that is available and needed for our County. Mr. James D. Heflin, chairman of the Jaycees project, urges all persons selected to steer this project to be present. Anyone interested is invited to attend also. Already much interest has been manifested by leaders in our community. Many feel that this is an opportunity.

MRS. HENLEY HOSTESS TO CIRCLE V

Circle V of the WSCS met Monday night, July 14 in the home of Mrs. M. C. Henley.

The Chairman, Mrs. Olin Fields opened the meeting and presided over a lengthly business discussion.

Mrs. Gordon Robertson gave the devotion and Mrs. Norman Roberts reviewed a chapter in the Book "When the Heart Is Hungry" by Allen.

During the social hour the hostess served refreshments to 14 members and a visitor, Mrs. James Parr.

HELPFUL HINTS FOR HOUSEWIVES

To fold contour sheets neatly, reverse the contoured fold along one side and tuck it underneath the opposite contoured edge, envelope style. This produces a flat square which can then be easily folded.

Old powder puffs make excellent applicators for wax shoe polish. Wash them thoroughly to get rid of powder stains and keep them in your shoe polishing kit.

Liquid cuticle remover will dissolve spots on white kid shoes.

A makeshift sleeve board can be constructed from a rolled-up magazine covered with a turkish cloth. Tie the roll and cover it with muslin.

One dozen lemons will make about 16 glasses of lemonade; light-colored lemons are usually more acid than the deep yellow ones, but the later yield more juice.

Frequent harvests will prolong the bearing season of beans, peppers, eggplants, okra, tomatoes, squash, cucumbers and other similar vegetables. This is because the plants will quit bearing if allowed to ripen seed.

A cow must drink three times as much water as she gives milk. Depending on the weather, her feed, an dthe amount of milk she gives, a cow may need as many as 18 galoins of water a day.

Triplet Calves—3,342,000-to-One Long Shot

Courtesy of Security Mills, Inc., Knoxville, Tenn.

GREAT ODDS: A 1150-pound, 3-year-old Ayrshire "wonder" heifer astounded the veterinary world by giving birth to three heifer calves at the Maryville, Tenn. farm of W. W. Delionback. The University of Tennessee's College of Agriculture figured the odds on such a birth are 3,342,000-to-1 that the heifer would: (1) produce triplets; (2) that the triplets would be born alive; (3) that the calves would live after birth; and (4) that the triplets would all be heifers. This is the first time in recorded history that triple heifers were born. The calves, Hope, Faith and Charity, are being raised on Peebles' 10-28 Super Calf-Kit, milk replacer. The calves were sired by Colonel Bob, a purebred Ayrshire bull. Colonel Bob leads all milk production indexes for the Ayrshire breed in transmitting high milk production to his daughters.

MT. CREEK NEWS HAPPENINGS

Jeanette Brown

Sunday School and Church was good Sunday. The attendance was better than usual.

We had several visitors with us in Sunday School. They included Mrs. Dennis Hopper and son, Joe ;and Miss Jo Gibson of Verbena. We enjoyed having them and hope they can come again.

Training Union was not as good as usual because of rain. We hope more people will join us next Sunday night.

Visiting us Sunday and Sunday and preaching for us was Rev. Leroy Stringfield. Everyone who hears his sermons receives a blessing.

Mrs. Will Judy had the program for Prayer Meeting last Wednesday night. We hope everyone enjoyed her program.

We encourage more people to join us every Wednesday night at 7:30 p. m. for our mid-week prayer services.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mathiew and Mrs. Otis Sims was Mrs. M. L. Childress.

Mr. and Mrs. Reevie Baker and children of Prattville visited Mr. and Mrs. Jesse F. Brown and family Sunday.

Miss Ethel Gentry of Mountain Creek spent several days of the past week at the Troy Baptist Orphanage of Troy ,Alabama.

We welcome visitors at anytime they wish to come. We are always glad to see them and extend to them a warm welcome.

A Salute to

RUSSELL COUNTY

Site of the Last Battle In the War Between the States*

Russell County was the site of the last battles in two historic conflicts—the Creek Indian War in 1836 and the War Between the States.* Early visitors of note included French General LaFayette; German Crown Prince Count Saxeweimar; Francis Scott Key, author of "The Star Spangled Banner;" Aaron Burr, of treason trial fame; and Col. John Crowell, first congressman from Alabama.

Its name honors the memory of Col. Gilbert C. Russell, rugged Indian fighter of the 3rd U. S. Infantry.

Today in Russell County, as elsewhere in Alabama, the U. S. Brewers Foundation works ceaselessly to assure the sale of the light, bright beverages of moderation — beer and ale — under pleasant, orderly conditions. Believing that strict law enforcement serves the best interests of the people, the Foundation stresses close cooperation with law enforcement and governing officials in its continuing "self-regulation" program.

Roper New FHA Committeeman

Mr. Henry Arthur Roper of Route 3, Clanton, is the new Farmers Home Administration committeeman for Chilton County. He succeeds Mr. R. M. Foshee who has served his full three year term, Isaac C. Byrd, the agency's county supervisor announced today.

Mr .Roper operates a peach farm 2½ miles southwest of Clanton. The other two committeemen with unexpired terms are Mr. Thomas A. Davis, Route 2. Jemison and Mr. Fonzie T. Williams, Route 1, Billingsley. Committee members serve 3-year terms arranged so that one member is appointed each year. The term of office begins July 1. A member completing his term cannot succeed himself and at least two of the members must be farmers.

The county committee determines the eligibility of local farmers who apply for Farmers Home Administration loans. The committee also certifies the value of farms begin purchased or improved with farmers Home Administration loans and assists in adopting the loan program to local conditions. There are approximately 3,000 county committees in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Pureto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Approximately 80 percent of the applications reviewed by the Chilton county committee during the past year were for operating loans while 20 percent were for real estate loans. Operating loans are used by farmers to buy quality livestock and machinery and to meet operating expenses incurred in adjusting and improving their farming methods. Real estate loans are used to buy, improve or enlarge family-type farms and to refinance certain debts. Loans are also available to farmers to establish and carry on approved soil and water conservation practices including the construction of farmstead water systems ,terrances, irrigation and drainage systems. Farm Housing loans for building or remodeling farm homes and other necessary farm buildings are also provided.

Many of the real estate loans are made from funds advanced by private lenders and insure by the agency. Some of the real estate loans and all of the loans for operating farms are from annually appropriated funds.

The agency also makes emergency loans in areas where severe storms or other disasters have caused severe crop damage and increased the need for agricultural credit.

The agency does not make a loan of any type to an applicant whose credit needs can be handled by other credit sources.

HOW TO KEEP "MUTT" FROM MESSING UP GARBAGE

Garbage cans move up in the world to take part in rainfall tests being conducted in the Mobile area by Bell Laboratories. Sixteen cans have been elevated to new heights on poles along highway 43 from Mobiel to Mt. Vernon and connected to instruments for measuring adverse effects of rain on microwave circuits. Bell scientists hope the tests will point the way to further improvement in transmission of long distance telephone calls and televison programs during stormy weather.

Farm real estate values increased in all states during the 12 months ending July 1, 1957.

A LOT OF "HOG CALLING"

"The demand for lean pork is revolutionizing the swine industry.

Even though it may cost a few pennies more per pound, investigations have shown that Mrs. Homemaker definitely prefers meat-type pork to overfat pork. Therefore, the real problem in the Alabama swine business is how to produce in quantiity -- and how to market -- a high-quality, meaty hog. Other states are making efforts to solve this problem through the use of boar-testing stations, swine evaluation stations, and on-the-farm testing systems that include careful breeding, selection, and culling.

"We in Alabama need similar facilities for promoting quality in hogs," "if the swine business in this state is to thrive and prosper.

"Grading clinics and market barrow shows are gaining in popularity and should be encouraged in every area where hogs are grown. This kind of event cannot, of course, improve the quality of the hogs directly," "but it can give the producer an opportunity to see for himself how his hogs rate with those who will use his product, namely, the meat packer and the consumer."

Cavender, who recently joined the staff of the API Extension Service, will work with county agents on the special problems of hog marketing in each county.

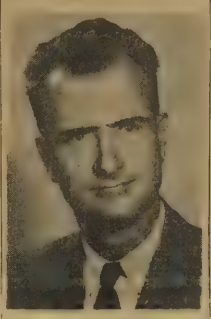
REVIVAL AT CONCORD



On July 27 Revival Services will begin at Concord Baptist Church on the Higgins Ferry Road, one and one-half miles east of Clanton. Dr. J. R. White, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Montgomery, will be the evangelist.

Dr. White is well known to a large number of people in Chilton County, as he has spoken to meeting of the Womans Missionary Union and the Chilton-Unity Youth Rally. He has twice gone as mission evangelist to the San Blas Indians off the coast of South America and out of this experience as pastor, evangelist and missionary, he is well qualified to bring most interesting messages to the people. We at Concord feel that we are unusually fortunate to have Dr White for our revival.

As many of the people who have heard him previously will want to hear him again, we are making preparations for overflow attendance at Concord, and we welcome people from other church communities to visit us during the meeting. All pastors are being contacted and asked to announce these services in their churches and to urge their people to come.

Services will be held twice daily, at 10:30 A. M., and 7:30 P. M. A cordial welcome to all. — G H Carroll, pastor

'Sockets Where You Need Them' With Continuous Outlet Systems

Electrical outlets are plentiful and convenient when strip systems such as above, are used. Assemblies like this replace conventional baseboards, blend with decorating scheme, provide outlets at frequent, regular intervals, and can be used on any type of wall.

With the increasing awareness of the need for adequate wiring has come the realization that electrical outlets, like the faucets of your plumbing, are the only way of tapping the electrical power available to you.

Through multi-outlet systems, proven in more than a quarter-century of use, electrical outlets can be placed so that they will always be conveniently available. In general, multi-outlet systems are a surface metal raceway with electrical outlets located at pre-determined intervals, from six inches to five feet, along a continuous strip.

The cost for the entire multi-outlet system may be slightly higher than for standard systems, but the added convenience and flexibility more than overcome initial price. On an outlet-for-outlet basis, the multi-outlet assembly is usually less costly.

The multi-outlet system illustrated here is Plugmold, baseboard, produced by The Wiremold Company, Hartford, Conn. Multi-outlet systems are available through your electrical contractor.

FOLKS and THINGS About Town

by Ben

DOESN'T it warm the cockels of your heart to go home evenings and find the little woman has been slaving over a hot stove boiling you three hot dogs for your supper?

THE best peach picker around here is Arnold Mims our linotype operator. He brought us a basket of the prettiest peaches we have seen. out of bathing suits, this year. Now we could be showing a little partiality here but in case you want to argue the point just bring us a nice large basket and we'll be glad to sample them and in case we were wrong we'll gladly admit it. That is, if we get to keep the peaches.

FELLOW asked the Mountaineer, "Don't you ever cut yourself, using this old straight razor?" "Naw!" said the Mountaineer. "I be shavin' for nigh onto five years now, and I ain't cut myself neither time."

THE elusive Mr. Williams was due in Clanton Wednesday night. He returned after 49 years. As to the history of his travels we do not know but we are glad that he was found by his many relatives in this county and we welcome him home.

WENT down to the Modern Beauty Shop Tuesday afternoon to take a camera and give a lesson in picture-taking. Cilla Adkins, owner, wanted to take a picture of Mrs. B. L. Jones who was getting her first permanent at 92 Hope Cilla got a good one we just might want to show it to you. By the way Cilla said that the youngest person she had ever given a wave was 18 months old. So there you are fellas. Get used to it. Whether they're 18 months or 92 years they like to fix up and look charming -- and believe us Mrs. Jones is charming.

SUNNY VALLEY FAMILY PICNIC

CONTRACT SIGNED FOR NEW INDUSTRY HERE

Last Wednesday night members of the Industrial Development Board, Mayor and City Council met with B. C. Davis, vice-president in charge of new development, of the Newport Business Forms Co., Inc. and signed a preliminary contract for the leasing of a building, and other specified clauses whereby the Newport Business Forms Co. Inc., could bring a plant here within the next six months.

The new building will be constructed at a cost of $120,000 and according to the contract is to be completed within five months. Mr. Davis spent the afternoon in Clanton and was accompanied back as far as Birmingham by R. C. Williams and John Morgan Foshee, where the three spent much time with the Architects working out details in the plans for the new structure

Mr. Williams and Mr. Foshee have devoted much time and worked hard to secure this new industry which, it is reported, will employ from 50 to 60 skilled and unskilled workmen. The Industrial Development Board of the Alabama Power Company has also spent much time and hard work in promoting this new industry for Clanton. The job, of course, was accomplished by all of the citizens of Clanton working together and many gave their time and purchased bonds that this be made possible

A picnic for the deaf people of Chilton County was held at Log Cabin Beach, Saturday, July 19 1958.

Rev., Dr. Fletcher of Birmingham, minister to the Deaf of Albama, was present for the occasion. Also there were about 60 deaf people who came to the picnic from Birmingham, Montgomery, Talladega, Selma, and a couple as far as Houston, Texas.

The Rev. Fletcher gave a good sermon in the morning and at noon the tables were loaded with fine food to eat. Everybody ate to bursting. After lunch the kids had an enjoyabel time swimming in the water. There was a boat and water skiing.

A good time was enjoyed by all, for it had been many years since we had seen some of the friends.

We are planning on another picnic at Log Cabin Beach again next July. We will be looking for more old friends to come. — H. T. Prickett.

CHILTON ALL-STARS BEST TOURNAMENT TEAM

According to reports this week the Chilton All-Stars of the Babe Ruth League were termed by many as the "best Club in the tournament" even though they were put out of the running in a heartbreaking 2-1 victory for Childersburg.

Pitching on this fatefur evening was Tommy Shelton, ace southpaw who held a 1-0 lead over the Childersburg victors in the first half of the game.

The fifth inning saw Childersburg with a runner on 2nd, two out and two strikes on their catcher. He belted one which brought the runner on second home and tied up the game until the top of the ninth.

This same catcher (who, according to reports had never been known to get two hits in a game) came up to bat. There were two out and two strikes on him once again and he laid one down first base line (which Mickey Littlejohn tried in vain to stop) and brought the scoring to a close and also Chilton's chances tournament -wise.

Clanton's score was by Warren Edwards, who blasted a homer in the first.

It is evident that Chilton was to the many compliments on the well represented in the tourney due sportsmanship and all-around good playing of the boys.

We are proud of the record they made for themselves and the prestige they added to our good name by conducting themselves in the highest fashion.

We can't win 'em all fellas! Congratulations!

WANDA LIMBRICK FUND GOES OVER TOP FOR OPERATION

MRS. DEVAUGHN IN HOSPITAL

Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Reuben DeVaughn, of Mt. Pisgah community fell here in town and broke some bones. She is recuperating now in Chilton County Hospital. Reports were that her injuries were not of too serious a nature and that she would be up and around in a short time.

On the local scene reports are that $936.81 have been counted for Little Wanda Limbrick who is to have a "lifesaving operation" in the very near future. Donations came in fast and furious and neighboring Autauga County(Wanda's home County reports over $1,000 donated. This of course does not include the jars around Chilton distributed by local Civitans and they still solicit any help which is in the process of being given.

Wanda? She's doing fine -- and she says "Thank You"!

20 YEARS OF SERVICE --

NEXT month when we publish our Anniversary Editon will mark 20 years of service to Chilton County by the present ownership. In that 20 years we have seen the Community grow and prosper and we have seen the humblest families reach a state of prosperity where even the tenant farmer could enjoy the "finer things" of life.

Nineteen Thirty-Eight was the days at the Chilton County News of Bonnie Hand, John VanDerveer, Cecil Wilson; and since then we have seen a steady stream of fine men pass through our employ, leading on to better positions, higher pay and that better life. Where all the old employees are, we could not know. Some we see now and then, and we speak of the old days, but along the years the meetings grow further and further apart and, as is normal in this fast moving world, we soon lose contact altogether.

For the publishing of this Anniversary Edition we can truthfully say that we have the best force we have had at the Chilton County News. We have the best machinery and more material to do you, our customers, a better job. Time marches on and we have tried to keep abreast of these modern times. We have come to love Chilton County as our own and hope we have come to be a part of your household and daily life as a newspaper.

We have not always been right -- but we have been sincere in all our dealings. We have made mistakes, and we will make more mistakes if we live. But we will continue in the future as in the past to do at all times what we think is best for Chilton County.

We offer our time, our facilities, and our experience. When we can be of service to you--let us know.

YOUR COMMUNITY WILL BE REPRESENTED IN CCN'S BIG ANNIVERSARY EDITION NEXT WEEK - JULY 31.

DO YOU TAKE IT FOR GRANTED ?

"Last February 4th a seven weeks' strike ended on the St. Paul, Minnesota, newspapers." During that time two newspapers were not published. A survey afterwards showed that 48% of the men and 52% of the women in that area had changed their minds about their hometown press. Of those who changed their minds 48% of the men and 67% of the women made comments to the effect that they had discovered their newsaper was invaluable and that they had previously, you guessed it -- just taken it for granted.

"A newspaper is the voice of the area it serves." In character it is a public institution even though it is privately owned". It has been stated that 35% of a newspapers services are strictly of a public nature. No other media, certainly not TV or radio, operates on the basis of giving away 35% of its time.

Thus your weekly newspaper serves a purpose in your community. It it your voice, for it serves you the public. Your support of your community press determines the effectiveness of its suport of your community.

"A newspaper is a conglomeration of confusion to the uninitiated, little understood and probably the most criticized of any field of private businessness. Yet it serves with few errors of facts and in the millions of individuals letters written, set, proofread, corrected and printed to tell the story of the events of the area it serves."

Everything in your newspaper is different from everything else in it. E v e r y different feature about it is tailor-made. "Newspapers are not taken off the shelf like mass production merchandise. Its production is a race against time. Its objective is a "product" of the highest standard in the public interest. This is your newspaper which you take for granted". (Portions of the above were taken from the Oconomowoc (Wis.) Enterprise as printed in the Publisher's Auxiliary.)

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

For the third week in succession, the House of Representatives has passed legislation designed to curb the power of the U. S. Supreme Court.

Three weeks ago members of the House approved a bill providing that a criminal confession to police which is "otherwise admissible" cannot be excluded from evidence solely because of a delay in arraignment. In 1957 the Supreme Court had reversed the death penalty of a convicted rapist on the grounds that he was held too long between arrest and arraignment and that, because of the delay, his confession had to be disregarded.

Tha following week a bill was passed by the House which extends the government's loyalty program to employees in nonsensitive jobs. The court had ruled in 1956 that the security program was applicable only to those workers who had access to classified information.

STATES RIGHTS BILL

The third bill was passed by the House last week and is an attempt to preserve state laws by establishing a specific rule of interpretation of federal acts.

For almost 120 years, the U. S. Supreme Court held that a state law was valid as long as it was not in direct conflict with a federal law on the same subject. However, since 1941 the Court has made a number of decisions in which it held that when Congress passes a law on any subject it intends that all state laws on the same subject be superceded -- regardless of whether or not there is a conflict between those laws.

For instance, in the Alabama case of Cloverleaf Butter v. Patterson, the Court held that because Congress had enacted the pure food and drug law it has assumed complete jurisdiction in that field. Thus, this ruling prohibited Alabama from enforcing one of its health laws which required inspection of renovated butter to be sold in the State.

The decision which has most urgently pointed up the need for a return to the Court's original rule of interpreting federal laws was made in the 1956 case of Pennsylvania v. Nelson. The Court ruled that Pennsylvania could not prosecute a communist under its state sedition laws since a federal law -- the Smith Act -- had been passed on the same subject. Under this decision, the Court made the erroneous assumption that Congress, when it passed the Smith Act, was unaware that 42 states had sedition acts.

In recent years Congress has legislated on a multitude of subjects. If the Supreme Court continues to follow its present doctrine, the state will eventually be deprived of practically all powers and sovereignty in the enactment and enforcement of laws designed to protect the health and welfare of their citizens.

Realizing this danger, I joined with Rep. Howard Smith of Virginia on the first day of the 85th Congress in introducing identical bills designed to modify this doctrine. Last week, the House of Representatives passed similar legislation which will permit concurrent jurisdiction so that state laws can also be enforced as long as they do not directly interfere with a federal act.

According to the House bill, the Court cannot rule that a state law was superseded by a federal law on the same subject unless Congress specified in the law that a preemption was intended or unless the that statute is in "direct and specific" conflict with the federal law to such a degree that the two cannot be reconciled.

Although the bill was denounced by some as a states rights measure that might interfere with integration, it was approved in the House by a vote of 241 to 155. There is every indication, however, that the measure faces stiff opposition in the Senate.

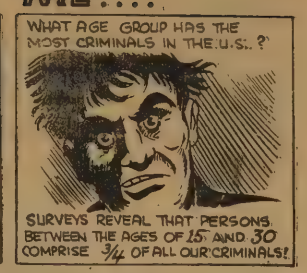
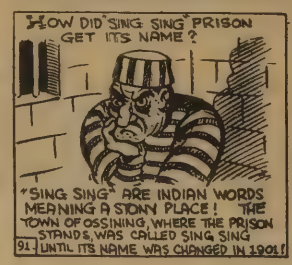
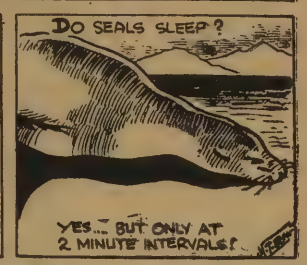
TELL ME....







ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

RALPH DISCOVERS GOD

Ralph Q--- is a good friend of mine who owns and operates a prosperous business in Illinois. Twenty-five years ago, according to his own testimony, Ralph didn't even know that there was a God. He was broke, jobless and living on a relief check which amounted to $3.00 a week. Today, he runs his own business, and every year shows a profitable income. In an article which he wrote for ABUNDANT LIFE Magazine, he had this to say:

"Nineteen years ago charity was giving me $3.00 a week on which to support my family. Last year, my business showed a profit of more than $50,000."

How did all this come about? Let Ralph tell it in his own words: "The change that came to me actually happened in a pinochle game," writes Ralph. "I was sitting at the table playing cards and drinking a mug of beer. I can see the old beer mug now and the cards as they were spread out before me. In the midst of that game, something spoke to me and said, 'Ralph, get out of here and go to church!'

"I hardly knew how to go about obeying that voice. I knew there were churches, of course. But I didn't know when they were open, when they did business nor what kind of business they did. I had been in one once at a funeral and I had been married in one. But I knew absolutely nothing about any of the church's other activities.

"But after hearing the voice that spoke to me at the card table, I went home and found my wife, her sister and her sister's husband. All three of them had been to church, had heard sermons, had heard people talk about being saved. So they agreed to go along with me and give me moral support in my first visit to a religious meeting.

"As I sat in church that day, I had $1.00 in my pocket. It was the last dollar that I had left from the weekly allotment from the relief agency. It was all that stood between me and starvation for my family. But when the offering plate was passed, I pulled that dollar out of my pocket and dropped it in the plate. The first time I went to church I gave the last dollar I had to God.

"The next day I went back to the relief agency and told them that I would no longer be on their relief list. I had become a child of God. I was no longer on relief.

"How have I fared in these years since I gave the last dollar I had to God's work and then notified the relief agency that I would not be needing their checks any longer? Let me put it like this: Nineteen years ago I pulled my last dollar out of my pocket and dropped it into a collection plate. Last year I wrote checks for the work of God amounting to $11,000."

The transformation from rags to riches didn't come suddenly with Ralph. But it came as he used his newly discovered faith. And best of all, Ralph found that God is the real source of abundant life.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

P. T. Barnum once said there is a sucker born every second.

Whether or not this observation is true, it would seem that many of the so-called "discount" stores operating in the nation believe in this premise.

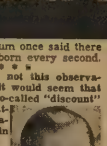
For example, there are some that operate under a name suggesting that it is some series of letters which appears that it is some branch of the U. S. government.



C. W. Harder

Then, in big type, they advertise the public cannot buy at this store and take advantage of prices "as much as 50% under."

In fact, they make it quite plain that only veterans and their families, city, county, state and federal employees and their families, and people drawing social security benefits, can take advantage of the tremendous "bargains." With all the veterans of the Spanish-American, World War I, World War II and Korea around plus their families, in addition to the other categories, there's not many people left who can't trade at these stores.

* * *

Of course, part of the elaborate build up is the fact that there is usually available a few items of standard, well known brands, at marked down prices. But the standard merchandise is usually heavily over weighed by the volume of cheap goods, much of it imported.

Thus the break down of Fair Trade laws in many states have given rise to all manner of devious merchandising schemes, which not only gives the consumers erroneous ideas, but have contributed largely to the present recession in manufacturing.

To combat this Senators Hubert Humphrey and William Proxmire have introduced a bill which would set up a federal system of fair trade competition.

Senator Proxmire, with Senators Russell Long and Wayne Morse have also introduced a bill which would make it illegal for any merchant to sell at less than his delivered cost which would include his invoice cost, less any discounts, plus freight and applicable taxes.

* * *

This bill is destined to create a great deal of discussion, because it has now become evident to many national leaders that unrestricted "jungle warfare" in the nation's market places is leading to ruin.

In addition, unbridled vicious competition which seeks only to bankrupt a competitor can only end in victory for the heavily financed aggressor.

And while seemingly, the consumer benefits by the lower prices such ruthless warfare brings about, in the long run the consumer loses.

Because when one heavily financed giant is able to force to the wall all of its competition, there is no restraint on the prices the newly-created monopoly can and will charge.

In fact, prices are then loaded up to make up losses incurred while killing competition.

Thus, there seems but little question that it is proper for Congress to make sure that there is some measure of decency in the market place.

Obviously, a nation that sits by and permits a few heavily financed operations take over all commerce will eventually offer its citizens no more than Russia offers its unfortunate citizens.

Here's a local opinion on the Middle aEst crisis . It seems that our negotiator's, statesmen, Congressmen and Ambassadors all rolled together can do very little toward bringing world peace about, or even a reasonable facsimile. We know forty people personally who could straighten out the entire situation where they present to do so. It gets back to the old situation of being there is one thing and talking about another. We personally feel that encouragement from our citizenry toward the better negotiations of our statesmen, etc., would serve very well toward the happy ending -- or beginning -- whichever you prefer. None of us want war. It confronts us now. We can speak about how to avoid it, but in the end it's our "representatives" who do our talking for us. We put them there -- now we should encourage and advise them on how we feel about the whole thing. The basic thing is to support those who are at least trying for some sort of peace in the world.

We always say advertising pays, no matter the source you choose. Mr. Doc Levine, in dry goods here in Clanton for many years and apparently successful has always amazed us because of his good business and lack (or apparent lack) of advertising. Well, we've found out how he does it. He gets out and sees 'em person to person. We must say, we don't agree with his method -- too time consuming --but it does get him results and after all that's what counts. Anyway it's advertising!

Sometimes we wonder how Chilton County would vote if there came a situation where they had a chance to vote on something like a barn to hold square dances in. It's not by any means that we think our County is ignorant -- they just lack an awful amount of thinking when it comes to a situation where an awful amount of good thinking is required. The bad part of it is, most of us are capable to think out things for ourselves -- we'd just rather let someone else do it for us either choose to take the easy way out.

Letter received: Early this week Carpenter's Union No. 2286 of Clanton, Alabama advised by letter the fact that they were donating $100 "gladly contributed to Wanda Limbrick" Fund. We think this speaks well of the good will feeling of the Local and we commend Mr. G. D. Gilmore (who signed the letter) and his constituents for their friendly gesture in helping another, less fortunate than themselves.

Health in Later Years

Old age can be a blessing with good health and the feeling of having something important to do. Old folks should always be treated with affection as well as respect—mental therapy works wonders for most of the minor miseries of age. The old should be visited by a doctor from time to time; they need to get their troubles off their chest. If the doctor prescribes an Rx remedy, we will fill it accurately here.

ISABELLA NEWS & CHURCH ITEMS

MRS. I. H. WELLS

Bro. William Oden of Foley brought two inspiring messages at Mulberry Sunday.

Rev. L Daniel will be bringing the messages this coming Sunday. Come and join us at Mulberry.

The Laura Williams Circle met with Mrs. J. H Wells on Thursday night of last week, after a brief session, a missionary program was given by Mrs. O. F. Davenport and Mrs. E. C. Grooms. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The Homemakers class met with Mrs. W J Cummings on Thursday night with a nice group present. Plans were made to give the Daniels a miscellaneous shower soon. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Wells has purchased some new books for our church library. Be sure you are one of the first to check out and read one.

Fox-Hines Vows Spoken at Home

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Fox was the scene on Thursday July 17th at 7 p. m. for the wedding of Miss Estelle Fox and Bobby S. Hines. The Rev. James Jones of Clanton performed the double ring ceremony before an alter of wedding greenery, in front of the mantle centered with a large basket of white gladioli and pink lilies.

The parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fox of Isabella, and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil D. Hines of Halls, Tenn.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Johnnie McCraw She wore a pale blue nylon fitted waist and ful ballerina length gown and had a corsage of pink carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of lace and satin bosque bodice, designed with a scolloped neckline, with long sleeves. Her veinl of illusion was caught to a cap of lace and satin streamers tied in bridal knots. She wore a necklace of pearls.

Johnnie McCrow served the groom as best man.

The brides mother chose for her daughters wedding a blue orlon dress and wore a corsage of white carnations.

A reception in the dinning room followed the ceremony.

White net over white covered the birdes table with the net tied at the cornors, with pink and white ribbon. Several cut flowers added to the scene of the dining room.

After the traditional cutting of the cake by the bride and groom, punch and cake were served by Miss Sara Fox, Mrs. Johnnie McCraw and Mrs. Harry Fox to a number of friends and relatives.

Immediately following the reception the young couple left for a short wedding trip to Florida.

The bride went away in a dark blue dress with white accessories.

They are now at home at 1449 Milner Crest Rd., in Birmingham, Ala. The bride is employed at the Roberts and Sons Printing Co., and the bridegroom is with the L & N Railroad.

MT. NEBO CHURCH ITEMS

SUE CULP

Attendance was very good at church Sunday. Rev. Raines delivered a fine message. We want to each one to attend all the services at the church each Sunday.

The Baptismal service for little Harold Keith Ellison was very impressive. It was held immediately before the morning service on Sunday. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Ellison.

The community takes this opportunity in extending to the family of Mrs. G. M. Durbin our heartfelt sympathy in the loss of her father last Saturday week. Her mother, Mrs. D. H. Millings, of Birmingham, is spending a few days with her at the present.

Mr. and Mrs. V. O. Ratliff and children have returned to their home in Chicago, after spending the past week visiting relatives here. They were going by to see the Jesse Culps of Albertville, on the way back to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ellison and little Hal visited Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Holcombe and Miss Jessie Holcombe, of Jemison, for a while on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Henley and children of Sylacauga, spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. V. C. McKee.

We are sorry that Harold Gilliland had to spend the week end in the Chilton County Hospital, but we are happy that he is able to be at home again and feeling fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Edwards, of Birmingham. and Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Henley and children of Montgomery, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Henley and Gerald over the weekend.

Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. G M Durbin were Mrs. Rosie Durbin and Mrs. W. O. Durbin and children, of Prattville, and Mr. and Mrs. V. C. McKee.

Mr. Pete McKee and Miss Judy Atcheson were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. McKee and Miss Inez McKee of Maplesville.

Miss Sue Culp was home over the week end. She visited Miss Anita Lockhart a while Saturday night.

Rev. and Mrs. Jim Raines, Jim and Terry were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mims and Glenda.

There will not be any worship service at the church on Sunday night, due to the revival at Verbena. Everyone is invited to attend the revival services.

Mrs. Maud Roseberry visited Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Smith for a day or so this week.

Verbena WSCS To Sponsor Silver Tea

The Verbena Methodist Church under the auspices of the Woman's Society of Christian Service is cordially inviting everyone to attend a Sliver Tea on Sunday afternoon, July 27, at 4:00 p. m.

A most unusual afternoon of entertainment and inspiration is offered to those attending. At the church at 4:00 Mrs. Gladys Deramus, who has just returned from two years in Formosa, will lecture in her usual delightful manner on her stay there. At this time a musicale of much promise will also be presented. Among those on the program will be Mrs. Kathy Ellis and Mrs. Sue McKinney soloists. Also Miss Betty Kemp, concert pianist.

From the church everyone is invited to the lovely ancestral home of Mrs. S. L. Gibson, Sr., for the Silver Tea. Proceeds from this tea will go to the Parsonage Fund, a standing proration for the upkeep of the Methodist Parsonage which is located at Verbena for the Verbena charge.

Friends in all church communities and throughout the neighboring counties are urged to join in this opening activity of the revival season at the Verebena Methodist Church. The Reverend Mr. Clifford Adams of Fairhope, Ala., is the visiting pastor. Prayer Cells and Community Prayer Meetings have been in operation for several weeks seeking divine guidance prior to the evangelistic work.

Please, join the Verbena Methciety of Christian Service in this odist Church and the Woman's Soendeavor. Everyone is welcome to the Church and the Silver Tea which follows. The free will offering will be received at the church and will be most appreciated.

Young Alabama Men Required To Register At 18 Years Old

State Director James W. Jones today reminded young AlabamiEans just becoming 18 years of age that they are required by law to register with their Selective Service Boards, within five days after their birthday. Jones said that in recent months there had been increasing reports of tardy registration and delinquency, both of which are punishabel by law. He pointed out that in Alabama, draft calls are still being made only in the age of 23years or older, and that under present rules, Selective Service is very lenient in deferments for students and those with dependents.

Jones also stated that the critical skills program of Selective Service enabled those in technical professions to meet their military obligations with the least disruptions to their contributions in a civilian capacity.

"Our sole purpose now is to induce men into the active forces", Jones said. "In addition to stimulating enlistments, we assist in maintaining the nations reserve strength by inducting Ready Reservists who fail to participate satisfactorily, and defer thos who enlist and meet tarining requirements. Few people understand the purpose and value of the Standby Reserve program, nor appreciate its magnitude," the state director said.

Jones said that the value of the potential military manpower inventory maintained by the Seelctive Service System is more apparent, but still too little appreciated.

"By registration, Seelctive Service has tallied all the men of military age in the country. And through its constant classification actions, not only has it selected men for induction but by deferments and exemptions it has channeled others into essential activities such as engineering, scientific and technical pursuits, medicine and dentistry, teaching and study in preparation for such callings."

Jones said. "national manpower experts agree that the reason America's shortage of scientists, engineers, physicians, and others in skilled classification is not more acute, is because Seelctive Service deferred thousands of men since 1951 to train themselves in such fields."

It is generally admitted that Selective Service is the only agency which could insure orderly withdrawal of men from civilian life for military services in the event of an emergency. Local boards in all communities keep the population aware that the nation's defense is every man's concern, Jones said

He stressed that Selective Service is the only agency which acquires data on the physical condition of the young men of the country. It counsels the service on discharges for hardship, or in the national interest of health and safety. The System also channels conscientious objectors into many fields of research and service work. It also maintains an inventory of non-service-affiliated veterans who might be needed in an emergency

"Only Selective Service maintains an inventory of men rejected for service in peacetime who under extreme conditions, might be valuable to the armed services, or in other defense endeavors," he declared.

ALA POWER CO., HOLDS MEETING

At a meeting held July 18, 1958, the Board of Directors of Alabama Power Company declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.05 per share on the 4.20% preferred stock of the Company, and the regular quarterly dividend of $1.15 per share on the 4.60% preferred stock of the Company for the quarter ending September 30, 1958, payable October 1, 1958 to stockholders of record on September 12, 1958.

MONEY IN MILK BUSINESS

"If the new industry committee of your county announced a plan whereby farmers could gross $3 an hour and net $1.09. would you eb interested?"

With this intriguing question, dairyman, began a recent explanation of the advantages of operating a manfuacturing milk enterprise.

"The future expansion of dairying in Alabama depends largely on the manufacturing milk program. During the past 15 years, this program has developed into one of great economic importance to our state, and the future possibilities are even greater if improved methods are used."

In explaining the statement, we use a study made at the Black Belt Experiment Station in 1957. Using an average of 25.5 cows, each of which produced an average of 6,600 pounds of milk per year, the dairy management unit found that the operation brought a return of $1.09 an hour of labor after deducting all expenses, including six percent interest on the capital investment. Approximately 65 hours of labor are required per cow per year.

Among the advantages of a manufacturing milk enterprise is the minimum expense of getting into the business. Equipment costs are relatively low, and, if the farmer has any structure which can be converted into a milking parlor, he needs only about $200 in machinery and building materials,

But farmers must realize, that they will not succeed if they regard the manufacturing milk operation as a part-time sideline. To be successful, it must be a major part of the farm program.

MT. PLEASANT CHURCH BRIEFS

Our revival starts this Sunday, with Rev. Sharp of Liberty Hill will be the Evangelist, along with Rev. Colley our pastor.

The Church and community send out congratulations to the proud parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Melton, a girl, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Lowery, a boy. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Caton, a girl.

SELDEN SAYS CHECK CIA

Rep. Armistead Selden has called for congressional supervision of the nation's top information group, the Central Intelligence Agency.

Speaking in the U. S. House of Representatives, Selden told his colleagues that the CIA apparently did not know the Iraq revolution was imminent because "our policies toward Iraq right up to the eve of the revolution were based on the belief that the situation in that country was relatively stable and that the attitude there was generally favorable to the United States."

"This is another instance," the 6th District Congressman said, "which causes many members of Congress and many of our constituents to question whether the Central Intelligence Agency is really doing the job which we have a right to expect it to do."

He also cited the Korean War, Hungarian revolt, invasion of the Suez Canal, and the recent attack on the Vice President, and said it appeared that the CIA was unaware of the possibility of any of these events.

Selden said he fully recognized the difficult task of the CIA and the necessity for it to operate under a cloak of secrecy, but he said the same general conditions apply to the work of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

"In the case of the FBI, "he pointed out, "most of us feel that there is continuing evidence that it is doing its job effectively . . . We have no basis for similar confidence in the work of the Central Intelligency Agency."

Selden said that although the CIA may be doing a good job, there is no one outside the Executive Branch who can evaluate its work. He stated that he thought the people of the United States would have more confidence in the Agency if they knew its operations were closely supervised by Congress.

The Alabama congressman said he believed a special congressional committee could respect the obligations of secrecy involved in intelligence work. while at the same time assuring itself that CIA is doing its job well.

He cited the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy as a parallel and pointed out that no one had ever questioned the sincerfity of this committee, accused it of divulging secret information, or criticized it for interfering with the effectiveness of the atomic energy program.

"It is my firm belief," Rep Selden concluded, "that the Congress could provide comparable supervision of the Central Intelligence Agency to the advantage of everyone concerned."

EMPLOYMENT REPORT

State Industrial Relations Director Arthur Kelly was optimistic this week about the current and future employment picture in the State.

He said his latest information seemed clearly to indicate "there is at this time something of a general upturn in business in the State."

Kelly said the center of this heartening news is the number of cases of re-employment now being reported to his agency.

Assistant Industrial Relations Director Marion Boyette explained that in past months many companies had "laid off workers" but works which had been curtailed or closed "are now coming back into production and the laid-off workers are being re-employed."

Kelly also pointed out there had been an increase in the number of "new jobs" in the construction fields.

Both executives noted that "fortunately, Alabama had not suffered during the current business recession nearly so badly as many other States."

Telephone Talk

By IRVIN COMMANDER Your Telephone Manager

PLAN AHEAD! This is the time of year I like to get out and look over the summer's crop of new homes. They're all mighty nice—so pretty and modern. Of course, as a telephone man, I especially like to see the ones that are "telephone planned." This means telephone outlets are prearranged so a new home owner can have as many as he wants just where he wants them. Then, if there's only one phone to begin with, others can be installed later without any trouble. The wiring is concealed, and there's no need to run wires around doors and woodwork. Look for the Telephone Planned Home symbol when you go new house hunting. If you're building your own new home (or even just remodeling your old one), call us and we'll be happy to help you with your telephone planning.

PHONE AHEAD: Just as July is a heavy building month, it's also vacation month—probably the most popular of the summer. So, remember, when you're traveling on the highway, take it easy! No reason to hurry! If you're going to be late or if you're worried about reservations, just call ahead. You'll find convenient outdoor telephone booths ready to serve you 'most everywhere you go.

IS THIS TAX FAIR? Somewhere recently I came across this little view of the past. It seems that in ancient Egypt the life of a tax collector was no cinch. Many were often attacked by the taxpayers, smeared with honey, and left tied to ant-hills. I'm certainly glad times have changed because the phone company is a tax collector of sorts. The tax we are required to collect from you for the government is the excise tax—the extra 10% added monthly to everyone's telephone bills. Originally, this tax was a war-emergency measure, but you still pay it today. No other household utility is subject to such a tax, so in fairness to all it's high time the Federal excise tax was abolished.

Here's What You Get With Electric WATER HEATING

1 NO WASTE—the electricity is "on" only enough of the time to maintain the temperature for which the water heater thermostat is set. Ample tank insulation helps to keep the water hot when it is not used.

2 PLENTY OF HOT WATER—with a new, speedy electric water heater of adequate size for your family, it is practically impossible to run out of hot water for normal requirements.

3 CONVENIENCE and ECONOMY—you can put an electric water heater anywhere, often in space otherwise wasted. Square or round tall types can be installed in closets, pantries, alcoves or basement. Counter-top models give extra work surfaces in kitchen and laundry. Because there is no flame, no flue is needed—frequently a real construction economy.

4 SAFETY—because electric water heaters require no vent or chimney, and heating elements are surrounded by water, they are safe to put wherever most convenient in your home. Children can play on the floor beside them in kitchen or laundry.

5 LONG LIFE—the purchase of an electric water heater is a long-time investment in dependable, economical hot water service. Rugged, high-quality construction assures long life of tank and automatic controls. By anticipating the growing needs of a family and getting a heater of ample size, replacement most likely will not be needed for many, many years.

When building a new home, or when replacing an old, out-of-date water heater, specify an Electric WATER HEATER

Origin Of The Bible

First Samuel

Sweeping change comes to the national organization of Israel in 117 B. C. Not that national existenct had been loose and disorganized for the people Jehovah had freed from Egyptian bondage 396 years before; not at all. But the change of 1117 B. C. towers overshadowingly above previous ups and downs and changes. It is an era-marker: an ender of the era of human kings. Jehovah God foreknew it and foretold it (Deut. 17: 14, 15; 28:36); yet it came as a stunning blow to faithful Samuel. Around it swirl the principal events of a Bible book bearing the name of this prophet-judge to wit, "The First Book of Samuel." Let us live them through the pages of that divine record.

The opening chapter discloses Samuel as an answer to a woman's prayer. His name means "heard of God". Barren Hannah fervently prays for a man-child; she vows to devote him in life-long service to the Lord. The babe Samuel is her answer. When the child is weaned Hannah deposits him at the tabernacle at Shiloh to serve Jehovah. in vow-payment. Eli is high priest at the time, a weakling in zeal for Jehovah. Indeed all Israel's zeal for Jehovah is at low ebb. Eli and his sons honor themselves ahead of the Lord and selfishly grasp for the best of the offerings, clergy-like. Divine messages against Eli and his house are climaxed by a dooming and eartingling judgment-message from Jehovah through the lips of young Samue. (2:12—3:21) Years pass, and fulfillment comes. In battel the religious Israelites superstitiously misuse the ark of God as a religious charm, bringing it from its place in the most holy out onto the battlefield. The religious ceremony fails, the Israelites flee, 30,000 are slain, Eli's sons are killed, and the ark is captured. Eich woe coming on top of the preceding one mounts steadily higher to the disastrous climax. The heavy report struck the waiting ears of Eli with crushing fore and brought his life to a mournful end. --4:1-18.

Short is the ark's sojourn in Philistine strongholds.ss Set in the temple of Dagon, it causes the heathen idol to topple from its perch and shatter. The Ashdodites are afflicted with emerods, they send the ark to Gath; the Gittites suffer the same plague, they send the ark on to Ekron; many Ekronites die and those that remain are smitten with emerods. A plague of mice scampers over the land. After seven hectic months the Philistines return the ark to Israel, and 70 Israelites die before it is properly situated at Kirjath-jearim.-5:1-7:1; 6:19, An Amer. Trans.

With the passing years Israel laments after the Lord. They heed exhortation from Samuel to put away heathen gods and turn to Jehovah's worship, and respond to a call to assemble in Mizpeh. With fanatical religious ire the heathen round about opposed this exercise of free worship and closed in to do battle. In answer to a prayer-call Jehovah thundered forth destruction from heaven upon the hated Philistine oppressors, and Israel joined in the victory fight and smote the confused and terrified enemy hots. Apparently the blow delivered was a smashing one. It threw the enemy into a full rout and touched off a campaign of liberation of Israelite cities. Israel's affairs had taken a turn for the better, and Judge Samuel served zealously and tirelessly to keep all informed on Theocratic order. --7:2-17.

Years roll by, and we find ourselves at the year 1117 B. C. in the stream of time. All the elders of Israel are disclosed standing before elderly, gray-haired Samuel in Ramah. Dramatic events impend. The elders allude to the fact that the sons of Samuel elevated as judges are preverters of judgment and sellers of "justice" under cloak of bribes, (Deut. 16:18-20. Samuel is old; his sons are pnfit successors. The elders come to the point: "Make us a king to judge us like all the nations." It is a sweeping change they demand! Monarchy preferred to Theocracy! Displeased distressed. Samuel acted only upon instruction from Jehovah: "Hearken unto the voice of the people in all that they say unto thee: for they have not reign over them." Samuel's inspired warning then paints a picture of loss of freedom to the Israelites and regimentation and taxation, and ultimate bitter crying unto the Lord because of the king; but this does not deter the Israelites in their determination to conform their national government to that of the heathen nations round about. (8:1-22) Chapters 9 and 10 reveal Samuel's meeting Saul and anointing him king, and the king's introduction to the people.

"I give thee a king in mine anger, and took him away in my wrath" (Hos. 13:11) These words of Jehovah sum up Saul's career as king. Jehovah's anger was manifested when Samuel's reproof to the Israelites for demanding a king was divinely seconded from heaven by miraculous thunder and rain during wheat harvest. (12:16-19) Saul gains many war victories, but invariably acts foolishly displaying presumptuousness, uttering rash vows, and even violating Theocratic instructions. Prominence spoiled his spirit, and after two short years of kingship presumptuousness costs his house the kingdom. Made panicky at the prospects of an overwhelming Philistine assault, and loath to wait upon the Lord by awaiting the arrival of Levite Samuel to offer sacrifice, Benjamite Saul usurped the Levitical duty of sacrificing priests and offered a burnt-offering. The divine judgment was rendered: "Thou hast done foolishly: . . .now thy kingdom shall not continue."--13:1-14.

'Taken away in wrath! The reasons therefore steadily mount down through the remaining thirty-eight years of Saul's reign. (Acts 13:21) There was the time he spared the Amalekite king. Agag, and the Amalekites' choicest sheep and oxen, contrary to Theocratic instructions. His attempt to shift blam to the people failed; no such easy exis for the disobedient king! "To obey is better than sacrifice!" was the judgment, and once more Saul's rejection as king was declared. (15:1-35) Therefore David is anointed king-elect, the Lord's spirit leaves Saul, and the first king goes from bad to worse. The demons take over his mind and body. David's laughter of Goliath and numerous victories over the Philistines only irritate jealous, envious Saul. On several occasions his smoldering hate bursts forth into flaming fury as he attempts to murder David. Once he even destroyed an entire city of priests because of the aid rendered to the shepherd lad now forced to live as an outlaw in Israel. (21:1-6; 22: 18, 19) In the en he turns to demon spirits, whose human agents he once destroyed. Samuel has by this time died (25:1), and in a seance with the witch of En-dor religious Saul seeks to speak with with the dead prophet. A demon impersonates Samuel. Morose, moody Saul gets no comfort from the hoax, but he is left in an unnerved and collapsed state. He dies a sucide in the battle on Mount Gilboa. -- 28:3-25; 31:1-6.

In sharp contrast is David. His zeal and courage for Theocracy win many friends and supporters, including Saul's son Jonathan. (18:1; 20:16, 17, 42; 23:18; 22:1, 2) He had several opportunities to slay persecuting Saul, but steadfastly refused to lift his hand against the Lord's anointed. Leave vengeance with Jehovah, was David's guiding watchword. (24:1-15; 26:5-11 Toward the end of Saul's reign David even took refuge in Philistine territory for sixteen months to avoid a showdown fight with the demon-driven king. (27:1-7) There he remained in a sort of exile till Saul's death, but still battling against the enemines of Jehovah and His people. -- 30:1-31.

In the original Hebrew manuscripts First and Second Samuel were one book or volume. Its present division was first made in the Septuagint, and called First and Second Kings. The Vulgate (and hence the Catholic Douay Version of today) adopted these names. The King James Version recognizes them in a secondary way, giving them as alternate titles. The one original book has as co-writers Samuel, Nathan, and Gad, the two latter being contemporaries of David the king. "The acts of David the king, first and last, behold, they are written in the book of Samuel the seer, and in the book of Nathan the prophet, and in the book of Gad the seer." The first twenty-four chapters of First Samuel are generally conceded to have been written by Samuel; the remainder of First Samuel and all of Second Samuel are recognized as from the pens of Nathan and Gad. (1 Sam. 10:25; 25:1; 1 Chron. 29: 29) The book of First Samuel takes up its narration just prior to Samuel's birth and carries it through to the end of the reign of Israel's first king. Samuel died about five years before Saul, and at the age of 110. Hence the first book of Samuel spans a period of more than 115 years.

Salaries of professional and technical personnel serving the blind are so inadequate as to make it possible for newcimers to consider acquiring the background and training needed to enter the field only at a great personal ssrifice, according to a report released by the American Foundation for the Blind.

The American Foundation for the Blind has established six regional bases for field services throughout the nation.

ATTENDS CONVENTION

LOCAL FOLKS GO TO NEW YORK

About eight of Jehovah's Witnesses from the Clanton Congregation will attend an international convention in New York City July 27 through August 3.

W. E. Robinson, presiding minister of the Clanton congregation, in announcing the plans of the local delegates, said a limited program of meetings will be held in the Kingdom Hall, in Lomax Community, since most of those in charge of various features will be attending the Christian assembly. J. L. Bennett, an assistant minister, will be in charge of the local group during the convention.

Mr. Robinson said that the local delegates attending the international gathering will benefit greatly not only from the rich spiritual provisions, but also from Christian association with Witnesses from foreign lands. The convention, he said, will further the understanding and good will among the various races and nationalities of Jehovah's Witnesses, and will also demonstrate to the world how the Bible message and Christian living can unite people from all walks of life, regardless of race or other backgrounds that tend to divide the world. Only common interest in the pure worship of the Creator, Jehovah God can do this, he said.

When questioned about the expected attendance, Watchtower officials in New York pointed to the record of 165,000 at the 1953 international convention in New York City's Yankee Stadium. At that time several overflow areas provided space for the Witnesses and interested persons. Yankeke Stadium has again been secured, but because of the cramped quarters of the previous assembly the Polo Grounds will be used in addition. The program will be presented by the same participants following the first presentation in Yankee Stadium.

Most of those from the Clantor congregation will be staying in private homes in New York city and nearby areas. All hotel accomodations will be filled. according to the Watchtower rooming committee, and the majority of attenders will be placed in homes following a gigantic house-to-house effort to find available accomodations.

CONSERVATION & LOCAL FARMERS

Plenty of hay and grazing is essential for beef production. Jack Roberts of Dry Valley commuEnity has 50 acres of Coastal Bermuda that he has cut one time for hay and is ready for the second cutting. Jack states "I cut 2,000 bales of hay the first cutting, and I estimate that I will cut between 4,000 - 5,000 bales the second cutting." Jack also states, "Coastal Bermuda grass and Bahia grass are the two best grasses I have found."

The following District Cooperators have done woodland improvement work in their timber land: Joseph J. Mullins, A. R. Taylor, R. V. Watson, Bobby Littlejohn, A. E. Maness, Millard Reynolds, Carmon E. Mims, M. O. Westbrook, C. O. Jones, R. L. Henley, Lee Thompson, W. V. Brown, Cecil Giles and Fred McCormick.

District Cooperators Q. R. and Robert Cummings of Isabella Community, have increased their Bahia grass planting from five acres to thirty acres. This is in accordance with their Soil and Water Conservation farm plan. The Bahia will be used to graze their dairy herd. The personnel of the Soi Conservation Service has surveyed and staked out a farm pond. The pond will be built under the ASC program and supervised by the SCS personnel.

James Baker of Pinedale Community has constructed a farm pond for livestock water.

Mr. Baker carried this practice under the ASC program and pond was staked and surveyed out by the SCS personnel. Mr. Baker became a District Cooperator with the North Central Soil Conservation District on May 27, 1958

J. Reed Thompson has overseeded 10 acres of old Sericia with Bahia gass. JK. Reed also sowed a waterway and new planting of Bahia on 3 acres.

"Parallel terraces are the only terraces to have if you are row-cropping", states James Wilson. "I plan to build parallel terraces on the rest of my row-crop land if it takes sowing a waterway down the middle of the field and one on each end." James further states "You will break down and destroy more stuff by having turn-rows on point rows than you will waste by having waterways." The waterways are a MUST if you have parallel terraces.

CARE OF CUT FLOWERS

Nothing adds so much grace an charm to a room as a vase o lovely flowers. And with pro treatment, you can enjoy thei freshness for several days.

These suggestions will help main tain flowers.

"Always wash the container be fore using it to remove bacteria A dirty container enables the bac teria to multiply very rapidly, "an they clog the water - conducting tubes in the stems, causing the flowers to wilt."

Remove all leaves that will lie beneath the water line, because submerged leaves decay and hasten fading of the flowers.

Be sure to place the stems in water of about 110 degrees and let it cool naturally. Warm water moves more quickly into the stems than cold water. It also clears the stems of air bubbles. The water does not have to be deep enough to cover the base of the stems is sufficient.

After removing the stems from the water, wrap a piece of paper around the upper stems and flowers. "This prevents rapid air movement over the flowers and reduces water loss. In about two hours the flowers will have perked up." "After which the cover can be removed and the flowers arranged."

Adding a commercial flower food to the water will also help keep the flowers longer. The supplement should contain sugar for food, an acidifier to prevent bacterial growth, and a mild fungicide to kill fung.

FOLKS and THINGS About Town by Ben

SINCE this issue commemorates the 20th anniversary of our coming to Chilton County we will give you a few memories to dwell on. The incidents to you are forgotten, but newspapers are for recording the happenings of the times. These are only a few foolish lines but elsewhere in each issue of the newspaper is the tradegy, the humor, the happiness, the life and death, the marriage and the coming and going of people in your community. Let's go back a few years.

REMEMBER the time Leroy Martin and Jelly Bean went squirrel hunting in Mulberry Swamp? They went early one morning, got lost, rain set in, they couldn't find their way out of the swamp or the rain. About mid afternoon they wondered out very wet and hungry and disgusted. Probably bought a compass next time. That was when they were young.

FRANK Cox is in the automobile business at Daytona Beach, Fla. Remember when he was a "star" on the CCHS football team? He was here last week visiting homefolks.

JAMES Arnold brought us a four and a half foot ratflesnake he killed while hunting in the fall some twenty years ago. A few days later he brought us a bob cat. James promised to bring us a bear next week but he never did. James, however, was one of our champion hunters.

HERE'S a pair we bet you don't remember. Lawrence Duffey and James Free. They operated a little electric shop here and called all the football games over a loud speaker fo rCCHS. Remember!

REMEMBER when Zora Guy Smith worked with the County Agent's office and the Farm Bureau? That was a lotta years ago. She resigned to go with the Registration Board. That was about the time when some 3,700 young men of Chilton County had to register for the first time. The registration was for all men from 21 to 35.

REMEMBER Frew Buckelew? We were just reading of the birth of a son, Hal Crayton. My goodness, Hal must be grown and married by now.

AND J. T. King was manager at Elmore's? We believe John Morgan Soshee married a daughter of J. T.'s. We remember he took a great interest in the growth and welfare of his community.

WE read a few lines about Charles and Minnie Wade flying somewhere north. They were flying in those days too, but they didn't have the "family of flying Wade's" that they now have.

THE names of the City Fathers are still familiar. Among the Council men then were L. E. Diefenderfer. Grady Heflin, John DeRamus, Jim Wade and let's see, who was that other Councilman? Oh yeah, Otto Jones. The Mayor was Cohen E. Stapp just being sworn in. He had defeated C. Fenn Jones.

REMEMBER when they had the free-for-all at the local gridiron when CCHS was playing Sylacauga . . . . Chick Fiquette sold fruit cakes for Christmas on the installment plan. Two bits down and twenty - cents a week . . . . Jim and Jack Dunlap opened the modern new store in the heart of Thorsby . . . .Reese Mullins automatic stoker stoked his furnace all night long with the fire out and Reese had to un-stoke it half the next day . . . . "Bulldog" Kemp built the City Grill into one of the nicest eating establishments anywhere . . . .Leo Thompson was getting ready to build a beautiful new home down on 2nd Avenue . . . . S. F. Seals of Maplesville Rt. 1, brought us a purple top turnip weighing more than 6 pounds, and Oscar Latham was enlisting in the U. S. Navy.

WELL, we could go on and on for days reminding you of things that have passed but this was just a sample. Let's look to the future and build for the future. It's been 20 hard years and if we accomplish anything the next 20 will be 20 hard years.

If there are more than two steps to the porch or entrance, provide a hand - rail.

Autos Run Together At Bob's

Mrs. R. C. Williams was painfully but not seriously injured Sunday when the family car was in a wreck with an automobile driven by Billy Joe Driver. The Drivers were taken to the hospital but released after treatment.

The wreck occurred in front of Bob's Drive In restaurant on U .S. 31, one mile north of Clanton. Mr. Williams and the children were only slightly bruised. Considerable damage was done to the two automobiles, however.

POOLE - RATLIFF

FAMILY REUNION

The Poole and Ratliff reunion will be at City Park, Sunday, July 3, 1958. W. E. Ratliff from Houston, Texas, H. B. Ratliff from Houston, Tenn., Eva Williams from Pensacola, are just a few that will be present. All relatives of the Poole or Ratliff family are urged to attend, bring a picnic lunch.

CHILTON - UNITY YOUTH RALLY

The Chilton-Unity Youth Rally will be held Saturday, August 2, at Pleasant Valley, located just to the left of Enterprise School on the Enterprise - Cooper Road.

There will be special music by a group from the First Baptist Church of Clanton. and Margaret Chapman, Also a message by Rev. L. Daniel will inspire you. Everyone is invited to come.

SELECTER FOR TECHNICAL TRAINING

AIRMAN MANNING

Airman Third Class Jessie F. Manning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W., of Route 1, Deatsville, Alabama, has completed his initial course of Air Force basic military training here. He has been selected to attend the technical training course for Aircraft and Engine Maintenance at Chanute AFB, Ill.

Airman Manning graduated from Marbury High School in Marbury.

Basic airmen at Lackland are selected for specialized training at technical school on the basis of their interests and aptitudes. They are reassigned to the school after four weeks of basic, and are given additional military basic training along with the technical subjects

SINGING SCHOOL AT MAPLESVILLE

Singing School begins Monday morning at 9 o'clock at Maplesville. Sessions will run from 9 until 12 noon each day. The school will be conducted this year by Mrs. McAlily and she invites everyone who can sing to attend.

BLACKTOP FOR BETHSALEM

According to reports this week the Enterprise-Bethsalem portion of that road has been blacktopped much to the approval of folks living along the way. A year has gone by since the work began and folks were getting mighty tired of the mud-dust-etc. One patron was heard to say "Folks are so glad to get this done that they're just sitting and looking at their new highway."

Cotton 19.3 Penalty Set

Farmers who grow "excess" upland cotton this year will be subject to a marketing quota penalty of 19.3 cents per pound, according to word received by the Chilton County Agricultural Stablization and Conservation Office. As required by law. the Department of Agriculture has set the penalty at 50 percent of the parity price effective as of June 15.

Growers approved marketing quotas for the 1958 crops of upland and extra long staple cotton in referendums last December 10. When cotton marketing quotas are in effect, ASC Committee Chairman Eddie Owen explains, a farmer who does not comply with the cotton acreage allotment established for the kind of cotton grown on his farm is subject to a penalty on his farm marketing excess. The cotton crop from such farm is also ineligible for price support.

TWO FHA COMMITTEEMEN

A training meeting was held in Montgomery, Tuesday, July 22, for the FHA County Committeemen from 10 Central Alabama Counties. There are three Committeemen from each county. Any loan made by the FHA must first be recommended by the local county Committee. A review was made of types and terms of loans and eligibility of applicants.

Commtiteemen attending from Chilton County were T. A. Davis, Chairman from Union Grove community ,and H. A. Roger. Route 3, Clanton.

Isaac C. Byrd, County Supervisor from the local FHA Office also attended the meeting.

LONG ARM OF LAW —

Man Steals Auto Here, Nabbed Before Owner Misses It

Speaking of service, Russell Sexton was notified Saturday that his automobile had been recovered before he learned that it had been stolen.

The story goes like this.

One Robert Myers it is reported by Sheriff Hugh Champion, broke into Shelton Motors Saturday night. He stole a car off the parking lot and took off for Montgomery.

Well, his luck ran out down the highway and he ran out of gas. Officers came along and stopped to lend a helping hand or to ask questions as officers usually do. The officers learned that it was a stolen car and notified local authorities who in turn notified Mr. Shelton that he had lost his car and turned an automobile.

The Sheriff's records show that Robert Myers was convicted during the office of J. A. Nyers as sheriff of the same citizen.

"BEST" TEAM IN COUNTRY PLAYS LOCAL ALL - STARS

Saturday night August 2, 1958 at the City Park starting at 8 p. m. the Clanton Civitan Club softball team will meet Pepsi Cola of Tuscaloosa in a double header.

Pepsi Cola has been the State Champions for the past three years and has a very good team this year. Their record this year shows 34 won and 13 lost.

Pepsi has just completed a series of 4 games with Clanton, North Carolina, a runner up in the World Tournament last year and split a series with Baggett Transportation Company of Birmingham and won 4 straight from Alabama Life in Birmingham.

The Clanton team will be made up of boys from all the teams in the Clanton Softball League and this team has been invited to play in the State Tournament to be held in Tuscaloosa, Alabama starting August 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9. This team will be managed by L. D. Brookshire and Don Finlayson.

If you would like to see one of the best Softball teams in the country today be at the City Park Saturday night.

COMMUNITIES TAKE BIG INTEREST IN CHILTON COUNTY

Reports from various communities thas week indicate that the Community Campaign of "selling" Chilton County to Chilton Countians is growing daily into a very definite trend toward a better understanding by the people of their communities and County.

This week representatives from Bethsalem, Isabella, Shoults, Cane Creek and Maplesville were pushing their way to the fronts to get their communities represented and represented well. Thorsby, Cedar Grove, Mt. Carmel and Dry Valley were said to be working hard daily to get across to their community the full meaning of representation

These communities and their representatives know the importance of representation in any undertaking; that's why youll see them all represented in some form or fashion in this issue of Chilton County News.

Don't forget: see your community representative and she will tell you how you can stay well-informed, keep abreast of the times and know your community and its people better. Look her up -- you'll see what we mean.

Methodist Revival Begins 10th

Revival Services at the First Methodist Church, Clanton, will begin on Sunday, August 10, and continue through Friday, August 15. Services will be held each week-day morning from 7-7:45 a.m. and each evening at 7:30 p. m.

DR. DUFFEY
Evangelist

The Revival Preacher for this week will be Dr. Paul A. Duffey, Pastor of the Dexter Avenue Methodist Church, Montgomery. He is one of the leading younger ministers of the Alabama-West Florida Conference, and one of the most popular Revival Preachers in this area.

The Song Leader will be Dr. Travis Shelton, brother of Russell P. Shelton, and formerly Director of the Sylacauga Civic Male Chorus. Dr. Shelton is now Professor of Music Education in the Southern Methodist University School of Music, Dallas, Texas. During the Revival Services he will work with the Youth Choir and lead the singing at both the Morning and Evening Services.

As part of the spiritual preparation for the Revival, Cottage Prayer Meetings will be held next week in seven different areas of town. The women of the Church, and the members of the Methodist Youth Fellowship will be attending the meetings to pray for their fellow-church members and for the success of the Revival. The men of the Church will join each morning at 9 a. m. for a Coffee-Break Prayer Time at the City Grill.

Everyone is invited to be present for the Revival Services at the First Methodist Church, August 10-15.

...AME PURPOSE - NEW APPROACH --

ONE thing you may be sure of, the proponents of ...ederal aid to education will never stop trying. The ...ew gimmick - following repeated failures to force ...ongressional passage of bills to pay teachers and build ...hools - is to dress this Federal encroachment on local ...sponsibility in a dashing military cloak.

H. R. 13247, entitled "National Defense Education ...ct of 1958" will be up for a vote in the House very ...on. And considering the gentlemen's preoccupation ...ith the political chores waiting at home, they might ...dmire the soldierly cut of this garment and not look ...see what's under it.

Such a program, said Mr. Rinta, contemplates an...ual Federal expenditures for public education several ...mes the size of the $840 million four-year cost of ...R.13247. He noted further that even though any ...ossible defense benefits that might result are years in ...e future, the gimmcik of the cloak seems to have fool...d a lot of people in and out of Congress who have been ...additionally opposed to Federal efforts to control the ...hools. THE COMPLETE PICTURE

by ORAL ROBERTS

HOW TO LIVE IN A DANGEROUS WORLD

Our world is a fearful world. People are filled with fear and foreboding. Often it seems that nuclear warfare is very imminent. Many times I am asked what should be our attitude at a time such as this.

My answer is this: We are not to hide within ourselves. Neither are we to turn from the actual conditions of the world or from God himself.

When world conditions become serious, many people revert to childhood. When you and I were little and had to face unpleasant things, we immediately would run to our mother or father. We felt if we could withdraw ourselves from the older children who were trying to oppress us, or from conditions too great for us to comprehend, that it would all smooth out.

Sometimes we still do that. We withdraw into shells. We build a wall about ourselves and shut out the forces that should touch our lives.

An old fable says: When Adam was expelled from Eden he sat down under a tree and slept. While he slept the four spirits of Earth, of Water, of Air and of Fire, stole man's soul and made off with it.

Then the problem arose: How could they hide man's soul so that he could never find it?

Earth's spirit said, "I will hide it in my depths"; the spirit of the Waters said, "I will sink it in the deepest waters of the sea"; the spirit of the Air suggested, "Let me hide man's soul beyond the farthest star."

But the Fire's spirit said, "None of that will work. Man can dig into the earth. He can invent a ship to sail beneath the sea, and he will some day learn to fly through the air. So none of you can hide man's soul permanently. Let me have it, and I will burn and consume it in my flames."

To this the others agreed. They put man's soul into the flames, but after a little while the soul emerged again, unscarred and intact.

In despair the four spirits went to Satan and told him their problem

"Fools! I will tell you where to hide man's soul so that he will never find it. Hide man's soul in himself."

How cunning the devil is. He would get us to shut ourselves off from other people and from God, and hide everything within ourselves. But no person lives to himself or dies to himself. There is no single island or nation that is sufficient within itself. We all need God. When we have God, everything just has to come out right.

We must not shut out the Holy Spirit; we must not shut out prayer and faith in God; we must not shut out our Holy Bible; we must not be shut off from the Church of Jesus Christ. We must become a part of God's great program on earth. We must be witnesses for the Lord Jesus Christ and testify for him.

I believe in a very positive outlook toward life. I believe God is sitting on the clouds. I believe that we are more than conquerors through him that loved us and washed us in his own shed blood. I have a feeling of peace in my heart. I believe that now is a great time to be alive! It's the right time to trust in God completely!

SURVIVAL STOCKPILE

ODCM Has Vast Supplies In 'Bank' If U. S. Is Hit

One of the nation's largest "bank accounts" against the possibility of enemy attack is the Office of Defense and Civilian Mobilization's stockpile of strategic materials.

Stored away in 43 ODCM warehouses across the United States are about $225,000,000 worth of medical and engineering supplies —enough to aid millions of Americans after an attack.

MEDICAL STOCKPILES include 1,932 civil defense emergency hospital units and back-up supplies estimated sufficient for the emergency medical care of 4¾ million persons for three weeks.

In the engineering stockpiles are approximately 25,000 tons of equipment and supplies. They contain material essential to restoration of public facilities — water pumps, generators, purifiers, storage tanks, pipe and similar items.

To assure that this survival "hardware" will be located where it would be most needed after an attack, ODCM has chosen warehouse sites convenient to but outside the nation's 92 critical targets.

Among these storage sites are three "general reserve" warehouses with stockpiles designed to supply any section of the country. Most unusual of these reserve storage areas is the vast underground warehouse in a converted limestone mine near Neosho, Mo.

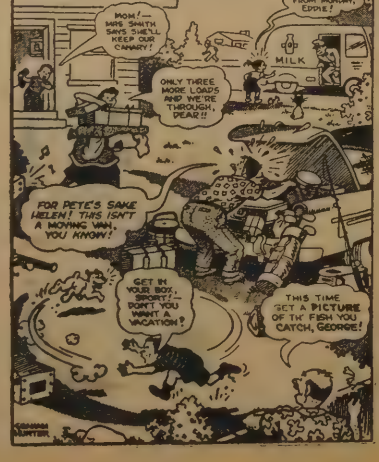
IN THIS HUGE privately-owned cave, shared by ODCM with the stockpiles of industrial concerns, is 14 acres of space served by special automatic sprinkling and ventilating equipment.

IN HOMETOWN AMERICA



Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

With a mid-August adjournment date as its goal, Congress worked last week at an accelerated pace.

In both the House and Senate, quick approval was given to a compromise defense reorganization bill which is designed to simplify and modernize the complicated framework of the Department of Defense. In addition to providing a more clear-cut "chain of command" among the various military services, the measure expands the authority of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. It also creates a new post of Director of Research and Engineering in an effort to coordinate the research programs being carried on by the armed forces. Among the other provisions aimed at coordinating the services is a clause of the bill which authorizes the use of a single agency for supplies and services needed by more than one military department.

Although the President requested that the bill include authority for the Secretary of Defense to transfer or abolish the present military roles of the services, Congress voted to retain this power for itself. Also, the President was unable to convince Congress that it should eliminate from the bill a provision which allows the chief of secretary of military department to go directly to Congress to present defense recommendations which may not coincide with those of the Commander-in-Chief.

MILITARY FUNDS

Members of the House also approved last week a billion-dollar military construction appropriation for fiscal year 1959. The amount approved was about $500 million less than the President requested. Of the total appropriation, approximately $14 million is designated for construction at several military installations in Alabama, with the largest share - $9.5 million - going to Redstone Arsenal.

WARRIOR LOCK & DAM

Dedication ceremonies for the new Warrior Lock and Dam have been set for Thursday, October 16. Located in my home county of Hale, this modern navigation structure replaces two antiquated locks and dams on the Warrior River. A vital link in the Warrior-Tombigbee Waterway, it has been built over a period of four years at a cost of approximately $14 million.

I have personally extended an invitation to each member of the Alabama Congressional Delegation to attend the dedication ceremonies, and most of them have indicated they will plan to be present. Governor-nominee John Patterson, who met with the delegation last week in Washington, has also assured me that he will be with us.

The dedication of the Warrior Lock and Dam should be a memorable event, and I hope that many throughout the Sixth District will plan to visit this fine new structure on October 16.

VISITORS

We enjoyed a visit last week from Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hayes and their son, Jackson, of Clanton.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

There is a saying along the Potomac that one doesn't have to be mentally unbalanced to be a bureaucrat, but it is mighty helpful to be in this condition.

Seemingly substantiating this saying is the recent ruling by a Federal Trade Commission in the case of the Food Giant chain. Two years ago, this chain was cited by the FTC for knowingly inducing and receiving from 124 suppliers over $31,000 in discriminatory advertising and promotion allowances not offered to anyone else.

C. W. Harder

Now there is on the law books an archaic and rather ridiculous regulation which provides that meat packers are outside the jurisdiction of the FTC. Instead, they are under the control of Dept. of Agriculture, which is probably about as much sense as it would be to put the guided missile program under the Bureau of Indian Affairs, because the Indians were the first on this continent to shoot missiles, in the form of arrows, into the air.

Because it puts up a prepared sausage and a meat loaf, Food Giant put in a defense that in doing so, i.e., grinding meat, it was engaged in meat packing and thus the FTC had no jurisdiction over the matter. It took FTC two solid years to decide that this was not a true defense.

So, the big chain then went into the stock market and bought 100 shares of common stock in Armour and Co., and again took the stand that the FTC has no jurisdiction over their operation because this ownership of 100 shares of stock in a meat packing concern makes them immune from FTC regulations.

Now here is where the silly part comes in.

An FTC examiner, hearing this matter, decided in favor of the chain's contention. And this perhaps is the first time in history that a bureaucrat has made a ruling that will, if not reversed, eventually result in his bureau being forced out of business.

Because obviously, if anyone who wishes to evade the Robinson-Patman Act, and other laws regulating fair play in the market place, which are enforced by FTC, can escape action merely by owning a share or two of common stock in some meat packing concern, there is little future left for the FTC.

It seems quite apparent this silly ruling by this FTC examiner will be thrown out. But it will take months of expensive work by government before this is accomplished.

Yet, perhaps, this ridiculous event will have its sunny side, too. It may arouse Congress to do what has long been needed. And that is to pass the necessary laws to put the Agriculture Dept. back on the farm, and let all regulation of market place be exercised by the Federal Trade Commission.

Of course, the Dept. of Agriculture is fighting any such move. This opposition is not based on any common sense, but rather on deep seated reluctance of any government bureau to give up any authority.

But it is also significant that Agriculture does not make any attempts to use this authority it claims to enforce the anti trust laws of the land. Thus, there seems to be a close parallel to the old story about the dog in the manger.

IF JOINTS of your wooden outdoors furniture have loosened it is probably because the screw holes have become so enlarged that the screws no longer have a firm hold. Remove the screws and pack the holes with Plastic Wood. Re-set the screws after the Plastic Wood has hardened over night. If screws have become badly rusted use new screws. The screws will go in more easily if a little soap is rubbed on the threads.

Before using a stepladder in front of a door that opens toward you, lock the door. If someone should open the door while you are on the ladder you could get a bad fall. No matter how high you want to reach, never stand any higher on the ladder than the second step from the top.

THINGS We see and hear

by BOB

A local proverb: He who rides around Glendale Circle on his motorbike without a muffler is very obnoxious -- as far as hearing is concerned -- and should think better of his neighbors.

Notice this issue of your Chilton County News. Big ain't it! Rightly so, too, because we're growing. We got "Old Betsy" rolling this week, as you can see and from now on it will be your "big" CCN. Keep your eye on it -- we intend to improve right along.

We have high respect for our partners in the printed page -- the daily newspapers. So often, we have occasion to notice however that their facts do not correspond with "facts". No, we're not calling them liars. We do believe however, that their reporters are sometimes more interested with the sensational rather than the factual and that is not true to our ethics and we can't seem to find a place in our midst for his type of reporting. When it comes to reporting, the daily newspaper cannot be equaled; when it comes to a true, honest opinion or a true honest report of a situation the weekly press is unsurpassed. Perhaps we could both learn a bit from one another.

We disagree with the fellow who just naturally assumes that one drink leads to another and a beer calls for a shot of bourbon. It ain't so! Naturally we are confronted daily with those who are weak and for whom one does call for another. But there are uncounted thousands who can take one drink and leave the mess alone. Moderation is a virtue which differs in each of us. Certainly we are not condoning the use of "beverage alcohol." We simply feel that a man can make evil of anything if he goes about it in the "wrong" way. Boiled down, we'd say let beer, whiskey, etc, be. We don't believe in condemning everybody who takes a drink occasionally and branding them as "sots" due to the fact that they have no will power whatsoever. When it comes to will power we can only speak for number one -- what you -- can you say how far another will go in a situation requiring will power? Sure it's better to leave it alone; but a man's character is not completely demolished by it -- not if he's a man!

If you're ashamed to drink don't. Moderation is required in everything you do. You can make yourself "sick" on peach pie if you eat enough of it!

4 - H Camp Attracts Over 100 In Chilton County

The gathering around the County Agent's office Wednesday afternoon was approximately 135 County 4-H Members departing for a four-day camping period. This is by far the largest group of campers Chilton County has ever had participating. The camp is located at Camp Rotary near Wetumpka.

While in camp the group will participate in swimming, skiing, canoeing, fishing, and other water activities, soft-ball, tennis, archery, riflery, hiking, handicrafts, ping pong and other indoor games.

Vesper services are held each evening in an outdoor chapel, giving a very special spiritual meaning to the days activities.

During the camp, members will take their own turn in serving tables and doing other chores in the kitchen. Excellent food, with a non-limited quanitity, is always a highlight at Camp Rotary.

Johnnie Lane, Doris Glenn, Jean Porter and John Sellers will attend camp with the following 4-H'ers:

Serve Chilled Soup for Summer Suppers

BEGIN HOT WEATHER MEALS AUSPICIOUSLY with a tureen of chilled soup. Cool in color, taste and appearance, it sets the scene for the food to follow.

There is this delicious chilled Curry Avocado soup made with a convenient package of chicken noodle soup which imparts a delicate bland flavor in complement to the avocado.

Make Curry Avocado soup early in the morning and put it in the refrigerator to chill until dinner time. Just before serving sprinkle the soup with a bit of fresh-ground nutmeg.

CHILLED CURRY AVOCADO SOUP

1 tablespoon butter
½ teaspoon curry powder
2 cups water
1 package chicken noodle soup mix
1 cup light cream
1 medium avocado

Melt butter in saucepan, stir in curry powder and simmer over low heat for a minute or two. Add water, bring to boil and add soup mix. Cover and cook for 7 minutes. Stir in cream; reheat, but do not boil. Pour into blender with ½ of avocado. Blend for 3 minutes.* Add balance of avocado, chopped, and chill thoroughly. Makes 3-4 servings.

If you do not have a blender, press noodles and ½ of avocado through fine strainer.

Chicken Parts Go Out For Dinner

Dressed in a colorful and flavorful combination of tomato soup, onion, and green pepper, chicken parts go out to the great outdoors for charcoal cooking.

Start with frozen chicken breasts, drumsticks, thighs, or wings. Thaw 2 packages (1-pound each), following one of the three methods on the package. If it's a question of time, use the first method. Place the unopened package in lukewarm water . . . about 45 minutes. Remove from water as soon as thawed.

Meanwhile, start the fire . . . giving the charcoal plenty of time to burn into a bed of red-hot coals.

Combine the ingredients for the sauce in a large jar or shaker. Carry it outside . . . along with the chicken parts in a heavy skillet. Aluminum foil, a spoon, tongs and mitts complete your cooking gear.

This is the way you make . . .

Tomato Barbecue Sauce

1 can (10½ ounces) condensed tomato soup
½ soup can water
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped green pepper
1 clove garlic, minced
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
Few drops Tabasco

Combine all ingredients; blend. Pour over chicken parts in skillet. Cover with aluminum foil. Place on rack about 5 inches above bed of hot coals. Cook about 30 minutes. Turn chicken now and then; spoon sauce over. Uncover; continue cooking about 15 minutes, or until chicken is tender and sauce is thickened. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

A loaf of crusty French bread . . . for mopping up this good sauce, green salad, and a cold and hot beverage make this a memorable outdoor supper.

SOUP FOR THOSE ON LAND OR SEA

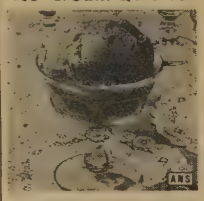
Seafarers and landlubbers alike can't wait for second helpings of this chilled shrimp soup. No wonder! It's smooth, creamy, and pinkish in color with flecks of chopped green spinach throughout. In 15 minutes, you can have it ready to slide into the refrigerator for chilling. Make it like this: In saucepan, combine 1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup and 1 soup can water. Heat until thawed, stirring now and then. Add 1 cup chopped spinach, ¼ cup chopped celery, and ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind. Place in refrigerator for at least 4 hours. Serve in chilled bowls. Makes 2 to 3 servings. FNS

Summer Refreshment!

GOOD GROOMING is more important than ever during summer months, and this beauty-conscious miss has discovered an unbeatable combination — a tub full of warm water, a generous helping of scented suds, and a handy selection of beauty brushes with "Tynex" nylon.

Lukewarm tub is relaxing and refreshing; stiff-bristled nail brushes help to keep hands and nails spotless, and soft-bristled complexion and body brushes offer gentle stimulation and thorough cleansing. Whether bristles are soft or stiff, brushes with "Tynex" keep their liveliness and resilience, dry quickly, and offer long-lasting economy.

Ice Cream Quickie



A TRAY OF ICE CREAM in the refrigerator means cool assurance even when unexpected guests arrive. Serve it for dessert, with cookies, or as a topping on cup cakes or sponge shortcakes. This creamy, easily made, chocolate ice cream calls for sweetened condensed milk, needs only one beating while freezing and is always delicious.

MAGIC ICE CREAM

⅔ cup (⅓ can) sweetened condensed milk
1 square (1 oz.) unsweetened chocolate
½ cup water
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup heavy cream

Set refrigerator control at coldest point. Put sweetened condensed milk and chocolate in top of double boiler. Cook over rapidly boiling water, stirring often, until thick (about 10 minutes). Slowly add water, mixing well. Chill. Stir in vanilla. Whip cream to custard-like consistency. Fold into chilled milk mixture. Pour into freezing tray. Cover tray with waxed paper. Freeze to a firm mush (about 1 hour). Turn into chilled bowl. Break up with fork. Beat with rotary beater until fluffy but not melted. Return to tray, cover with waxed paper. Return to freezing unit. Freeze until firm.

Chemise-One Towel

WOULD YOU BELIEVE that this attractive chemise type beach poncho is made from one large size 24"x48" bath towel, with pockets of matching washcloths? In this case, the towel is deep green, and is bound with wide bias tape in white.

To make this beach poncho, fold towel border to border, suggests The Cannon Homemaking Institute. Cut a 10" head opening in the center and a 5" slit at back of neck. After fitting jacket, mark off waistline and sew a double row of stitching to form slot for inserting elastic. Use bias tape for ties at back of neckline.

Dog Day Coolers

During the week when you're work-bound and the heat and humidity team up to make you utterly miserable, do you yearn for seashore or lake? Wouldn't it be nice to dangle your feet in cool water or take an icy plunge? Well, here are some cooling, at-home cures for when the dog days hit. Your bath can pinch hit for the lake or ocean if you take the proper approach. Make it a tepid tub. A warm-to-hot one is apt to lull you to sleep, and a cold one makes you doubly conscious of the contrast between bath water and hot air when you step out of the tub.

Add a half pound of baking soda to the water. Because of soda's alkaline properties it gives your bath a healthful spa-like quality that soothes the rip-roaring sunburn and such common Summer complaints as poison ivy, oak and sumac, prickly heat and hives. You'll be getting the advantage of soda's gentle detergent action . . . you'll come clean without moving a muscle. This is a distinct benefit, even if you haven't a single complaint, for during the Summer, skin is apt to be dry and flaky from outdoor living, and conventional cleaning methods tend to dry it further.

A short-cut cooler and a refreshing substitute for a wade if you don't have a half-hour or so to spend in the tub is a foot bath. Set up a basin of cool water in which you add three tablespoons of baking soda in a shady nook in the garden or the airiest room in the house, read the papers, soak your feet and relax for ten minutes. You'll be surprised at how fast you're rid of the hot weather doldrums.

Lebanese 'City of the Sun' Setting for Arts Festival

Lebanese national dances under the towering columns of a 1900-year-old Temple of Jupiter will mark the final week of the Fourth International Baalbek Festival held from July 24 to August 24 in Lebanon. A week each of ballet, chamber music, and theater comprise the program in the scenic Bekaa Valley in sight of the snow-capped Lebanese mountains.

With a swiftly built reputation among globe-trotting festival goers, the Baalbek International Festival in Lebanon is satisfying audiences for the fourth year. Stellar programs of European drama, ballet, and music, plus a folk extravaganza, are scheduled, enhanced by the floodlighted ruins of the ancient city.

No weather problem faces visitors to Baalbek. Rain does not fall in summer, and nights are temperate and mellow.

As an innovation this year a "Sound and Light" production will portray Baalbek's story solely by the play of light on the ruins, the voices of unseen performers recounting the events of past ages within this ancient Temple of Jupiter. Floodlights will reveal massive 750-ton foundation stones, the high altar, the secret oracle, the fallen stone lion heads, the intricately carved acanthus leaf capitals of the six still-standing 60-foot columns, as the story of Rome's 200 years of building at Baalbek is told. Experts have been studying lighting problems at the Temple to find the most effective staging for this novel presentation.

Ballet will be another innovation at the 1958 Baalbek Festival. The Rambert Ballet of London will appear in such popular numbers as "Gisele", "Les Sylphides", "Coppelia", and "Winter Night." The troupe has 28 dancers and a 30-piece orchestra.

The I Musici Chamber Music Orchestra of Rome, comprising 12 musicians, will present three performances of chamber music. This year's drama group will be the Paris Troupe of Dacqmine-Hermantier, giving performances of "Faust", "Andromaque", "Lysistrata", and "La Repetition ou l'Amour Puni".

As in former years the Festival will end with a Lebanese folk dancing spectacle. One hundred thirty dancers in village costumes whirl in national dances and group in living pictures, as village songs are sung. The popular singers, Fairouz and Wadie Safi, will participate.

Beirut, capital of Lebanon, is the base city for visitors to the International Baalbek Festival. Offering accommodations in 10 airconditioned hotels, it is located a short drive from Baalbek by scenic mountain routes. Trans-Atlantic ships dock at Beirut, and leading airlines make stops at Beirut's airport.

LAND BANK LOWERS INTEREST RATE ON FARM LOANS

The Federal Land Bank has lowered its interest rate to 5 per cent on all farm loans closed on and after August 1, 1958, according to word received by G. B. Auburtin, secretary-treasurer of the Canebrake National Farm Loan Association at Marion, Alabama.

At the same time the bank advised that only 5 per cent will be charged on mortgages bearing 5½ per cent, the reduced rate to also be effective on August 1, 1958 and to be continued as long as conditions will permit.

This is the second time in its 41 years of providing farmers with loans that the Federal Land Bank has voluntarily lowered the interest collected on loans already in effect.

"The national farm loan associations and Federal Land Banks are cooperatively owned by farmers they serve. This voluntary reduction in interest rate is in line with our policy of passing on to our farmer-owner borrowers any savings possible through lower interest rates," Mr. Auburtin said.

ACCIDENTAL DEATHS IN ALABAMA

Accidental deaths in Alabama totaled 155 during May, the last month for which figures are available. A report prepared by the Bureau of Vital Statistics, State Health Department, classifies these death according to type of accidents as follows: motor-vehicle accidents 78, home accidents 30, work accidents 12, public non-motor vehicle 31, and undescribed accidents 4.

The report shows that the number of drownings continued the seasonal upward trend which began in April. Deaths due to drowning in 1958 have occurred as follows: January 1, February 5, March 5, April 14, and May 18.

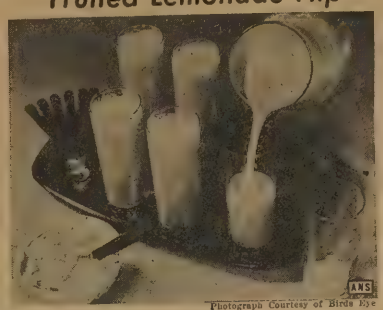
Fruited Lemonade Flip



Photograph Courtesy of Birds Eye

LEMONADE IS THE CLASSIC, old-fashioned summer cooler . . . good as is, even better dressed up as a fruited flip. In this frothy modern version, quick-frozen lemonade is combined with beaten eggs and crushed fruit. The fruit goes in the bottom of a tall glass, the lemonade-egg mixture is poured on top. Serve with a long spoon so you can scoop up every last drop.

LEMONADE FLIP

1 can (6 ounces) quick-frozen concentrated lemonade
Cold water
3 eggs, beaten
Crushed pineapple, strawberries, or other fruit

Mix concentrated lemonade with cold water as directed on can. Add the beaten eggs, mix well, cover, and chill thoroughly. To serve, put a spoonful of fruit in each glass and fill with lemonade mixture. Makes about 4½ cups (without fruit), or enough for 6 six-ounce servings.

Ala. Produce in 'Senate Salad of 1958'

Alabama played a major role in the introduction of "Senate Salad of 1958" at a recent luncheon in the United States Capitol. At this second annual Senate Salad luncheon Sen. John J. Sparkman assists Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, Treasurer of the United States, by pouring the salad dressing into the world's largest salad bowl. Sen. Sparkman, one of six Senators and eight Congressmen who acted as hosts, provided the water cress. This salad, composed of 15 ingredients from 11 states, was created by General Foods Kitchens.

Members of Congress from 35 states joined Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, Commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration George P. Larrick and other Government notables in sampling this year's Senate Salad from the world's largest salad bowl, three feet wide, 14 inches deep, holding 320 main course servings.

The home economists in GF Kitchens have reduced the proportions of the world's largest salad from 80 pounds of shrimp, 48 packages of lemon-flavored gelatin, 28 envelopes of garlic-type salad dressing mix, 51 heads of lettuce, 42 packages of frozen artichoke hearts, etc., into a home size version for four main course servings.

To make jellied shrimp squares, dissolve a package of lemon-flavored gelatin, 1 tablespoon of salt in 1½ cups hot water. Add ½ teaspoon pepper and 1 tablespoon vinegar.

Chill in a loaf pan until slightly thickened, add cup of diced shrimp, space for cutting into one inch squares, chill and place on tossed salad which includes: a package of frozen artichoke hearts cooked as directed on package, frozen grapefruit sections, 1 cup diced tomatoes, 1 cup cheddar cheese cut in thin strips, ½ cup sliced ripe olives, ¼ cup chopped green onion and 2 quarts of mixed greens (iceberg and romaine lettuce, escarole, water cress). Toss ingredients in salad bowl with 1 cup of dressing made with old fashion garlic salad dressing mix as directed on envelope.

New Shades in Siding For Home Repair Jobs

Warm weather means it's time for property owners to check the physical condition of their buildings. Hard weather damage must be located and repaired before the sun and rain compounds a minor repair job into a major project.

And one of the first places to look in making repair plans is at your home's exterior, for a house's roof and side have much to do with the comfort and security of its occupants. Then, too, an exterior repair job is an investment for the future and a real enhancement in a building's value.

Of course, if a house is roofed and sided with asbestos-cement the inspection shouldn't take long. This material, a combination of asbestos fiber and portland cement, is, by its very nature, a guarantee against damaging elements.

Hailed as a "new" wonder product, asbestos-cement has been used for more than fifty years for both new home construction and old home modernization. New designs stressing a horizontal shadow line in sidings has created such excitement that many new home owners think it is a brand new material.

Another advantage is the savings in paint and maintenance bills. Colors sealed into the shingles and siding itself ends paint worries. Thus, weatherproof and fireproof asbestos-cement can be the answer to many a home owners repair problems.

A Real Tennessee Volunteer

The Volunteer State of Tennessee never produced a more attractive volunteer than Mrs. Dorothy Severance of Nashville—the "Mrs. United States Savings Bonds of 1958." She won the title over a bevy of capable (and attractive) homemakers representing every state in the union at the "Mrs. America" finals in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. As an unpaid volunteer of the Treasury's Savings Bond Program, she will visit various cities during the year in the promotion of Savings Bonds and Stamps. Mrs. Severance needed no indoctrination following her coronation. She and her family have been regular buyers of Savings Bonds and Stamps over the years, and she's already one of the Treasury's best "salesmen." A graduate of Wake Forest College, she is author of two books. She is married to W. Murray Severance, a film producer for the Baptist Sunday School Board, and they have two small children.

First Aid Tip:

Sterile Gauze Pads A Medicine Chest "Must"

Almost one-third of all wounds incurred in the home are too large to be covered by ordinary adhesive bandages. Yet many medicine cabinets lack the most reliable first-aid weapon that can be used in treating such injuries—the sterile gauze pad.

The fact is that most persons don't realize the vital need to use a sterile bandage as an underdressing for wounds. Knowing that practically all bandages are supplied in sterile form, they take it for granted that such a bandage is always sterile and ready for use in the home. This is not so; once a roll bandage is opened, for example, the unused portion that is stored away for future use is not protected against contamination from handling, dirt and bacteria. Therefore, once opened, it's no longer safe to use in direct contact with the wound.

One safe bandage that is guaranteed sterile until the very moment it is used—no matter how long it is stored in the medicine chest—is the STERI-PAD sterile gauze square.

STERI-PAD sterile gauze pads, which are made by Johnson & Johnson, are packed individually in envelopes, each of which has a double seal. This means that the pads are insured against contamination and are sterile whenever and wherever used. This is the only type of covering that should be used in direct contact with a wound. The roll bandage should be used only over the sterile gauze pad to hold it in place. Adhesive tape can also be used for this purpose.

STERI-PAD gauze pads come in several sizes, which makes it very convenient and easy to apply in self-treatment. Soft and gentle to raw and injured tissues, the gauze squares are excellent for protecting cuts, burns, and abrasions. Their softness and sterility make them ideal in the nursery—for applying oils, lotions, and cream—as well as ointments—as well as for use as a compress and for washing eyes. And for adults, they have dozens of uses as a health and beauty aid, such as application and removal of cosmetics.

Take Advantage of our Guarantee (1) full year regardless of miles driven. 100 per cent on parts and labor anywhere in the United States.

CHOOSE LAMPS CAREFULLY

Have you shopped for a lamp recently? Those who answer "yes" have no doubt discovered the almost unlimited range of styles and designs now available.

Since lamps function primarily as lighting instruments, their decorative effect should be a secondary consideration. To give good service as a light, a lamp needs a base that is tall enough and properly constructed, and a shade wide enough to direct the light where it is needed. These factors deserve special attention if the lamp is to be used for reading, sewing, studying, or other close work."

Choose a lamp in keeping with the other furnishings in the room. "Bases and shades are available in both formal and informal designs and in all of the major furniture styles, such as traditional and modern. In a living room with traditional furniture, you need a formal lamp with a base of brass, china, glass or silver, and a shade of silk, rayon parchment, or heavy treated paper."

For an Early American or provincial room, a more informal style is appropriate, with a base of pottery, pewter, wood, colored glass, brass or copper. Its shade could be of unadorned parchment or a carefully chosen checked gingham.

"Remember that the design of a lamp suggests its purpose, and that odd or eccentric shapes should be avoided. And a room looks more attractive if all the lamps in it are the same height."

Blueberries Provide the Plus!

MAKE A SUMMER'S SUNDAY BREAKFAST MEMORABLE —with country-fresh country fare. Serve a simple menu but with every item perfect: fresh blueberry pancakes with melted butter, lightly heated, maple-blended syrup and rosy slices of Canadian bacon. Make a "bouquet" of fresh fruits in a pretty basket for the centerpiece . . . lovely to look at, as well as to eat! With hot and fragrant coffee as an accompaniment, and with summer sunshine and birdsong—well, it's a perfect way to start a new week!

BLUEBERRY PUFF PANCAKES

2 eggs
1 cup milk
2¼ cups biscuit mix
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup salad oil, melted butter, or other melted shortening
1 cup fresh blueberries, sweetened with 2 tablespoons sugar
Butter
Maple-blended syrup

Beat eggs with beater until light and fluffy. Blend in milk. Add biscuit mix and sugar; mix just until thoroughly dampened. Fold in oil or shortening and blueberries. Spoon onto medium-hot ungreased griddle. When puffed up and bubbles begin to break, turn and brown on other side. Serve with butter and Log Cabin Syrup. Makes 15 to 20 pancakes.

SPARKMAN URGES MORE SMALL BUSINESS TAX RELIEF THAN HOUSE BILL PROVIDES

Senator John Sparkman (D., Ala.) today strongly urged the Senate Finance Committee to amend the $260 million House - passed small business tax relief bill to include the more important provisions of his own Senate small business tax relief measure.

Action by the Senate Finance Committee is anticipated momentarily.

The measure passed by the House is a step forward," the Senate Small Business Committee chairman said. "However, I feel that it fails to meet fully small business needs.

Sparkman recalled that last year his Committee carefully studied small business tax problems. He feels that the Senate small business tax relief bill presents a more realistic plan for small business men.

In an effort to assist the Senate Finance Committee with its consideration of the House bill, Sparkman has made available all the information gathered by his Small Business Committee during its comprehensive tax study. He pointed out that 50 Senators have joined in sponsoring the Senate version and he expressed the hope that the Finance Committee version would include the more important provisions of the Senate bill.

Sparkman also prepared a statement of his views on the House bill for presentation to the Senate Finance Committee. He promised full cooperation with the Committee in handling the bill.

Legislation introduced by Sparkman includes the following tax relief provisions: (1) a tax allowance for reinvestment ;(2) individual retirement plans (3) installment payment of estate taxes; (4) alternative methods of depreciation to used property; (5) election by corporations through unanimous agreement of stockholders to be taxed as partnerships; (6) an increase in minimum accumulated earnings credit.

And which of you by being anxious can add one cubit unto the measure of his life?—(St. Matthew 6, 24.)

Long before psychiatrists linked physical ills to mental anxiety and tension, St. Matthew knew the futility of worry. His remedy—perfect trust in God's loving mercy and providence—is still the best prescription for adding to the fullness of human life.

CONSERVATION RESERVE SIGNUP

Farmers of Chilton County will have the opportunity within a few weeks to get full information about the Soil Bank Act [illegible] Chilton County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, Chairman Owen explained that [illegible] other part of the Soil Bank, the Acreage Reserve program, will end the present year.

Under the Conservation Reserve program, farmers contract with the U. S. Department of Agriculture to reduce their acreage of harvested crops and devote this acreage to conservation practices. In return for this contribution to production adjustment the Government makes an annual rental payment to the farmer based on the productive value, and rental rates for similar land in the area.

A higher payment rate as an incentive for a farmer to place eligible cropland in the Reserve.

A priority system in accepting contract applications which gives preference to those farmers offering land at the lowest cost per unit of production.

Farmers will be notified as soon as the county office can receive Conservation Reserve applications, the Chairman said.

For the past four years [illegible] has been the start of 37 per cent of all rural fires.

Jaycees Promoting County-Wide Library

Bookmobile Service made possible by Federal Grant.

Clanton Jaycees are putting forth an [illegible] effort to get a county-[illegible] service. At a [illegible] meeting where was held. Mar[illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] leaders throughout [illegible] heard Mrs. Elizabeth [illegible]d, Field Representative [illegible] Alabama Public Library Service Division of Montgomery explain the program.

The local Junior Chamber of Commerce is joining hands with international organizations "Operation Libraries which is being promoted [illegible] to spot and supply [illegible] the new and improved library facilities in communities throughout the world.

Heading the Committee appointed Monday night are James Duke Heflin of Clanton, Chairman; Morris Moatts of Clanton, Vice-Chairman; Mrs. Leo Langton of Jemison, Secretary.

Attending Monday night's meeting were representative of the County Home Demonstration Clubs County Agents Office, various Civic and Service Organization, Town Leaders of Jemison, Maplesville Clanton and Verbena, Community Leaders, Study Clubs, School Teachers, Superintend of Education, Mr. Joe Graham, State Senator from Chilton County, and many others. Much interest was manifested among citizens attending the [illegible] this library service.

Tentative plans calls for establishment with Autauga and Elmore Counties. This would need the backing of citizens in these counties and approval of the governing board. Or Chilton may join with St. Clair and Shelby Counties in their labrary service which is already established. The general feeling indicates this is the best. Chilton County could have library service within a very few months provided the county Board of Revenue would set aside an appropriation of $6,703. This would be used to help pay for salaries of a trained administrator, trained librarian, and book-mobile drives.

All citizens have been urged to stimulate interest in various organization and communities. They are aked to talk to the Board of Revenue in their district. This is the only way they have of knowyour desires.

On Monday, August 25 (Fourth MON.) a committee will meet with the Board and request the funds to be set aside in the budget for Library service.

For further information, contact member of the Committee. A film will be available to show to any group within a few days. In the meantime the Committee is working with the City Officials to establish a library in Clanton.

Adequate library service would be extended by bookmokile service with regular schedules.

The regional library would be governed by a Board that would include members from each of the Counties.

1958 ACREAGE RESERVE PAYMENTS NOW BEING MADE

Payments for 1958 acreage reserve agreements for cotton are being made to farmers in Chilton County, according to Eddie L. Owen, Chairman of the Chilton and Conservation Committee. Mr. County Agricultural Stablization Owen states that the county office will continue to make payments during the summer, as the compliance check is completed on farms participating in the acreage reserve.

Farmers who signed Acreage Reserve agreements earn payments by reducing acreage of the basic crops below allotment acres. Payment is made in the form of a certificate, which may be cashed at a bank or redeemed in the form of grain if the certificate covers compensation on a corn agreement.

Even though a Chilton County farmer has received his Acreage Reserve payment or will receive it in the near future, his responsibility under the Acreage Reserve agreement continues until the end of the calendar year 1958, Mr. Owen emphasized.

Under the agreement, no crop may be harvested from the Acreage Reserve in 1958. No crop may be planted on it except certain crops for harvest in 1959 or later as approved by the State ASC Committee. Also, the Acreage Reserve may not be grazed in 1958

A farmer who willfully and knowingly violates any of these terms may be requested to return his payment and also is subject to a civil penalty of 50 percent of the amount o fthe payment, Mr. Owen said.

TIME FOR FALL GARDENING

Harvests from most early-planted gardens are beginning to get small-[illegible]

"N ow is the time," for gardeners to palnt fall crops in order to provide a good supply of vegetables over the next two or three months."

The recent rains have provided ideal conditions for prepairing and planting of fall gardens. If planted now, pole beans, lima beans, field peas, squash, and tomato plants will make a crop before frost.

Land to be used for turnip greens cabbage, collard, broccoli, and kale should be prepared now. It must be harrowed or disked two or three times to form a smooth, firm seedbed for leter planting "The home gardner or farmer planting a small area can use a hand rake to smooth the bed." It is necessary to break the clods because most vegetable seed are rather small, and if the ground is rough, they wont come up to a good stand.

"Plant these vegetables now," "and you will eb sure of a good supply through the late fal land winter months."

MOORE, WORKS FOR ORPHANAGE HOME

To Specialist Third Class Millard L. Moore, 24, of Clanton, Ala., performing chores can sometimes be a pleasure, especially when the work is voluntary and the reward is deeply felt gratitule of orphan children.

YOUR Health

CERVICAL SYNDROME

Because a whiplash injury to the neck line often results in a multi-plicity of symptoms, physicians refer to it as the cervical syndrome. Cervical has to do with the neck and a syndrome is a set of symptoms occurring together.

Whiplash injury of the neck is caused by the head being thrown backwards or forwards forcibly almost with a recoil in the opposite direction. While the majority of such cases occur in automobile accidents, these are also common in everyday life activity as any accident with a sudden forcible backward or forward bending of the head on neck can cause injury. Severe damage to the neck can be caused while boxing or diving. The symptoms following such an injury may include headaches, pain in the arms chest pains, low back disorders, eye symptoms, psychosomatic difficulties and even gastro-intestinal upsets.

The acute phase follows immediately after the accident with the patient dazed and bewildered for a short time. There may be a slight ache in the back of the neck which may gradually develop into severe pain and lead the patient to believe his neck must have been broken. Frequently there is spasm in the spinal muscles in the neck with inability to move the neck in any direction. Expertly applied traction or pulling at the neck is the most effective treatment for relief of pain and ultimate cure.

Approximately 80 per cent of whiplash injury cases can be completely relieved of all neck and other referred symptoms. However, ten per cent of cases have recurrences within a year after treatment, requiring further traction. The remaining ten per cent end up without adequate relief, cases usually of long standing that did not have treatment at the time the trouble started. Early diagnosis and treatment can relieve the victim of whiplash injury.

Three graduate fellowships in education were given in the last twelve months by the American Foundation for the Blind.

ALA. PATROL HAS FINE RECORD

[illegible] was found that Alabama [illegible] 86 less traffic deaths [illegible] compared with the same [illegible]

Col. W. V. (Bill) Lyerly [illegible] that from January 1 [illegible] 22 this year, 322 rural traffic deaths had been recorded, compared with the 384 noted for the same period [illegible] Also, this year there [illegible] nly 90 urban traffic [illegible] gh July 22 compared [illegible] 4 reported in 1957

Lyerly warns, however [illegible] stics show that our worst [illegible] still ahead of us. Plea[illegible] all users of the State's [illegible] for the additional care they [illegible] g this year, he urged, [illegible] that all motorists con[illegible] r safe driving practices.

Alabama thus enters the second half of the year well ahead of last year in traffic fatalities and, there[illegible] s a very good chance [illegible] ss may prove to be an outstanding year for safety on the highways in Alabama. It should be noted that these good figures for the first half of the year have been achieved despite the dangerous icy and showbound conditions of the Alabama roads in the first part of this year.

COURTESY PROGRAM

The State Highway Patrol's pro[illegible] courtesy checks has undoubtedly had much to do with Alabama's improved traffice fatality rate.

Lyerly reports there have been 15 courtesy checks since last May 30 during which 494,133 motorists were stopped and given a friendly word of caution and some traffic safety literature. 240,000 of these pieces of literature pertained to the Slow Down and Live program, it was pointed out. Also, Alabama's daily and weekly newspapers, TV and radio stations have all been sent special news releases and were praised by Lyerly for their cooperation. Alabama's Outdoor Adverstising Association has posted 70 safety posters over the State, "with at least eight more contemplated," the Highway Patrol added.

Finally, various Alabama travel and tourist organizations have taken note of the courtesy and efficiency of the Alabama Highway Patrol.

CD Stockpile in Mountain

DEEP WITHIN a mountain in southwestern Missouri, freight cars await unloading of civil defense equipment to be stockpiled there for use in case of enemy attack. The siding, extending 600 feet into the mountain, can accommodate 16 railroad cars simultaneously. The Office of Defense and Civilian Mobilization facility, part of a limestone mine, contains a vast array of medical supplies and "hardware" to be used in recovery operations in the event of an attack on the United States. UNDER THE STUDY LAMP

WHEN A STICK BECAME A SCEPTRE

"And the Lord said unto him, What is that in thine hand? And he said, a rod." — Exodus 4:2.

In this machine age of ours, we are inclined to place more confidence in what is in our hands than what is in our hearts. We are unwilling to undertake a large task without a large material equipment. We feel that without financial resources, without an organization, without enginery, and all sorts of modern gadgets, we face defeat.

If ever a man felt a call to a big task, that man was Moses. God had commanded him to break the power of a proud empire in order to set his own people free. And who was Moses? Merely a homesick shepherd out on the Arabian desert. Resources? None whatever. Implements? Nothing but a stick that he had been using in herding his little flock.

Ah! But that stick! With God that was sufficient, as the succeeding record proved. God permitted him to use that shepherd's crook as the symbol of the Divine presence. Thereby that stock of an acacia bush became the most noted sceptre in the entire history of the human race.

Napoleon's theory was that God was always on the side that controlled the greatest battalions. There is not a word of truth in it. The Apostle Paul opened a pagan continent to freedom with only a few tattered old books wrapped up in a ragged cloak. William Carey turned India toward the eternal light, implemented with one Book—the Bible. John the Baptist stirred his nation to repentance toward God, and yet when asked who he was, replied, "Only a voice in the wilderness."

The most powerful person on earth today is the man or woman who is dedicated to the cause of extending the Kingdom of God, regardless of whether or not that person is implemented with such material equipment as the wisdom of the world demands as essential to success. An appointee to the mission of setting a single soul free from the slavery of sin outranks all the high and mighty who think in terms of mere human power.

Every Pharaoh, past or present, is compelled sooner or later to admit the superior power of Moses and his kind. A gnarled stick in the hand of a representative of the Most High carries more authority than any Alexander or Caesar who ever sat upon a peacock throne.

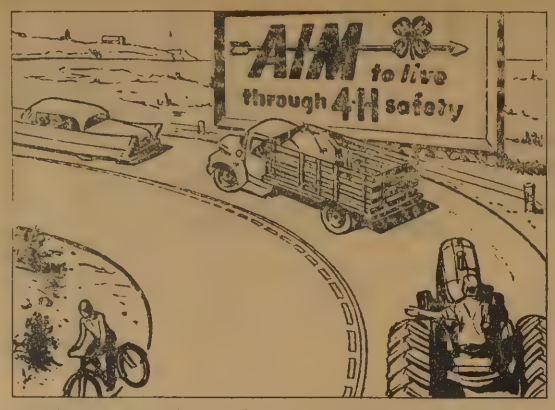
COUNTY COURT OF Chilton County, Alabama IN EQUITY THE STATE OF ALABAMA CHILTON COUNTY

Louise Messer v. Arnold Lewis Messer.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Ex-Offico Register by the affidavit of Louise Messer that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is therefore, ordered by the Ex-Offico Register that publication be made in the Chilton County News a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring the defendant, the said Arnold Lewis Messer to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 25th day of August, 1958, or within thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against Arnold Lewis Messer.

Done at office in Clanton, Ala., this 22nd day of July, 1958. — CDelle D. Cobb, Ex-Officia Register. 30-4tc.



ALMOST ONE MILLION 4-H CLUB MEMBERS are aiming for safer living on highways and farms, in homes and communities. Their efforts are focused on the national 4-H Safety program directed by the Cooperative Extension Service and arranged by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

Farm boys and girls enrolled in the program — and their city cousins as well — can take their share of credit for helping to decrease traffic deaths last year. Proof that they're on the job is the record high enrollment reached in 1957 when 815,000 club members between the ages of 10 and 21 took part in some form of safety activity, according to the National Committee.

And hard work does not go unrewarded. At the national level eight top ranking 4-H'ers will receive $400 college scholarships and an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next December. The state winner also will attend the Congress with all-expenses paid, and it is estimated that nearly 4,000 youngsters will merit the county safety medal. All awards are provided by General Motors which has supported the 4-H Safety program since 1944.

ALABAMA BANKS SHOW INCREASE

Total resources of Alabama's 169 State chartered banks have increased by almost 33 per cent in the past 36 months, according to a report from the Alabama State Banking Department.

State Banking Commissioner Lonnie W. Gentry says "such a growth is nothing short of phenomenal."

Gentry's report highlights the fact that "as of June 23, 1958 total resources were $535,500,000 and that during the past three years such resources have increased by the amount of $107,634,000."

The State banking executive went on to point out that "during the same period total deposits in these banks have increased by no less than $94,670,000" and that of such deposits reflected by the June 1958 call reports disclose a grand total of $482,892,000."

As the strength of Alabama's State chartered banks increases, their rapidly rising importance in the economic and social developments of local communities is demonstrated by an upsurge in their loan business.

Gentry's report points out: "For the past three years the loan business of the State chartered banks has increased from $160,382,000 to $204,558,000 for the net increase of $44,166,000."

The report concludes: "During the same period, the capital, surplus and undivided profits of the banks have likewise reflected a substantial increase of $12,324,000 an increase from $37,665,000 to $49,989,000."

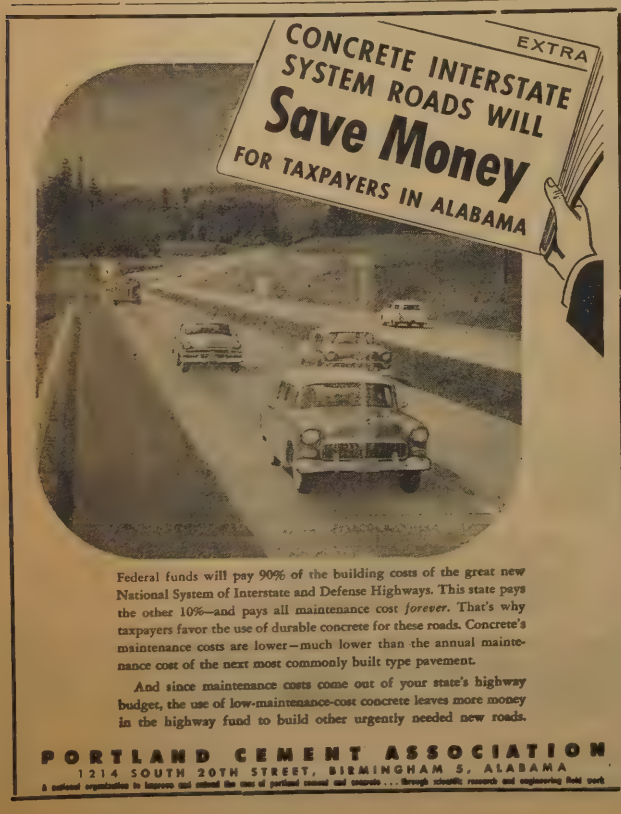
East Meets West in Cotton Fashions

COTTONS are becoming increasingly popular for year-round wear, and these elegant dresses reflect the latest fashion trends. Made of American cotton and designed and manufactured in Japan, the ensembles combine ancient Oriental designs with modern techniques. The floral print on the left has clever touches of rosy sateen in the straps, neckline and apron binding. In the new "Japanese silhouette" on the right, there is a suggestion of the traditional kimono in the open side of the over-panel and in the hint of a sash and side bow. Like most other Japanese garments, these dresses are made of American-grown cotton—of importance to our Southern and Western farmers. (Photos from Japan-U.S. Textile Information Service; Jewelry by Emmons.)



Federal funds will pay 90% of the building costs of the great new National System of Interstate and Defense Highways. This state pays the other 10%—and pays all maintenance cost forever. That's why taxpayers favor the use of durable concrete for these roads. Concrete's maintenance costs are lower—much lower than the annual maintenance cost of the next most commonly built type pavement.

And since maintenance costs come out of your state's highway budget, the use of low-maintenance-cost concrete leaves more money in the highway fund to build other urgently needed new roads.

Tsk, tsk! Too bad he hasn't checked up on car prices lately. He'd find that Ford is the lowest priced* of the best-selling three!

"WHEN THEY INVENT A CAR THAT DOESN'T NEED GAS!"

Gracious! The gentleman obviously hasn't heard about Ford's Mileage Maker Six—the modern short-stroke Six that delivered the most miles per gallon in Class A in the last two Mobilgas Economy Runs!

"WHEN THE OLD CAR'S HAD IT!"

But it has . . . and so has his budget. If he could only have back all the money he's been paying out (and is going to pay out) in repair bills . . . he could be the proud owner of a 58 Ford!

"WHEN MY PRESENT CAR IS WORTH MORE!"

Poor man. He's not only missing out on summer driving in a Thunderbird-inspired Ford . . . he's missing out on money! Doesn't he know that his present car will NEVER be worth more in trade than right NOW!

"WHEN FORD DEALERS ARE GIVING THE YEAR'S BEST DEALS DURING FORD'S SUMMER TRADING PICNIC!"

Smart fellow! He's buying NOW while Ford Dealers are holding their Summer Trading Picnic and giving the longest deals and the highest trades ever . . . and while the selection of models and colors is best. What's more, he'll find that Ford is the lowest priced* of the best-selling three! Why not join him at your Ford Dealers?

Origin Of The Bible

(10th In a Series)

Second Samuel

it bears his name, this ... of the English Bible ... hing to do with ... even mentioned. It ...

... N:than and Gad, con... King David (1 ... 2:29). The twenty-four chapters of the second book of Samuel take up the narration of Is... following the death ... and carry it along ... second of David's forty ... Hence it covers a ... ty years. It ... and bloodshed, ... with accounts of Dav... difficulties and hu... sinfulness and sins against ... The thing of paramount importance is that through these wars of David the boundaries of the typical Theocracy were extended to the full limits ordained by Jehovah God.

... lamenting the death of Is... first king and his beloved friend Jonathan, David sought counsel from the Lord, "Shall I go up into any of the cities of Judah?" Yes. "Whither shall I go up?" Hebron. David obeyed, and "the men of Judah came, and there they anointed David king over the house of Judah". (2:1-4) But he was ... by all Israel. It was only after a long and bloody civil war between the house of David and the house of Saul that "all the elders of Israel came to the king to Hebron: and king David made a league with them in Hebron before the LORD: and they anointed David king over Israel". Nationall unity, after seven and a half years of civil war, had come ... Israel. The Jebusites were ... ejected from the strong... hold of Zion at Jerusalem and ... established his headquarters to that city whence he reigned over all Israel for the next thirty-three years. -- 5:1-5.

From internal war the Israelite nation was almost immediately forced to turn to international conflict. The Philistines round about came to break up the new-found power it might of Israel; they find ... military goal a vain imagi... and are themselves smitten ... scattered first at the battle of ... and then again at the ... of Gibeon. The mercenaries aid him ... little. The combined forces of Ammon and Syria are routed. A second attack on Syria's part proves so disastrous to them that they hastily sue for a separate peace with Israel. (10:1-19) A continuation of the war with Ammon is taken up at the beginning of chapter 11, but is quickly set aside for the relation of David's sin with Bath-sheba, which leads to the maneuvered death of her husband, Uria, in battle. The full force of King David's wrong and guilt is driven home with a parable by the prophet Nathan. The babe born out of the sinful act dies, but thereafter Bath-sheba bears Solomon to David. The closing verses of chapter 12 take attention back to the conflict with Ammon and show how David leads the final victorious assault on the besieged city of Rabbath and puts the Ammonites under Israelite dominion.

From this point onward, with the exception of one account of warrings with the Philistines and their monstrosity-giants (21:15-22), the record of Second Samuel concerns itself with David's family difficulties and internal strife in Israel. David's son Amnon falls in love with his half sister, Tamar, violates her, then hates her. Absalmo her brother bides his time, and two years later kills Amon and flies to his grandfather, in Geshur. After three years he returns to Jerusalem and is ultimately reconciled to David. -- 13:1-4:33.

But David's trouble with Absalom was only starting. This comely third son aspired to rule over Israel, and he was unencumbered by scruples as to how he ascended the throne. First, by fair speech he "stole the hearts of the men of Israel". (15:2-6) He sowed discord among the Israelite brethern. He encouraged pettiness and peevishness, sowed the seeds of suspicion and discontent, and cultivated grudges. He threw reflections upon the justice of David's administration, and cast himself in the role of a righter of wrongs. In short, he critized and patiently picked away at God's faithful servant David, and by sly contrast elevate himself in the eyes of many Israelites. The groundwork thus laid, the traitorous son launched the second phase of theuprising by going to Hebron to bring the plot to more tangible fruit. There the conspiracy mushroomed and finally broke over the land in its third phase, the military push. So strong is the uprising that David is forced to abandon Jerusalem. Absalom's forces take possession. -- 15:7-37.

The vain usurper received good counsel from Ahithophel: Press the advantage gained and immediately pursue and smite David! But through Hushai the Lor defeated this good counsel and caused Absalom to hesitate and mark time till a large army was amassed. Like a rat shrewd Ahithophel deserted the sinking ship of Absalom and went and hanged himself. Soon thereafter Absalom's cause was sunk, and he went down with it. His hosts followed David across Jordan and into the country of Gilea. In the forest of Ephraim the mighty armies locked in battle. Twenty thousand rebels died. The rugged and heavily wooded terrain was not conductive to disengaging maneuvers and the outclassed Israelites were smitten by the Judeans and put to full rout. In wild flight Absalom's head with its luxuriant crop of hair was caught in the low boughs of an oak, and in this undignified and helpless position he was come upon and slaughtered by Joah. This was a direct ... violation of King David's explicit command to spare Absalom's life, and doubtless was the cause of Amasa's being made captain of the host in the stead of Joab. -- 17:1-14, 22-26; 18:1-17; 19:13.

Yet another uprising mars the internal peace of Israel before the record of Second Samuel comes to its close. Sheba, a man of Belial, a Benjamite, drew Israel after him in rebellion. The powerful tribe of Judah sticks by David, and the warriors of the tribe take out after Sheba and his forces. In the pursuit opportunist Joab slays his rival successor Amasa and takes over the command. Soon Sheba is hemmed in in the city of Abel, and ... oasve its own skin the besieged city cuts off Shebba's head and throws it over the wall to Joab. Thus another uprising against King David ends ingloriously. -- 20:1-26.

The closing chapters tell of two visitations from the Lord. The land of Israel is hard hit by famine, three years in a row. David, ever alert to Jehovah's doings, sees more than mere coincidence in the three successive years of crop failure, and inquires of the Lord the cause. It comes out that it is the sin of Saul and his bloody house in slaying some Gibeonites that is responsible. The right of these strangers in Israel had not been respected or maintained, and atonement is made by putting to death seven of Saul's descendants. The second plague from the Lord is due to a sin on David's part. He numbers Israel, without divine authority. He is given choice of three judgments to expiate his wrong: three years of famine in addition to past famines, three months to flee before his enemeis, or three days of pestilence from Jehovah. "Let us fall now into the hand of the LORD for his mercies are great: and let me not fall into the hand of man." (24:13, 14, margin; also An Am. Tr.; Moffatt) The pestilence claimed the lives of 70,000 before it was halted at the very gates of Jerusalem.

With all the heavy woes and troubles of the period related in Second Samuel, it was a time of glorious victories over demon-worshiping enemies. It saw the conquest of all the land of Canaan promised to the Israelites by the Owner of the earth and the universe, Jehovah God. The typical Theocracy had at last expanded its holdings to the full limits ordained for it by the great Theocrat, and the covenant for the kingdom had been made with the house of David.

FARM BUREAU NEWS REPORT

Farmers of this and other counties have a great opportunity to save considerable money on their farming operations by prompt filing of applications for their state and federal gasoline tax refunds, it was pointed out this week by James H. Kincaid, president of the Chilton County Farm Bureau.

Under recent new federal legislation and a revised and simplified state law, farmers are able to get a rebate of as much as nine cents per gallon on much of the gasoline they use in producing their crops and for non-highway purposes. The refund amounts to six cents of the seven-cent state tax and three cents on the federal levy.

"Farmers should make application for gasoline tax refunds between now and Sept. 30," the Farm Bureau leader warned, pointing out that federal applications must be "in the mail" while applications for the state refund must be "in the office of the commissioner of revenue at Montgomery" by that date.

Applications for the federal refund will be for gasoline purchased and used on the farm during the period July 1, 1957, through June 30, 1958. The period of refund for the state tax is Sept. 30, 1957 through June 30, 1958. Blanks for this purpose are available at the county agent's office, county tax assessor, and most oil dealers.

"Every farmers should take advantage of this opportunity to make a substantial savings on his operations, made possible through legislation sponsored by the Farm Bureau," the county president commented.

THE first annual Alabama Farm Bureau Young People's Summer Conference will be held August 22-24 at Cheaha State Park, 20 miles north of Talladega, according to John H. Dorrill, Jr., state advisor.

Every county Farm Bureau is eligible to send delegates to the Conference, whether or not they have a formal Farm Bureau Young People's organization, Dorrill said. Counties interested in setting up such groups were especially urged to have representatives.

The program will include instructional and inspirational talks, panel discussions on farm problems and how young people can help meet them, and recreation. Speakers will include Warren Newberry, of the American Farm Bureau staff; H. F. Gibson, assistant state supervisor of vocational agriculture; Miss Ann Barr, state girl's 4-H Club leader, and R. L. Griffin, associate secretary and organization director. Alabama FB Federation.

The Lineville FFA Band will put on a show and provide music for round and square dancing Friday night. Between various conference events Saturay the young people will have swimming, mountain hikes and other recreation available. Prior to adjournment Sunday there will be church services, with the message being delivered by the Rev. Chapel Methodist Church, North-Otto Hammonds, pastor of Jennings port.

FARM NEWS BRIEFS

By Chilton County Farm Bureau

The State Fire Ant Committee has voted to continue its eradication program against this South American pest that has spread over a large portion of Alabama and other states. The action was taken at a recent meeting at which various aspects of the program were discussed.

Miss Camille Dunkin, of Marion Junction, Perry County, will represent Alabama in the National Dairy Princess contest in Baton Rouge, La., next November. She was chosen from a field of 14 at the recent state finals in Montgomery.

Alabama is one of seven states which have reported more renewals of Farm Bureau members this year than their entire membership last year. Others were Colorado, Michigan, New York, North Dakota, Ohio and Oregon. Alabama has reached both its 1958 state goal of 67,500 and its national quota.

President Eisenhower has signed a law extending for three years the special milk program for children. The program is designed to improve nutrition of school children by prompting milk consumption, and at the same time prevent building up of a large milk surplus.

When You Can Hunt 'What' In State

The Alabama Advisory Board of Conservaton today set 1958-59 hunting and fishing seasons which featured 15 days addition to the squirrel season, five day extension of the mourning dove season and a three day longer deer season in most areas of Alabama.

Another major change approved by the Board involved a statewide season on squirrels rather than the split season for north and south Alabama which has been customary in the past.

The Board in other action recommended that the Conservation Department effective October 1 require commercial fishermen in the Tennessee Valley area only to set all nets fifty feet from the stream or lake shores and stop all whipping of fish into commercial nets.

Seasons as set by today's meeting included:

TURKEY

Shooting of gobblers only will be allowed, with bag limit of one a day, one in possession or five during the entire 1958-59 seasons. Hunting will be allowed during the fall season from Nov. 20 through Jan. 1 and in the spring season from March 25 through April 20 in Coosa, Chilton, Jefferson, Randolph Shelby, Talladega, Tuscaloosa, and Walker Counties, Clay County west of State Highway 9 and north of U. S. Highway 280.

Hunting of turkeys will be allowed from Nov. 20 through Jan. 1 and from March 20 through April 15 in Bibb, Butler, Choctaw, Clarke, Conecuh, Escambia, Marengo, Mobile, Monroe Washington, and Wilcox Counties, Baldwin County except south and west of U. S. Highway 90.

Hunting of turkeys will be allowed in Coffee County from March 20 through March 31.

Hunting of turkeys will be allowed in Colbert and Franklin Counties, except in Colbert County Refuge and Franklin County Management Area from April 10 through April 20. Bag limit in these counties is one turkey a day or one per person per season.

In Covington, Houston, Perry, Russell, and Sumter Counties, Dallas County South of U. S. Highway 80 and east of the Alabama River turkey hunting will be allowed from March 20 through April 15.

In Autauga County south and west of U. S. Highway 82, hunters may kill one turkey during season from April 1 through April 15.

Bow and arrow hunting of turkey, in addition to the regular season, will be allowed in the counties and areas open to the fall hunting of turkey except in the National Forest Management Areas between the dates of November 1 and November 9, inclusive.

QUAIL

Bobwhite quail may be hunted from November 20 through Feb. 15 with bag limit of 10 a day or in possession. Coturnix quail also may be hunted Nov. 20 through Feb 15 with bag limit of 10 a day or in possession.

DOVES

Hunting will be allowed from Oct. 1 through Oct. 31 and from November 29 through Jan. 1, with bag limit of 10 a day or in possession.

SQUIRREL

Squirrel hunting shall be legal from Oct. 15 through Jan. 1 through out the whole state with bag limit of six a day.

OPOSSUM & RACCOON

Hunted as game, 'possum and coon may be hunted from Oct. 1 through Feb. 20 with no bag limit.

RABBITS

Rabbits may be hunted from Oct. 1 through Feb. 20 with bag limit of six a day.

FOX

No closed season, no bag limit.

WATERFOWL

The board resolved that Alabama's waterfowl seasons should be set the longest and latest period possible within the limits which will be set within a few weeks by the Federal Government.

Fishing creel limits were set the same as last year, with anglers allowed to take 15 wall eyed pike, 15 Pickerel, 15 black bass, 30 yellow bass, 30 white lake bass, 30 crappie, 40 bream in aggregate of all kinds, 30 rock bass, and 20 salt water striped bass per day.

In addition ot setting season dates and daily limits, the Advisory Board also heard progress reports from the five divisions of the Conservation Department. These were highlighted by:

A report that in 1957 only 0.37 per cent of Alabama's forests were burned by wildfires, the lowest fire record ever set in the state, and a statement that three tree nurseries produced 100 million tree seedlings last year and are expected to turn out 150 million in 1958-59.

Report by the Parks Divisioon that attendance at the state parks is booming with a new record expected this year.

A report by the State Lands Division of progress on an overall development plan for state lands lying adjacent to the Mobile Causeway.

A report by the Seafoods Division that Alabama fishermen are enjoying one of the most productive shrimp seasons in many years, and that 60,000 barrels of oysters planted on suitable reefs last winter had a high rate of survival and are doing well.

A report by the Game and Fish Division and hunting prospects for the coming year appear particularly bright, with favorable weather conditions allowing good production of young game animals this spring and early summer.

At the request of Board Member Hubert Kimbrough of Mobile, the board recommended that duck marsh lying north of the Mobile Causeway up to the L & N Railroad Bridge be closed to afternoon duck hunting during the 1958-59 duck seasons. Kimbrough told the Board that sportmen in Mobile wish no afternoon shooting to be allow concentrations of ducks to feed on the salt water flats around the causeway. He said there is feeling that the Mobile area will attract and hold more ducks during the season if the birds are allowed a few hours of undisturbed feeding each day.

Present at the meeting were: Ex-Officio members P. O. Davis, Auburn; Bill Drinkard, Mont.; Chairman G. W. Ponder, Cullman; James H. Crow, Jr., Decatur; Julian McGowin, Chapman; Gus Woodard, Fayette; C. H. Jackson, Florence; Hubert Kimbrough, Mobile; and Terrell Houser, of Attalla. Absent were Ex-Officio members, Gov. James E. Folsom and A. W. Todd.

POLIO FOUNDATION SEEKS NEW FRONTIERS

A program that will permit a scientific assault on major health problems of the nation, with arthritis and birth defects as initial new targets, was announced this week by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Basil O'Connor, president of the organization that made possible the Salk polio vaccine, outlined its broad new program of future attack on disease and disability at a press conference in New York on Tuesday (July 22).

While carrying on the winning fight against polio, the National Foundation, as it now will be known will continue its history-making virus research program and investigations of disorders of the central nervous system, and will add research and patient aid in arthritis and birth defects (congenital malformations). Mr. O'Connor said.

The expanded program will be financed through the traditional March of Dimes conducted each January by volunteers in 3,100 county chapters across the country.

GOSPEL PROGRAM GOING STRONG

To The Chilton County News, and its Many Friends
Greeting:

May I express To Your Paper my deepest appreciation in helping to get my Gospel Radio program before the people each day over the Clanton Station at 6:15 Monday - Saturday and 8:15 on Sunday.

Many people have told me that they listen to the program daily. Thanks to you who are telling them of the program. If ever in human history we need to turn to God and His gospel it is now. When war clouds hang low -- pray, go to church, read the Bible, worship God, preach to Nursing Homes in jails, prisons and over radio stations. To do this takes money.

If you want a part in this ministry write to me: John Olin Gay 2319-10th Ave. S., Birmingham 5, Alabama.

May God bless you as you follow Christ in humility, love and consecration.

Thanks again to your interesting, clean attractive paper for this help in getting our radio, jail and old peoples work upon your heart so that you may join with us in winning lost men to Jesus for Life, and comforting the Redeemed. — Thanks and God Bless all of you.
John Olin Gay, 2319-10th Avenue So, Birmingham 5, Ala.

MARKET HOGS AT CORRECT WEIGHT

Marketing overweight hogs is the surest way to lower the prices paid for your porkers. No other practice has a worse record for weakening the market.

Packers prefer animals at a top weight of 200 to 225 pounds, not heavyweights. If hogs are fed beyond the top weight, more than two-thirds of the additional gain will be fat. And, they will need more feed to make each pound of gain, in addition to being penalized at the market for extra fat.

Nor does the problem of dealing with overfinished hogs end at the market. The packer is faced with the trouble of trimming an merchandising the fat, which is a relatively cheap part of the pork carcass. Many times the retail merchant must do more trimming on the cut to make it acceptable to the consumer.

"By marketing hogs at 200 to 225 pounds," "we are doing our hog business a favor. And we can do much to keep overfat pork off the market simply by doing a better job marketing. For example, "don't guess at the weight of the hog as he [illegible] et size. A set of [illegible] -- a valuable piece of equipment for any hog producer -- will help get the hog to market before the [illegible] overweight."

In pointing out the importance of using scales that they [illegible] than pay for themselves in the form of valuable information to the hog breeder. With scales he can calculate rate of gain and feed efficiency, as well as check litter weights and weaning weights.

SAFETY ALWAYS AROUND HOME

"When you work for safety, safety works for you."

This is the theme of the 15th National Farm Safety Week, which is being observed July 20. - 26 Though safety rules may be mentioned more often this week than at other times, they must be practiced throughout the year, if needless deaths and crippling injuries are to be prevented.

Nearly twice as many persons were killed in home accidents in 1957 as were killed at work. What are the most frequent causes of home accidents? Falls and fires -- and between them these two agents cause about two-thirds of all accidental deaths. Four out of five fatal accidents take place inside the house. Outside the house, yard steys, porch, garage, walks, and roof take their toll, in that order of frequency.

Another site of many serious accidents is the highway. Often these accidents occur when fast-moving trucks and cars crash into the rear of slow-moving tractors or equipment being towed. In these accidents, the unprotected driver of the tractor is usually injured or killed. If farm equipment is to be driven or towed on the road after dark, be sure it's adequately lighted. It may be necessary to apply reflective material to supplement the lighting on the vehicle or to make visible unlighted equipment.

Statistics show that the majority of fatal farm accidents in Alabama in 1957 were caused by machinery. Most of these accidents would no have occurred if proper precautions had been maintained. For example if the shield has been removed from the power driveshaft of a tractor it is easy for a bit of clothing to get caught, drawing in the wearer too.

The American Foundation for the Blind has established a new division of community services to provide for more sustained service to communities and agencies for the blind.

Today 400 voluntary and governmental agencies provide the blind with a great variety of specialized services, according to a report released by the American Foundation for the Blind.

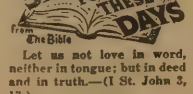
Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Bice were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wright of Prattville Sunday.

We hope to see you at Choir practice Thursday night and at Church Sunday.



Let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth.—(I St. John 3, 13.)

Words of love are the most welcome words in any language. But words alone are not enough. They must be uttered "in truth" from the heart of the speaker, and proved by deeds. Only thus can we show our love to others, as God has shown His love to us through the life of Jesus Christ.

FOLKS and THINGS About Town

by Ben

TUESDAY is election day. Get out and vote for the money needed to continue operations of our schools. As last month -- it's no new tax. Just the same one we have been paying to keep our schools open for the past forty years.

WE need to apologize to a lot of our customers who missed their paper last week. One way or another we "goofed" on our counting and sent some towns and routes short. We're sorry.

OUR friend the "Man On The Corner" says he don't believe in sending boxholder editions. That's like saying we sell advertising but we don't believe in it. We got a slogan here at the News that heads all our advertising sheets: "If You Don't Tell Them About It--How Are They To Know?"

WE'VE just found why the price of potatoes is so stiff. They contain so much starch.

THE preacher was attending a banquet when a clumsy waiter dropped a bowl of soup in the clergyman's lap. He looked around with agony on his face as he finally exclaimed; "Will some layman please say something appropriate."

DID you ever wonder why you wake up tired in the morning? Let's say you weigh 150 pounds and it is claimed that we move in our sleep an average of every fifteen minutes. That would be four times an hour which would be 600 pounds we move every hour. If you slept 10 hours, that means that you have moved 6,000 pounds during the night which is three tons. Now brother, that would make anybody wake up tired.

DONALD CHAPMAN SUCCUMBS AT 28

Mr. Donald Edward Chapman of Rt. 3 Clanton, Ala., died August 7, 1958 at 9:00 p. m., at the Montgomery Veterans Hospital. He was born on December 19, 1929, in Chilton County to R. L. Chapman and Myrtice Henley. He was 28 years of age at the time of death. Funeral services were held at Pleasant Grove at 3 p. m., August 14, 1958. Interment at Pleasant Grove cemetery, Rev. C. N. Graham, conducting the services.

Surviving relatives are: Mrs. Myrtice H. Chapman, Clanton, Ala., mother; two sisters, Mrs. Bobbie Nell Willis, of Mobile, Ala.; Miss Carol Evelyn Chapman of Clanton, Ala; three brothers, Jerald Wayne, Douglas Edward and Johnny B. Chapman all of Clanton, Ala.; grandmother, Mrs. Sina Henley, of Clanton.

Pallbearers: Sherrell Roper, Chester, Bud and Douglas Roper, Reuben Henley and Johnny McCraw.

Flower Ladies were: Bobbie Alice, Barbara Foshee, Helen Bates, Nina Fay Chapman, Cheryl and Annie Joyce Smith, Louise Foshee and Blanch Henley.

Spigener Funeral Home in charge.

America . . .

The meaning of our word America flows from one pure source. Within the soul of America is the freedom of mind and spirit in man. Here alone are the open windows through which pours the sunlight of the human spirit. Here alone human dignity is not a dream but a major accomplishment. — Herbert C. Hoover.

REV. HILL TO BE AT ALPINE

The Alpine Baptist Church will begin their Summer Revival Sunday, August 10, 1958, and continue for one week. Services will be twice daily 10:30 A. M. and 7:30 P. M.

Rev. Frank Hill, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Eclectic, Alabama, will be the guest speaker. Brother Hill is well known in the county. He has served a number of churches in this area of the state. We feel fortunate to have this pastor come to be with us.

R. E. Wilkins, the pastor, and the members of the church request your presence in these services. — R. E. Wilkins.

NEW TELEPHONE FACILITIES

Southern Bell Telephone Company began construction of new telephone facilities the last of July that will enable the utility to provide additional service in the eastern section of the Clanton exchange area.

I. M. Commander, Clanton manager of the firm said that when completed the new lines will serve an estimated 44 initial subscribers and furnish 11 applicants with higher grades of service.

The area to be served is along and adjacent to the Higgins Ferry Road and in the vicinity of Mitchell Lake.

The project to extend tedephone lines in these rural areas will cost an estimated $20,176, Mr. Comm-

No date for completion of the work can be set until construction is further underway. Bad weather and inavailability of materials at specified times often cause lengthy delays in telephone line work, the company official explained.

ANNUAL ALL-DAY

SINGING AT BETHSALEM

All day singing and homecoming at Bethsalem, Sunday August 10th. We have the promise of some good singers. Everyone is invited to come and make this the best singing we ever had.

BAPTIST QUARTERLY —

SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING

The Chilton-Unity Sunday School Quarterly Meeting will be held with the Concord Baptist Church next Monday, night, August 11th, at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. V. C. Blalock will bring the Devotional and the Pastor, Rev. G. H. Carroll will give the welcome. Ladies from the Concord Church will arrange a special number in song.

Mr. Lally Bates from the First Baptist Church, Clanton will speak on the "Sunday School Standard." The Rev. B. B. Burks, pastor of the Thorsby Baptist Church will bring the closing message on "Evangelism."

May we urge that every church in the association make special arrangements to have representatives at this important meeting, since it will be the last Quarterly meeting of this associational year. The pastors and Sunday School Superintendents are the "Key" people to see that your church is well represented. — Mrs. L. D. Hughes, Associational Sunday School Supt.

1st Methodist Revival To Begin

Rev. Paul A. Deffey will be the Guest Preacher for the Revival Services at the First Methodist Church, Clanton, August 10-15.

Rev. Duffey is pastor of the Dexter Avenue Methodist Church of Montgomery, and one of the outstanding younger ministers of the Alabama-West Florida Conference. He is a graduate of Birmingham-Southern College, and has his Theological Degree from Vanderbilt University. He has served as Missionary Secretary of the Alabama-West Florida Conference, and is present Secretary of the Mission Section of the Conference Board of Missions. At the recent Southeastern Jurisdictional Missionary Conference which was held at Lake Junaluksa, North Carolina, July 26-31, he was the Devotional Speaker each morning. He is a Trustee of Birmingham-Southern College and of the Methodist Home for the Aging.

Friends from all surrounding areas of Clanton are invited to hear Rev. Paul A. Duffey as he leads the Revival Services next week. August 10-15, at the First Methodist Church in Clanton. Morning Services will be held each day, Monday-Friday, at 7-7:45 a.m. Evening Services will begin at 7:30 p. m. A time of great spiritual uplift for the Church and Community is expected with Rev. Duffey as Revival Leader.

INSTALLATION SERVICE

American Legion Post 206 and Auxiliary of Thorsby will have their annual installation of officers next Tuesday, August 12, at 7:30 p. m., Installing officer Harry Phelps of Bessemer. Post Commander of the Fifth District and Mrs. James Kincaid of Thorsby, will be the installing officer for the Auxiliary.

Refreshments will be served.

MT. NEBO HOMECOMING

Plans for Homecoming at Mt. Nebo Methodist Church are about completed. The date is August 17th. The speaker will be announced in the papers next week, as well as on Radio. Be sure to watch for this announcement in next weeks paper and over the Radio.

School Tax Election To be August 12th

On Tuesday, August 12 citizens of Chilton County will be called upon to re-levy District A and District B three-mill taxes. As you know, these are taxes the Chilton County Board of Education has been receiving for the past forty years. These taxes are re-levied for a period of twenty years at a time.

According to one of the policemen so much fuss was made before the local police could arrive that the "peeping-tom" had been scared away. The same officer advised that should you have need for them for this reason to please be quiet after you place your call so they will have a chance to apprehend the prowler.

On July 15 our citizens re-levied the three-mill and one-mill taxes and my sincere appreciation to each voter for that. We feel confident that there will be as large a vote and perhaps even larger vote on August 12 when the District A and B taxes are re-levied. These are the only local taxes collected for our schools and the rate has remained the same for forty years. People of Chilton County pay only about one-half of the amount collected from these taxes. The remainder is collected from public utilities.

The county is required to put the amount of money collected from the taxes into our schools in order to qualify for approximately $835,000 of state money.

The question has been asked why two elections are necessary to relevy the taxes. Title 52, Section 255, Code of Alabama, 1940, provides the following:

"No election in any rural or city school tax district shall be held for the purpose of levying and collecting a special school tax for school purposes unless the county in which said rural or city school tax district is located shall be levying and collecting special county taxes for school purposes of not less than thirty cents on each one hundred dollars worth of taxable property in such county."

Let me urge you to go to the polls on August 12 and vote to relevy District A and District B three-mill taxes so that our boys and girls may benefit from the educational privileges these taxes will afford.

Remember it definitely is not a new tax nor an additional and a vote to re-levy District A and B taxes on August 12 is a decided vote for the continuance of our school program in Chilton County. —W. A. LeCroy, Superintendent.

"PEEPING TOM" REPORTED HERE

The City Police reports a call last week about a "peeping tom" and stated this week that several reports had been made but no arrests have resulted.

REVIVAL AT WALNUT CREEK

Revival services will start at Walnut Creek Methodist Church Sunday, August 10th and continue through August 15th. Services will be held each day at 10:30 a.m. and at 7:30 p. m.

Rev. Norman Carr, a former pastor of the church will be the visiting evangelist. Bill Bagby is the present pastor. The public is invited to attend all meetings.

CIRCLE HOLDS ANNUAL PICNIC

The Woodland Circle will hold their annual Picnic, Pot Luck supper at City Park. Thursday August 7th, at 5 p. m. All members and families are invited along with friends.

ANNOUNCING A SPECIAL MEET

The Chilton County Hospital Auxiliary will meet on Tuesday August 12, at 9:30 a. m. in the dining room of the Nursing Home.

All members are urged to attend this very important meeting.

THREE HURT IN TWO CAR ACCIDENT

LOCAL BOYS ATTEND CAMP

Two youth from Chilton are attending the Alabama Forestry Training Camp which began today at Camp Grist, near Selma.

They are Harold Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cunningham, Rt 5, Clanton, Ala., and Charles Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. I. Patterson, Rt. 2 Clanton, Ala.

The forestry camp is sponsored by the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association in cooperation with the Alabama Division of Forestry. Financing the camp are the Hollingsworth and Whitney Division of Scott Paper Co., Mobile; Gulf Paper Co., Tuscaloosa; International Paper Co., Mobile, all members of the Association; and Coosa River Newsprint Co., Coosa Pines.

The program consits of forestry classes conducted by instructors of the pulp and paper industry, the Alabama Division of Forestry, and the Department of State Vocational Agricultural Education in cooperation with the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association.

In addition to regular camping activities, the youths are receiving instructions in tree thinning, planting, marking, identification, and fire control and suppression.

Objective of the camp, according to H. J. Malsberger of Atlanta, general manager of the SPCA, is to teach good forestry management to youths who will be the landowners of the future.

The high school students were selected on the basis of their forestry projects and their interest in forestry by representatives of the pulp and paper industry, the Alabama Division of Forestry and the Vocational Agricultural Education Department.

Presbyterians Announce Call For Director Of Evangelism

MAC W. FREEMAN, JR.

Dr. Henry E. Russell chairman of the Synod of Alabama's subcommittee on Evangelism has announced the calling of a fulltime director of Evangelism to serve the 220 Presbyterian U. S. Churches in this state.

The first director in the history of the Synod is Wetumpka's Major Mac W. Freeman, Jr., a layman who was elected Moderator-nominee of the Synod at its June meeting at South Highland Presbyterian church in Birmingham.

Dr. Russell, in making the announcement of Mr. Freeman's acceptance of the call, was optomistic in his hope that this would be a major step forward in aiding Presbyterianism in Alabama. This office of director of Evangelism was authorized by the Synod in June. It is a part of the benevolent program of the Synod.

The duties of the new director were outlined by Dr. Russell as primarily as primary administrative with the promotion and organizing a statewide program of evangelism among the 39,000 Presbyterians in Alabama. Mr. Freeman will promote training sessions rallies, retreats conferences and clinics throughout the state in an effort to strengthen the total evangelism program.

Mr. Freeman shortly after his appointment stated that his work calls for greater emphasis by the lay members in the field of personal evangelism. He said, "Evangelism is the most important work of the church. It is the reason the church exists. I hope I can challenge the entire Synod to greater work in Evangelism." Mr. Freeman's office will be located in the educational building of the First Presbyterian church in Wetumpka.

A member of the First Presbyterian Church of Wetumpka, Mr. Freeman has been a ruling elder since 1951. He has served as Moderator of East Alabama Presbytery's committee on Evangelism and as President of the men of the church for East Alabama. He is a native of Wetumpka and has owned and operated a dry cleaning business there. He has been active in civic affairs having served as president of the Wetumpka Chamber of Commerce and the Wetumpka Lions Club. He was named Wetumpka's man of the year in 1957.

Interest Growing In CCN Subscription Campaign

Here in the big Second Week Kick-off of Chilton County News sponsored Community Campaign a decisive total of interested Chilton Countians are coming onto the scene daily.

Since the Anniversary Edition of July 31st, there have been comnig into the News office daily, without exception, tens upon tens of new subscribers interested in their communities and what's going on around them.

Ladies are responding very well in their efforts of selling Chilton County to Chilton Countians and their continued efforts are necessary if we really create interest in our County and its communities.

Community representatives thus far in the "Campaign of Interest" are widespread over the County and include some of the leading citizens of the various communities.

Next week a campaign list will be published recording which communities, with its representatives, are leading in the race for top place over all the others.

A remainder to representatives: It is impossible for you to know how your community stands in the campaign unless you keep in touch weekly as agreed at the out-start, so be sure and phone in or come by the News Friday of this week and report your community standing. Otherwise you may find yourselves at the bottom of the Totum Pole and we just plain don't want that to happen!

Remember, any undertaking which brings results requires representation.

If you are not represented, as a rule, you cannot expect results.

TO PARENTS OF CHILDREN ENTERING SCHOOL

The laws of Alabama require that a child be six years of age on or before October 1 in order to enter school. Being law abiding citizens, you and I must observe this law strictly. You are required to present to your child's teacher a birth certificate on the opening day of school showing his age. Please begin making arrangements right away for this certificate if you do not have one.

Every effort is made to make your child as safe from disease as possible while he is in school. In order to keep down epidemics, every beginner is required to have the triple shot, which is a prevention of tetanus, whooping cough, and diptheria; and the vaccination for small pox before he enters. The Health Department has arranged to give these shots. Please see that your child has a certificate at the beginning of school proving that he has had them.

We owe your child the best we can give. We can do our best only with your help. — Signed: W. A. LeCroy, Superintendent. 32-3t.

THINK of the number of laws it takes in our civilized world just trying to enforce The Ten Commandments.

TOO many of us never worry about the future until it becomes part of our past.

IT'S where you get to -- not where you started from -- that really counts in this world.

TOO much aspiration without perspiration seems to be the trouble with modern living.

We know a lot of folks who don't mind lending a hand if they can borrow two later.

IT takes a lot of courage to be able to admire a man who makes a success of what you gave up as a failure.

STIFLING INITIATIVE

Reading the publicity given the Little League baseball in the daily press and elsewhere, we can't help thinking of the days when children played by, and for themselves.

Truthfully we believe that nothing better for our youth has come along than Little League Baseball, but why in the present generation does youth have to be entertained? Today, the mothers and fathers are getting as big a kick out of the ballgames as the kids -- some even more. But tell us, honestly, what would you have thought if your parents had appeared on the pasture lot where you and the boys were playing baseball. Remember, the teams were choosen by catching the bat and the last fist up the bat got first choice of players? And if it was close you had to be able to throw the bat over your head so many feet to prove you had good grip left on top?

What we're getting at is the dependency of youth on their parents for entertainment. Are we taking the initiative away from them in not letting them create their own fun and pastimes? Will it stifle their creative ability? Aren't we lessening their chance of being able to stand on their own two feet? Aren't we just letting our offsprings depend too much on us for their entertainment. We know mothers right here in Clanton who spend more time chaffeuring their children than they do keeping house.

We believe to some extent a child should be left alone to dream, to plan, to work out in his fresh mind fresh new ideas -- it's our heritage.

Your Pocket Is Picked

Suppose that tonight you go to bed with $20 in your wallet. You will be poorer when you wake up in the mornin. The $20 will be there, but part of its value will be gone

The reason is easy to see. Wages keep going up forced higher and higher by the demands of all-powerful unions. Prices must follow, because labor costs are the larger part of the prices of goods.

Increased production, brought about by new methods and new machinery, keep you from feeling the full effect of this wage price squeze. But because wages have gone up faster than production has increased, this inflation has continued for years.

The nation's strong unions make no secret of the fact that still higher wages are going to be demanded.

They work on your wallet while you sleep.

IT TAKES TWO --

We more than appreciate the efforts of our present Mayor, his staff and the City Council of Clanton in trying to improve so many phases of community life and live up to our fine City motto. We harped on it enough before -- we appreciate it now.

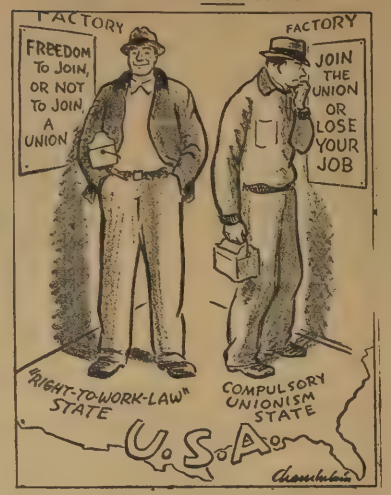
We also know many, many folks who want to cooperate with the City on the garbage campaign, but here's a bitch Mayor and Council and it's straight from the "horses mouth" if the lady'll pardon our reference. It seems that a new garbage can had been purchased (not merely acquired- in order to comply with the City Ordinance regarding such. The garbage collectors were unduly "harsh" with said new can and it was badly bent up.

Now, we ask you, who gives a hang about a garbage can anyhow, new or old. By the same token, who's going to give a about a City Ordinance, new or old, if evidence is shown that both or all parties involved are trying to do their part to improve the situation.

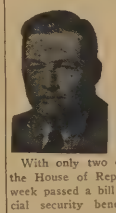
We know the Mayor and the Council realize all the phases of the situation, but consider the other people involved-do they understand about public relations, etc.

It's a point well worth looking into -- and this lady we mentioned -- she was powerfully angry -- and to our way of thinking -- rightly so!

HOW IS IT IN YOUR STATE?



Report from Washington



BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

With only two dissenting votes, the House of Representatives last week passed a bill to liberalize social security benefits. To meet the increased cost of the program the legislation also provides for a boost in payroll taxes.

As sent to the Senate, the bill calls for a seven per cent increase in old age, survivors, and disability benefits, with a minimum raise of $3.00 monthly. For the 12 million persons now on the retirement rolls, there will be an increase from the present $30 monthly minimum to $33 and from the current maximum of $108.50 to $118. The present $200 ceiling on family benefits will go up to $254 a month.

RULES EASED

The House-approved bill eases the eligibility requirements for social security benefits, such as permitting Ving workers to earn $100 a month rather than $80, without losing their benefits and providing for the payment of benefits to the dependents of disabled workers who retire at age 50. It also increases by almost $300 million the amount of federal payments to states for public assistance in 1959.

To finance the liberalized social security program, the House bill provides for increasing the tax rates by one - fourth of one per cent each for employees and their employers, and three-eighths of one per cent for the self-employed. The taxable wage base is also raised from $4200 to $4800.

The Senate is expected to approve the measure before Congress adjourns, but there has been no assurance as yet that the legislation will be signed by the President.

PENSIONS FOR EX-PRESIDENTS

In other action last week, the House approved a measure that will provide $25,000-a-year pensions for former President of the United States. The bill will also make $10,000 available annually for the widows of ex-Presidents.

A similar measure was passed by the Senate in February of last provides office space and clerical year. However, the Senate bill help for former Presidents, in addition to pensions. Since members of the House deleted seiretarial aids and office space from the measure before passage, a conference committee must not work out a compromise between the House and Senate versions.

LIVINGSTON FEDERAL BUILDING

Congress last week gave final approval to a compromise version of the Independent Offices Appropriation Bill, and the measure was then referred to the President. This legislation includes funds for the construction of a number of federal buildings originally authorized under the goverument's lease-purchase program. One of the proposed structures is to be located in Livingston, Alabama, and will cost an estimated $267,000.

The only communities that were considered under the original lease purchase program were those where the federal government owned lots. Purchased prior to World War II, the Livingston site is the only eligible location in the Sixth District.

An Open Letter To Senators John Sparkman, Lister Hill And Rep. Selden

.....We speak out every day against the "unfairness", the "monopolistic powers" of labor unions and we usually condemn these factors through we believe in the basic principles (if they still have any) of the union in America.

Editorials and news articles daily remind us that it is our business to open our eyes; to do something about the choking effect of bad business within our unions.

The question we'd like to put to you gentlemen with a printed response is this:

What is the average American, who believes that certain union practices are deteriorating our labor situation and our economic foundation, suppose to do as individuals to correct, stop or completely change these harmful practices?

Would writing our Congressman have any effect on the matter? Would letters to the editors of newspapers relieve the situation? You see, we don't know what we're supposed to do that will do the most good.

Don't misunderstand us! We do not feel the need nor the desire to be led around by the nose -- however, we are not in position to be totally aware of the complete situation -- on the other hand we feel that you should be completely aware of the situation and therefore can help us in helping ourselves.

There is no doubt in any sane American mind that something must be done about higher, higher and still higher wages and other trivial things which on the whole make for much more than trivial this matter of economic stability. Now, we ask your advice Mr. Congressman -- What should we as individual Americans do to help?

Letters To The Editor-

What Our Readers Are Saying

In your July 31, issue of Chilton County News in your column "Strength For These Days" (from the Bible) was written -- And which of you by being anxious can add one cubit unto the measure of his life? (St. Matthew 6:24.) This is not found in St. Matthew 6:24.

St. Matthew 6:24 says: No man can serve two masters - for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and the Mammon.

But in St. Matthew 6:27, the Bible says -- which of you by taking thought can add one cubic unto his stature?

Very Sincerely Yours,
(Miss) Helen Elaine Rushing,

Dear Sir:

I write in regard to your "TELL ME" item in the News. The answer about Maple Syrup is in error. "Is Maple Syrup sweet as it flows from the tree"?

1. Maple Syrup does not flow from the tree. What flows is SAP. The sap must be boiled down to make syrup, sugar or cream.
2. The sap that flows from the tree IS SWEET. Of course, the sap is largely water and so it is not VERY sweet because of the very small amount of sweetness in the large volume of water. Boiling off the water increases the percentage of sweetness. Many gallons of water must be boiled away before a gallon of syrup results, and still more water must be boiled away to get cream and sugar.

Hence: Maple syrup does not flow from a Maple Tree. The sap that flows from the Maple Tree has a small percentage of sweetness.

Having had some experience and knowledge of this matter, ie seemed good for me to pass on the correct information.

Yours sincerely, with best wishes, (God Bless Us All"). — I. Alva Hart.

Dear News Editor and Staff,

I would like to take this opportunity to express appreciation to the entire Staff for your splendid cooperation with the many churches of our county in publishing articles, etc., for us. It takes time and adds to the expense of printing to do such. Yet, there has been no charge to us. In the behalf of our own Wesleyan Methodist Church, here in Stanton, I offer thanks.

For the past few years a complimentary copy of the News has come to our house. This has been appreciated and for it we say thanks also.

Next Sunday, August 10th, will complete seven years for us here at Stanton. We appreciate the splendid cooperation of both church and community. The following week, we will be moving to Jackson, Miss., where we will continue with our pastoral labourers, the Lord willing.

To all of our friends who have made many worthy contributions to our lives during our stay here, we extend thanks. In this perilous day let us make preparation for our Lords return, for the judgment day, and for eternity, where only the REDEEMED and the PURE in Heart shall see God.

Since we only have next Sunday and Sunday evening left, we urge you to meet with us in both of these services. We will be happy to have you at 9:45 in time for Sunday School.

Sincerely, In His Service, E. L. Crowe, Pastor.

Dear Ben:

'Twas nice to see your mug on the post card I just received, but it wasn't so nice to get the message. However, I am submitting a check since you hinted so strongly.

We miss Chilton, of course. However, everything goes fine with us. We are enjoying Greene County and the people are wonderful to us.

We enjoyed the special edition of the News. You have done a fine job during these years and I'm sure you and your family will continue to do so. Give your fine wife and "chillun" our best regards. — Yours truly, Howard Boockholdt.

PROFIT DEPENDS ON PREPARATION

A good job of fall land preparation can make the difference between profit and loss on the crop.

To produce a good seed bed" agricultural engineer with the API Extension Service, "you must (1) shred or cut any stalks, straw, or above-hanfed residues; turn the land at least six inches deep with a turnplow; (3) disc to remove air pockets and to firm the soil: (4) smooth with a section harrow or drag; and (5) firm the top of the seedbed with a cultipacker or roller."

Stalks can be shredded with a mechanical stalk cutter, but straw and other crop residues should be chopped with a disc harrow before being turned under. "As for turning the land," "in many cases a disc-type turnplow is better adapted to land conditions than the moldboard plow. However, "either type will do a good job if it is adjusted and set properly."

Proper harrowing requires that the discs be run deep over the field the first time. with the maximum amount of angle on the discs. "This will firm the soil and fill in the air pockets near the bottom of the broken ground," On the second harrowing, set the discs with a lesser angle, so that a firming job will be done nearer the surface of the land.

"Following this, a section harrow or drag should be used to firm the soil and to smooth the land." "In some cases a cutlipacker should also be run over the land to fir mit and pack the soil on top.'

"Efficient operation of all the machinery used in planting and harvesting depends on the firmness and smoothness of the seedbed."

EMPLOYMENT DROPPED

Total nonagricultural employment in Alabama in June dipped by 1,000 from the May figure of 719,100, Arthur D. Kelly, Director of the Department of Industrial Relations, announced today. The June total of 718,000 was 22,900 below the comparable period of 1957.

For the first time since August 1957, manufacturing employment - at 226,100 showed a gain over the preceding month. The increases was in the nondurable segment which rose by 1,500 workers. The fabricated metals transportation equipment, and primary metals industres reported more workers in June than in May. The soft-goods manufacturing group showed to net change over the month. Employment gains in the food, textile, and paper industries were offset by loses in the apparel, chemical, and rubber industries.

Nonmanufacturing establishments experienced losses totaling 2,500. State and local government showed a decrease of 3,700. Termination of employment of school bus drivers, lunchroom workers, and some janitorial help was the causative factor. Federal defense installations added 800 workers over the month. Employment gains were also recorded for the finance and construction industries.

Weekly earnings of factory production workers average $70.05 as compared with $67.66 in May and $68.85 for June a year ago. Average hourly earnings, at $1.81, exceeded the figures for both periods of comparison. The average work week was 38.7 hours, nearly an hour longer than in May but two tenths of an hour less than in June 1957.

Today's feed becomes tomorrow's egg. This was proved when a hen was fed radioactive feed for one day only. The first egg laid after the feeding was radioactive eggs laid the second and third day were less "hot", and an egg laid the fourth day showed no radioactivity at all.

HIGHER SEED CROP EXPECTED

This year's crop of crimson clover seed in the Southern states is expected to be 31 percent higher than the 1957 crop.

"The forecast by the Crop Reporting Board," "indicates a harvest of 13,115,000 pounds of seed. Of this amount, reseeding varieties, such as Dixie, Autauga, Auburn, and others, will comprise 61 percent of the crop."

The growth of crimson clover was retarded by last Winter's severe weather, but the crop developed well during the late spring months. Just before harvest time, the prospect for high yields looked good, but heavy rains during the harvest period in sections of Tennessee and elsewhere caused some shattering, and reduced yields.

"In South Carolina, production is expected to be double that of 1956 -'57 while Georgia and Mississippi crops are up 74 and 62 percent, respectively. Alabama has increased production about 20 per cent.' "Arkansas' crop is up 10 per cent and Tennessee's, four percent.

Between June of 1957 and May of 1958, about two and one-half million pounds of crimson clover seed were imported from Europe. About half came from France; the rest was from Hungary, Italy, Germany, and Great Britain. A small amount was brought in from Canada.

Slightly less than 500,000 pounds of crimson clover seed were carried over from the 1956-'57 crop and are included in the estimate of the amount of seed available.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Allie Collins was taken back to the hospital in Clanton on Friday for further treatment.

Mrs. Mattie Lessley underwent surgery last Friday at St. Vincent hospital in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Cleckler, Mrs. Charles Cleckler, Rodney Cleckler. and Richard Wood left Friday for the Mountains to spend a few days.

JEMISON NEWS WITH MRS. NAISH

Your Jemison reporter is here again after an absence of several weeks on account of the illness of my husband, who was in the hospital for surgery. He is up and about now and in the News:

The summer revival of the Baptist Church will begin Sunday August 10th with Rev. Lucas as the visiting minister. All are invited to attend.

Classes, individuals and organizations had the privilege and joy of serving the inmates of the nursing home in Clanton during July, four teachers with members from their classes taught lessons on different Sundays.

Members of the Methodist church are enjoying services under the leadership of their new pastor, Rev. H. W. Rice.

These fellow workers and friends have recently installed an electric organ, so we will be having sweeter music.

O. E. S. INSTALLS OFFICER

Officers of Jemison Chapter, 398, O. E. S. were installed on a recent date.

The meeting was called to order by the Worthy Ptaron, Carl Glass, the 1957-58 officers filled their stations, the conductress attended the altar, all repeated the Lords prayer. The pledge of Allegiance to the flag, and the National Anthem was song. Mrs. Lucil Clements, Worthy Matron, welcomed the guests and introduced the installing officers: Mrs. Etta B. Smith, Installing Past Grand Matron, Mrs. Pearl Larvly, Marshal; Mrs. Maggie Stone, Chaplain, Mrs. Catherine Fields, Organist and Mr. Ed Stone, Obligation.

The Officers retired.

Miss Betty Joyce Champion, presented a piano solo, when the Worthy Matron had received her badge, Miss Sandra Champion accompanied by Mrs. Nell Walton sang a song. Other officers were installed: Miss Nell Champion, rendered a piano solo; Mrs. Doris Champion, Matron, Mr. Nolen Smitherman, patron gave acceptea entalks. Miss Sandra Champion Sang The Lords Prayer as a closing benediction. Mrs. Champions youngest daughter Kay, and Diane Calfee, served as gift bearers when she presented gifts to the installing officers and others on the program. A reception followed the program, pink flowers decorated the party table, punch, sandwiches, nuts and mints were served. Another daughter of Mrs. Champions, Patricia, was responsible for the lovely flowers.

GA'S PROMOTED

Junior and Intermediate G. A.'s took part in the association G. A. Coronation service ta Liberty Hill Church, July 24th. Mrs. J. W. Johnson Associational G. A. Leader was in charge of the service and presented the girls in a lovely program. Those from Jemison attending were: Mrs. Amma Woodley, Rosa Cofer, Rena Blackmon, Faye Sorrell, Evelyn Porter, Sandra Rogers and Jane Porter. Also attending and receiving guests were: Mrs. Pansela Vines, Judy and Peggy Lewis. The church and WMU were represented by Mrs. Tom Cost, W. M. U. President, Mrs. Lonnie Cobb and Mrs. Louis Brasher, G. A. Leaders, Mrs. Bill Cofer, Mrs. Sam Woodley, Miss Velma Price, Rev. Louis Brasher, Pastor and Miss Doris Cofer.

HOLDS OPEN HOUSE AT PARSONAGE

Rev. and Mrs. Griffin E. Lloyd, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Clanton held open house at the Church Pastonage on Monday afternoon August 4. The purpose of this open house was to let the members of the Church see the improvements such as papering and painting which had been done recently on the parsonage.

HINTS FOR THE HOUSEWIVES

When home-canned fruit rises to the top of the jar, leaving a space of clear liquid underneath, the cause may be one of several reasons. Overripe or crushed fruit, insufficiently cooked fruit, jars not preheated enough to drive out the air, too heavy a syrup, or too loose a pack so that the jar contains too much liquid proportion to the fruit, are all possibilities.

Urban and farm familes reach their peak incime at different times. In the former, when the head of the house is in the 45-54 years age group the family reached its highest median income. In the latter, the peak was reached earlier, when the head of the house was in the 35-44 years age group.

Broiler-fryers are birds less than 16 weeks old. Theis group represents the largest part of chicken production today.

Scientists have found 150 different chemicals in the orange, and they believe there are at least 100 more yet to be found.

A prune is a variety of plum which can be dried without fermenting when the pit is left in. Prunes grown in California are mostly dried, while prunes grown in Washington and Oregon are sold fresh -- usually as "Italian" prunes.

Peaches and watermelons are still best buys.

The Nationail Livestock and Meat Board is the non-profit service organization of the nation's livestock and meat industry.

Don't crowd your chickens in hot weather. Allow one square foot of space per broiler, three square feet per Leghorn, three and one-half square feet for heavy hens, and four for roosters.

W. S. C. S. MET, AUGUST 4TH.

The W. S. C. S. of the First Methodist Church met on Monday, August 4, in the M. Y. F. room with 15 members and four visitors present.

The president, Mrs. Campbell White called the meeting to order with readings from the Bible and prayer.

The devotion was given by Mrs. E. R. Dailey who read Matthew 5:14-16.

During the business session several items of importance were discussed. It was announced that the Bazaar will be held in the church basement as usual. All officers Training Day and Missionary Seminar which will be held in Prattville September 9.

The following Mission Studies will be held during this W. S. C. S. Year: Mrs. M. L. Batson, Study of Isaiah; Mrs. G. H. Tucker, Study of Cultural; Mrs. R. C. Williams, Stuy of Concern of Continent; Mrs. R. M. Tucker, Study of the Middle East; This Study will be held in September.

Miss Helen Parrish, Youth Leader, reported that 14 of the M. Y. F. members have attended camp and Assembly.

The meeting was closed with Mizpah.

WHAT LOCAL FARMERS ARE DOING

Harry T. Cofer, of Jemison, Rt. 1, has started doing Timber Stand Improvement on 50 acres.

The Winfield Experiment Station reports that you can get a stand of Coastal Bermuda by cutting the hay and scattering it over the ground and discing it in if you have good moisture. L. E. Foshee tried and got a good stand.

Marvin Durbin will start a crew by the 15th of the month on 100 acres of Timber Stand Improvement.

D. W. Nichols, of Dry Valley, has done an excellent job of Timber Stand Improvement on 8 acres and has made application under the A. S. S. program for more. He is also preparing land to plant Reseeding Crimson Clover and Oats for winter grazing. Next spring it will be overseeded with Bahia grass.

Billy Billingsley has asked assistance of the local technicians of the Soil Conservation Service in laying out parallel terracing system on his farm. Mr. Billingsley lives in the Bethsalem community.

District Cooperator Woodrew Hunter, of the Shiloh Community, is also interested in parallel terraces. Mr. Hunter plans to level old terraces and establish proper waterways, then run lines draining run-off water into the established waterways.

The school will close on Friday with a special program and the exhibits Friday night.

MORE FUND FOR MILK PROGRAM

The Special Milk Progarm will be continued for another three years, with authorization to spend $75 million each year.

"Under this program, which has been in effect for several years," "schools and other qualifying institutions receive a government reimbursement on each pint of milk consumed. This is in addition to the half-pint served with lunch, and the reimbursement permits them to make more milk available to the children than would otherwise be posible."

Last year, with the help of funds from the Special Milk Program, nearly two billion half-pints of milk were served to children in the 75,000 schools participating throughout the nation. "Almost 27 million half-pints were served to Ailabama children last year in the 1,449 schools which took part in the program," "Besides assuring more milk to the children," "the program provides an important market outlet for Alabama's dairy industry."

— Nationally, the Special Program is administered by USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service. "In Alabama, the program for the public schools and non-religious summer camps and institutions is handled by the State Department of Education in Montgomery." "While in private schools and religious summer camps or other institutions, the Agricultural Marketing Service administers the program.

"Agricultural workers have an excelelnt opportunity here to work with education leaders in making this milk available to everyone eligible in their counties."

Don't Test Laws Of Other States

By Jeanne Smith, Dodge Safety Consultant

MOTORISTS who have an urge to treat lightly the traffic laws of states in which they are touring should think seriously of what could happen to them.

Most state and local police won't excuse your violation of their laws just because you are a visitor. And there still are 31 states in which you must pay a fee to the local justice of the peace for traffic violations.

Miss Smith

In most of the states using the fee system the motorist must also pay court costs if found guilty—so it's wise to check the laws in each state in which you plan to drive—and obey them.

Speeding is the visitor's number one offense—and there are only six states in which you can plead "ignorance of the law." All states now have posted maximum highway driving speeds except six where speed must be kept "reasonable and prudent."

Here are a few other pointers to remember when traveling from state to state. Coasting in neutral is prohibited in almost all states.

It is unlawful to park on the highway in all states except Georgia, Rhode Island and Washington, D. C.

You must dim your headlights upon meeting a car at night in all states. In Louisiana and Montana, the law requires that you dim lights when following a car as well. Spotlights are prohibited in Louisiana and Maine.

Motorists must come to a complete stop at a railroad crossing in Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Oregon, Tennessee and the District of Columbia.

MT. CREEK CHURCH BRIEFS

Jeanette Brown

Please remember our mid-week prayer services every Wednesday night at 7 p. m.

Rev. J. J. Mitchell from the Union Grove Baptist Church at Jemison held services at Mt. Creek Baptist Church last Wednesday night. We hope everyone enjoyed his sermon and received a blessing from it.

The WMU met last Monday, July 28th, at Mt. Creek. We hope they had a wonderful meeting.

Sunday School was about the same as last Sunday. We encourage meroe members to come and study the Bible with us.

Training Union was a little better than usual. Everyone come and bring one person with you. In this way we can increase our attendance.

Rev. Leroy Stringfield delivered two wonderful messages during worship services Sunday. We hope that everyone enjoyed them.

After a five week vacation in Orlando, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Scott visited Mr. and Mrs. Jim Harmon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kicker of Montgomery, Ala., visited Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Kicker, Sr., of Mt. Creek on Sunday

Lleyellene McGee of Honolulu, Hawaii is visiting Mr and Mrs. Tom Duffey of Mt. Creek, Ala., We hope that he enjoys his visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Childress and son of Montgomery. Ala., visited Mrs. M. L. Childress this past Sunday.

Mrs. Roy Adams and children of Marbury visited Mr. and Mrs. Jessie F. Brown an family Sunday.

All visitors are welcome at our church. Please feel free to come at any time.

When thou hast eaten and art full, then thou shalt bless the Lord thy God for the good land which he hath given thee. —(Deuteronomy 8, 10.)

These words of Moses apply as much to us today as they did to the Israelites after he led them to freedom from captivity in Egypt. Surely we have been given a land of freedom and plenty. Surely we should give thanks for it.

MORE & BETTER HOGS AHEAD

Pork production is on the rise in the Southeast, and improved hog types are in the making. The gains are being promoted by such forces as surplus labor on farms, more adequate financing, a favorable climate and improved management practices, says the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta in its "Monthly Review."

The bank points out that hog slaughterings in the Sixth Federal Reserve District rose from 7.45 million pounds in 1947 to more than one billion pounds last year. The Monthly Review adds: "Furthermore, improved hog types, prospective lower consumer prices for pork, and increases in population will tend to increase further the amount of pork eaten. These conditions will give district farmers still greater opportunities in stepping up their pork output -- opportunities that will themselves grow as packers, businessmen, and bankers realize their ability to compete in pork production with the Midwestern hog-producing area."

District hog producers have another advantage: "They can produce sizeable amounts of hog feed, particularly on land released from growing row crops and because of improvements in corn production and storage facilities, the bank says. And actually, it emphasizes, this district is deficient in pork production because more pork is consumed per rapita in this area than elsewhere.

Many hog growers in this region still use swine garbage feeding programs, which frequently in the past have resulted in unthrifty pigs, death losses and a delay in time required for marketing, hog authorities report. Now for the first time a major producer of animal feed supplements has made available a product containing Aureomycin chlortetracycline, a wide-spectrum antibiotic, that can be used practically in swine garbage feeding programs.

The customary problems involved in swine garbage feeding programs are lessened with the use of the product, known as Aureomycin Crumbles, tests have shown. Pigs on garbage and Aureomycin Crumbles, test have shown an 80 % improvement in feed efficiency, much greater weight gains, fewer infections and uniform growth. The product is easy to mix with any type feed.

I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me.—(Philippians 4, 13.)

As He was in the days of the Apostle Paul, so is the Lord Jesus Christ present today at the side of every righteous man —giving us freely and overflowingly of superhuman strength and power for good ...'Lo, I am with you always.'

A Symbol of Faith in America

The largest tanker ever built on the west coast was launched at San Francisco this month by the Isbrandtsen Company as an expression of their unlimited confidence in America.
Named for Hans Isbrandtsen, the company's founder, the 32,650 ton, American Flag tanker is designed so that it can be rapidly and economically converted to atomic power.
Jakob Isbrandtsen (above right), president of the world-wide shipping company, affirmed his company's faith in the future of American enterprise during the launching ceremonies, calling the event one that should "help in promoting industrial progress."
Mrs. Isbrandtsen (center), wife of the president and sponsor of the vessel, stands with Mrs. Gertrude Isbrandtsen, widow of the company's founder.
The new tanker has a capacity of 281,000 barrels of oil cargo, enough to fill 935 railroad tank cars. Each member of the crew of 44 has individual air-conditioned quarters.

PROGRAM FOR MENTALLY ILL VICTIMS

Mental illness as Alabama's number one health problem will be placed under the microscope and studied from every angle by national authorities this Fall.

A team of trained researchers from the American Psychiatric Association will spend four months in Alabama studying the scope of the problem and the weapons with which Alabamians can battle it.

The $16,000 survey project will get usder way shortly after Sept. 1, with the Alabama Association for Mental Health underwriting the cost.

The study will follow the pattern of similar projects in other states. It will be aimed at finding out how much mental illness the state has, how good its treatment programs are and what is being done to promote better mental health.

Paul Johnson, Birmingham attorney and president of the Alabama Association for Mental Health said the surveys would give the satte's lawmakers as well as its interested citizens a sound basis for planning better mental health programs.

The technical teams from the American Psychiatric Association will conduct the study in two phases.

The first will be an inspection and critical analysis of the state's three mental institutions: Bryce Hospital and Partlow State School for the mentally retarded at Tuscaloosa, and Searcy Hospital for the Negro mentally ill at Mt. Vernon.

The other will be a sweeping study of all other factors that affect the public's mental health or contribute to mental illness.

Among the questions they'll try to answer these: What training programs des the state hame for psychiatrists, clinical psychologists and psychiatric social workers? How much psychiatry do nurses and medical students get in their regular courses? What special training is offered teachers, law entorcement officers and other professional groups to help them recognize and cope with mental illness? What services are available through volunteer organizations working in the field of mental health?

The survey team, Johnston, explained, will try to take note of anything and everything affecting the mental health picture in the state.

"We feel that this study will result in substantially better public acceptance of the mental illness problem," he said. "With this understanding, we feel the public will be responsive to efforts to do something about it."

The Alabama Ass'n. for Mental Health pointed out that Chilton County has 61 patients at Bryce, 15 at Partlow School and 14 at Searcy making a total of 90.

"Everybody has a stake in knowing where we stand on this problem," Johnston said.

Honey bees, bumble bees, hornets, wasps and yellow jackets all belong to the same family, and they all sting. The female, with the exception of the wasp, leaves her stinger with the victim.

Remember:

1. Scrape out the stinger with a small knife blade. Don't pull it out. You may cause poisonous fluid to enter the flesh.
2. Use baking soda paste, Unguentine or calamine lotion to allay the pain.
3. If a finger or toe is stung, wrap a rubber band around it above the sting and leave it there until the stinger has been removed (but not more than five minutes) to keep the poison from going farther.
4. Call a doctor if the victim is stung several times. A wasp or hornet can sting repeatedly.
5. Use ice packs or cold applications to help reduce the swelling and prevent absorption of toxin that may cause a severe reaction.

Caution: Anyone who has experienced severe reactions to a bee sting should consult a doctor. To avoid serious consequences if stung again, he should be desensitized or should have ephredrine or adrenaline immediately available.

Origin Of The Bible

FIRST KINGS

Originall, in the Hebrew canon, First and Second Kings formed one book called "The Book of Kings". It was given its present division by the translators of the Septuagint, and the two books thus formed were designated the third and fourth books of the kingdoms (the first and second being what the King James Version terms First and Second Samuel.) Since First and Second Kings were originally written as one book, what is next observed as to source material and composition and the probable writer appplies to both First and Second Kings, as they now exist in present-day Bibles.

These two books of Kings catch up the thread of historical narrative where it is relinquished by Second Samuel and spin it interestingly to cover the 431 years from Solomon's accession to the end of the commonwealth of Israel, at the time of Zedekiah's fall. Four final supplemental verses take us 26 years into the period of Babylonian captivity, and on to the end of Jehoiachin's days. The record was not written by a chain of writers living down through these years, each adding his account to keep the record apace with passing time. It is generally agreed that it is a compilation from older records. Three sources are specifically mentioned: "the book of the acts of Solomon"; "the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel"; "the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah." -- 1 Ki. 11:41; 14:19,29.

These "chronicles" or animals should not be confused with the canonical books of the Bible written after the captivity, and which are called First and Second Chronicles. The records referred to by the compiler of the books of Kings were doubtless official chronicles kept by men contemporaneous with the events recorded. One set was kept for the northern kingdom of ten tribes and known as the chronicles of Israel, whereas another set was kept for the two tribes of Judah and Benjamin. Neither any original portions nor copies of these ancient annals are extend today. Their essentials are preserved in the inspired Bible books of Kings and Chronicles. In the two books of Kings engiteen references are made to the "book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel" and fourteen references are made to the "book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah".

It is also generally agreed that the compilation of Kings was made by one person; but with the point as to who that compiler was agreement ceases. The two most frequently suggested are Jeremiah and Ezra. The very reasons (to be presented in a later lesson) that argue that Ezra was the compiler of First and Second Chronicles also tend to eliminate him as the compiler of Kings. Furthermore, it is improbable that one man would write two separate historical records covering the same period of time and dealing with the same nation and kins. The compiler cannot be named with certainty, but the following points to Jeremiah.

The work is attributed to Jeremiah by ancient tradition, The Talmud refers to Jeremiah as the writer, and the common opinion of the Jews agrees. The style and language of Kings resembles those of the acknowledged writings of Jeremiah. There are words and words forms used in his acknowledged writings and in Kings but in no other places in the Bible. True, there are Chaldaic forms used in Kings, but they are few. This fact has caused many to claim the compiler must have been carried away captive to Babylon, which did not happen to Jeremiah. If the Chaldaic forms were many, as in Chronicles, this argument would carry weight; but the few occurrences of them in Kings may be easily accounted for by the nearness of Syria and Assyria and Babylonia and the frequent intercourse with them through commerce or military invasions. Jeremiah's acknowledged writings contain Aramaic forms. Some portions of Kings and Jeremiah are almost identical. (2 Ki. 24:18-25:30; Jer. 39:1-10; 40:7-41:10; 52:1134) Jeremiah could easily have survived till the events mentioned in the four final verses of the Kings account and added them to the record, of they could have been added by a later hand.

It is plausible that the compilation was made by a prophet because the record continuallly refers to the phophets and their service and relationships with the kings down throug the years. They are named and their words and acts recorded. Their influence upon the reigning kings is noted. And yet, is it not very strange that the name of the prophet Jeremiah of Anathoth is not mentioned even once in the book of Kings? He was one of the most active, was involved in burning political issues of the day, and lived and prophesied during the reigns of the last five kings of Judah and right up to the crucial climax of Israel's history as a typical Theocracy. It can be no oversight on the compiler's part. It seems that the only logical explanation is the Jeremiah himself was the compiler.

"The First Book of the Kings" opens with an account of the attempt of one of David's sons, Adonijah, to usury the throne. His evil designs are thwarted by quick action on the part of aged King David on the part of aged King David: Solomo is anointed king. (1:1-53) The next ten chapters detail the glorious reign of Solomon. They show his quest for divine wisdom; the peace and plenty of his reign; the many fields into which his knowledge and accomplishments branch; the building of the incomparable temple of the Lord at Jerusalem; his dedication of that temple and the glory of the Lord that then fills the structure; his other building activities, and the part King Hiram of Tyre played in all this construction work; his trading activities and the increased riches of the kingdom; the notable visit of the queen of Sheba, as a consequence of his spreading fame; and, finally, his fall through many heathen wives to devil-religion. After a reign of forty years Solomon dies outside of Jehovah's favor.

Thenceforward Israel becomes a nation divided. When Solomon's son Rehoboam ascends the throne a revolt occurs. Ten tribes break away under Jeroboam, who reigns over them from Shechem in Mount Ephraim; two tribes, Judah and Benjamin, together with the Levites, stick to Rehoboam and his rule from Jeausalem. From this point onward the record of First Kings jumps back and forth between the kings of Israel (the ten-tribe kingdom) and the kings of Judah, carrying in parallel fashion the two-fold historical annals of the divided nation. The success or failure of each king's reign hinged upon one point: Dide he do that which was evil in the sight of the Lord, or did he do that which was right in the sight of the Lord? Most of them failed on this vital matter.

In the record of First Kings four Kings of Judah come and go: Rehoboam, Abijam, Asa and Jehoshaphat. At the close of the account Jehoram, son of Jehoshaphat, reigns. Of the five, only Asa and Jehoshaphat. At the close of the account Jehoram son of Jehoshtphat, reigns. Of the five, only Asa Jehoshaphat do right in the sight of Jehovah. From time to time faithful kings do appear in the line of succession who try to stem the rising of tide of demon-religion that is inexorably sweeping the nation to its ruin. Furthermore, Jehovah God raised up many prophets to sound vigorous warnings to backsliding Israel and Judah. This is particularly noticeable in First Kings in the case of the ten-tribe kingdom. Nine different men occupy the throne of Israel during this turbulent period: Jeroboam, Nadab, Baasha ,Elah, Zimri, Tibni and Omri together, Omri alone, Ahab and Ahaziah. All nine of these kings did evil in sight of the Lord, without exception.

They were the victims of demon-religion, Jeroboam had assurance from God that his kingdom would be made sure if he shunned the besetting sin of religion; but he had no faith. He competed with God in the field of worship, setting up calf-idols in Bethel and Dan and preventing the people from going to Jerusalem to worship Jehovah there. (11:26-38; 12:26-33) Israel got off to a bad start; it never got over it. The seceenth king, Omri built the city of Samaria and moved the capital from Shechem to Samaria. Samaria, therefore, became a symbol of the ten-tribe kingdom of Israel and stood as a rival of Jerusalem. Omri's son Ahab exceeded all previous kings in wickedness. He marries the heathen Jezebel and establishes Baal-worship in Israel; Elijah foretells a three-and-a-half-year drought; Elijah flees from before Jezebel's threats to Mount Horeb and is sent back to Jehovah to anoint Elisha to take up the mantle of Elijah; the Syrians besiege Samaria and suffer defeat; Jezebel maneuvers the murder of Naboth that Ahab might obtain his vineyard whereupon Elijah pronounces Jehovah's judgment upon the house of Ahab and Jezebel. (17:1-21:29) The final chapter of First Kings sees King Ahab killed in a joint campaign with Jehoshaphat against Ziah seated on the throne of Israel and Jehoshaphat's son Jehoam on the throne of Judah. About 125 years of Jewish history have been covered.

SECOND KING next in series.

MT. NEBO PLANS HOMECOMING

Plans for the Annual Homecoming Day at Mt. Nebo Methodist church are almost complete, according to the pastor, The Reverand James C. Raines. The date has been set for Sunday August 17th.

The Commission on Membership and Evangelism, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Esther Smoke, is busily engaged in an effort to make this annual affair one of the most successful in recent years. Speakers are being invited, former members and friends are being notified, non-resident members are being invited, and final plans for dinner on the grounds are under way. Everything possible is being done to insure that when old friends meeet their meeting will be an enjoyable one.

Members of the Commission planning this event are: Mrs. Esther Smoke, chairman, Mrs. Olivia Wilson, Charles Mims, Mrs. Judeen Ellison, Mr. W. W. Culp, Crawford Williams, Eugene Williams and Harry Ellison.

The completed plans and the days program will be announced by next week.

COTTON COMING BACK INTO BEING

COTTON - stimulated by revolutions and beset by depressions during the 168 years of its commercial manufacture in the United States --is heading toward another comeback, it was forecast this week.

This miraculous fiber - a stalwart of the economy in Alabama, Georgia, the Carolinas, Tennessee and Mississippi -- is being aided in its recovery by the chemical industry - the very industry that created it competition, the synthetics

The textile industry, of which cotton represents 67 per cent, buys about $400 million worth of chemicals a year and forecasters estimate this will reach $2 billion in this century. "The Cyanamid Magazine" reports in a special article in its current issue.

Cotton's major breakthrough after World War 11. the magazine says, came with the commercial development of melamine, Melamine resins, once ,applied to the fabric, become an invisible part of it without changing its appearance or feel "except where the change was intentional (to make the fabric softer or smoother to give it firmness or body). What did change dramatically, was the fabric's behavior."

Examples of this are found in outdoor garments that shed water, feel better to wear; wrinkle - proof fabrics; fabrics that resist shrinkage or soiling. And now cotton's progress in the future depends to a large degree upon the versatile chemical industry

During the past five years American Cyanamid Co. alone, for example, has produced more than 10,00 different compounds for manufacturers "who have, in effect said, 'Look I nee dsomething that will do such and such'." One of these is a purifying agent which when applied to cotton, resists the growth of bacteria that cause the body odor of decomposing perspiration. Other compounds are enabling cotton to attain "high style".

Today's new vat dyes do not come out in washing or under the sun. They are easier to apply, more attractive in shade and brilliance, faster to washing, bleaching and fading. All these developments point to expanding use of the fiber in the years ahead.

SlSgt. and Mrs. Hansel Rasberry and Sharon spent the week end with parents, Mr and Mrs. Ermon Rasberry; they also attended church.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hayes of Maplesville had supper with Miss Mariah and Hoyt Freeman Wednesday night.

How engineers design modern concrete roads to save lives and money

Highway engineers design these four important features into the main roads they are building today to give highway users the utmost in safety, comfort and service.

Controlled access provides safe entry or exit from the road at periodic intervals while allowing continuous speed for through traffic.

No grade crossings and no stop lights! On modern highways all traffic on intersecting roads goes over or under the highway.

Wide median strips separate opposing streams of traffic. Result: no blinding lights, no danger of a head-on collision.

Wide traffic lanes allow you more room. And maximum safety results when the lanes are paved with concrete. Concrete is skid-resistant, wet or dry. Its light color provides the best night visibility. Concrete lasts longer, costs less to maintain, gives low-annual-cost service.

The 41,000-mile National System of Interstate and Defense Highways is scheduled to be built by 1972. When finished it will provide safer, faster, more comfortable travel for everyone.

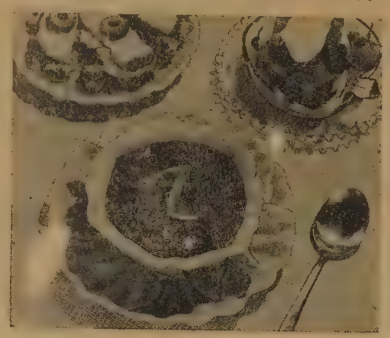
Soup 'n' Sandwich For Summer!



"S" is for Soup . . . and Sandwich, too! What could be better on a sizzling summer day? Easy to prepare . . . light and nutritious to eat.

Take a can of condensed tomato soup . . . simply add milk or water and heat. For a refreshing touch, garnish with a slice of lime. Or perhaps, you might serve a cold soup . . . especially appealing on a hot day. The combination of tomato and celery is an exceptionally good flavor blend and a cool pink color. Either way . . . hot or cold . . . soup gives a lift to weather-wilted appetites.

For the sandwiches . . . make them varied and appetising. Use an assortment of breads and fillings. Crisp lettuce adds much to a good sandwich. Then for dessert . . . surprise the folks with another "S" . . . strawberry shortcake.

FOR AN AUGUST DAY
Tomato Soup with Lime Slice or
*Pink Cooler
Favorite Sandwich Olives Radishes
Strawberry Shortcake Iced Coffee

Pink Cooler
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed tomato soup
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed celery soup
1½ soup cans milk
1 tablespoon chopped cooked bacon

Combine soups; gradually add milk and stir until smooth. Chill at least 4 hours. Serve in chilled bowls. Garnish with chopped bacon. Makes 4 servings.

Here's another warm day treat:

Tomato-Cucumber Soup
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed tomato soup
1 soup can water
½ cup grated cucumber

Combine ingredients; chill. Serve in chilled bowls. Makes 2 to 3 servings. Note: Top with sour cream, if desired. PNS

Rev Foster F. Glidewell, pastor
Prayer Meeting, Wed. 7:30 P. M.

Our Sunday School attendance was 137. Bro. Glidewell preached a fine sermon, "What The Church Is For." Using as his text First Peter 2nd Chapter verses 9-20.

Seven were baptised at a 9 a.m. service: Dorothy Thomas, Sammy Robinson, Clara Mae and Carol Ann Thomas, Linda Driver, Mr. and Mrs. Scott. Our other candidate, Jeanette Minor, will be baptised as soon as she is well enough.

We enjoyed having Bro. Gibbs preach our revival, and appreciate the good work trat has been done during the past week.

Training Union attendance was 64. The sermon being taken from John 11, verses 38-44, was "Taking Away The Stones and Seeing The Results.

W. M. U. wil lmeet Friday at 1:30 p. m.

Be much in prayer for our pastor as he goes away to be in a revival at Huntsville this week.

Don't forget Amsey Wright, Linda Sue Wright, Jeanette Minor, and Lawrence Moore, who were injured in a car wreck. They were hospitalized at Clanton.

Our sympathy goes our to Mrs. N. G. Robinson in the loss of her father, Mr. Bullard of Birmingham.

FARMERS USING MORE FHA LOANS

Farm families in Chilton County receive Farmers Home Administration loans totaling $145,000.00 in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1958, the agency's county supervisor, Isaac Byrd, reported this week. Borrowers repaid $239,971.00 during the year.

Loans for farm operations, included feed, seed, fertilizer, livestock, equipment and other items totaled $96,660.00. Credit to buy, improve, enlarge farms, refinance existing farm debts, and to build or repair farm houses or other essential farm construction added up to $48,340. Farmers also borrowed $1450.00 to meet emergency needs during the last fiscal year.

Among the results the farmers have obtained with loans for better farming, Mr. Byrd said are improved dairy herds, better crop yields, good pastures, and more modern equipment. The recently broadened farm housing loan program is helping many farmers plan and develop better housing and farm building facilities.

Many local farmers have had repaid loans in the past several years, are now operating sound farming enterprises and getting all credit needs through local banks and other lenders.

Banks or other lenders may advance the loan funds for farm purchase or improvement, or the agency may make these loans direct from funds appropriated by Congress. All other types of loans are direct Government loans.

Miss Jessie Holcombe of Birmingham, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ellison and little Hal.

FOLKS and THINGS About Town by Ben

A VERY, very dear friend passed to his reward last week in the death of Leonard Farley. 'Doc' was a wonderful man. Understanding, thoughtful, considerate, and always ready to offer that bit of wisdom or encouragement you so badly needed. To thousands, we suppose. Leonard Farley meant the same thing--close and understanding friendship. And we can just hear "Doc" saying something like this:

Go, busy thy sorrow, The world has it's share;
Go, bury it deeply, Go, hide it with care.
Go, bury thy sorrow, Let others be blest;
Go, give them the sunshine, And tell God the rest.

NICE looking lad came into the News office this week looking for work. He had experience in the printing line but the field here being limited we told him: "Your chance here would be nil." "Where are they located?" he wanted to know.

JIMMY and Lora Rose Bell had a hurricane lamp at the end of the walk in their front yard. Well one of them got the bright idea to plant a morning glory seed at the bottom of the post. Guessed what happened? Yep. The pretty little blue morning glory covered up the bright hurricane lamp and now evenings all you can see is a weird delicate glow through the morning glory leaves. when you turn on the light.

TESTIFYING in court, the plaintiff who was suing the railroad braced himself stiffly in the witness box as the defense counsel started cross-examination.

"You say you were hurt in the accident?" the attorney asked.

"That's right," the witness said.

"Then, at the time of the accident, when you were asked if you were injured," pursued the attorney, "why did you say that you weren't?"

The witness shuffled his feet. "It's like this," he said. Me and my horse and wagon, we didn't see no train coming so we started across the tracks. Next thing you know there's this train and we're knocked in the ditch. You never saw such a mess. I'm flat on my back with my feet up in the air, my horse is the same way, and the wagon is upside down."

Interrupted the lawyer: "But when the engineer asked you how you were, you said 'okay'."

"First things first!" replied the witness.

"The engineer comes over and sees the horse's leg is broken, so he goes and gets a gun and shoots the horse. And then he comes over to me and asked if I'm hurt. Sure, I told him I was okay."

WE wrote a lady for some information this week and we don't believe she likes us too much. She forwarded the information alright but added a note: "please enclose stamped envelope next time." Now the lady was right of course, we should have sent a stamped envelope-postage being 4 cents per letter. However the reply we received was in a franked envelope--one the tax payers pay for.

FRANK SCOTT and Marzelle have returned from Columbia, South Carolina where they went to take their grandson, "Chris", after he spent a week with them. Incidentally they picked him up while visiting in Florida two weeks ago where they met John Ed Scott and his family. The trouble these grandparents won't go to, for their off-springs.

Glennis Askins, will be happy to make the arrangements. Make your plans now to attend this school.

ATTENDS PISTOL MATCHES

William J. Lawrence Highway Patrolman in Perry County and a member of the 107 Transportation Company Alabama National Guard, left August 5th to attend the National Pistol Matches to be held at Camp Perry, Ohio. August 7-15. Lawrence is attending the meet as a member of the National Guard team, which includes five men. They will compete for National honors against teams from all branches of the miltary services. as well as civilian teams. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Lawrence.

Resolution By Board Of Ed.

WHEREAS, The school funds of Alabama have been prorated or cut ten percent, and

WHEREAS, The budget and the plans for the education of the boys and girls were based upon the appropriations made by the State Legislature and approved by the Governor, and

WHEREAS, The Chilton County Board of Education is facing a large deficit in funds during the fiscal year that ends September 30, 1958, and

WHEREAS, The deficit for the Chilton County Schools will be approximately $87,000.00, and

WHEREAS, It will be impossible for the Chilton County Board of Education to operate the schools effectively with a school program of high quality if this condition is permitted to continue, and

WHEREAS, Boards of education were not officially notified of proration until after the school term had ended which made it impossible to re-adjust school budgets for this fiscal year, and

WHEREAS, The money expended by the Chilton County Board of Education has been carefully and judiciously spent with a minimum of waste. and

WHEREAS, The education of the youth of Chilton County is of primary importance, and

WHEREAS, Appropriations made by the Legislature and approved by the Governor constitute a moral obligation on these officials and the State of Alabama to pay the amounts appropriated, and

WHEREAS, Education is the only function of the state government known to be prorated, and

WHEREAS, It is believed that the people and their duly elected officials should deplore this unfair and unjust treatment of the youth of our State and it is sincerely felt that they will have the wisdom, foresight, and courage to correct this lamentable condition.

Now, therefore be it Resolved, by the Chilton County Board of Education that it requests the Governor and the members of the Legislature to provide the money to pay the appropriations to education in full, since this is a just and moral obligation, and

Be it further Resolved, That the Governor of Alabama be requested to include in his call to the Legislature the matter of providing money to finance the schools and pay the appropriations in full, and

Be it further Resolved, That copies of this Resolution be sent to the Governor of Alabama, the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House, the members of the Senate and House from Chilton County, the State Superintendent of Education. the President of the Alabama Association of School Board Members, and local county newspapers.

Done at the regular meeting of the Chilton County Board of Education at Clanton, Alabama, this the 29th day of July, 1958.

Jeff Miller, president of the Chilton County Sportsman's Club, is shown presenting Sherell White, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. White of Isabella, a check to finance his trip to the State Wildlife Camp.

Local Sportsmen Send Boy to Wildlife Camp

Sherrell White has returned from the sixth state 4-H and Wildlife camp held at Camp Tukabatchee in Autauga county last week. The camp was sponsored by the Federal Cartridge Corporation and Republic Steel in cooperation with the A. P. I. Extension Service.

The program at Tukabatchee was under the direction of Earl F. Gennamer, extension fish and wildlife specialist. Mr. Kennamer was assisted by a staff of agents and specialist selected for special field of training.

Sherell White had this to say about the camp:

"First of all, I would like to thank the Ass't County Agent Mr. John D Sellers. for his selecting me to represent the Chilton County 4-H Clubs at the State Wildlife camp. Second. I would like to thank Mr. Jeff Miller and the Chilton County Sportmen's Club. I would like to encourage all 4-H Club boys in Chilton County to work hard in their club work for the opportunity that they might have of attending the annual 4-H Club Wildlife Camp held each year. You will be greatly rewarded by the many benefits received from this camp. Some of the activities were as follows: Swimming, Fox trapping techniques, Snake identification, Identification of valuable wildlife plants, Boat safety, Movies, Fly, Spin. Bait Casting. Also we learned how to use all different kinds of guns and the safety of use. Every night after supper we would have devotional services. We had all that we could eat morning, noon, and night. At night, the lights were turned out at 9:30 I will never forget the fun and training I had at Camp Tukabatchee. Again, I wish to thank all of the ones that made is possible for me to attend Camp Tukabatchee.—Yours truly, Sherrell White.

A LETTER FROM WANDA...

Hi'

Me and my doll, Bobbie, want to thank you all for helping me get my operation. I'm so happy cause I'll soon be well then I can play a lots and won't get tired. Thank you again.—Bye, Wanda.

We have just received the above letter from Little Wanda Limbrick the eight-going-on-nine "blue baby" whose need for an operation was published in this paper recently.

As usual the people in this area responded and now the little girl is all set to report to a hospital in Chicago on September 15th for the heart operation. Although doctors give her only a 50 - 50 chance of survival Wanda isn't worried. She knows with so many folks praying for her she'll make it all right.

Just knowing that she is to have the operation has made a big change in her. She has already amazed her doctor by gaining three pounds. For the first time in many, many months she is sleeping all night long.

WANDA LIMBRICK

Plans call for Wanda to be flown to Chicago in a National Guard plane. She will be accompanied by a flight surgeon. While at the hospital Wanda will be under the care of some 20 technicians and doctors will be assisting in the rare operation.

Thanks to the Civitan Clubs of Billingsley, Prattville and Clanton and the many big hearted citizens of this area $3,100 has been contributed for the operation. All bills will be handled through the Billingsley Club with the other two serving on the advisory board. Should any funds be left over they will be used to help with her father's medical care. After several weeks in a local hospital he is convalesing from a serious attack of rheumatic fever.

ELECTED MEMBER OF A. A. A.

W. G. Johnson of Clanton, has been elected to membership in the American Angus Association at St. Joseph, Missouri, announces Frank Richards, secretary.

Mr. Johnson was one of the 281 purebred Aberdeen-Angus breeders in the United States elected to membership during the past month.

The Coach says to bring a composition book and a pencil to this meeting and that football practice will begin Friday, August 22 at 6:30 and 4:00 daily.

SUMMER REVIVAL AT BETHSALEM

The Summer Revival will begin at Bethsalem Baptist Church on Sunday, August 17. and continue through August 22. Services twice daily--10:30 A.M., and 7:30 P. M.

Rev. Homer Carroll, pastor of Concord Baptist Church will be the evangelist.

The pastor, R. E. Wilkins, and the members of the church extend a cordial welcome to everyone to come and worship with us in these services.

Who's Who in "News" Sponsored Community Campaign

As we said last week, we intend to give you a run down on who's who's out front in selling their community during this month of August campaign which evidences as its primary intention to better acquaint Chilton Countians with Chilton County and other Chiltonians.

As of Monday, this week, Bethsalem Community and Cedar Grove Community had a very slight lead over all others with Isabella in 3rd place. Leading the Campaign in Bethsalem is Mrs. Bernice Short who is working tirelessly to spread the word of better understanding to her neighbors. Mrs. Frank Mastis is leading in Cedar Grove Community in Isabella it's Mrs.

This past week was a landslide of interest! Ladies from almost every direction in Chilton County reported that they were working and that people seemed to like the idea of better communications with each other by reading and using their community press. They seem to think that the trend toward disinterest is fast turning to one of wide and deeping interests and one that will help Chilton County to grow and become an integral part of our growing state and nation.

Interest breeds more interest; and with this in mind we are bearing down even harder than ever in our efforts to inform the people of what's going on around them. We cannot make folks take interest in their County, but through the pages of their own press we can make them want to take interest in it by giving them the details of what their interest can do for themselves and Chilton County.

Our physicial change at Chilton County News enables us to do the job better and faster now and that will leave us even more time to help individual communities in their efforts to be seen and recognized by the County as a whole. That is what we intend to do.

We want to represent everybody! That's the way to have interest and we're proving it weekly by improving our service to our County.

Watch for developments of the Community Campaign in "Your Community Newspaper."

IF you don't have the pull, it does you no good to know the ropes.

LIFE'S but a brief lesson--and school is out before we know it.

THERE'S a great difference in whether you battle your way to the top or bottle your way to the bottom.

WE know some people who don't even learn from experience--and she's a great teacher.

IT'S hard to economize but it's darn sight harder to get out of debt.

"POVERTY is not a disgrace." And that's about all that can be said in its favor.

A TRUE diplomat is a man who can say unpleasant things in a pleasant way.

A MINIMUM - MAXIMUM NEEDED---

Clanton is at a decisive point in it's history and the decisions made by it's present officials and actions taken under it's present laws and codes will effect growth in years to come. Therefore, those with insight feel that much concern is necessary when it comes to buildings, streets, sidewalks, etc.

We have noted a decided promiscuity when it comes to standard procedure of building in Clanton.

Apparently we have no standard procedure! A man wants a house, a man builds a house. . .and to his own complete set of rules.

We are not ruling out freedom of choice here, but it is evident that a City ordinance, Zoning Laws or something of that nature needs to be ironed out into common knowledge so that any building done today will enhance, rather than detriment our future possibilities of growth and progress.

We think Clanton, in the next few years, is going to see some of the most rapid growth in its history. Looking ahead, we can also see the need for restriction, jurisdiction and enforcement in our building laws in this City.

It may seem infintesimal at this time, but already we have observed some situations which would not be had insight been observed & thinking ahead considered. No need for us to make the same mistake over and over again. . .there are too many mistakes we can make that we aren't aware of without overlooking the possibilities of the ones which we know exist.

OUR DEFINITION OF COMMUNITY--

We've been speaking a great deal lately about "Communities" and "Community Responsibility" and we'd like to define somewhat, our opinion of just what a Community Resonsibility is.

First of all, it's a stopcock on your forgetfulness of your everyday duties to yourself and to others.

It is the awareness of the fact that we are not alone in a Community; that it takes many of us, and all kinds to make up a prosperous and growing community.

It is a reminder to us not to consider lightly the effect that our opinion has on others and the influence of our actions upon those who admire and respect us.

Communities are the best places in the world for people to forget that they need other people because they depend on them every day and do not realize what life without a neighbor's assistance regularly. Sometimes you receive -- sometimes you give -- that's what makes a community what it is.

We like our communities; we take pride in them and their peoples; that's why we don't want them to take on the cloak of indifference and completely forget what makes them a community--an integral part of our overall, everyday life!

That's also why we've been sponsoring this "community Campaign" for the past few weeks--to create further interest in our various communities and to better establish good will, brotherly love and a better understanding of each other in each Chilton Countians heart and mind.

'Oh Lord, Teach me to Drive'

Dear God, creator and preserver of all mankind,
Before I ever turn the key, or touch the wheel
Let me take inventory . . .
Help me to realize that I hold beneath my hands
An instrument that may bring destruction, mutilation, and death.
Let me appreciate the fact that I bear responsibility
Not only for my life,
But that of those who ride with me,
And those whom I meet on the road.
Let me know that I hold the power to bring
Not only misery and wretchedness,
But also tragedy and heartbreak to others in ever-widening circles ---
Give me a deepening consciousness that I must possess
A clear head, the wisdom to choose wisely and often quickly
What is best for all concerned in moments of the unexpected.
Take from me any desire for bravado.
Give my always the abiding sense of thy presence and thy love.
And now . . . As I place my hands on the wheel
May I feel yours above them,
For into them do I command myself. Amen

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

Continuing the drive toward adjournment, both houses of Congress are making an effort to complete action on "priority" legislation. Groups of conferees appointed by the House and Senate are working daily to draft compromise versions of bills that have been passed by both chambers but in conflicting forms.

Included among the compromise measures that received Congressional approval last week was a record peacetime defense appropriation bill containing $39.6 billion. The bill provides extra funds for large bombers, for long-range missiles, and for the construction of six new atomic-powered submarines capable of firing the Polaris intermediate range missile.

Congress also gave final approval to two other compromise measures of importance. One authorizes $1.7 billion for military construction. The other provides a for-year extension of this country's reciprocal trade program.

DEBT LIMIT RAISED

Members of the House of Representatives were also concerned last week with major legislation other than compromise bills. They voted 286 to 108, to authorize the President to increase the permanent national debt limit from its present $275 billion ceiling to one of $285 billion. The President had requested the higher ceiling because budget officials now estimate a federal deficit in the vicinity of $12 billion for the present fiscal year. Most of those who voted against the debt increase did so as a protest against deficit spending.

LABOR BILL VOTED

Largely as a result of abuses that have been spotlighted in recent months by the Senate Rackets Investigation Committee, the House passed a measure last Wednesday which requires public reporting of labor pension and welfare plans. Passage of the bill was by voice vote, after an amendment designed to exempt pension plans conducted by employers was defeated.

The House bill requires administrators of all plans to make available to the participants a description of the welfare or pension program and an annual report of its financial operations. Copies of the annual report will have to be filed with the Secretary of Labor.

Since the Senate earlier approved a slightly different version, the measure has been sent to conference. However, final approval of the bill is expected before adjournment.

EDUCATION BILL

Also adopted by the House of Representatives was a $900 million "space age" education bill. This measure, introduced by Rep. Carl Elliott of Alabama, was passed by a voice vote after members rejected 139 to 233 a motion to kill the bill by sending it back to committee.

Before adopting the measure, House members deleted a controversial federal scholarship plan and substituted a student loan provision. The substitute plan, if approved by the Senate, will provide loans averaging $600 to each of more than 90,000 needy students.

Other features of the bill include grants for scientific equipment to be used in public schools and junior colleges; grants for graduate fellowships; aid to colleges to expand graduate teacher training; funds for language institutes; and funds for guidance and testing programs in the public schools.

MINOR DECREASES IN WORK LOAD MAY CAUSE OBESITY

Using a standard typewriter instead of an electric typewrites could be the difference between staying thin and gaining weight. So could the use of a standard steering wheel instead of power steering, walking instead of driving, playing golf instead of gardening, just standing up instead of sitting down, and many other "seemingly insignificant differences" in daily habits.

The difference lies in the amount of energy needed for each activity, according to an article in a recent Journal of the American Medical Association.

The basic cause of obesity is an intake of calories in excess of the needs of the body. Small increases in the amount of food eaten and small decreases in the work output of the body—as when a person switches to an electric typewriter—can over a period of time be responsible for overweight, the authors said.

Dr. Herbert Pollack, New York, and C. Frank Consolazio, A. B., and Gerhard J. Isaac, A. B., Denver, prepared the article for the A. M. A. Council on Foods and Nutrition.

They pointed out that each person has a "basal caloris requirement"—the number of calories needed to just stay alive—based on his age and the surface area of his body as measured in square meters. In addition, the calorie expenditure (or cost) per square meter of body surface for any activity can be figured.

It's a rather complicated procedure, but it has been determined, for instance, that there is a difference of almost nine calories an hour for each square meter of body surface between sitting quitely and standing quietly.

The differences in the caloric expenditure per square meter of body surface between lying down, sitting standing quietly and standing while moving in a limited area "do not appear large, but when multiplied by the total minutes during the day they loom large," the authors said.

If an individual fails to reduce his caloric intake as he ages and decreases his activity, he will gain weight.

For instance, this could happen to a typist who switches typewriters—over a long period of time, of course. A girl who is five feet three inches tall and weighs 120 pounds used 87.7 calories per hour typing on a standard typewriter, but only 72.9 calories with an electric typewriter. For a five-day week the saving amounts to 450 calories; in 10 weeks this can be the equivalent of a pound of body weight provided her food intake is constant, the authors said.

They concluded, "The importance of the calorie expenditure factor in the development of moderate obesity in the adult should not be minimized."

An All-Out Drive for Peace

by Daniel Tracy, Hoboken, N. J.

Peace will come when the People rise in every land and make the peace no one else can make for them, and liquidate the war and all its works stop the making of arms by International action, halt the calling up of troops the moment peace is made, leaving neither arms nor troops with which to fight again and the thing is done: when existing arms are rust and junk the world is rid of war.

Disarmament to be complete must also ban the recruiting of troops absolutely, for mass-armies can over-run, conquer and destroy everything in their path without guided missiles or atom bombs, and safety lies in keeping arms out of the hands of men and send the soldiers home.

The People alone can do this for the world crisis is beyond the capacity of governments to solve, while the people opposed to war are a majority in every nation and must act at once to make a settlement of the war which both sides will respect, put the people of all nations safe behind their own frontiers, free again as they were before the war, reduce civilized warfare to no warfare at all, and leave a peace where the nations will not learn war any more.

The above call for peace is now put before the world and its peoples who must rise in the first open revolt against war itself, take over the control of war and peace before everything is lost, wind up the war as the last war among men, and leave the nations all at peace, with the People standing by, until the End of Time.

THINGS We see and hear

by BOB

We read the other day where some party was of the opinion that many printed publications used "Freedom of the Press" as a passkey to liscientious and trashy reading that should not be allowed to be printed -- let alone published! They were of the opinion that Freedom of the Press meant much more than merely the right to print whatever words came to your mind.

We heartily concur with this fellow whoever, he is. Only thing we can see wrong is that more people don't feel the same way as he and stand on their rights and say so. The basic freedoms of America were not doles out to any chosen few. Freedom of religion was not given only to preachers, rabbis, and priests. Freedom to vote was not given only to politicians. Freedom of choice was not given only to the choosy.

And now . . . Freedom of the press was not given only to those who call themselves journalists, reporters (others call them most everything). No, this freedom, like all the others, was given to us all, bar none and it is our decided opinion that you should exercise all your rights more freely, from going to church to expressing your opinion in local publications.

Well, summer's come, and is dang near gone and here we sit black and dirty while all around us we hear the beautiful sounds either coming from or going to a vacation spot. S'funny, this year we didn't or don't have a real honest to goodness craving for a vacation (or at least that's what we keep tellin' ourselves) and the islands, the seashores, the mountaines don't have . . . aw! let's face it; we shore would like to go on a vacation! 'Bout the only vacation we'd turn down this year is one from Uncle Sam, and he's always giving away those wrong kind of "get away from it all and see the world" vacations, that we are totally allergic to. Fact is, we get a rash, just thinking about it! That's one way to forget about a vacation, ain't it?

An Angel unawares came to our doorstep last week. She was seeking the missus, be we let her in anyway, since the missus wasn't home. We talked awhile and then she left she gave us a glimpse of her true self. She told us how much our wife cared for us, as though it was obvious to everybody. The good part of it was, we needed the reminder of something we already know, but just enjoyed hearing. Why an Angel: Because even though she didn't complete her intended business, that which she did complete was much appreciated and will be long remembered by a party whom she wasn't bent on talking to anyway . . . but she did! She was Dot Dailey.

It's a hard pill to swallow, but while we were home last week (swallowing pills by the way) the boys here at CCN did a fine job of Typography without our noble assistance. Paul Connell, Arnold Mims, George Williams, all did a swell job and we'd like to thank them for letting us loaf through it all. Course the boss the secretary and somebody named "Buck" Tucker did their usual fine job, but the fellows downstairs filled in our "cavity" as if there had been none from the start. We're gonna have to take fewer vacations instead of more if for no other reason to keep the "boss" from finding out that he doesn't need us after all! Oh woe is us!

S'funny the way we speak of industry in our City and don't realize the many industries we already possess. The other day, for instance we were talking to a fellow who said all the agents in his particular "industry" in Chilton County drew a sizeable amount more than will the new industry employees that is moving in here. That was per week, too! We're not knocking industry (great scott no), we're just observing things we sometimes overlook.

MT. PLEASANT CHURCH NEWS

We are happy to report that John Eiland is very much improved.

Rev. Ocie Colley delivered two fine sermons this past Sunday. He and his family had supper with the James Melton family.

We send our sympathy out to the Price family in the death of Lonnie Price.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Clarke and family of Summertown, Tenn., visited with the C. W. Riggins family Saturday. They also visited the Ivan Smith family and Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Armstrong.

Mr. and Mrs Osmond Johnson, Linda and Jennie vacationed at Laguna, Beach Fla., the past week. They report a fine time, and we are happy to see them back.

Mr. Tommie Light of Birmingham visited with his aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Cole, the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Riggins have left on a vacation to Missouri and Nebraska to visit the relatives of Mrs. Riggins.

Mrs. Bintlue Crowe spent the past week visiting her son, Louie Crowe and family in Birmingham.

Mrs. Inez Morgan and children visited relatives in Mississippi the past week.

Mrs. J. M. Garner, mother of Mrs. James E. Mims and Mrs. M. Starner with Miss Ellen Nelson all from Augustus, Ga., visited the James Mims family the past week. Terry Mims has gone to Augusta to visit his grandparents and other relatives.

Joe Mims has left for Brewton, Ala. to visit with his aunt and family, the Elvin Wrights.

We wish to welcome into our church as new members by baptism, Mr. Earl Hesler and Ray Harris.

Heartest thanks go out to Rev. Richard Sharp who conducted our revival with such fine services and message. Also to Rev. Colley our fine pastor. Two new members were received by baptism during this time.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hunter of Etherridge, Tenn., visited the Lloyd Mims family the past week.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. James Payton, upon the arrival of a fine baby girl.

John D. Smith is on our sick list. This young man has been lying in bed for sometime now, and we know the going gets rough. So let's all be much in prayer for him and all others who are sick.

CLANTON SOFTBALLERS TO PLAY AIR UNIVERSITY

Last Thursday, August 17, 1958 the Clanton Civitan Softball team played in the State Softball Tournament that was held in Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Clanton after drawing a bye for the first night drawed Pepsi Cola of Tuscaloosa the defending champions.

In the opening round Pepsi defeated Gadsden 21 to 0, and the ball game being stopped in the fifth inning, Paul Morrison pitched for Pepsi, faced and struck out 15 men in that game. Clanton opened up and got a two run lead against Pepsi before being defeated in a very good 7 to 2.

The Clanton roster - Don Miller, Herb Brigance, Don Finlayson, Johnnie Smith, G. D. Jones, Dearl Bannoster, Bobby Easterling, Don Plyler, Harold Lockhart, Joe Ellison, Irvin Crew, Carl Gunn, Don Merritt, Charles Wright, Harold Thornton, Lamar Robinson.

This team has games scheduled with Selma on Tuesday night, August 19, 1958, at the Clanton City Park. Selma is reported to have a very fast and the best Club in Selma.

A tentative date for Air University of Maxwell Field is August 23, 1958. The date could vary due to the outcome of the State Tournament. Paul Morris of Pepsi Cola is going to pitch for the Clanton Civitan against Maxwell in one of the games and Don Merritt the boy that pitched for Clanton in the other game in the double header against Maxwell.

Maxwell has a good team made up of all-stars to represent Maxwell Field in the World Air Force Tournament to be held at Maxwell Air Force Base, Montgomery, Ala., the last of August.

CHILTON - UNITY YOUTH RALLY AT CONCORD

The Chilton-Unity Youth Rally will meet Saturday night, August 16th at 7:30, at the Concord Baptist Church. Rev. B. B. Burks of Thorsby will be the speaker. The Wyatt singers will bring the special music. Everyone is invited and welcome.

It takes about 21 months to produce a pineapple, which starts out as a red, walnut-sized bud with about 150 individual flowers that become pineapple eyes.

Mr. Oates Weds Miss Smith

Miss Dorothy Helen Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs J. H. Smith of Billingsley, and Perry Austin Oates, Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Oates, Sr., of Prattville, were married on July 4, at 7 p. m. in the home of Rev. J. D. Hopper of Mt. Creek.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized in the presence of the immediate families.

Mrs. Calvin Wyatt, sister of the bride served as matron of honor and Calvin Wyatt was best man.

The bride was lovely in a dress of white lace over taffeta. She carried a white Bible holding her corsage of white carnations.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Mrs. E. W. Walker entertained a group of the small fry, at her home celebrating her little daughter, Alison's 4th birthday. The side porch was decorated to represent a carousel and the boys and girls had a wonderful time playing like they were at a circus.

They had fun watching Alison open her packages and helping her eat her cake and ice cream.

Here are the names of those who attended this Merry-Go-Round Birthday party: Paul McKinney, Sarah Beall, LaSabra Johnston, Sammy Presley, Brenda Godbold, Vickie and Ken Vincent, Ruth Mary Higgins, Danny Carter Jan Joiner and the honoree's sister, Nancy and cousin, Betty and Landy Godbold, helped with the entertainment.

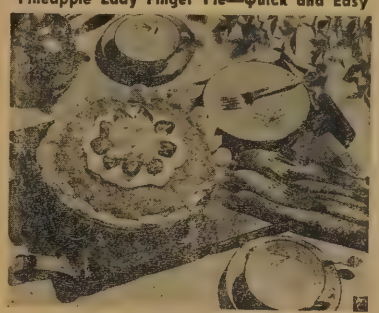
Pineapple Lady Finger Pie—Quick and Easy



Lady Finger Crust enhances ambrosial filling.

For the pie fanciers in your family, try this new Pineapple Lady Finger Pie. Golden pineapple tidbits folded in whipped cream and a strawberry-flavored gelatin give this pie its ambrosial flavor. The unusual crust consists of lady fingers arranged to form a scalloped edge.

Garnished with a wreath of halved strawberries, pineapple tidbits and whipped cream, Pineapple Lady Finger Pie is dramatic in appearance and flavor.

PINEAPPLE LADY FINGER PIE

1 package strawberry-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 (No. 2) can pineapple tidbits
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 egg white
2 tablespoons sugar
1 cup whipping cream
2 packages lady fingers

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Drain syrup from pineapple and add enough cold water to make 1¼ cups. Stir into gelatin along with lemon juice. Refrigerate until thick and syrupy but not firm. Meanwhile arrange lady fingers in a 9-inch glass pie plate to form a scalloped edge. Overlap them a little and fill in the bottom to make a solid shell. Beat egg white stiff and gradually beat in sugar. With same beater, whip cream until stiff. Fold drained pineapple tidbits, egg white and cream into thickened gelatin. Save out a few pineapple pieces for the top. Chill again till it will mound and hold shape. Spoon into lady finger shell. Chill several hours, until firm. Whip rest of cream. Sweeten lightly and spoon onto center of pie. Decorate with halved strawberries and rest of the pineapple.

CIRCLE SIX MET WITH MRS. L. D. EASTERLING

Mrs. L. D. Easterling was hostess to nine members and one visitor of Circle 6 of the Methodist WSCS on Monday, August 11, at 3 o'clock.

The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. E. W. Walker, who also presided over the business. After the usual business was dispensed with plans were made for the Circle to hold a Workshop at the church on Sept. 11 to make articles for the coming Bazaar.

The program was presented by Mrs. Howard Buckner, Mrs. Geo. Fulmer and Mrs. Cecil Carter.

The scripture was read by Mrs. B. G. Godwin and the meeting was dismissed with Mizpah.

Mrs. Easterling served delicious refreshments during the social hour.

So-O Simple

WHEN BARBECUING, keep a sudsy oval scouring pad handy for the clean-up job. A quick rub-over, soon after cooking, keeps grills attractively clean

FRESH FRUIT PIES are a "must" on the summer menu. Bake them early in the day—and if there's a spill-over of juice in your oven, give it a quick going-over with an oval scouring pad.

SPEED UP DISH WASHING chores by using a little plastic mesh ball for stuck-on foods. This takes only a second, yet will not harm your finest china or silver

MRS. ARMSTRONG FETES CIRCLE III

Members of Circle 3 of the WSCS were guests of Mrs. O. H. Armstrong on Monday, August 11.

The chairman, Mrs. G T. Murphree called the meeting to order and presided over the business session. The usual business was dispensed with and plans for the Bazaar made.

Mrs. Armstrong brought the devotional message and persented the program which included briefs from the 5th Assembly of the WSCS held in St. Louis.

The meeting was dismissed with the Mizpah benediction and those present enjoyed a social hour together.

MRS. DeLOACH HOSTESS TO CIRCLE

Circle 4 of the Clanton Methodist W. S. C. S., held their August meeting at the home of Mrs Donia DeLoach on Monday, August 11, with five members and 3 visitors present.

The meeting was called to order by the program chairman, Mrs. Ervin Dailey, who read the scripture from Mark 12 and John 17, and led in the opening prayer.

The program was taken from the "Methodist Woman" giving a report of the 5th Assembly of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church, held in St. Louis in May

Mrs. Dailey also gave a talk on "Christian Witnessing" and James Harold DeLoach gave a report on his trip to Blue Lake.

During the business session plans were made to work on Bazaar articles and plans are in progress for a workshop for the Bazaar which will be held in November.

The meeting was dismissed with prayer and the hostess served refreshments during the social hour which followed.

SARDIS CHURCH HAPPENINGS

E. L. OWEN

Our Bible School closed Friday with a very good school and attendance fair. Everyone enjoyed it very much. We appreciate the good work Mrs. Wells, Rev. and Mrs. Lockhart did in the school.

Our Revival begins Sunday with the pastor bringing the messages. We urge everyone to come and pray for our church work. Pray for each member that they may see the need of coming to church.

There will be a working at the church Saturday morning to clean up the church yards and cemetery. Everyone come and bring tools to work with.

CORINTH CHURCH NEWS BRIEFS

Francis Brown

Rev. James A. Barrett, pastor.

We had a good Sunday School attendance of 60. Last Sunday we had 92 present. Where are those other 32? Lets invite and urge others to come and be with us. The morning message was taken from Ex. 32:1-6. It was a very inspiring one.

The GA's are urged to be present Saturday evening at 2 p. m. The RA's and Sunbeams will also have their meetings.

The Training Union attendance was 34. Lets work and try to get more to come to Training Union.

We will discuss the plan for another Study Course Wednesday night at Prayer Services. So be sure to be present.

The Brotherhood will meet August 22nd at 7:00 p. m. Hope that all of you men can come. We'll be counting on you.

We extend to our visitors a cordial welcome.

Rev. Aaron Barrett was the guest of Mr. L. Gulledge and family.

Mr. A. M. Jones visited the Forbus family at Sylacauga during the week end.

Mrs. Emerson Thomas visited Mrs. Gene Jones Sunday evening.

Martha Jane Brown visited Carolyn Driver.

Mrs. Eliza Kelly visited the Phillip Brown family over the week end.

Don't forget the Youth Rally Saturday night at 7:30 at the Concord Baptist Church. Let's try to get the Banner this time. I'm sure we can, if, you'll plan to go.

In July, 31 different fresh fruits and vegetables are in their peak seasons, more than in any other month.

TO PARENTS OF CHILDREN ENTERING SCHOOL

The laws of Alabama require that a child be six years of age on or before October 1 in order to enter school. Being law abiding citizens, you and I must observe this law strictly. You are required to present to your child's teacher a birth certificate on the opening day of school showing his age. Please begin making arrangements right away for this certificate if you do not have one.

Every effort is made to make your child as safe from disease as possible while he is in school. In order to keep down epidemics, every beginner is required to have the triple shot, which is a prevention of tetanus, whooping cough, and diptheria; and the vaccination for small pox before he enters. The Health Department has arranged to give these shots. Please see that your child has a certificate at the beginning of school proving that he has had them.

We owe your child the best we can give. We can do our best only with your help. — Signed: W. A. McCroy, Superintendent. 32-3t.

CD Meet at Huntsville

A Statewide Civil Defense meeting has been scheduled for August 28 at Huntsville, it is announced today by State Civil Director Pitt Tyson Maner.

Dr. William J. McAnnally, Regional Medical Officer, of the office of Defense and Civilian Mobilization, will be among the speakers and consultants at the meeting, it is announced. A display of one of the fully-equipped 200-bed Civil Defense emergency hospitals already available in Alabama will also be a highlight of the one-day meeting.

Maner said, "This meeting is being arranged so that all city and county officials, as well as all Civil Defense personnel in the State and all interested citizens throughout the State may attend and learn at first hand of existing plans, at all levels, for the saving of lives and protection of property if and when disaster comes."

The meeting convenes at 9:30 a.m. Central Daylight Saving Time, in the Russell Erskine Hotel, Huntsville, it is announced. It is being jointly sponsored by the State Civil Defense Department, the Huntsville-Madison County Civil Defense Corps, and the Federal Office of Defense and Civilian Mobilization.

Maner said he felt confident there would be a large attendance from Alabama's local county and and Civil Defense officials, "who are all aware of the dangerous apathy which exists in our State, despite the critical times and the fact that Alabama is certainly a potential target for an enemy attack." The State CD chief, "Armed with a greater and up-to-the minute knowledge of our Civil Defense plans, we can all fight this State apathy."

MT. CREEK CHURCH NEWS

Everyone please remember our mid-week prayer services every Wednesday night at 7 p. m.

Last Wednesday night at prayer meeting the Church held a business meeting. The object of getting a new preacher was discussed.

Sunday School was a little better than usual. Among our visitors were Mrs. Betty Jo Gulledge and daughter, Debbie, from Montgomery.

Training Union was a little off, but we hope to have more people next Sunday.

Among our visitors Sunday were: Miss Betty Joyce Smith from Prattville. Also Mr. Royce Slate from Verbena.

Special music Sunday night was given by the choir. They sang "Whispering Hope." We hope everyone enjoyed this beautiful singing.

During the absence of our Choir Leader. Charles Lowery, we were happy to have Mr. Bill Furgerson lead our singing Sunday.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Gulledge, Sr., this past week end were Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Gulledge, Jr., from Montgomery.

EXTRA CARE WILL SAVE MORE PIGS

The average Alabama hog grower markets seven pigs per litter. If he saved three more pigs, he would increase his profits by 50 percent or more -- and with farrowing jackets, light bulbs or a heat lamp, and a little extra care, he could.

Raising big litters to market weight takes more than just luck. And it takes more than just good care at farrowing time, important as that is." "You have to begin with the right kind of breeding stock, and that means selecting for large litter size, right market type, and ability to make rapid and efficient gains. You will find that ear notching at birth and record keeping really pay off--you can't operate by guesswork when you're selecting replacement gilts."

To benefit from hybrid vigor, three-way crossbreeding program is suggested.

It will usually result in larger litters of stronger pigs that grow out faster. Also, crossbred sows are usually better milkers.

"If you want to save 10 or more pigs per litter, you must have a good feeding program, and adequate--but not necessarily expensive--farrowing equipment." "Farrowing jackets with light bulbs, which attract the baby pigs away from their mother, and with lamps to provide heat in cold weather, will give the little pigs a big boost through the first critical days." To show how important this period is, 71 percent of farrowing-to-weaning deaths occus during the first week.

PREPARE FOR TRUCK CROPS

Now is the time to think about next year's yield from truck crops, and how to make it large.

One thing that can make a crucial difference in yield is the condition of the soil. "We know that a large amount of Alabama soil needs lime to bring the pH up to the optimum level for vegetable production." Best truck crops are produced when the pH is between 5.5 and 6.5. "Needed lime should be applied before seeding the winter cover crop. "Besides benefitting the growth of legumes such ing the truck crops, lime will also as clover and vetch."S

In addition to needing lime, most Alabama soils are low in organic material. Several years' research showed that organic material increases yields in truck crops, and that animal manures are best form of organic material for this purpose. However, if manure is not available, the same purpose can be served by growing a winter cover crop which is turned under in early spring. Mentioning crimson clover, vetch, and rye as cover crops which give good results. "We are now approaching the season for planting these crops, and recent rains have provided plenty of moisture for land preparation and seed germination."

"To increase yields of truck crops next year, have a soil test made now, apply lime if needed, and plant a cover crop to be turned under next spring."

Accurate records are essential to top-flight dairy production.

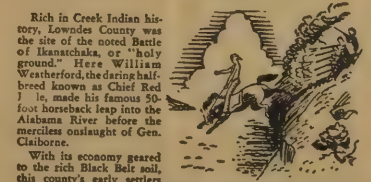
A Salute to LOWNDES COUNTY

Where Chief Red Eagle Made His Famous Horseback Leap



Rich in Creek Indian history, Lowndes County was the site of the noted Battle of Ikanatchaka, or "holy ground." Here William Weatherford, the daring half-breed known as Chief Red Eagle, made his famous 50-foot horseback leap into the Alabama River before the merciless onslaught of Gen. Claiborne.

With its economy geared to the rich Black Belt soil, this county's early settlers came largely from South Carolina to develop a way of living in keeping with the finest traditions of the Old South. While modern machinery and agricultural methods spell prosperity for Lowndes County, the graciousness of ante-bellum days still abounds. Its founders chose the name of a beloved South Carolina statesman for their county — William Lowndes.

Down through the years, Alabamians have steadfastly maintained their right to choose — whether it be a name for a county or a type of beverage. Some prefer coffee, tea or milk . . . others the light, bright beverages of moderation — beer and ale.

Mrs. Smith Awarded Pin For Outstanding Service

Mrs. Zora G. Smith, Clerk of Chilton County Local Board No. 11, Clanton has been awarded a sterling silver lapel pin for 15 years of outstanding service with the Alabama Selective Service System.

In a letter accompanying the award State Director of Selective Service James W. Jones, wrote: "This pin indicates that you have served your nation and fellow citizens in an honorable, patriotic, and unselfish manner, during this period. It may well be worn with justifiable pride.

"During these years, you have made momentous decisions -- decisions which have affected the lives of hundreds of young men of military age and their families in your community. Few of these decisions have been questioned, attesting to the faith and confidence which your neighbors had in you, and America's democratic system of Selective Service."

Jones said that he spoke also in behalf of National Director, Lt. General Lewis B. Hershey, and Governor James E. Folsom.

"As State Director, I am proud to say that through World War II, the Korean Conflict, and the peace time periods, the record of Alabama Selective Service has been one of such excellence that it will stand the closest investigation. It has been citizens like you who have made this possible."

Soil Tests Important To Everyone

Who needs to have a soil test made?

The row-cropper does, because he must know the condition of his land if he is to add the proper nutrients for producing the best yields.

Then there is the vegetable gardener, for whom it is equally important to provide the land with the correct proportions and amounts of needed elements. "If he is a commercial truck gardener, soil testing should be a regular part of his farm business." "The grower whose vegetable garden is for home use may tend to think a soil test unnecessary on his small plot, but this is altogether wrong. Whether you are cultivating one or one hundred acres." "You still must know how much of what your land needs in order to provide the greatest returns in produce for the money and effort expended on it. Soil testing furnishes just this information."

Had Mary's questioner in the nursery rhyme asked the contrary lass "What makes your garden grow?" the correct, if unpoetic, answer would have been. "Fertilizer--applied in neededamounts." It takes fertility to produce beautiful flowers, and therefore the next patron of the soil testing lab is the flower gardener.

Lastly, there is the home-owner who desires the beautiful lawn that enriches a landscape like nothing else does. Turf grasses need potash, lime and phosphate, too. You can get help with your lawn fertilization problems by having a soil test made.

It's easy to answer the question, "Who needs to have a soil test made?" Everyone who grows things does.

Louise Messer v. Arnold Lewis Messer.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Ex-Offico Register by the affidavit of Louise Messer that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years;

It is therefore, ordered by the Ex-Offico Register that publication be made in the Chilton County News a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring the defendant, the said Arnold Lewis Messer to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 25th day of August, 1958, or within thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against Arnold Lewis Messer.

Done at office in Clanton, Ala., this 22nd day of July, 1958. — CDelle D. Cobb, Ex-Officia Register. 30-4tc.

CLANTON, ALABAMA — VOLUME XXXVI — THURSDAY, AUGUST 21, [illegible] — NUMBER

GUESS we're dumb but what's all this talk about shooting the moon going to get us? One newspaper headline said: "A Better Life or Destruction." If this isn't the better life we are living now, it is because we are making it so. Life here or on the moon is going to be just what we make it--no better, no worse. Call us old-fashioned or whatever you like but we believe if our country was going into the red each year building new schools and better highways to save lives we would be much better off and would find that "better life" right here on earth. No need shooting at the moon.

LOTSA times our argument is just as good as the wife's. She can just talk louder.

CLEVELAND DRIVER came down from Birmingham last week to rake us over the coals for something we said in an editorial. That's nothing new though, we been raking each other over the coals for the past 20 years, neither of us seem to worry too much about it. We are still good friends.

ANOTHER old timer dropped in on us last week. It was Lawrence Duffey who was here back in '42 when the second World War started and was in business. Lawrence is traveling now and has been for some time, he says. His baby is practically grown now. Flime ties!

LAWRENCE was telling us about the time Flem Higgins turned his mother's electric stove on. That in itself wasn't bad--but he turned on the eye under the deep well and Flem didn't know what was wrong until he had burned his mother's deep well boiler completely up. Flem took off to get Lawrence, who operated an electric store, to help him. Lawrence took a unit out of a brand new stove he had to get Flem out of hot water--and Flem wasn't in no deep well either.

DO you remember Lewis Eubanks? He is the son of Mrs. Lorraine Eubanks. Lewis is now general manager of the O. R. Mitchell Plymouth Company in San Antonio, Texas. He has a 1929 DeSoto automobile and the DeSoto people in Detroit are paying his expenses for he and his wife to drive the car to Detroit, Mich., for the showing of the new 1959 DeSoto. Lewis says he is carrying a sign "Detroit Or Bust", which proves he is some optimist. After all a 30 year old car--why, that's nearly as old as the jealopy we drive.

ONLY ONE FULL WEEK TO GO IN COMMUNITY CAMPAIGN

This Saturday marks the beginning of the final week of the Chilton County News sponsored "Community Campaign" that is being successfully established by various ladies throughout the communities of Chilton County.

This past week was the worst one for interest that we have encountered during the more than a month of campaigning. It will be interesting and also important to note that the final week be the big plunge for the capping off of the gusher of interest that has been manifested, throughout the campaign.

Various Chilton communities are being represented by the following: in Bethelem, it's Mrs. E. S. Short; in Cane Creek, Mrs. Henry Thomas; Cedar Grove, Mrs. Frank Mastin; Isabella; Mrs. Casey Cummings; Maplesville has Mrs. Eugene Smitherman; Mt. Carmel, Mrs. Reese Wells; Shoults has Mrs. John Fdshee and Thorsby, Mrs. Wilbur H. Marcus; the Dry Valley Community is represented by Mrs. Otha Lee Horn.

If you wish to get in on the popular trend of being informed; see one of the above mentioned ladies before August 31st. If you can't see them, phone 32 and we'll see them for you!

NEW SERIES STARTS 28TH.

Beginning with next week's issue the "News" will feature on its Editorial Page a weekly local column entitled "Moral Observation".

It is a rewarding and interesting series we think you will enjoy.

In line for 80-unit Housing project soon

Work has started on obtaining a 80 unit housing project for Clanton according to members of the City Council

Groundwork has been started but the actual securing of the property on which to construct the buildings, the contracts, etc., will be in the hand of a five-member Board that will be named by the Mayor and Council next meeting night which is the first of next week. This five-member Board will have actual authority over all construction and will secure bids and specifications on three lots suitabel for the construction, then submit them to the Housing Authority. When a suitable place is constructed the local Board can go forward with building plans.

Of the 80 units, 55 will be for the use of white tenants and 25 for colored according to the best information obtainable at the present time. Rentals will be charged according to the ability to pay and character will have to be good to qualify for a unit in the housing project.

But ye, brethren, be not weary in well doing.—(Thessalonians 3, 13.)

Why are so many of us these days addicted to pills to make us sleep, to give us needed energy, to allay our nervousness and tension? Let us try stopping at least once a day, in the headlong rush, to help someone in need, unselfishly to lighten another's load—and in well doing, find peace.

HINTS FOR THE HOUSEWIVES

THE stains on heat-resistant glass, china, or enafelware coffee and teapots are difficult to remove by regular dishwashing. However, if rubbed with a little baking soda sprinkled on a damp cloth, the stains disappear and the utensil can then be washed as usual.

DON'T keep frozen food longer than 12 months. It loses quality after this period.

TO stay fresh, crisp, and tasty vegetables need to be kept not only cold, but moist. In general, they should be kept in film bags or closed pans in the refrigerator.

IN dimly lighted rooms true colors are not visible, but where there is much diffused light, colors come to life.

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

Despite the recent statements of congressional leaders that it would be impossible to enact farm legislation before adjournment, a major hurdle was cleared last week when the House agreed to a compromise version of the agriculture bill it had rejected only a week earlier.

As approved by the House of Representatives, the latest version of the farm bill sets next year's national cotton acreage allotment at 16,000,000 acres. Under current authority, the acreage total is scheduled to drop to about 14,200,000 acres in 1959.

Although the House made a number of minor changes in the original Senate bill, these changes are reportedly agreeable to the administration. Also, the Senate Committee on Agriculture has recommended that the House amendments be accepted, and the Senate is likely to follow the Committee's recommendation. Therefore, prospects for the passage of a farm bill before Congress adjourns are much brighter than they were a week ago.

REDEVELOPMENT BILL

Before adjourning over the week end, the House on Friday passed by voice vote a bill that provides $275 million in loans and grants for the redevelopment of areas that have chronic unemployment. The Senate had already passed a similar bill that provided a $379 million, and the two versions are slated for consideration by a conference committee this week.

An effort to substitute a $50 million loan program in the House was defeated despite predictions of a Presidential veto of the more costly measure.

EDUCATION AID BILL

The Senate has approved a more expensive National Defense Education Bill than the one passed by the House, making it necessary for the two versions to be compromised and voted on again.

The $99 million House bill established an extensive loan program for college students, while the Senate measure contains provisions for direct scholarships and will cost in the neighborhood of $1.5 billion. Both bills call for more intense training in science, mathematics, and foreign languages at all levels and contain provisions for expanding graduate schools.

ADJORUNMENT OUTLOOK

In addition to a number of conference reports, there are also several important measures that will undoubtedly be considered before Congress adjourns included among these are the Kennedy-Ives Labor Bill and the Omnibus Housing Measure. But despite a heavy volume of unfinished business, and barring any unforseen roadblocks, there is a good chance the 85th Congress will adjourn sine die by the end of this week.

VISITORS

We enjoyed a visit last week from Mrs. E. J. Morris and sons, Joseph and Edward, of Clanton.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

THERE IS HEALING FOR THE INCURABLE

"There is no such thing as an incurable disease—and no one need die in pain. . There is no such thing as an 'easy' or 'difficult' case of healing in Christ's name."

These are the words of an eminent physician, Dr. Christopher Woodward, who is combining spiritual healing with his practice of medicine and producing spectacular results.

My own work as a minister of the gospel who prays for the healing of the sick has brought me to the same conclusion: No disease is hopeless—none is incurable.

Mrs. D. H., from Denver, Colorado, related this story some time ago before our television cameras. At that time, she was holding in her hand two X rays made of her 11-year-old son who had been pronounced incurable with a strange bone disease.

"My son began having aches and pains in his back and hips.

"My doctor looked at the X ray. He showed us where the bone in the socket of the hip had begun to deteriorate. Then, sadly shaking his head, he said, 'I'm very sorry to tell you that before he is in his late teens he will be a hopeless cripple. The bone is wasting away; there is no cure for this disease.'

"What shock and emotion tore through me! Then—I saw much pity mirrored in the physician for my child. Suddenly I felt a strange power rise up in me, and I said within myself, 'No! No, my son, you will never be a cripple! I won't let you. As long as there is a living God you will never be a cripple.'

"Strange as it may seem, immediately all my fear and distress left me. I felt tremendously strong.

"Daily I asked God to help. During those days, faith rose higher and higher in my heart.

"One day I felt that I should have my son X-rayed again although only four months had passed since the first X ray. The doctor said, 'It is a little too soon to be able to tell much, but I will check for you.

"First he tested him by stretching his legs and giving him various exercises. Each time he asked if it hurt. The boy answered, 'No.'

"The doctor muttered, 'There is something strange here. Let's see what the X ray says.'

"As soon as the X-ray film was dry, it was flashed upon a large screen. 'Why,' the doctor exclaimed, 'the cavity had disappeared. New bone has grown in its place!'

"'Yes,' I answered, 'something has happened,' and I pointed toward the screen. 'Doctor, the Lord has healed my child.'

"That was two years ago. My son is going to school and has not had one minute's trouble since that time. I am very thankful."

I saw this boy a few days ago He is perfectly healthy and walks normally. I remind you again—there is nothing incurable with the Lord.

SUMMER DIARRHEA

Summer diarrhea, termed cholera infantum, was fifty years ago a common and often fatal, noncontagious diarrhea of infants and young children. In 1900, the death rate for this disease was approximately 143 per 100,000 population. Today, the death rate for diarrhea and enteritis (inflammation of the intestines) is less than 5 per 100,000.

The production of pasteurized and evaporated milks, refrigeration, pure water supplies and improved methods of sewage disposal account for much of this reduction in infant deaths. The use of chemotherapeutic and antibiotic drugs has promoted the decrease in deaths due to diarrheal disease in infants and children. The term "diarrhea" means a flow of intestinal waste. Exacuation occurs more frequently than is normal, usually with crampy pain in the colon, called colic. The known agents that cause diarrhea have changed little in recent years and they will always be a threat.

Even though some of the offending causatives have become so rare that physicians seldom see a case for which such causatives are blamable, new causative agents are at times discovered. In all cases, the first step in treatment is directed at the correction of the physiological disturbance that has resulted in diarrhea. Infants and small children develop diarrhea from indigestion, excessive heat, milk which has not been kept cool enough, over-feeding in hot weather, and food which has started to decay. Parasites, fungi, and bacteria are definite causes of diarrhea. The infant and mild diarrhea from infection may require only simple management at home. Severe diarrhea cases accompanied by loss of appetite, dedhydration, vomiting, circulatory collapse and shock should be hospitalized.

Flag-Raising Ceremony

Daily flag raising and lowering ceremonies by scarlet-clad Royal Canadian Mounted Police are proving a popular attraction with United States visitors to Montreal this summer. The ceremonies take place in Dominion Square, just a stone's throw from the new Queen Elizabeth Hotel. In addition to the flag raising ceremonies, military band concerts are held each Sunday and Wednesday evening on Dominion Square and on Friday evenings, folk dancing is featured.

THINGS We see and hear

by BOB

R. V. Watson, an old friend, was by to see us Friday afternoon and he's looking fine indeed. He's still with the state and is at Atmore Prison Farm at present. Mr. Watson has an omnious sounding job, but his personality would indicate that he sells ice cream or makes cotton candy. A very friendly fellow. We certainly enjoyed his vis.t--even though a brief one.

A building within a building! That's what John Ponder Lawrence has in his hardware store here in Clanton. You mean you've never noticed? Well, that's exactly why we mentioned it; we'll bet that half of the folks who trade with J. P. don't realize that his office is built after the fashion of a house, complete with shingles, window and it's all finished in outside style. You go by and take a look and then we'll say we told you so. Folks just aren't very observing, are they?

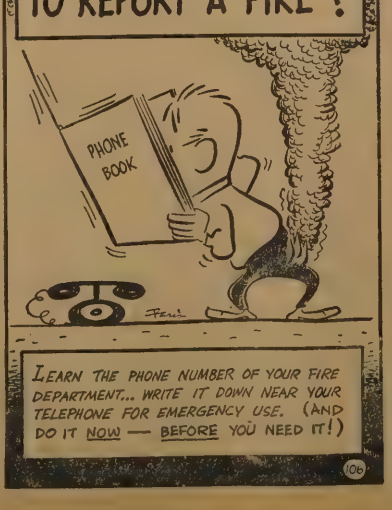
We were just informed that Earl Wilson, local manager for Emergency Aid Insurance, and family spent a recent week-end on Guntersville Lake at the Governor's "cabin". They didn't say governor of what, but we've got a fair idea. Coming up in the world, huh? Earl's daughter Roma Kate still insists that it wasn't a cabin . . "that was a house man, and what a house!"

This fellow's going to disagree with us for our opinion, but we always have believed in saying what we believed. There is probably no man more difficult to please than this fellow--an asset or a liability--depending on the way you look at it. He's also outspoken, as we claim to be. And some don't realize it, but this gentleman is one of the most impressive when in the pulpit that we have ever had the pleasure to listen to and understand. He has so perfected his style until those who don't share our opinion of him also don't realize the perfection of his ease --or the ease of his perfection. Each time we hear him we understand him a little more and we are progressively convinced that he is a true . . .as one fellow put it . . ."disciple of Christ". The Rev. Griffin Lloyd truly lives his religion as he sees it, and we admire him for his close resemblance to the One whom he serves when it comes to true measure of tolerance and understanding.

You know, if there's one thing we like it's good neighbors. We've always contended that we had the fortune to live in the best spot in town, and we've been most concerned about the property itself. We're about to realize that it's who lives around us that makes its so fond of our home. Mrs. Price next door gives us pear preserves; Harold and Alice Fraser across the way give us anything we need; fellow down the street offers us his services anytime of the day or night and Winston Cofer cuts our grass for us with his tractor. Now we ask you, could you have better neighbors than that? Why they make us look like we do nothing but sponge off our neighbors. We do appreciate it however and also the chance to do someth.ng in return. We did fail to mention one other who "gives" us something. . .the M.ssus . .she gives us the dickins!

It certainly isn't hard to tell when you see a man who has the abil.ty to become a permanent success in society. He's the fellow who knows how to treat, talk to, and keep a prospective customer. Too many local merchants lack this necessary theme in their everyday business life. Remember fellows, (and ladies) even a salesman today, may be tommorrow's best customer. This is not likely however, when you treat them as you would a very low form of animal life. Wake up, managers, clerks and proprietors, you aren't the only one in that business after all!

"To err is human—but when you wear out the eraser before the pencil, you're overdoing it."



Soil Bank Check Said To Be "CONTINUING"

In order to check compliance with the Soil Bank contract, continuing visits will be made to farms where farmers have put land in the Soil Bank programs, Eddie L. Owen, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, has reminded farmers. He advises them to keep a close watch on the land they have in the Soil Bank and make sure that compliance with all terms of their contracts is complete.

Mr. Owen explains that the visits will be made to determine whether farmers are cropping any of the land placed in the Soil Bank program. Checks will also be made to insure that proper cover crops and other Soil Bank practices are being carried out in accordance with the terms of the agreement or contract.

Since the Acreage Reserve agreements run until December 31, 1958, inspections under that program will be made up to that time. The fact that the farmer has already received his Acreage Reserve payment does not relieve him of his obligation to comply with the terms of his 1958 agreement until it expires.

Inspections of Conservation Reserve land will be continuing throughout the life of the individual Conservation Reserve contract covering the farm--from 3 to 10 years.

The Chairman points out that these inspections should not be confused with the earlier reviews made to determine whether the Acreage designated was taken out of production, whether the farmer planted his permitted acreage of Soil Bank base crops, or whether he stayed within his allotments.

In fact, he said, the continuing inspections will not be started until the base checks have been completed. Then random checks will be made throughout the county on a continuing basis. Visits will also be made by the County ASC Office to any farms where someone reports a possible violation, or where the community committeemen recommend a check.

oped, in which missions is the central interest.

The watchword for this organization is "Arise, shine, for thy light is come. - Isaiah 60:1". One phase of Girls' Auxiliary work is that called Forward Steps. When a girls first joins a Girls' Auxiliary she learns th Watchword, Allegiance, Star Leads and selected Scriptures. After memorizing all this and after showing an energetic interest in the Girls' Auxiliary, she becomes a Maiden. The step of Lady-in-Waiting is attained by becoming acquainted with the officers of the Southern Baptist Convention Boards and the W. M. U., and by memorizing Scriptures, etc. To become a Princess, of course one must do a little more and study a little harder. Then finally a G. A. achieves the title of Queen after a great deal of active and thoughtful striving. The two highest steps are Queen with a Scepter and Queen Regent. At the Coronation Service held at the Liberty Hill Baptist Church for the Clinton-Unity Association the following girls were awarded their emblems: MAIDENS: Linda Sue Wright, Carolyn Williams, Olive Kendrick, Eloise Cox, Charlotte Edwards, Mary Lou Jones, Emma Jean Weldon, Vinetta Cox, Bobbie Owen, Janice Childers, Helen Sue Dennis, Sally Jane Headley, Gail Lowery, Martha McCaa, Patricia Hogue, Nelda Mullins, Janet Culp, Pat Melton, Betty Langston, Elizabeth Langston, Judy Melton, Gail Shary, Juanita Thomas, Carol Ann Thomas, Judy Little, Clara Mae Thomas, Jeanette Minor.

PRINCESS: Rena Blackmon and Frances Brown.

QUEENS: Ann Woodley, Rosa Cofer and Peggy Thacker.

Sunbeams taking part on the program were: Mike Lowery, Danny Sharp, Donna Daniel and Dianne Carter. Mrs. J. W. Johnston is the G. A. Director and Mrs. J. J. Mitchell is the Associational W. M. U. President.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS from the Bible

Whosoever therefore shall confess Me before men, him will I confess also before My Father which is in Heaven.— (St. Matthew 10, 32.)

The man who lives according to the principles laid down in the Bible and who practices them daily — in kindliness, charity and love — confesses Jesus in every word and deed and in the warm smile on his face. Great is his reward on earth, as it will be in Heaven.

EMISON NEWS — APPENINGS

Mrs. George Nash

The month of August is consid- the vacation time, to crowd in- the last few days of summer, tra enjoyment and relaxation. ng those who have taken pa- are Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Ro- s of Jemison with their son, Harley and family, Mr and Mrs. Joe Collum of Calera, motored to St. Augustine, Fla., Saw the Fresh Fort, the oldest school, the ountain of Youth, Marine Land, ld believe it or not, saw fish. aying ball.

WSCS MEETING

The Methodist WSCS met with Mrs. Martin Peterson on August 6th at 3 p. m. The program was given by Miss Sybil Langston, subject, "My Life in the March of Missions." This program consisted of two talks one written by a deaconess and the other an autobiographical sketch by a Missionary to Mexico, now retired. There were eight members present. The group enjoyed a social hour, the hostess served refreshments.

SUNDAY was a special day for members of the Methodist Church. Rev. Edwin Cumbie, a former pastor preached at the morning service. Mrs. Johnny McKinney of Jemison was guest soloist. Mrs. McKinney was a member of Jemison Church when Rev. Cumbie was pastor. Also present at the service was Kerr Laivey (June Handley) who was a regular attendant at the service during Rev. Cumbie's pastorate. Dinner was served at the church. It was a wonderful day visiting with Rev. Cumbie and his lovely wife and two attractive children and a delightful fellowship for everyone.

BRIDE HONORED

Mrs. Jerome Ellison, nee Peggy Blackmon, a recent bride, was complimented on August 17th, when Mrs. Roswell Peterson charmingly entertained at her house with a tea and gift shower. The newly decorated Peterson house was made more attractive with arrangements of summer flowers in pink tones, interpieced with white wedding bells. Mrs. Herman Shirley greeted the guests and presented them to the receiving line, composed of the hostess, the honoree, Mrs. Bill Blackmon, the honorees mother and Mrs. Clyde Ellison, the grooms mother. The honoree was wearing an afternoon dress of blue brocaded taffeta with an over skirt of blue net. In the dining room, where the colors of pink and white were emphasized the tea table was covered with a lovely white lace cloth over pink, two tiered cloth was on one end of the table. The first tier held glazed fruit, the upper tier held an arrangements of white Esters, from this arrangement were pink ribbon streamers, marked with wedding bells decorated in pink rose buds. Holders with candles completed the tabel decoration. Individual cakes, nuts, mints and punch was served during the tea hours. Those co-hostesses assisting in the dinning room were Mrs. L. L. Hale, Mrs. V. O. Lenoir, Mrs. Bill Cofer, Mrs. Hugh Rogers, Miss Mary Clements and Ola Rogers. A large pink floating dahlia marked the table where the guests were registered by Mrs. Willie Lee Blackmon, sister of the bride. She was wearing a white taffeta and net afternoon dress with a pink carnation corsage. Assisting in the guest room were: Mrs. W. H. Stephens, Mrs. B. C. Lenoir, other hostesses were: Princeton Simmons and Mrs. A. A. Conway. The honoree received many lovely and useful gifts.

LITTLE LEAGUERS

Saturday found the Jemison Little Leaguers with a full day. They played Pelham and won, then Alabaster, losing to them. They enjoyed a picnic at JemisonPlunge. With them were: Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Hale, Mr and Mrs. J. A. Chandler, Mr. Sanders Champion, Rev. and Mrs. Louis Brasher and Carol Brasher, enjoyed the day with the team and closed out the season.

MICKEY IS 12

Friday was a lucky day for Mickey Crowson, on that day, his mother, Mrs. Milton Crowson entertained honoring him on his 12th birthday. The guests assembled on the lawn and played several active games. The party table was lovely with an arrangement of red roses. The birthday cake was yellow and was circled with 12 candles.

The Jemison Royal Ambassadors were special guests for the celebration. Also his cousin, Linda Blow, his sister, Donna Jo. All wished for him many returns of the day.

MR. KELLY CELEBRATES

Friday was a happy occasion for Mr. William Kelly when his sister and family celebrated his birthday with a surprise dinner, spread on the picnic tables at his lake in the Rocky Mount Community. Enjoying this event were: Mrs. Mildred Paschal, Dianne. Wayne, Susan and Rhonda of Adamsville, Mrs. Nora Williams of Jemison, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McCullers, Adell and Jimmie, Mr. and Mrs. Willia Kelly and Mrs. Fannie Ellison. The children enjoyed boating, while the older ones tried their luck at fishing.

R. A. MEETING

The R. A.'s met at the church, Monday night at 6:30. The meeting was called to order by Ambassador-in-Chief, Mickey Crowson. The group sang the RA hymn. Repeated the watchword. Twelve were present. Stewardshop Studies: "How Much Are You Worth?" by Kenneth Davenport. The program: "If You Were an Indonesian." The introduction was given by Joe Brasher. Others taking part were: Sidney and James Arthur Chandler, Mickey Crowson, Gaines Ellison, Donald Davenport, Making the rank of Page were: James Arthur and Sidney Chandler, Kenneth and Donald Davenport. They are no qualified RA's. Their counselor, Mrs. Milton Crowson gladly awarded them the Shield. The Shield, which forms the background of the RA raking insigma speaks of faith and means that the boy is an Ambassador for Christ. He has taken upon himself a member of the Order of RA, a boy reaching the rank of Page wears the Page Pin, a blue enameled RA Shield with letters "R. A." across the face of the pin.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Stanley Cost and Della were: Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Beckett, son C. W. daughter, Emily of Denver City, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. James Parker and family, Mrs. Marie Denley and two daughters, Darlene and Barbara of Bruce, Mis.

Yeargan - Taylor Vows Spoken

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Yeargan was the setting for the marriage of Mary Ann Yeargan and Johnny Mack Taylor, on Sunday, August 18, at 6 o'clock. The marriage vows were read by Rev. Glennis Askins in the presence of the immediate families.

The bridal rooms were lovely with an improvised alter of smilax and baskets of mums flanked by tall burning tapers.

The bride dressed in a white satin gown with shoulder length veil and carrying a prayer book bolding two white orchids, showered with fleur de mour was given in marriage by her father.

Her only attendant was Miss Hazel Davis, wearing a blue chiffon ballerina length dress and she carried a nosegay of baby yellow and white mums with yellow streamers.

The bridal musice was rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wyatt, Mrs. Wyatt played the wedding march and Mr. Wyatt sung . "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The grooms father served as best man and the couple's mothers wore navy blue and their corsages were white orchids.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony and the couple left on a honeymoon in Florida.

For traveling the bride wore a suit of slate blue with navy accessories.

The couple will reside in Clanton with the grooms parents until they enter school in January.

"HOBO" PARTY FOR MARY

On Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock eight little girls gathered at the home of Mrs. Otto Jones, to help her little neice Mary, celebrate her 10th birthday. The girls came dressed as "hobos" and they hiked from the Jones home to Meadow Lane Farm, with their refreshments in their red bandanas on a stick over their shoulders.

When the nine little "Hobos" arrived at Meadow Lane, they were met by Mrs. Gordon Robertson, who judged the costumes and presented the prize. Then the girls truly made a myth out of the old saying; "If wishes were horses, the beggars could ride", for they had their wish come true and rode the stately horses to their hearts content, all around the new Meadow Lane Barn, by candel light.

When they were tired the stopped for their beans and sandwiches and cold drinks and to help Mary blow out the candles on her birthday cake. The cake was decorated to represent a coral with yellow daisies and straw surrounding it and a little china horse mounted in the center, and holding 10 yellow candles.

Those who made up this "Hobo Party" were: Patricia Buxton, Dian Holman, Becky Mullins, Charlotte Blackmon, Ellen Wright, Susan Boozer, Susan Nichols and Leigh Easterling.

SMALL GRAIN SEED SUPPLY TO BE ADEQUATE THIS YEAR

Some 600,000 of the one and a quarter million acres which Alabama farmers will plant to cool-season grazing crops this year will be seeded to small grain.

The supply of small grain needed to plant this acreage should be adequate, and prices will be about the same as they were last year. "Seed of some varieties will be in short supply." "One of these is Nittany, the new variety of oats released in 1957, of which supplies are still limited. However, other recommended varieties can be used in its place if necessary."

Crimson clover seed will be ample, at prices similar to those of 1957 and the same is true for vetch Austrian winter peas, and ryegrass. White clover seed supply is smaller than it was last year, but it should be adequate for the demand although the price will be higher.

LEACH LAND LACKS FOOD

Recent heavy rains in most sections of Alabama have tended to leach plant food, especially nitrogen, from the soil. Where this has happened, fall crops of tomatoes, peppers, beans, and other vegetables, are likely to suffer from a deficiency of the essential plant food elements.

"To replenish leached elements, side-dress with 400 to 500 pounds per acre of complete fertilizer such as 8-8-8, or some form of nitrate that will supply 40 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre."

CLEAN SHADES FOR MORE LIGHT

Lamp shades need regular cleaning. If yours haven't been freshened up lately, now is a good time to give them some extra care. The right cleaning will mean more light from the lamp and longer life for the shade.

The key word is the right cleaning, remarked API Home Furnishings Specialist, since it is very important that the method of cleaning suit the shade.

"Parchment shades, both genuine and paper, can be sponged with a damp cloth but must not be dipped in water." "Equally good are the liquid cleaners for painted surfaces and the commercial wallpaper cleaners."

Plastic and waxed shades can both be sponged with a damp cloth. And there are commercial polishes for waxed and oiled shades.

"It's safe to wash shades of colorfast silk or rayon," "provided the beams and the trimmings are sewed, not glued. Use a mild detergent and lukewarm water, whipping up rich foamy suds. Be sure the soap is dissolved; then, holding the shade by the top of the frame, plunge it up and down in the suds. Rub spots with a soft brush in gentle, downward strokes, and rinse by dipping briskly in clear, lukewarm water until all the soap is out."

Patting with a clean towel until the shade no longer drips, to expedite the fast dry.ng which is essential. Avoid drying the shade in direct sunlight--use an electric fan instead.

Before cleaning all types of shade, surface dust and dirt should be removed with a soft brush.

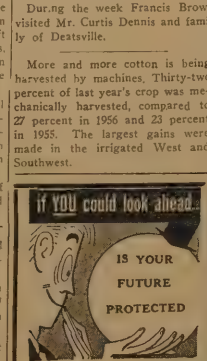
HOW MANY PHONES would you guess there are in Dixie? One million? Three million? Five million? The last figure would have been a good guess 28 months ago. But recently in North Carolina Southern Bell installed the SIX MILLIONTH PHONE! This is significant because every new telephone means expanded service. This means more of us than ever before can make calls or be called . . . more of us can enjoy new services . . . more of us can take life just a little easier because of telephones—yours and mine and six million others.



You can't trust the crystal ball to forecast the future - but you can trust the protection of the proper insurance! Let's check your insurance needs today!

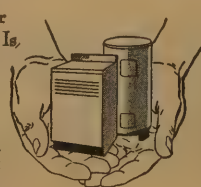
NO WASTE WHEN YOU HEAT WATER Electrically

Because modern electric water heaters are "on" only enough of the time to keep water in the tank at the desired temperature—as determined by the setting of the thermostat—there is no wasted electricity.

Ample tank insulation helps to keep the water hot when you don't use it. The electricity comes on only when you use hot water and more cold water comes into the tank to be heated; or when you don't use hot water for long periods of time and it gradually cools.

The Only Water Heater You Can Put Anywhere Is, Electric



Because electric water heaters require no vent or chimney, and heating elements are unexposed, they are safe to put wherever most convenient in your home.

Counter-top models fit in with kitchen counters and also are ideal for laundries. Square or round tall types can be installed in closets, pantries or alcoves.

Seldom, if ever, will you be out of hot water with a high capacity, quick recovery, fully-automatic electric water heater.

See the new high capacity, quick recovery, fully-automatic electric water heaters at your dealer's or our office, or mail the coupon below.

ANSWERS ON AGED AID

Do you know what you'll receive from Social Security when you retire, and how your wife will fare?

Does your wife know how she and other members of the family may benefit after your retirement?

The answers to these and other pertinent questions about Social Security and Old-Age and Survivors Insurance are found in a Department of Labor publication.

Brunswick A. Bagdon, Southern Regional Director of the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the publication, called "What Social Security Means to Women", may be obtained from his office for 15 cents a copy.

To get copies of the pamphlet, address U. S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics, Room 664 - 50 Seventh Street, N. E., Atlanta 23, Ga.

BOOK ISSUED 'WATER AT WORK'

The Alabama River Development Authority today issued a new publication on the waterways of the State. Containing 20 pages of pictures and text, the booklet is called "Water at Work."

The booklet outlines the water resources of Alabama, including an average annual rainfall of about 55 inches, ample groundwater and great rivers, and points out that this supply of water may be Alabama's greatest natural resource in the years ahead. It notes that major industries are locating on rivers where both barge transportation and industrial water are available, and urges that Alabama's rivers be put to work. The booklet states that Alabama has 1,600 miles of navigable rivers.

All of these rivers were active arteries of commerce during steamboat days, according to "Rivers at Work". It states that they are not only the main roads of the young State but often the only roads.

After telling the story of the rise and decline of the shallow draft steamboat, "Rivers at Work" outlines the havoc that floods have wrought and the crop disasters that have resulted from prolonged drought. It states that a series of multiple-purpose dams along the rivers not only creates navigation channels and produces electric power, but also serves to control floods and retain water for irrigation and industrial use.

The booklet also treats each of Alabama's river systems individually, including the Warrior-Tombigbee, the Tennessee and the Chattahoochee, which are now improved or being improved for navigation. It outlines some of the industrial growth which has followed river improvement on these rivers

Other pages deal with the Coosa-Alabama, authorized for navigation but as yet unimproved for navigation, and the Choctawhatchee-Pea Rivers, for which a new engineering survey has just been secured. The importance of recreation on Alabama's improved rivers, both as recreation and as an economic asset, is also stressed

Under the heading, "The Missing Link" the proposed Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway is discussed in the booklet. This is the waterway for promotion of which Alabama and Mississippi have just entered into a compact. The booklet states that the proposed waterway should shorten the water distance from Guntersville and other Alabama ports on the Tennessee to the Gulf of Mexico by 650 miles.

The booklet lase describes the manner in which the Port of Mobile and the Gulf Intracoastal Canal serve Alabama shipping, and tells how the Gulf waterway ties in with Alabama's rive systems.

"Rivers at Work" is profusely illustrated with river and industrial scenes in Alabama. It also contains facts as to the flow mileage and general basin areas of the major river systems of the State.

Federal funds will pay 90% of the building costs of the great new National System of Interstate and Defense Highways. This state pays the other 10%—and pays all maintenance cost forever. That's why taxpayers favor the use of durable concrete for these roads. Concrete's maintenance costs are lower—much lower than the annual maintenance cost of the next most commonly built type pavement.

And since maintenance costs come out of your state's highway budget, the use of low-maintenance-cost concrete leaves more money in the highway fund to build other urgently needed new roads.

ISABELLA NEWS WITH MRS. WELLS

MULBERRY CHURCH

The revival closed on Friday night of last week after a week of great messages by the pastor, Rev. L. E. Daniels.

Rev. J. L. Adams of Providence Church brought the messages on Sunday morning at Mulberry while the pastor preached at Providence. Bro. Daniels brought the evening messages. Our pastor is the evangelist at Providence this week in a revival. He asked that everyone be much in prayer for him.

Remember mid-week prayer service at Mulberry.

ISABELLA METH. CHURCH

The revival is in progress at Isabella Methodist Church this week. Rev. G. B. Golden is bringing some wonderful messages.

HOMECOMING PARTY

On Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. James Veazey and girls entertained at a homecoming party on their front lawn honoring their son and brother, Bobby, who returned home Saturday at 5 a. m. from overseas duty. There were about 100 guests registered during the evening and on Sunday afternoon. Cake, ice cream and punch were served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. J. C. White, Mrs. W. J. Cummings, Mrs. Gordon Conway, Mrs. Fred L. Veazey, Mrs. R. C. Veazey, Miss Betty Daniels and others. Rev. L. E. Daniels gave a great devotional, which was enjoyed by all there. Bobby says "it's wonderful to be at home again". He will be at home for a while. At present he doesn't have any definite plans for the future.

FAMILY GATHERING

Last Sunday, Mrs. Carrie Conway and some of the children and grandchildren enjoyed dinner and the afternoon together at the old home place. LETTER TO S. S. DRAWERS

J. W. Overstreet, Jr., district manager of the Birmingham office of the Social Security Administration, noted today that men over 65 years of age and women over 62 years of age who earn less than $2080.01 during the year may be losing social security benefit payments.

Mr. Overstreet stated that most everyone knows that he can receive a check every month of the year if he does not earn over $1200.00. Many, however, do not realize they are entitled to a check for at least one month even if they work every month and do not earn more than $2080 during the course of a year. Moreover, they can receive a check for any month in which they do not work for wages of more than $80, or do not render substantial services in self-employment. Benefits also are payable after an eligible individual reaches age 72 regardless of the amount of his earnings.

Mr. Overstreet added that if you are over retirement age and earn less than $2080.01 per year as an employee or from self-employment be sure to contact your Social Security Administration Representative who is at the Court House in Clanton every Wednesday at 10:00 a.m.

TO PARENTS OF CHILDREN ENTERING SCHOOL

The laws of Alabama require that a child be six years of age on or before October 1 in order to enter school. Being law abiding citizens, you and I must observe this law strictly. You are required to present to your child's teacher a birth certificate on the opening day of school showing his age. Please begin making arrangements right away for this certificate if you do not have one.

Every effort is made to make your child as safe from disease as possible while he is in school. In order to keep down epidemics, every beginner is required to have the triple shot, which is a prevention of tetanus, whooping cough, and diptheria; and the vaccination for small pox before he enters. The Health Department has arranged to give these shots. Please see that your child has a certificate at the beginning of school proving that he has had them.

We owe your child the best we can give. We can do our best only with your help. — Signed: W. A. McCroy, Superintendent. 32-3t.

FOLKS and THINGS About Town

by Ben

A MAN who thinks there is no Heaven or Hell has never loved, or been loved.

DECIDED to quit smoking several weeks ago and it don't bother us a bit. Now people who have never smoked don't know what we're talking about but you smokers will understand. As we said it doesn't bother us a bit and we haven't had a cigarette in five weeks, three days, four hours and 13 minutes.

HORSLEY White, R. C. Williams, Luther Mims and Luther Foshee went fishing last week and caught a truck load of fish. They were deep sea fishing and according to Horsley White he has blisters to prove it. Horsley caught 28 king mackerel several dolphin were caught.

AS the train emerged from the tunnel the girl said: "Herbert, you shouldn't have kissed me like that, even if it was in the dark.

"I didn't kiss you," said the boy, looking angrily around the compartment. "I only wish I knew who did—I'd teach him!"

"Herbert," sighed the girl, "you couldn't teach him anything!"

W. A. GULLEDGE just called to inform us of the status quo of the closing of the Verbena Depot. Thank goodness he had good news. He had just received a telegram from the Alabama Public Service Commission informing him that the pertition to close the depot had been withdrawn. That in short means that Verbena will keep her depot as is. Believe us that ought to make a lot of people happy.

ONE of the most sincere eulogies we have seen appeared in the August 7, issue of the Congressional Record. You know one seldom sees around here one of prominence enough to rate such a notice. The obit to which we refer stated: "Mr. Speaker, I would like to join with my colleagues, the gentleman from Mashachussetts, in expressing deep regret over the passing of Colonel Thomas E. Rhodes, my personal friend and a citizen of my Congressional District. Col. Rhodes was a man of very strong conviction. He always very carefully measured every situation, came up with what he believed to be right and put forth the full power of his strong mind to sustain that which he believed to be right. As a soldier, a servant of the Government, as a lawyer and as a private citizen he was in the forefront. In his passing we have sustained a great loss. I join with my colleague in extending sympathy to his family and loved ones." This oration was delivered by Mr. Abernathy of Mississippi and followed a speech on the floor of the House of Representatives regarding Col. Rhodes death, by Mr. Lane, of Massachusetts. Col. Rhodes was a brother of Grace Golden wife of Dr. W. C. Golden of Clanton.

WE must tell you this too. Dr. W. C. Golden has been ordered by his physicians to take a rest from his practice. He is in Florida this week with his family, but according to reports will be away from his practice for at least a month. It's the same old story—a doctor works himself down trying to save the lives of others.

YOU know our M. C. (Jack) Hayes is quite a guy. He leaves next Tuesday for Brantford, Canada where he will compete in the International Blind Golf Tournament. Jack won this trip by finishing in the top seven of the National Tournament this summer. Jack finished in fifth place. His son Jackson will accompany him. Got our fingers crossed.

PUBLIC--

APATHY ENDANGERS BLOOD PROGRAM

Through the lack of interest of the citizens of Chilton County the Red Cross blood program stands to be lost. This is so because of the fact that recently the county has failed to meet her quota in blood or in money.

This, acording to John Morgan Foshee, county chairman, can be prevented if the people of the county will back the program now. The goal this year is $5,000 and must be met before the county can participate in the blood program for another year.

As this writer has explained before in articles of the blood program, the only cost to the patient who cooperates in this program is the cost administering the blood. Whereas, if we lose the program, and blood must be bought from another bank, the cost is about $35.-00 per pint. This, of course, to be added to the cost of administering the blood.

Next week at the County Fair the Chilton County Hospital Auxiliary will have a booth at the Fair grounds to take donations to help enable the county to remain a part of the blood bank program. Look for it and do what you can to help the county keep this program.

THORSBY HOME RAZED BY FIRE

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kendrick was completely demolished by fire Saturday afternoon. Only the deep freeze and a few odds and ends were saved. The firemen all worked hard and faithfully to save the house, but it was too late. The fire was believed to have started from lightning.

LT. COMMANDER--

RUDDICK DIES IN ACCIDENT

WILLIAM Ruddick of Stanton, was killed last week when the car in which he was returning from Selma went out of control and wrecked. The accident happened about six miles north of Selma early Thursday morning.

Ruddick was a Lt. Cmdr. in the USNR and was awaiting orders to leave for Korea. Funeral services were held from Breslin - Funeral Home Friday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock.

MERCHANTS SAY--

MONDAY IS A HOLIDAY!

NEXT Monday will be Sept. 1st and Labor Day. Clanton Merchants have scheduled a holiday and most of the stores in town will close all day Sept. 1st.

This information was given out by the Chamber of Commerce who made a survey regarding the closing of all business to commemorate the day.

WHY THE 1-CENT SALES TAX IS YOUR BUSINESS, CITIZEN!

Educating our boys and girls is big business and we know in any big business a large amount of money is required to carry it on. In Chilton County there is not enough money to finance the business of educating our children.

Our needs are terrific. Some of them are: 3 complete plants, 25 additional classrooms, 14 music rooms, 5 junior high school gymnasiums, indoor toilet facilities in 14 schools, 4 high school gymnasiums, improved heating systems in 11 schools, 10 additional school buses to replace those in use from 10 to 19 years, 6 high school science departments, 14 school site improvements, 1 library and science departments, and two auditoriums.

One school in our county has 15 teachers in the high school and only 8 classrooms. The teacher units have been earned by the average daily attendance of the pupils enrolled. In this school there is an average of 37 students per teacher unit. In a crowded situation of this kind the teachers cannot give their best to the students and the teaching personnel cannot be properly utilized.

Along with this situation approximately 500 grade children are housed in a building that has had the auditorium and halls partitioned to make classrooms. This is unsafe for in case of fire children could be trapped.

This school has an enrollment of approximately 1,00. In this school the lunchroom is located under one of the buildings. It is [illegible] blocked up, and utterly [illegible] addition to [illegible] roof on one of the [illegible] falling.

This is a partial picture of only one school. There are twenty - three others with similar conditions existing.

These [illegible] are [illegible] he [illegible] These are [illegible] and [illegible] to increase the millage on ad valorem tax. We are now paying seven mills. If it were increased sufficiently to meet the needs, it would have to be approximately twenty mills. A Cooperating Chilton--

Each year, along with the first hint of Fall Chilton County stages it's annual County Fair, which has as its main theme, a better understanding of one another through the displaying of what we do and how we do it.

Farming in all its many phases being our primary concern in these parts, is the industry to which most of the Fair is devoted. Merchants, at the same time, show their wares, progress, ideas, etc. through the use of the booths on display in the big hangar at Clanton Airport.

This year September 1st through 6th is Fair week.

New features are in evidence this year. New businesses and new industrial achievements have been added to help make the Fair 'all new' and different from any other.

One thing that remains the same this year, as every year, is the festive air and the entertainment to be enjoyed as only a County Fair can offer.

It's the chance for hundred of new little Chiltonians to get their first glimpse of a fair carnival and their first taste of cotton candy along with the unmistakable and unforgettable 'aroma' of a County Fair in progress.

If you have a desire for some good clean, whole some fun, then you'll want to be present one night or every night for the County Fair, climax of the summer season and highlight of many a youngsters year. We wouldn't be surprised if it weren't the highlight for many of the grownups also.

It's County Fair time in Chilton County!

A BUNCH OF KILJOYS --

YOU won't believe this kids, but we are truly remorseful that we have to be the ones to bring up this 'unadulterated' fact, but nevertheless it is true. . .

School starts Tuesday, September 2nd.

Now, don't get us wrong; we're just as sorry as you that summertime is at an end, but time marches on you know and if it's keeping up you want then you'll have to work a bit for the honor.

Actually, 'induction' day is September 1st. . .and rightly so, it being Labor Day you know.

Tell you what do though; this year make your schooling a labor of love. Higher learning is becoming more and more an essential in our everyday living, but there's nothing that says we can't make it as enjoyable as possible is there?

This year, pledge to do your best at whatever task confronts you and wind up this year with a successful "well done"; even if you have to do your own 'patting on the back' it will be well worth the effort you put forth.

Heed us or no, kids. . .school still starts next week. Mom sure won't be worrying where Junior is then, will she?

AND DID YOU KNOW ---

That better than 6000 pupils will attend Chilton County schools this year every day.

These pupils will be delivered to and fro by 62 school buses ranging in age from 1 year to 19 years.

These 'workhorses travel an accounted for distance of 3500 miles per day and last year consumed somewhere around 70,000 gallons of fuel.

You may be against taxes to support our schools, but anyone in his right mind can see from our own situation and past experience that it takes "mucho dinero" to run our Chilton County school system effectively.

MORAL OBSERVATIONS

But the Lord Said unto Samuel, look not on his countenance, or the height of his stature; --- for the Lord seeth not as man seeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart. -- 1 Samuel, 16:7.

Among our greatest faults is our false appraisal of those whom we come in contact with. We are prone to bestow honor where honor is not due, and to render praise where praise is notdue. The sanction of the hypocrite is enjoyed by false honor and praise. The ego of the proud and foolish is satisfied with false praise and honor; but we greatly under-estimate, and falsely judge many around us. It is impossible to determine the damage on the hurt, not only to them, but ourselves as well, when we falsely judge another person, because whatever relationship we might have with that person, whether in business, socially, or otherwise, that relationship can be greatly impaired and damaged false judgement of that person.

Undoubtedly, the most of us have, at one time or another, been the victim of mis-judgment. Maybe it was the result of being misunderstood, but we suffered loss. Loss of friendship, loss of the confidence of our friends, loss in many ways, the extent of which we will never know, all the result of someone drawing the wrong conclusions and seeing us in the wrong light. Maybe these conclusions were based on something upon which we had no control, or maybe they just plain did not like us.

Some of the very best friends I have are folks whom I did not exactly like when I first met them. And I must admit here that I have been as guilty of speedy judgement, and premature conclusions as anyone, but happilyl, during my getting better acquainted and becoming more familiar, I discovered goldmines of personality and character that have been so admirable that bonds of friendship have been formed that will be everlasting.

The finest there is in human personality and character is not always visible on the surface, but like gold and other precious minerals that are hidden in the earth, it is necessary to mine for them. It is very important that we try hard and rightly judge, with understanding, those with whom we come in contact, and above all, search for the best. You may be surprised what you will find in that fellow you haven't liked so well! He may turn out to be your very best friend!

It's Our Opinion

BY BOB TUCKER--

The following young people have reserved themselves a place of honor in First Methodist Church on Sunday night due to the fact that they so impressed pastor and congregation on their first contribution as the "Youth Choir" of the church. organized especially for Sunday night services: Michael Haywood, soloist; Morris Moatts, Billy Chism, Phillip Shelton, Marietta Propst, Faye Dailey, Joe Mullins, Jr., Perry Shelton, Alec Jones, Ann Deason, Helen Parrish, Mary Paula Johnson, accompanist; Pat Traywick and Mrs. Henry Roper, director. Without a doubt, this is the very best action undertaken by this church in many moons. It should prove very effective resulting, we hope, in an upsurge in Sunday evening service attendance and a more meaningful and helpful worship service for all concerned. We congratulate Mrs. Roper and these fine young folks in their open desire to do something for their church.

Would that more of us could "think" of something we could do that we weren't "inadequate" for.

And since this piece concerns song we have an opinion along another line. Methodists have long been noted for their 'standing' and 'sitting', and repeating the process several times durin gone service to the great lament of visiting denominations and even the membership itself over the years. We personally don't mind the activity . . . it's sometimes stimulating. . . pending on the spaker. However, there's one time during any worship service which we hold standing as completely necessary. And that's when singing a hymn. So often, the congregation sits relaxed and mumbles through the song when, if they were standing, there's a decided possibility that they might be given renewed interest in what they were doing. It's our opinion that if you're going to do a thing, do it right. . . and you cannot sing good old Method'st style sitting on your song book. Let those who don't sing anyway sit if they like, but if you're going to attempt it . . . stand up brother and give the thing the attention that it deserves.

EXPECTATIONS are for slightly smaller sweetpotato supplies this year in the Southeast.

ACROSS THE EDITOR'S DESK—

Gletty: "Is there an All-wise . . . God?"

Dear Editor --

We read so much about Juvenile delinquency, in all our papers and magazines. You can hardly pick up a paper or magazine without seeing an article of some kind about it. If you will allow me a little space, I would like to express my opinion on the controversy. Just what are we doing to try to correct it? I read an article the other day entitled "One Million Juvenile Delnquents" by a William Ward Ayer, in which he states in part- -"Of course something has happened: America is fast becoming a Pagan ation. Thirty six million of our children are growing up in America without religous instruction of any sort: and there are thirty million teen agers in the land who have never been in church They have never heard God's word expounded. Never heard public prayer. Never heard a Christian hymn, and never known the atmosphere of worship. They might as well be brutes without souls. Of course something is happening. What worse could happen to our youth than this?"

Is it possible that Mr. Ayer never reads anything more up to date than his bible? Which was first published about the third century after Christ's time, and by a comparatively ignorant, superstitious people, who still believed in witches; and burned innocent women at the stake as such. People who still believe the earth was flat with an angel standing on each corner and who poured molten lead in the ears, or burned out the eyes of astronomers who dared to express their opinion that the earth was a sphere Is it any wonder it took so long for the human race to gain the scientific knowledge they have today?

If Mr. Ayer would read some later news, say of the last ten years, in this scientific age, he would know that almost one hundred per cent of all criminals and delinquents have a religious background.

Extensive surveys have been made of our penitentiaries and of our criminals and nation wide these criminals and delinquents have proven almost 100% to have some church or religious affiliations. It is almost impossible to find an atheist in prison. There must be a reason. Why not try approaching the question from a scientific standpoint?

In one state it was found that yet this 45% furnished more than were affiliated with any church. yet this 45% furn hed more than 99% of the prison population. At this rate I wonder what would happen if the other 55% of the state, or the other thirty six million that Mr. Ayer speaks of had gone to church and received religious instructions. Of statistics mean any thing; it could certainly have been worse. We would not have enough institutions to hold our criminals.

We can hardly expect a normal child, in this scientific and atomic age to believe a book is inspired by an infinite God, that teaches the world is flat, that gives such a commandment as: "Thou shalt not suffer a witch to live". This one commandment alone having caused untold thousands, (Estimated at more than half million) of innocent women to be burned at the stake and boiled in oil, down through the dark ages, when thesee ignorant, superstitious, half savage, primitive people were trying to obey the commandments of their god, and their bible. A book that contains more filth and vulgarity than any other book in estistance. There are passages in the bible that make Mickey Spillane and Erskin Caldwell seem like very refined authors.

There are many passages in the bible, that were I to quote them here I would be prosecuted for sending this letter through the U. S. mails. However, I have a list made up of some 65 references of the most popular quotes which I will send to anyone interested enough in our juvenile delinquents problem, to send me a four cent stamp. They can look them up for themselves and decide whether they think it would help the problem, if we were to force our children to read and study them, and follow their teachings.

The bible teaches that one can commit any crime, no matter how heinous or dastardly. against his fellowman, and repent and believe in Christ, and he will be forgiven and the golden stairs will be opened for him leading to heaven.

The only unforgivable sin is not to believe in Christ.

Ask any law enforcement officer, in our larger cities such as New York and San Francisco, how much juvenile delinquency they have among the so-called heathen Chinese. They will tell you they have practically non . Why?

Because they do not teach their children such bolderdash. They teach them that their honor, and the honor of their family, comes first and above everything else, and a Chinese kid would rather die, than bring dishonor on his family. The average kid of this age is intelligent, and much farther advanced for his age, than they were a generation or so ago. They know that the bible teaches the entire universe and everything in it, including man, was created in six days, by an imaginary god, just by saying "let it be so".

I wonder who he was speaking to. By a god who had no place to hang out for the eternity before he created the universe, and his own heaven. The average child of ten years of age, also knows that science has proved beyond any shadow of doubt, that the world has been many billions of years in the making, and is still undergoing the proces. And all from natural causes, and that no imaginary god had anything to do with it.

In this scientific age, no ten year old child of normal intelligence, can be forced to believe that an all wise and Infinite God could or would, by a simple command, cause the sun to stop in it's orbit and stand still for a whole, day, (or even for a second), while a band of brigands and cutthroats slaughtered their fellowmen, and also order them to kill all the women and children, except the little girls who had never been violated by any man, and to keep all these alive for themselves, as a reward for their murdering and plundering. Read Numbers: 31: 17-18. Or that this same God would or could, command a sea to separate and allow this same band of cutthroats to pass through to safety, and escape their just punishment. Is it any wonder our juveniles go delinquent? When we try to force them to accept such bolderdash for truths.

Any normal, ten year old child in this age of advancement, is capable of using his reasoning powers, more or less, that nature endowed him with.

He soon comes to the conclusion that these adults, who are supposed to be his superiors, and who are trying to force such impossible trash on him as truths, are either hypocrites, or ignoramuses. Who can blame him?

Just as long as we continue our hypocritical ways, and try to force on our younger generations an out modern, superstitious, tyrannical, and disabolical religion, that at best, is in fact, only a carry over of Paganism, just that long we will have increasing crime and juvenile delinquency.

When we discard it for a rational way of life and institute a rational system of training for our children, teaching them that their first duty is to themselves and their fellowman, that this duty and their honor comes first, and above everything else, instead of a belief in some imaginary and impossible being in the skies, then will we begin to have a decrease in all crime. I have mailed a copy of this letter to Mr. Ayer.--Wes Gletty, Route Two Clanton, Ala.

THINGS We see and hear

by BOB

R. C. Veazey, the Firestone dealer came up to the car the other evening and pointing to an object on the back of his truck said "I've just traded for a 'Pig in a 'Poke' and I thought I'd better take a look at it." Here's a man to deal with. . .a trade with no questions asked. . .until after it's all over! We'll bet he knew what was in that "Poke" all the time.

A fellow named Jim (we're sorry we don't remember his rear name) was in to see us last week from down Auburn way. He's with the Lee County Bulletin there and was in Chilton County to attend a reunion of the Smith family. You're probably laughing at us right now but we know. . .his name wasn't Smith. Anyway. . .very glad to have visitors in the trade drop in and especially one who shares our desire to learn more of the other fellow's setup. Hope Jim will come again.

Our friend Dave Tingle informs us that some grading has been done by the city and county in the rear of the Clanton Grammar School for playground facilities. It's a badly needed thing alright. . . just hope the proper channels take the hint and stock it with nice playground equipment and supervise the use of it so it will last indefinitely.

Also in this issue of the News you'll find information concerning the progress of the new Health Center. Lady down at Clanton Laundry the other day asked us why we didn't 'print' something about what they were doing 'over there' (indicating the excavating). She said folks were ever and eternally asking her "what's going on over there?" Well, naturally we've printed it several times before, but evidently some folks were'nt aware of that fact. . . so . . .

Dave also flew out to Oregon recently and shares our view about that part of the country. He says it's beautiful. We were fortunate enough to have seen the views he speaks of and understand what he means. For pure natural scenery and beauty you cannot surpass the Pacific Northwest. . .Washington and Oregon.

Our son Ben is to that stage now where he make grotesque faces and motions all the time you're speaking to him, . .no matter what the subject. It's not that he's a brat. . .it's just that he acts like one!

Went on a 24-hour vacation the other week-end and spent the next week flat of our back in bed. Crowdin' two - weeks into 24-hours isn't in us we suppose. Can't blame a fellow for trying, even though he did blow his 'real' vacation.

Friend and former resident Jesse Culp, publisher of the Sand Mountain Reporter put out an issue last week that should end all issues (that's a pun sun). Seriously, Jessie has done mighty well up in Albertville and we salute him on his fine achievement and finer newspaper service to his adopted community.

Read where a fellow voicing his dislike for Alabama stated that "If I owned Alabama and hell. I'd rent out Alabama and live in hell." We're sure we speak for a lot of our State's citizenry when we agree wholeheartedly with his choice!

Tom Shirley, down toward Goodyear says he got his head caught in a fan. Course, we don't believe he did but he'd sure pass for one who had. Dig that crazy crew cut, man! Anyway, who uses fans anylmore. . .new we've all got air conditioning. 'Bout the only one who still uses fans is Sally Rand, and we ain't sure she still uses them.

They say once you start the ball to rolling it's mighty hard to stop it. Industry talk we hear around town indicates that the exceptional is the rule and Clanton is in line for more and more industry, finally. Also understand that men like Hollis Jackson and John Morgan, Foshee are very active in this sort of undertaking. They are the exception it seems and we only hope that their lead is followed by much young blood in the building of Clanton and Chilton County.

SHILOH NEWS HAPPENINGS

Mrs. J. O. Bice

Church attendance was very good Sunday and the pastor preached 2 wonderful sermons.

IT'S A BOY

We are happy to announce another new baby in our community. He is the son of Rev. and Mrs. O. L. Deavers. He arrived at the Chilton County Hospital, Friday, August 22nd. His name is Jeffery Calvin (Jeff) topped the scales at 6 lbs and 12½ ozs. We congratulate the Deavers family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Dobbs and children, Lanette and Wendell of Prattville visited relatives here last week.

Miss Sally McCraw of Isabella visited Miss Mary Traywick last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Kendrick and girls Wynell and Wanda Gale visited the Walter Kendrick family Sunday.

Miss Carolyn Smith of Birmingham spent last week here with Miss Helen Carter.

Mrs. J. O. Bice spent several days last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Bice andfamily in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Alf Headley of Mobile visited the A. V. Bice Saturday. They were called back to Mobile due to the serious illness of their brother, Mr. George Headley.

Mr. S. T. Kendrick's son, Albert of Thorsby lost his home and all it's contents Saturday afternoon, from fire which started by lightning.

TRAYWICK REUNION

On Sunday September 7th the relatives and friends of the late J. T. Traywick will held their reunion at Shiloh Church. Everyone is invited to ocme, bring lunch, attend church services, and spend the day together.

Miss Shelba Jean Chandler of Selma was guest of the O. L. Deavers Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Dickerson and Tam of Birmingham are visiting Mr and Mrs. Dan Owen and girls this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Owen and daughters, Betty aGy and Gurendolyn visited the State Capitol and Oak Park last Tuesday.

Any Puncture Is Serious

Any wound that breaks the skin — the body's natural defense — is serious. For small wounds, cleansing, antiseptic application and a sterile dressing are usually sufficient. But for a large wound or a "puncture" wound (such as is caused by a nail, rusty or not) a doctor should ALWAYS be called.

WHAT'S MY LINE?

YOU CAN SELL THAT OLD THERMOMETER

Got an old thermometer around your house? It may be worth some cold cash, if it's one being sought by Thermometer Corporation of America.

This company is scouring the country for old and unusual thermometers to add to the collection it is assembling. This collection will be incorporated into an International Thermometer Museum which eventually will be sent to cities throughout the United States for public display.

Thermometer Corporation of America says no limit is being set on the number of thermometers it may buy. The prime requisite is that the thermometer help portray the development of thermometers through the years, and the part they have played in everyday life.

If you do not own a thermometer which you think is either unusual unusually old, send a description or a snapshot of it, together with any background information you can give (such as some famous person to whom it belonged, how long it's been in your family, or other pertinent and interesting information), to:

Thermometer Corporation of America, Springfield, Ohio.

Do not send the thermometer itself. If yours is a thermometer that is need for the collection, you will receive an offer for it by mail. All letters to Termometer Corporation wil lbe acknowledged, even if your thermometer happens to be one that is not needed.

If you do correspond with the company, the editor of this newspaper would be interested in hearing about the thermometer you are offering to the Museum.

IN 1957, 61 million persons visited national forests. This is a new record, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

WHAT LOCAL FARMERS ARE DOING

J. S. Thornton and Carmon Mims both have a conservation reserve pond under construction.

Timber Stand Improvement is now being done on the following farms: Marvin Durbin, C. O. Jones Grady Cleckler, D. W. Nichols, Harry Cofer, and J. R. Bearden.

Pond sites were checked on the following farms this week: C. L. Patterson, W. W. Alvey, W. H. Farmer and A. C. McCollugh.

Soil and Water Conservation farm plans were revised and made of the following farms: James Kincaid, H. L. Easterling, B. S. Mullins and Tolbert Rosebery.

The following will receive a Soil and Water Conservation Award from the District Supervisor for having completed most of the conservation practices planned for their farms: Joe E. Gowan, Joe Smith, James Rascoe, S. D. Posey, Monroe Boles, Jack Roberts, S. A. Jones, Quinton and Robert Cummings, James Wilson and C. O. Jones.

September is the month to poison fish ponds where they are not in balance with the bass and bluegill. J. D. Robinson, Graham Gilmore and Laverne Littlefield are planning to eradicate what fish they have now and restock their ponds this fall.

L. W. Gusin, of Minooka, has asked for help in making a Soil and Water Conservation Plan on his farm.

September 1st is the last day you can obtain pine seedlings from the nursery for this year's plantings. The forest Ranger or the Soil Conservation Service will be glad to take your application.

A basis for CONFIDENCE

Although changes in the rate of our nation's growth and in general business conditions are always to be expected, there is ample evidence that our American economy is mighty vigorous.

Our bank's loan policy is built around that fact. We have taken the long view. We have prepared to meet the sound credit needs of loan customers, whatever economic conditions may obtain — at the same time making every necessary provision for the protection of our depositors, whose money we lend.

In having recognized the certainty of economic change and having geared ourselves for it, we have established a sound basis for facing the future with confidence — confidence which those who do business with us can share, in all kinds of economic weather.

McKINNON --

OUTSTANDING AIRMAN OF 3910th FOOD SERVICE SQUADRON

Airman 1c Willie D. McKinnon, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McKinnon of Clanton, Rt. 1 has been selected "Outstanding Airman" at his base in Thedford, England where he, his wife, the former Miss Frances Hubbard of Clanton and their two small sons, Tommy [illegible] have returned to their home.

McKinnon joined the Air Force in 1951 and "he's going to make a career of it" says his mom, who is justly proud of her sons accomplishment.

The letter from his commanding officer is as follows:

Dear Mrs. McKinnon:

It is my sincere pleasure to inform you that your son has been selected as the outstanding Airman of his unit, the 3910th food Service Squadron for the period 1 January 1958 through 30 June 1958. This honor is given in recognition of high standards of character, military fitness, superior performance of duty and personal appearance. He was chosen for the "Outstanding Airman Award" by a panel of commissioned and non-commissioned officers of his organization.

Your son's contribution to the effectiveness of the Strategic Air Command and the United States Air Force cannot be overestimated at this important time. I am confident that his high standards of performance of duty and personal traits will continue throughout his life. You can be justly proud of his career. — Sincerely, David A. Tate, USAF Colonel.

How engineers design modern concrete roads to save lives and money

Highway engineers design these four important features into the main roads they are building today to give highway users the utmost in safety, comfort and service.

Controlled access provides safe entry or exit from the road at periodic intervals while allowing continuous speed for through traffic.

No grade crossings and no stop lights! On modern highways all traffic on intersecting roads goes over or under the highway.

Wide median strips separate opposing streams of traffic. Result: no blinding lights, no danger of a head-on collision.

Wide traffic lanes allow you more room. And maximum safety results when the lanes are paved with concrete. Concrete is skid-resistant, wet or dry. Its light color provides the best night visibility. Concrete lasts longer, costs less to maintain, gives low-annual-cost service.

The 41,000-mile National System of Interstate and Defense Highways is scheduled to be built by 1972. When finished it will provide safer, faster, more comfortable travel for everyone.

Origin Of The Bible

Second Kings

The conclusion of First Kings finds us still stomping years to go in the history of the Jewish kings. The end of the trail for the kingdoms both of Israel and of Judah is reached in Second Kings. Though the inspired historian continues in Second Kings to carry along side by side the two records of the two kingdoms just as he did in First Kings, this brief review will focus attention first on the kingdom of Israel and trace it to its end, and then will turn attention to the kingdom of Judah and follow it down to its dying days in the momentous year 607 B. C.

Ahab's son Ahaziah is seated on the throne of Israel, but not for long. An accident caused him to dispatch messengers to inquire of Baal-zebub as to his recovery. Elijah intercepts them, reproves Ahaziah for inquiring of the heathen god of Ekron, and foretells death for the king. A captain and fifty men are sent to arrest the prophet to the king; fire from heaven consumes them. A second company meets the same fate. A third group humble themselves, and with them Elijah returns to the king and pronounces his doom, which is soon thereafter sealed in death. Jehoram ascends the throne. (1:3-18) Next Elijah vanishes from the scene. In a whirlwind and chariot of fire he disappears heavenward; his prophets mantle is taken up by Elisha who receives a double portion of the spirit that was resting upon Elijah.--2:1-15.

Jehoram's death is not recorded until seven chapters later, and these chapters are packed with action. (9:24) Moab rebels against Israel The combined armies of Israel Judah and Edom march to the attack, but fall into dire straits. Jehovah through Elisha points the way to victory and the Moabites are smitten. Elisha miraculously multiplies the poor widow's oil, raises the Shunammite's son, miraculously feeds a hundred men, cures Naaman of leprosy causes iron to float, and leads to the king of Israel the host of Syrians which were smitten with blindness when they sought to take the prophet captive. (3:4-6:23) After this it came to pass that Syria besieged Samaria; famine stalked through the city and it seemed doomed to fall. But Elisha foretold a time of plenty just one day hence; and so it was. Jehovah caused the besieging Syrian armies to "hear things"; they beat a hasty retreat, leaving great spoil: the provisions and riches were seized by Israel. (6:24-7:20) Thereafter Hazael comes to Elisha to inquire concerning the hopes for his sick master, Benhadad, and Elisha foretells that Hazael will succeed Benhadab as king of Syria. Hazael kills Benhadad to make himself king. In a subsequent clash with the Syrians Jehoram is wounded, and retires to Jezreel to "tick his wounds". In the meantime, Elisha sends one of the children of the prophets to anoint Jehu king over Israel and to command him to cut off the whole house of Ahab. Jehu drives furiously to Jezreel, scorns any peace overtures so long as the religious whoredome of Baal-worship afflict the land, and slays Jehoram. Jehu is king of Israel.

Jehu is the only king of the northern ten-tribe kingdom who accomplishes much for good. Against the house of Ahab he acts with a vengeance as Jehovah executioner. Wicked Jezebel dies under the pounding hoofs of his steeds; the heads of Ahab's seventy sons are caused to be heaped in two piles before the gate of Jezreel; Ahab's kindred in Jezreel are destroyed; picking up right Jehonadab en route, Jehu speeds to Samaria and cleans out the remnant of Ahab there; feigning great zeal for Baal, he gathers all the Baal worshipers together and slaughters them; Baal's images are burned; Baal's temple is turned into a "draught house". Because of zealously carrying out Jehovah's commission. Jehu was promised that his house should continue reigning for four generations. However, Jehu did not abolish the idolatrous calf-worship nor did he walk wholly in the way of the Lord. During his reign the Lord permitted Syria to begin making inroads on all the borders of Israel. It was the beginning of Israel's end -- 9:30-10:36.

Thereafter the following come and go as kings of Israel: Jehoahaz, Jehoash, Jereoboam II, Zachariah, as descendants of Jehu; and Shallum, Menahem, Pekahiah, Pekah and Hoshea. Three interregnums or breaks in the record of reigns, totaling thirty years, mark this period. During this time there are recurring clashes with Syria, with Jehoash gaining three victories foretold by Elisha. During his reign Elisha died. None of these kings did good; all were evil in the sight of Jehovah. Finally, Hoshea, Israel's twentieth king, ascends the throne by murdering his predecessor. He is made subject to Shalmaneser king of Assyria and pays tribute to him. A new years pass, and Hoshea dickers with the king of Egypt to get relief from the oppressive Assyrian monarch. Quickly the Assyrian hordes swarm over the ten-tribe kingdom in a mighty invasion; in 740 B. C. Samaria falls, after a three-year siege. The northern kingdom of Israel is doomed, after 258 years of existence. The surviving Israelites except a small remnant that escaped into the kingdom of Judah, are taken to Assyria as captives. To fill their places in Palestine the king of Assyria transplanted heathen religionists and "placed them in the cities of Samaria in stead of the children of Israel: and they possessed Samaria, and dwelt in the cities thereof." (17:1-25 17:1-24)

The kingdom of Judah survived that of the other house of Israel by 133 years. At the time of Israel's fall to Assyria Hezekiah was king in Judah. But now back to the beginning of the history of Second Kings, where we find Jehoshaphat's son Jehoram seated on the throne of Judah. His eight-year reign was marred with religious wickedness, similar to these of Ahab's house. He had taken to wife, Athaliah, daughter of Israel's wicked king Ahab. From this union sprang Jehoram's successor, Ahaziah, another evil-doer His end came when he went to Jezreel to fraternize with the wounded Israelite king, Jehoram. Jehu and his men finished off both of these Baal - worshipers.

Ahaziah, son of Jehoram was destroyed by Pharaohnechoh and replaced by Jehoiakim. Shortly thereafter Babylon definitely won the tug of war with Egypt for power, and Jehoiakim came under her control. Jehoiakim rebelled, but his son Jehoiachin surrendered to the Babylonians besieging Jerusalem. After 37 years of captivity in Babylon Jehoiachin was lifted into favor by the Babylonian king. (25:27-30) The cream of Judah's population was taken captive to Babylon; Zedekiah was made king. Like the three preceding kings, he did evil in the sight of the Lord. His rebellion against Babylon in his ninth year brought on the complete overthrow of the little kingdom of Judah, in the eleventh year of his reign. Judah were burned to the ground. The majority of the Hebrews were carried off captive to Babylon; the few poor who remained fled into Egypt two months later, in the seventh month of the momentous year 607 B. C. The land was desolate. Jehovah's message by Ezekiel to Zedekiah was fulfilled: "I will overturn, overturn, overturn it and it shall be no more, until he come who right it is, and I will give it him." -- 23:29-25:26; Ezek. 21:27.

The two books of Kings and their annals are a striking verification of the Mosaic predictions as to the national consequences of obedience and disobedience. Certainly the "nation whose God is Jehovah" must shun religion!

PAULINE JACKSON CIRCLE MET

Mrs. Reedie L. Taylor was hostess to the Pauline Jackson Circle of the First Baptist Church when they met in her home for their August meeting.

The president, Mrs. Burt Snead presided over the business period. Mrs. Taylor, Secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting.

Reports from various committee women we eread after which a program entitled "Some Barred Doors" was presented by Mrs. M. D. Foshee, Jr., Mrs. Joe M. Martin, Mrs. Hugh Bates and Mrs. Peggy Murrah.

Refreshments were served to eight members and Mrs. W. C Golden, Circle Advisor.

The meeting was adjourned with prayer.

After the death of Ahaziah his mother Athaliah launched a campaign of murder against the royal seed and usurped the throne of Judah for herself. However, her grandson Jehoash was preserved for six years in the temple precincts and was then [illegible] as king. High priest Jehoiada [illegible] the sam crise [illegible] by Athaliah, instead, he had her taken out and slain. Jehoash had repairs made on the temple of the Lord, and did that which was right as long as Jehoiada lived. Thereafter he fell a victim of religion and his life was ended by murder. (11:1-12:21 The next [illegible] Amaziah, Azariah, Uzziah and Jotham, were commended as doing that which was right, but none of them removed the high places and [illegible] (14:1-15:38) Next follows the abominable reign of Ahaz (16:1-20) "walked in the way of kings of Israel, and made [illegible] to the [illegible] during Ahaz reign, he was due for disappointment and [illegible] ascended the throne of Judah. His back when Ahaz' son Hezekiah purge against religious was through Down came the high places and groves; into bits were the images shattered. This, then, is the purged and cleansed status of the kingdom of Judah when destruction came upon idolatrous Israel in the north, in the sixth year of Hezekiah's reign, in the year 740 B. C. --16:1-4; 18:1-10.

Eight years after Samaria's fall Sennacherib king of Assyria invaded Judah. The reviling and bombastic speeches of his henchman Rab-shakeh do not scare Hezekiah whose faith is strengthened by Isaiah. In one night Jehovah slays 185,000 Assyrians and sends arrogant Sennacherib reeling back to his own land and his death. (18:13-19:37) Manasseh's wicked reign and that of Ammon are followed by Joshiah's good one. His extensive repairs of the house of the Lord brought to light a copy of the book of the law, written copies of which had been lost and become unknown by Judah's previous lapses into religion. A revival of Jehovah's true worship sweeps the land. Josiah has the law read to the people the covenant with Jehovah is given new emphasis, and idolatry is destroyed. The signup in Chilton County for the 1959 Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank will open September 2, 1958 at the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office in Clanton, Chairman Owen announced today.

The first step in the signup is for the farmer who is interested in the program to come to the county office and request that annual rental payment rates be established for his farm.

At the same time, the farmer should bring with him information to be used by the County ASC Committee in establishing rates for his farm. The chief facts needed, Chairman Owen said, are acreages and yields for the three principal crops on the farm for the past two years and acreages for other land used on the farm .

The Conservation Reserve is the only Soil Bank program available for 1959.

Under this program, farmers retire land from general crops for up to 10 years and devote the reserve ahreage to land, water, or wildlife conservation practices. The Government makes an annual rental payment for the land and will also share in the cost of establishing the conservation practices.

The average rental payment rate for Conservation Reserve land in Chilton County in the 1959 program is $10.00 per acre per year. Maximum payment rates will be higher for the most productive farms and lower for less productive farms.

For farmers who request it, the county committee will figure two sets of maximum annual rates, Chairman Owen said. One will apply if only part of the elible acreage on a farm is placed in the Reserve. Another rate, 10 percent higher, will be available if all eligible land on a farm is put in the Reserve for at least years.

After maximum rates have been determined for a farm, the farmer will have two weeks in which to decide on participation, designate land for the Reserve, and apply for a contract Land may be offered at less than the established maximum to increase the chance of acceptance in case there are insufficient funds to cover all offers.

The signup phase of the program closes October 1, 1958, and all requests for establishing farm rates must be received by that date, Chairman Owen said. The deadline for applying for contracts is October 24, 1958.

CAUSES OF POOR SOW HEALTH

Why do sows sometimes get run-down when suckling pigs?

Among the many reasons, are improper rations, failure to utilize feed, toxic condition, and injuries.

"If the sow's diet during the gestation period has been inadequate or unbalanced, her system has probably been overburdened by the developing pigs. In this case. forced feeding of mineral and vitamin supplements will often put the sow back on her feet."

"In other cases, even though she was on a good ration, the sow has not been able to utilize what she has been eating". "Feeding well-balanced rations after farrowing, and weaning the pigs early will save the sow sometimes. Also, forced feeding of a mineral mixture containing highly available calcium has given good results with some animals."

When a toxic condition is present, it is probably due to uterine infection or to tears in the uterine wall during farrowing. De-toxifying agents will hasten recovery in such cases.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED

Miss Mary Frances Burnett, bride -elect of Donald Ray Shirley of Birmingham, was feted at a tea shower at the home of her mother, Mrs. Kush Burnett, Tuesday night, August 19.

Hostesses were Mrs. S. J. Hillman, Mrs. Howard Gay, Mrs. James Huff. overing the table was a lace covered cloth, with a bowl of Dahlia's and summer flowers. Punch, cake, nuts and candy were served by Mr. Hillwman, Mrs. Gay and Mrs. James Huff.

Forty-three guests were registered.

SHIRLEY - BURNETT

In a candelighted setting of formal bridal beauty Miss Mary Frances Burnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kush Burnett of Stanton, and Donald Ray Shirley of Birmingham, son of the late Mr. Shirley, and Mrs. Fred Muse, of Pensacola, Fla., pledged their vows on Saturday night, August 23. The Rev. Don Hill officiated at the ceremony, which was performed at 7 o'clock in the evening in the Stanton Baptist Church.

The altar decorations of white flowers, and greenery were enhanced by cathedral candalabra holding white tapers which were lighted by Kenneth Burnett, and Bill Weatherby of Birmingham.

The program of nuptial music was played by Miss Mattie Ruth Bush. Mr. Morris Lee Davis sang "The Lords Prayer" and "Because" by Hardelot.

The brides attendants were her aunt, Mrs. S. J. Hillman of Selma, Ala., as matron of honor. Miss Melba Smith, Bernice Hillyer of Birmingham, were bridesmaids. They wore mint green and yellow taffeta frocks designed with beateau necklines, full skirts with ballerina length, with float veils matching their frocks. They carried chrysanthemums, matching their frocks.

Entering with her father by whom she was given in marriage, the bride was gowned in a white tulle and chantilly lace, a fingertip veil caught with pearls.

The bridegromm was attended by Bob Clements of Birmingham, as best man. Serving as ushers were Kenneth Burnett, brother of the bride and Billy Weatherby of Birmingham.

For her daughters wedding, Mrs. Burnett wore a blue lace dress with white accessories. The grooms mother wore beige eyelet with black accessories.

The brides parents entertained with a reception following the ceremony at their home.

White gladioli adorned the table with the brides cake. Cake and cream was served by Misses Ginger Shirley, Sonja Leville, Georgia Gibbs of Birmingham.

Out of town guests were: Jerry Ward, Marjorie Seales, Lou Baker, Mr and Mrs. George Epsy, Mr. and Mrs. Tip Burnette, Mrs. Banks, Mrs. J. P. Shirley, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis McDowell, Mrs. J. W. Jetes, Mrs. G. P Dial, Pat Dial, Martha E. Carney, Mrs. Bob Clements, Sonja Leville, Ginger Shirley, all of Birmingham. Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Banks, Marjorie and Bobby of Detroit, Mich. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Muse of Pensacola, Fla. Mr. Robert Hilyer of Jemison.

For her wedding trip to points in Florida the bride changed to a fall suit of green, with black accessories. The couple will be at home in Birmingham after they return from their wedding trip.

Landon Stough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stough of Maplesville, and Miss Juanita Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Carter were married Saturday, August 23 in Selma. The couple will make their home in Selma at 17 Union Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Gregg have recently purchased the L. M. Commander home, and are planning on moving in soon.

William Creighton Ruddick, 34 year old Navy Lieutenant Commander on inactive duty, was buried in Stanton at three P. M. Friday, with full military honors. Funeral services were held from Breslin Service Chapel in Selma, Rev. William Rasberry pastor of the Northside Baptist Church officiating.

A Lieutenant Commander of the United States Navy, on inactive duty, was killed in a pre-dawn automobile accident six and one half miles north of Selma on Highway 22 Thursday morning when he apparently dosed at the wheel.

A native of Stanton, and a veteran of World War II, and of Korean struggle, was pronounced dead on arrival at the Selma Baptist Hospital shortly after 4 o'clock. He was extracted, still breathing, from his 1958 Oldsmobile by Mr. and Mrs. Union Headely, near whose home the wreck occurred.

For the past 16 years the young Navy veteran has seen service all over the world. His last active duty terminated the past April when he returned to his home section, was at Ben Harbor, Mich., where he was in charge of a Naval Reserve Station.

During World War II, the young Lieutenant Commander had served as an administrative officer on Pontapay Island in South Pacific where he had three years on duty. Later he enlisted for Korea. He had furthered his education in service at the Indiana State Teachers College, and at Northwestern University from which he held a degree.

He was educated at Maplesville, graduating from high school, and was a member of the Stanton Baptist Church.

Surviving him are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ruddick, a sister, Mrs. Bobby Eddy, of Stanton, and a brother, the Rev. E. L. Ruddick, of Brent.

He was a grandson of the late Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Ruddick, of Stanton, and Mr. Tom Gay and the late Mrs. Gay.

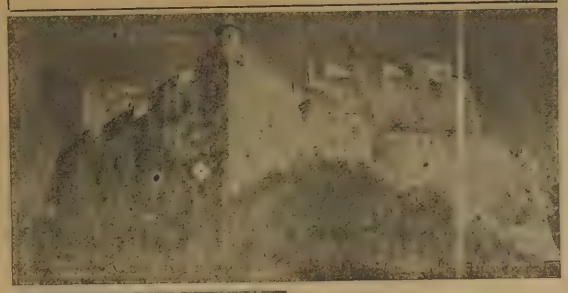
News has been received of the death of Roy Atcheson, in Korea His body will arrive in San Francisco, Cal., Monday, August 25 and will be shipped to Phenix City, Ala., where his wife and children are making their home.

Funeral service will probably be Friday at the Baptist Church in Phenix City, with burial at Ft. Benning.

He is survived by his wife, and two children, Roy Clifton, and William Perry. Parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Atchison, Plantersville. Six sisters, Mrs. Pauline McDaniel, Mrs. Nell Walton, Mrs. Vera Caine, Mrs. Irene Teel, Mrs. Helen Walker, Mrs. Irma Levine. Six brothers, Clifton, W. C. Erskine, Paul Jimmy and David Atchison.

He was reared here and has many friends in the community.

Cuba—Something Old, Something New



Cuba, the Caribbean island of picturesque contrasts, abounds in points of interest which dramatically illustrate both the old and the new in the country's more than four centuries of colorful history. Once described by Columbus as "the loveliest land that human eyes have ever seen," Cuba today blends age-old tradition with the splendor of 20th century progress and achievement. Two of the island republic's most popular tourist attractions are the imposing Morro Castle (top), 350-year-old Spanish fortress overlooking the bay near Santiago, and the ultra-modern Habana Hilton Hotel located in bustling Havana.

"How can I put money in a parking meter that doesn't even exist?"

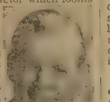
WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

In the Congressional debate over the extension of the reciprocal trade treaties which have been largely used to break down the protective tariffs that protect American business and labor, there has been overlooked the public health factor which looms as quite an important consideration.

* * *

Many years ago Congress passed legislation which set up the Food and Drug Administration with broad police powers in the matter of sanitation. Those who study such matters feel that the operation of this agency has been the greatest public health protective measure ever enacted in the history of the world.



C. W. Harder

This is singularly an American institution. And largely unknown to consumers is the fact that not only does the Federal agency inspect the finished food and beverage products, but it also inspects the facilities, and the methods used in preparation.

Thus, there is a double protection. While it is possible that some harmful conditions in a processed product may escape detection in the finished product, with American products, the fight against any possible contamination is carried on by constant inspections right in the processing plants.

* * *

But since import tariffs have been broken down, the nation is getting more and more flooded with all kinds of foreign packed foodstuffs and beverages that are sold at lower prices, generally, than U. S. products.

Now while the Federal Food and Drug Administration does test these foreign products at port of entry, it has no way of knowing as to what degree of sanitation they have been packed under, whether it be Oriental canned fish or European wine.

* * *

Neither is the inspection agency permitted to investigate to see whether the packing plant is located next to a fly breeding swamp or manure pile, or other conditions not tolerated for one instant in American processing.

Or, for example, take the case of imported wine. In most wine growing nations, grapes are still crushed by being stamped by the human foot of uncertain degrees of cleanliness and health. In U.S. all grapes are crushed by inspected, mechanical crushers.

American fish canneries are another example of plants that are constantly under inspection to make sure that they are sanitary. Yet, [illegible] are made of foreign canneries.

Thus, many American food and beverage processors are not seeking that any part of the FDA vigilance be relaxed. U. S. processors feel that the public should have the fullest protection.

* * *

But, by the same token, they feel that foreign products should be clearly labelled to the effect that they have not been subjected to the full supervision of the Federal Food and Drug Administration so that at least the consumer would know the facts.

* * *

There has been some pressure in Washington to enact such a regulation, but as usual, the State Department somehow has managed to put a block on any action along this line. It is possible that this will result in a large part of the splendid work of the Federal Food and Drug Administration in the past 50 years in protecting the American public health being nullified.

HIGHLAND CHURCH NEWS

Vester Bice, pastor

We had a very good service both Sunday and Sunday night. The Sunday morning message was "Justice Among Nations". There was a good number present. We were very pleased to have our visitors and invite them back.

We had a very reviving and joyous revival here week before last. We were pleased to have the many visitors who came to worship with us. Bro. L. D. Brookshire did some wonderful preaching. Four souls were saved during the meeting. Three of these joined our church.

The baptismal service was held Sunday morning at 9:30.

New officers were elected Sunday We hope to have a spiritual and prosperous new church year.

We are very sorry to hear that Mrs. J. C. Billingsley is ill. We wish for her a speedy recovery.

The W. H. Hays are the proud parents of a baby girl. We are very happy to report that the mother and baby are fine.

The U. J. Bakers also have a new baby girl.

Please remember our services at Highland and come and join us. You are always welcome.

Everyone please remember prayer meeting every Wednesday night the 7:30 p. m.

Sunday School wasn't as good as last Sunday. We hope more people will attend next time.

Training Union was better than last week. We encourage more people to join us in our evening worship.

Rev. Victor Davis from Coopers delivered two wonderful messages Sunday. We hope everyone received a blessing from them.

Among our visitors Sunday night were: Mr. James Banks from Marbury, Rev. and Mrs. Victor Davis and son Larry and Miss Jo Gibson from Verbena, Ala.

Special music was given by the choir. They sang the beautiful son gentitled "Be Silent".

We had a brief business meeting before our evening worship service Sunday night. We elected the new Sunday School and Training Union Superintendents for the next church year.

Next Sunday will be Rev. Leroy Leroy Strinfields last time to preach for us at Mt. Creek. We have enjoyed hearing him as our supply pastor.

Rev. J. J. Mitchell from Jemison, Ala., will be our new full time pastor. We hope that everyone will come and hear him preach the word of God.

Sunday was homecoming day at Wadsworth Baptist Church; Rev. Charles McGalliard is pastor at Wadsworth.

Miss Jane Hayes is home from two months vacation in Philadelphia, Penn. We are glad to have her back and hope she enjoyed her trip.

Mrs. W. J. Connell is home after visiting her dauhter and son in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Ellis in Birmingham.

I - CENT SALES... FAIR WEEK ...

Chilton County at this time for the improvement of our schools since the need is so crucial at this particular time.

Not only will an improved school help give our children the kind and good school program will make a type of education needed but a better community in which to live and rear our children for we all know that better schools make better communities.

A one cent sales tax if levied would be for a definite period of time - 20 years. Our Board of Education could and would begin on a two million dollar building program immediately upon the voters' approval and the passage of such local legislation by our members of the legislature. Two million dollars would permit the construction within the next four years of permanent buildings of a type of which we would be proud. Such buildings would allow the Board to save approximately $30,000 annually which is now being expanded for maintenance on buildings that cannot be maintained. This year the Board is finding it necessary to borrow over $80,000 to operate schools. Unless there is more revenue for our schools, it will again and again be necessary to borrow in order to maintain them as they have been in the past. The necessity for such borrowing will result in poorer buildings, houses, and other school facilities in the very near future.

Qualified voter will be given the privilege on November 4 of determining the direction education will take in Chilton County - go forward into the future and provide adequately for our boys and girls to continue to struggle and give our children very meagre educational facilities?

The schools belong to you - the people and your Board of Education has only one objective in mind and that is plan, build and maintain the schools of Chilton County where you will get the most for your educational tax dollar and the boys and girls will get the educational advantages which they so rightly deserve.

able a best Public Health exhibit which was purchased from Cleveland Health Museum of Cleveland, Ohio. This is a large attractive display with electrical devices to add interest.

The American Cancer Society and the State Department of Agriculture will furnish exhibits also.

The 4-H Club and FFA will have an exhibition on Dairy, Beef, Hog, Poultry, Corn, and Forestry Show.

Home Demonstration Clubs sponsoring Community Exhibits are Cane Creek, Isabella, Mt. Carmel, Center Hill, Maplesville, Verbena, Fairview, Maple Springs, Cooper, & Poplar Springs.

Local merchants who will have exhibits are: Clanton Motors, Carter Radio and T. CLANTON, ALABAMA | VOLUME XXXVI | THURSDAY SEPTEMBER 4, 1958 | NUMBER 36

WHO said you couldn't sell your farm products at home. One store in Clanton bought $725.75 worth of eggs from one poultryman in the month of August. Not one of the eggs were sent out for resale but used across the counter in the same store. When one farmer sells one store that amount of eggs in one month, brother that's a lot of omelette.

THERE is a move on it seems to get better hours for our policemen. That is, an eight hour shift instead of working full 12 hours. That seems only fair since the rise in the cost of living and the small salary in comparison they are paid--they should get shorter hours.

IT WAS A wonderful job our State Highway Patrolmen, our Sheriff's Force and our local Police did during the past week-end. Never in the past have we seen such heavy traffic on our highways and we think they are to be commended on the excellent work they did.

A BRIGHT young farmer in the Army overseas received a letter from his wife. She wanted to know how she was going to plant potatoes in the east 40 without help.

The soldier wrote back, "Whatever you do, dear, don't dig up the east 40. That's where the guns are buried."

As is customary in wartime, his letter was read by the censor. Not long later he received a reply from his upset young wife saying, "A company of soldiers overran the east 40 and dug it all up. What shall I do now?"

"Plant the potatoes!" came his reply.

WE are hearing much favorable comment for our 1 cent sales tax for the schools. Seems the people have at least realized if anything is going to be done for the schools it will be done by the homefolks.

THE local police are keeping a sharp eye on the kids who ride their bicycles on the sidewalks. There is a City Ordinance against such practice and parents are asked to warn their children not to do this. Some too, have been a bit careless and run into people which doesn't help the feeling against such practice. Second offender could get into trouble.

ANOTHER practice that is being watched by our police is local businessmen using loading zones for private parking. This is an abuse of intended use of the space devoted to loading and unloading and Mayor J. Hollis Jackson says the Ordinance will be strictly enforced.

WOMEN OF STEEL

Steel may be "a man's business," as some one has said, but women appear to own it. There are 113,037 women holders of common stock in U. S. Steel orporation, biggest of the steel makers, as against 91,717 men and 46,927 joint accounts which usually are husband and wife.

SMITH, CUMMINGS WIN IN BEHALF OF COMMUNITY

Monday, September 1st was officialy the date of the winding up of the big "Community Campaign" which, for a month and a half has created so much interest throughout the length and breadth of Chilton County.

Mrs. J. Congar Cummings and Mrs. G. B. Smith of Isabella Community, have taken home top winnings in the contest. They topped second placer, Mrs. Berniece Short for Bethsalem Community and Mrs. J. E. Williams and Mrs. Frank Mastin for Cedar Grove Community who came in third. Prizes were awarded to first and second place winners.

Community interest has been greatly boosted by these ladies and their interest has spread rapidly. A decided show of interest indicates that a better feeling is evidenced and that more and more people desire to speak their minds through the open pages of their free press.

Thanks one and all for concern and interest shown. It was fun! !

CHILTON COUNTY WILL GIVE SEVEN YOUNG MEN IN SEPTEMBER CALL

State Selective Service director James W. Jones announces that Alabama service calls will be almost twice as they have been in the immediate past.

The state director announced that 685 men would be called from Alabama which compares with 408 for the month of August and 318 in July. The September call for Chilton County is 7.

20TH CENTURY IS ONE OF PROGRESS

The Twentieth Century is the century of science and technology, discovery and invention. Five decades of it have produced more actual progress than the previous 5000 years. . . It did not originate in the minds of theorists' and "economic planners" it was created in industry's work-shops, and on the farms.

The ideas of the "social theorists," which they claim are modern and advanced, would take us back into the Middle Ages, when men worked, not in freedom for themselves and their families, but as vassals of some lord or duke or king, and received for their labors a security in the form of bare subsistence.

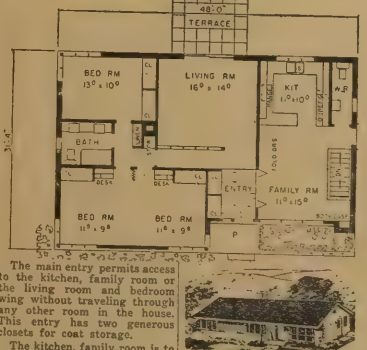
The meeting will be held on September [illegible]

New Feature in 'News'

FLEXIBILITY AND EASY ACCESS TO ALL ROOMS



The main entry permits access to the kitchen, family room or the living room and bedroom wing without traveling through any other room in the house. This entry has two generous closets for coat storage.

The kitchen, family room is to the right of the entry. There is a convenient washroom off the kitchen next to the side door. The family room has generous windows facing the street and there is a bookcase on one side with cabinet below for storage of hobby equipment. This family room is ideal for dining, hobbies, and general family activities. There is a stairway from the kitchen leading to the full basement.

The living room is separated from the hall by a 36-inch-high wall with wood trellis above. This gives a very open feeling to the room and creates a more spacious feeling in the hall. The living room has sliding doors facing a terrace at the rear. There are two unbroken walls which make for good furniture placement.

An additional feeling of spaciousness is achieved through built in structural lighting. Coves along the unbroken walls direct light upward against the upper walls and ceilings to create a daylight effect and make the room seem even larger. A lighted valance over the window wall throws light both upward and downward over the draperies to create a daylight effect. To set the mood for relaxation and quiet conversation, or to create other variations of mood and atmosphere, as well as assure adequate lighting for any seeing task, lights are controlled by Luxtrol light controls that brighten or dim lights to any degree.

The bedrooms are versatile in that the front bedroom can be one very large room, or divided into two smaller rooms, by means of folding doors. This front bedroom has a closet and built in desk with shelves above for each area. There are two closets in the rear bedroom as well.

At the hall is a storage closet for brooms and cleaning supplies and a linen closet.

The bath has twin lavatories and a built in counter top.

Plans are available from Clifford N. Wright, Architect & Associates, 19115 Schoolcraft, Detroit 23, Michigan, at $15 for one set or $35 for three sets.

U. S. Troops Landing in East Termed Disaster by Observer

"Nasser Thinks he has the West on the run, much as Hitler did 20 years ago." According to Government Lecturer, Dr. George Kirk, who appears on a special telecast, "Middle East -- U. S. Disaster?" over Channel 7 Wednesday (August 27th) at 7:30 p. m.

A. J. Meyer, Jr., who recently returned from the Middle East, claims the landing of troops in Lebanon was a great mistake for the U. S. because the move further alienates this country from the countries of the Middle East.

Still another program participant, Professor Hans Kohn, claims he is uncertain about the implications of the troop landing. His impression is the troop landing reflects part of a trend of all underprivileged peoples seeking great liberty, and he includes India, Indonesia, and Latin America.

The Telecast will be presented by University TV on the Alabama ETV Network's Channels 10, 7 and 2 with cooperation of National ETV.

HISTORY has proven that anytime that pride eads the procession poverty is bound to bring up the ear.

YOU never have enough money until you can njoy your hobbies without feeling extravagant.

HE is a wise man if he learns early in married life hat his better half is always a little better than half ight.

EVERY man considers himself a good loser but ery few of them care to put it to a practical test.

IT'S not easy to believe, but it's usually the silent artner who has the most to say.

CHILTON'S PEACH SITUATION --

We are totally and greviously disgusted with the ttitude that the peach farmer is obviously forced to take with regards to the price which he is getting for his crop.

Chilton's attitude toward it's peach economy is at the lowest ebb which we've ever seen it, due to the indifference of the producers and the unstableness of the market itself.

We have talked at length with local peach growers and it always seems to bring the same conclusion. "We are not getting 'anything' for our crops". This is accompanied by the general opinon that the graders (or somebody) is cleaning up.

We feel that the peach farmer's woes are partly due to his own mismanagement. He is selling high grade peaches at "low grade" market prices. These markets do not desire 'the best fruit and therfore will not pay 'best fruit' prices. 'On tfe other hand the local grower is bringing some of his best fruit to these markets expecting to get paid accordingly. Such is not going to happen.

The only out for the peach farmer (and we might add the preservation of that industry in Chilton County) is to form a co-operative with distinct objectives toward peaches and peaches only. This co-op will be composed of growers and should therefore be able to deal with the problems at hand. The high cost of grading is a factor in their dissatisfaction with present conditions; if such is the case then a co-operative made up of growers could handle its own labor problems this greatly diminishing the present obviously high costs.

Also the co-op idea would give the growers the chance to work with each other, a fact which in itself could change the entire feeling of things.

Naturally a man wants to be paid fairly for his labor and sweat; but by the same token, a man should have eough ambition to look out for himself and his industry by working to improve said industry.

A cannery here would be an easy out also.

The basic thing is cooperation of those who are concerned with the peach industry. Together they can accomplish the means to get fair prices for their peaches. As things stand today, it appears to be every man for himself and as one fellow put it "each grower feels that he is just getting ,what's left" and that's not enough.

We have THE finest peach crops in the world here in Chilton County. Some growers say "we've just got too many peaches in this county". We've got a whale of a lot of peaches in our county, but never TOO many. We need to take steps that will alleviate the present situation and at the same time add to the effectiveness of our peach crop. We do not want to see our peach crop go the way our strawberry crop has diminished over the years simply because a group of our farmers are dissatisfied with the way their business is handled. Truly they have reason to be dissatisfied; but this dissatisfaction should bring about effective action on their part rather than a "sorry for self" feeling that will bring only disaster to our peach economy.

We say, if there are any "rotten peaches" in the basket then we'd better 'cull' 'em out before they con-

EDUCATION FOR SUCCESS --

The Little Red Schoolhouse taught little about how our economic system operates, and it didn't matter much. Business was the specialty of businessmen, and if they understood it no one else needed to.

Today, when many decisions which affect the economy are made in politics, every voter needs some economic education so that he can determine what candidates make sense on the subjects of taxes, business regulation, labor, and related subjects.

Wrong guesses, based on prejudice or ignorance, can bring on government-made hard times. They can weaken the economy in the cold war. And they can even put the thoughtless voter right out of a job.

So, if you are the parents of a youngster going back to school this month, you might check up on the school he will attend. Will your child, sometime in his school years, learn what makes our economy tick?

If your school doesnt have such a course, you and other parents should insist that it adopt one. Your childs future and your countrys prosperity will depend upon what he knows.

SOMETHING PAID OFF ---

The City Council of Clanton is in the process of "building" a Code for the protection of licensed plumbers and electricians in the City.

It's music to our ears.

This code, which will enable licensed electricians and plumbers to practice and build up a business under the protection of their experience, training and skill is one of the most needed fundamentals that we have previously been without.

When the Council announces this job completed we want to be the first ones to congratulate them. This previous oversight by our City Fathers has endangered many homes with faulty electrical systems and the condition tends to deteriorate our system of home building to the extent of making them right near the bottom as far as efficient, modern, economical facilities are concerned.

We're proud that our present Council and Mayor have the foresight to conceive such a plan as is obvious- ly on the drawing boards. Now let's see some action, fellows!

Moral Observations

BY A READER

For every house is builded by some man; but he that built all things is God. -- Hebrews, 3:4.

We see people living in all sorts of houses. Some live in shabby, unsihtly tumbeld down shacks Some live in better houses, everything from shack to fabulous mansion.

In a moral or spiritual sense, the same thing is true; we build the house that we live in ourselves. In this short article, we can only mention two or three of these houses we build and live in. First, is the house of reputation. We have seen people start out in early life to build this house. Today, when we see them or hear the mention of their names, we immediately can visulize the type of house they have built and inhabit, so far as name and reputation is concerned.

Some have used good material, art and care, and have built for themselves a beautiful house. They are enjoying the luxury, the conveniences, the beauty and comforts of that house, because it is the house of respect, and honour, and confidence. They are in good standing. They are trusted citizens Their credit rating is good, and their word is honored everywhere. Who can estimate the value of a house like that?

Some others we know, unfortunately, have used the wrong kind of material, the material of drink, or bad habits, stealing or lying or dishonesty, etc., and their's is an erably uncomfortable, and inconvenient this old shack must be!

Very much like the house of reputation, but different in some respects is the house of friendship. We know people who have a reputation, almost above reproach, but they have not been especially successful in making friends. Sometimes we under estimate the importance of friendship. because, even though we try hard to be honest and upright in every other way, we are careless and neglectful of the kindness, the courticies, the accomodations that are so essential in building the house of friendship along life's way. Sometimes I think people are very regretful in later life because they have been careless in building this house.

We have seen the aged sadly neglected because of the lack of friends. Friendship is something to be enjoyed and benefited from all tohrugh life, but we cannot picture in our minds, anything more beautiful than the aged couple, the family reared and gone, the cessation of the activities of life having come, and dependancy greater, but enjoying the beautiful, strong and sturdy house of friendship which they have built for themselves down through the years.

Most important of all houses is the eternal house of the soul.

Let us build it beautiful and strong, for it must endure forever! Except the Lord build the house, they labour in vain that build it --

Cooperative Economy

The world today is shaping into a hell of bursting atomic bombs, poison gas, and plagues, or new diseases. We see the stage is now set or else there would be no recession in our country, for the worst panic of our history.

Atomic power could bring a blessing instead of a curse. The whole world could be made a paradise of peace and plenty for all time to come, and the present atomic age makes it possible for unlimited power for good or evil for everlasting peace and a better way to live, or else world destruction.

Past records show we have had prosperity in our country only during a war & a short time after a war Only American people have worked for a few owners long enough They need to change the economy to cease all as. A different and better economy would bring to pass plenty for every one. The whole world needs complete public ownership and complete industrial democracy, a complete co-operatice commonwealth.

If the world leaders do not get a world-wide co-operative economy in operation soon, a large part of humanity will be destroyed. We see war puts money in circulation, why not put money in circulation with co-operative economy. We can't live without war. times will always be hard if we stay out of war, and we can't live with the next war for it will destroy us.

The leaders of the world see the hand writing on the wall and are now seeking to abolish war. Ignorance is endangering the United States Civilization and it is because people and especially our leaders do not understand co-operative economy, and industrial democracy.

The later part of chapter 14 of Revelations give in symbols the condition of the whole world today and it pictures a righteous government coming to pass worldwide.

THE WHITE CLOUD, AN EMBLEM OF THE CHURCH

The fourteenth chapter of Revelations tells us the true church stood on Mount SiSion during the seven church seals or church period.

The true church is Christ himself "and with Him are an hundred and forty-four thousand saints having His father's name written in their foreheads. These are redeemed from among men and are the first fruits unto God and the Lamb." In this church John saw an angel fly in the midst (of the church.) heaven having the everlasting gospel to preach." Thi angel was St. Paul, or other apostles who preached, but as time ant centuries went by, the church fled into the wilderness when captured by Cathology and then there followed an other angel who was Arius, and others who taught in the wilderness, that Babylon, the great church system, would fall which was the great city, or beast of power known today as false religion, politics and false economy; and there followed, a third angel Peter Waldo or Martin Luther to warn the people concerning this beast of power that whosoever joined it the same shall drink of the wine of the wrath of God. Whosoever worship this beast and his image receives the mark of his name, thereby fail to keep the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus. But all who keep the faith of Jesus, die in the Lord and their works do follow them, and they do not receive the mark of the beast.

John looked again through the telescope of time. and saw a white cloud, the emblem of the church. Upon this white cloud church one like the son of man sat wearing a golden crown and within his hand a sharp sickle. This sickle angel is not Jesus, but a member of the body of Christ. It is one of the 144 thousand chosen saints, and the Lord is now commanding one of these now born in the white cloud church, to thrust in the sickle and reap the harvest of the earth, and the sickle is a sharp sword that goes out of his mouth that with it, he should smite the nations. In this white cloud church, which is spiritual, the last horse leaves heaven," and he is a white horse and the rider is Faithful & True, and he shall judge in righteousness and make war." "and he that sat on the cloud thrust in his sickle on the earth; and the earth was reaped." This means that all spiritually born Christians will gather themselves together waiting and expecting the coming event. The angel is a Christian with information which separates the Lord's people from the worldly. Another angel came out of the temple of heaven out of the white cloud church with a sharp sickle. He is commanded to thrust his sharp sickle in, and gather the clusters of the vine of the earth, which is political grapes, and also the rich mans money; for today his grapes are fully ripe. "And the angel thrust in his sickle into the eart, (which sickle is information, or a system of exposing) and gathered (the millionaire Vine System) into the vine of the earth and cast it, (the millionaire Vine System) into the great winepress of the wrath of God." "And out of his mouth (out of the exposing system of information) goeth a sharp sword. that with it he should smite the nations: and he shall rule them with a rod of iron; and he treadeth the winepress of the fierceness and wrath of Almighty God" Rev. 19:15. The winepress is a banking system with all the gold on earth lumped together and operated, and blood or money which is the life sustaining medium, comes out of the Winepress-Bank even so plentiful that mankind will wade in plenty up to the horse's bridles, which will last 6 hundred years beyond the millenium, a space of a thousand and six hundred years. "And the winepress was trodden without the city, and blood came out of the winepress, even unto the horse bridles, and by a space of a thousand and six hundred furlongs. "--Which means the sweet-blood of Laborers which is now horded by a few will come out of the winepress and it shall be scatteerd and distributed, or trodded without the present cities or present governments. Money will be so plentiful all over the world, even unto the horse bridles, through a righteous system and through a space of time in which money or a checking system shall continuually be circulated or revolve for a thousand and six hundred years It shall be used according and upon a revolving law.--J. D. Wright.

It's Our Opinion

WHAT ABOUT THE GOOD DEEDS? --

--BY BOB TUCKER

Newspapers of the State of Alabama are generally falling way short of the mark when it comes to "trying to find the good in a thing" attitude in their editorial policy. We do not believe in feeding a young'un wholly on candy, nor do we believe in the "kill 'em with kindness" attitude.

We do believe that, whenever possible, a newspapers attitudes and opinions should be based on a possible "good" that it may do in future minutes, hours, days or years.

It is the accepted rule, practically without exception, to belittle, begrudge, find fault with and generally condemn one present state dministration in a manner which is unequalled in our history.

Granting even that what most is said is true, it carries little value and borders on the unnecessary. So the voters made a mistake. . .don't they always? So the legislation is stupid. . . it always is! And the whole business is going to pot and spends a degrading amount of money on strong drink, etc. . .

What we're trying to say is the only mountains which are very stable are the ones the Lord put here in the first place and those made from mole hills are very inadequate.

It is our opinion that, though the present Governor has been "uncalled for' in many instances, he has also contributed a great deal to the State of Alabama. Things which will be aorund for some time to come. Are there no laurels for deeds well done?

We appreciate crusaders when they are crusading for something.

We detest scape goat hunters, unscrupulous writers, and mongers who thrive on the weakeness of others.

We can still hold our head erect when we say "Big Jim" is our Governor, possibly because we're proud of our State, the first fact which you will probably laugh at, but there's a wonderful advantage we have in that respect friend, it's a free country and our opinions are entirely our own!

THINGS We see and hear

by BOB

An officer of the law, as such, is to preserve the rights of the public Each officer of the law should be well versed in his obligations to the public as well as vice versa Too many instances the "public servants" deems it his God given right to inform the public in one way or another the fact that he is an officer of the law and respect for him is essential. We had a "deputy sheriff" stop a member of our family the other night who apparently thought that respect for his person was ultimate rather than respect for his position (which we think IS essential). In the first place he stopped our car to inform us that one light was out, a fact which we appreciate and understand. Then he "requested" a driver's license, also understandable, but when asked for his credentials ("who are you) he offered nothing except "I'm a deputy sheriff" as if that made him a god of some magnitude. He apparently displayed no badge, he wore no gun, he drove an out of county automobile and he was in the company of another party." These facts do not, to our thinking, evidence that he was what he claimed to be. Under the circumstances, he should have displayed some form of identification, otherwise he should have discontinued the conversation after informing the driver that a light was out. He went not out of his way to be poilte and was very smug in the fact that HE was a deputy sheriff. We personally are a "John Q." and we also feel the importance of being just that and no more. When we are requested to present our drivers license or any other license we expect to be treated with the respect due any citizen and we'd like to remind said deputy that we will at all time cooperate with any law enforcement officer providing that first we are assured he is what he says he is. We feel reasonably certain that even gods have credentials in case 'unbelievers' come along.

Fellow told us the other day, as we were discussing a form of economics: "you could give Joe Smith (meaning the Sinclair man) $50,000 and he'd pretty soon be a millionaire!" This fellow has so much confidence in Joe's ability that the next time we get our hands on 50 grand we're going to get Joe to handle it for us. Wow!

On second thought, if we had 50 grand, we don't think we could see far enough ahead to do anything other than spend it!

THE FIZZLE FAMILY

By H. T. ELMO

1,575,000 PERSONS IN STATE PROTECTED BY IN SURANCE

The number of people in Alabama covered by voluntary health insurance has reached a new high, the Health Insurance Council reported today. The Council estimates that over 1,575,000 persons in the state now are protected by some form of insurance designed to help pay hospital and doctor bills.

This figure, the Council said is part of the continued growth of health insurance throughout the country, which was revealed in its 12th annual survey of the extent of voluntary health insurance coverage for 1957. The number of people covered by some form of insurance in the nation, according to a Council estimate, is now 123,000,000, or 72% of the total U. S civilian population.

The Council survey based on reports of insurance programs of insurance companies, Blue Cross - Blue Shield and other health care plans points out that 1,575,000 persons covered by hospital expense insurance in Alabama as of December 31, 1957, represents the 1956 reported total of 1,399,000.

The number of people with surgical insurance, which helps to defray the cost of physicians' charges for operations, climbed to 1,496,000 as compared to 1,414,000 in 1956.

Persons protected by regular medical expense insurance, providing for doctor visits for non-surgical care, rose to 1,032,000 compared to 963,000 the year before.

The Health Insurance Council, which is a federation of eight insurance associations representing over 90% of the accident and health insurance business handled by insurance companies, stated that this growth reflects the desire of the people of Alabama to help protect themselves against the cost of accident and illness.

CONSERVATION --

PAYMENT RATE SET FOR '59

Alabama's basic rate for annual 1959 Conservation Reserve program has been set at $12.00 per acre payments under the Soil Bank's Mr. Eddie Owen, Chairman, Chilton County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, has announced. For previous years the program, the State's basic annual payment rate was $8.00 per acre.

Average annual payment rates for Alabama counties, based on the 1959 State rate, will be announced later. Mr. Owen declared. These county rates will vary according to land productivity, rental value, and the fixed costs farmers will have to meet to comply with the program.

Individual farm rates within a county will vary along the same lines, except that no farm rate may exceed 20 percent of the value of the land in the farm.

The 1959 Conservation Reserve program includes additional incentives for farmers to "reserve" all their eligible land on their farms for at least 5 years and a priority system for accepting Conservation Reserve contract applications. "Eligible land", in general is cropland which is regularly used for cultivated crops or tame hay.

As in former years, two types of payment will be made under the program--a cost-share payment for carrying out a conservation practice on the "reserve" land and annual rental payments during the life of the contract.

The Conservation Reserve is being opened earlier this year, the Chairman explained since the other phase of the Soil Bank--the Acreage Reserve--will not be in effect in 1959. While a definite opening date has not yet been announced for the program signup, it is expected to start around the first of September.

THE ESSENTIALS OF A PRESCRIPTION

The small bit of paper the doctor gives a patient and calls a prescription consists of four parts. These parts include the superscription, inscription, subscription, and transcription. The superscription is indicated by the symbol R|. R| stands for the Latin verb recipe me aning take.

Many persons have a misconception that this mark on a prescription is a relic of ancient hocuspocus when the priest used mystic words or symbols to impress the patient as he muttered some abracadabra while administering medicine. The inscription on a prescription gives the name and amount of each drug or preparation to be used. The subscription contains brief directions to pharmacist to mix and make or divide. Finally, the transcription has to do with directions to the patient for taking or using medicine and the signature of the doctor who wrote the prescription. It is customary to write the ingredients of the prescription in Latin, not to mystify the patient, but because Latin names are official and as such are recognized everywhere by pharmacists and physicians.

Federal legislation has placed restrictions on the sale of drugs and official and non-official drugs are now classified as restricted and non-restricted. The label on a restricted drug must carry the words, "Federal law prohibits dispensing without a prescription." Stone tablets containing prescriptions have been found which dated back to the time of Cheops, the Egyptian king, about 3700 B. C. Prescriptions are as old as pills.

ONE LONG AWAITED

"THE BRIDGE ON THE RIVER KWAI" will be featured at Clanton Drive-In Theatre for four straight nights during this month. This movie has won many awards for 1958 and is recommended entertainment in practically anyone's book. Dates for the showing are Sunday through Wednesday, Sept. 14-17. Management says admission will be 75c for this movie only. One showing each night, feature beginning at 7:45.

FHA LOANS INCREASING

Private lenders are increasing their stake in the Farmers Home Administration's program of long - term loans to qualified farmers to buy or improve family-type farms or establish good soil and water conservation practices, Isaac C. Byrd, Farmers Home Administration county supervisor, pointed out this week.

His agency is authorized to insure farm real estate loans that are made from funds advanced other institutions having money to by banks, insurance companies, or invest. Since the recent change in the money market, activity by investors has greatly increased.

During the past 6 months, the national monthly volume of new insured loan business has risen from approximately $1,250,000 to $5,000,00 a month.

For either a direct or insured loan the farmers pay 4½ percent interest. If the loan is insured, the lender or investor gets a clear 3½ percent and the Government guarantees payment of both principal and interest.

The full guarantee and the money market change have put many local banks in position to contribute to a stronger local agriculture by helping farmers otherwise unable to buy or improve their farms, Mr. Byrd said.

After a 5-year period the private lender may sell the insured note to the Government for the amount of principal and interest due, may arrange for later sale, or may hold until the note is ful repaid. In case of default, the Government stands ready to take the note over with no loss to the investor. The Farmers Home Administration takes care of all collection and servicing details.

A Eulogy to Lt. Commander William Creighton Ruddick

Lt. Cmdr. William Creighton Ruddick, USNR

Lieutenant Commander William Creighton Ruddick was born on November 7, 1924, at Stanton, Alabama, where he was also reared. He was the son of William Leon and Eula Gay Ruddick and the paternal grandson of the late Reverend William J. and Luck Smitherman Ruddick.

Cmdr. Ruddick attended Stanton Junior High School at Stanton and Maplesville High School at Maplesville, Ala., from which he graduated in 1942. Upon his graduation from high school he joined the U. S. Navy at the age of seventeen and has spent more than sixteen years in the Navy.

During his service in the Navy he was eager to advance and took advantage of every opportunity to attend school. Under the V - 12 program of the Navy, he attended the following colleges and universities: Indiana State Teachers College. Ohio Wesleyan University, Northwestern University at Chicago (where he was commissioned as ensign), Naval Gunnery school at Washington, D. C., Stanford University School of Law at Oakland, California, and the U. S. Naval School of Justice, Port Hueneme, California. He spoke fluently the Japanese and the Ponapean languages.

After completing the above studies he was assigned to the Trust Territory in the Pacific Islands. He was stationed during this tour of duty on Ponape (ECI), Palou (WCI) and Guam (MI) islands. He saw service as gunnery officer on the following destroyers: the USS L. F. Mason, the USS Chevalier, and the John W. Thompson. From 1950 to 1952 he served in Japan, Hong Kong and Formosa. In 1955 he was commanding officer of the Naval and Marine Training Center at Madison, Wisconsin. After this duty he was sent as an administrative officer to Saipan in the Mariana Islands. Following these two years aboard he returned to become commanding officer at the U. S. Naval Reserve Training Center, Benton, Harbor, Michigan. During January, February, and March of this year he served as inspection officer for the Reserve Training Centers in Wisconsin; this service being in addition to his regular duties as commanding officer. Commander Ruddick left in his personal files at the home of his parents many, many "Letters of Commendation" from the Navy Department and his superior officers. In April of 1958 he was placed on inactive duty, and after a brief illness, returned home to spend some time with his parents.

Commander Ruddick was awaiting instructions from a firm in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, as to where and when he would leave for Korea as an employee of this corporation. He was to have served as an instructor of civilian personnel; he was expecting to be approved and hired as a "Construction Equipment Specialist", having had wide experience in the Pacific islands in the construction of roads, air strips and other such projects.

Commander Ruddick died on the morning of August 21, 1958, as the result of an automobile accident. While driving home along State Highway 22 from Selma, where he had visited friends, his Oldsmobile sedan went out of control on a curve six and one-half miles north of Selma. The car crashed into an embankment and overturned; Commander Ruddick was rushed unconscious to the Selma Baptist Hospital, where he was pronounced dead soon after arrival. He was driving alone at the time of the accident; he may have dozed at the wheel, however, the exact circumstances of the wreck are uncertain.

Funeral services were held at Greslin Funeral Chapel, Selma, Alabama, on Friday afternoon, August 22, 3.00 p.m. The Rev. William F. Rasberry, pastor of the Northside Baptist Church, Selma, and a former pastor of the Maplesville Baptist Church near Stanton, officiated at the services. Burial was in the Stanton cemetery with military honors, the Rev. J. B. Mizzell, pastor of the Hillcrest Baptist Church, officiating. Commander Ruddick was a member of the Ebenezer Baptist Church at Stanton, having joined there at the age of fourteen. Craig Air Base at Selma provided the honor guard for the World Wall II and Korean veteran.

Commander Ruddick received many medals during his service in the Navy; among them weer the following: Faithful Service, Good Conduct, Occupation Medal, Asiatic, China Service Extended, National Defense Medal, Korean Service Medal with Two Campaign Stars, United Nations Medal, and the Presidential Unit Citation.

Besides his parents, Commander Ruddick's immediate survivors are his sister, Mrs. Bobby (Peggy) Eddy of Stanton, his brother, the Rev. Eddie L. Ruddick, pastor of the Brent Baptist Church in Brent, Alabama, and his maternal grandfather, Thomas M. Gay of Stanton.

Out of town relatives attending the rites of the late Lt. Comdr. William C. Ruddick were:

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Osborne, and family of Selma; the family of Mrs. Ella Ruddick Melton of Selma; Mr. Jim Ruddick and family of Bogalusa, La.;; Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Ruddick of Cardova, Ala.; Mrs. Georgia Ruddick and family of Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. U. T. Ruddick and family of Stanton, Birmingham, and Pensacola, Fla.; the family of the late Mrs. Martha Ruddick Rasberry of Birmingham; the family of the late Mrs. Alice Ruddick Milam of Birmingham; Mrs. John (Leila Gay) Haran of Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Horace Gay and family of Birmingham; Mrs. Letha Gay Foshee and family of Birmingham; Mrs. John S. (Ophelia Gay) Carter and family of Stanton, Selma, Birmingham, and Clanton, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. Hillard Gay and family of Fairfield, Ala; Mr. Martin Gay and family of Centreville, Ala.

ALA FARM BUREAU ENDORSES ONE CENT TAX

At the annual meeting of the Farm Bureau on August 27 the membership voted unanimously to endorse the proposed one per cent sales tax which the Board of Education is interested in having passed for the biulding, equipping, and maintaining of the schools of Chilton County.

As president of the Farm Bureau, I believe this will be the solution to meeting some of the pressing needs of Chilton County Schools at this particular time. This will be a fair tax and everyone will pay it. It is the cheapest and best way to support our schools.

I heartily endorse the action taken by the Farm Bureau in wanting to do our part toward making Chilton County Schools petter for our boys and girls. — James H. Kincaid, President of Chilton County Farm Bureau.

WELCOME TO CHILTON COUNTY FAIR SEPT. 1 THRU 6

From my front porch

By CARL HELM

To see grass growing in cracks of sidewalks probably pains tidier souls. But I walked so many miles on so many hard, unyielding pavements of so many great cities! A sidewalk with a scraggle of grass in an occasional crack, then, delights my heart: it is Nature, triumphant. . . .

Once, in New York, my window in a skyscraper looked out on a lone little tree, bravely battling for existence in the stony, gaseous heart of Manhattan. It withered and died in a year. So now, in the deeply shaded streets of my hometown, I like it somehow when a determined old elm or maple pushes up the sidewalk with its roots. Nature ain't licked yet, I say to myself, by man's "civilized" contrivances! . .

A friend sent me this verse:

"The happiest heart that ever beat,
"Was in some tranquil breast,
"That found the common daylight sweet,
"And left to God the rest!"

Then he PS'd: "Have you read the 103rd Psalm lately?"

I hadn't, but I did — and I recommend it to you! . . .

DON'T become a statistic. Drive safely.

Lending a helping hand to a friend in trouble you can be certain of one thing . . . he's sure to remember you . . . the next time he's in trouble.

THE life expectancy of American submarines is about 13 to 15 years because of exposure to salt water.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS from The Bible

Charity suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up.—(I Corinthians 13, 4.)

The real meaning of charity is a deep and true love of one's fellow men; this includes an abiding understanding of and sympathy for their faults and failings as we realize our own—and it means humility, and gratitude to God for the power and privilege of helping someone in spiritual, mental or physical need.

Cotton or rayon garments labeled "crease resistant," "minimum care," "drip dry," and "little or no ironing" should not be put in a wash with chloride bleach unless the label says it can be used. The bleach can cause the fabric to turn yellow and split when you press it. Perborate powder bleaches are safe to use when needed.

Ever since the first wave of settlers landed in Canada, more than 300 years ago, designs used in Canadian crafts have shown a delightful mixture of European, Asiatic, Indian and Native influence. Eskimo stone, bone and ivory carvings, Indian bead work, baskets and leather-work; and distinctive Canadian designs in hand woven materials, pottery, wood carvings, metal work and leather goods fashioned by craftsmen of various descents are in constant demand, by visitors to Canada. SUMMER TIRE TRUTHS

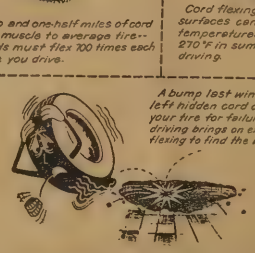
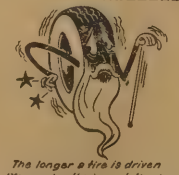
Two and one-half miles of cord give muscle to average tire--cords must flex 700 times each mile you drive.

Cord flexing plus hot road surfaces can cause tire-temperatures as high as 270°F in summer turnpike driving.



A bump last winter may have left hidden cord damage, marked your tire for failure when vacation driving brings on extra heat and flexing to find the weak spot.



The longer a tire is driven the greater the impact danger. In lab tests, new nylon cord tires withstood 650,000 impacts, new rayon cord tires 80,000. After 54,500 miles, nylon stood 204,000 impacts, rayon, 7,800.

Safety-conscious aviation field led in adopting nylon cord, now used 100% on military and commercial planes and available in 280 brands of passenger car tires

CHILTON COUNTY NEWS

CLANTON, ALABAMA | VOLUME XXXVI | THURSDAY, SEPT. 11, 1958 | NUMBER 37

MRS. J. H. Wells, our Isabella correspondent reports her husband much improved and is expected home within the next week or so. This is good news and we are sure his many friends will be glad to know he will be able to be with them in the near future.

ANOTHER or our correspondents Mrs. Estelle Hayes of Thorsby, suffered the loss of her sister, Mrs Paul Davis this past week end. Mrs. Davis had been sick for sometime and her death was not unexpected. We deeply sympathize with the family in their hour of bereavement.

THREE early enrollees at Alabama College at Montevallo this year were Roy Messer of Clanton, Jerry Benson of Jemison and James Kendrick of Clanton. These three young men are among dozens leaving this month for college. We wish these youngsters the best of luck and happiness in their college days.

THE Grand Jury just recessed took a dim view of the fact that so many of the voting boxes in the county used the same list of names for use by the election official at the polls. Judge Dave Tingle has been trying for a long time to get this corrected but according to his statement has had no cooperation to date.

THE Chilton County Chapter of the American Red Cross kick-off takes place this morning at nine o'clock from the Dixie Cafe. If you haven't yet--get ready to.

MRS. Leonard Farley says she agrees with us 100 percent. These mornings are wonderful--for sleeping not getting up.

THAT traffic light at the Presbyterian Church and the Selma road that we spoke of in an editorial in this issue as "going to be put up" has already been installed. The lights haven't been turned on however. That, is unless they turn them on before we can get this column finished.

REMEMBER, if the voters will vote for the 1c sales tax in the November election every penny of the money collected will go for the improvement of your county schools. For better conditions for your children. Not one penny will go for the teacher salaries, but for remodelling, building, making more room for more children and to better equip them for their future.

IT was in a remote section of the country where the tobacco crop had been a failure on account of the prolonged drouth. One afternoon three tobacco growers met on the porch of a little corner general store, and as they sat on the porch glumly, they passed a jug of corn liquor around freely from one to the other.

"My wife is a wonderful woman to stick with me through this drouth," said one man sadly. "When I sell my tobacco I'm going to buy her a piano."

"That's a good idea," said the second man. "I'm going to buy my wife a washing machine and some new clothes. How about you, Jim?"

"Better pass me that jug again," drawled Jim. "I ain't even out of debt yet!"

Free Flyin' Miss

MINNIE WADE WINS PILOTS LICENSE AT 17-SHE'S NO. 6 FOR 'FLYING WADES'

Minnie celebrated her 17th birthday by getting her Private Pilot's license. To get this coveted paper one must have 40 hours of dual and solo flight time. Ten hours must be solo cross-country.

It wasn't just a coincidence on the birthday a bit. Minnie planned it that way. Just like she planned and soloed on her sixteenth birthday.

Sixteen is the minimum age a person can fly an airplane solo and seventeen is the minimum age a person can get a private flying license. Otherwise she would have tucked that paper away earlier.

Her most recent license means that Minnie can fly passengers in the airplane.

Minnie has been interested in flying all her life, father Charlie has a commercial and instructors license, mother, brother Buddy, sister Elizabeth have Private licenses, sister, Peggy, has a student license, and brother Cecil, 12 years old, has quite a few hours at the controls flying with his dad.

SUNDAY, SEPT. 14.

WILLIAMS REUNION

The annual Williams reunion will be held at the New Cedron Baptist Church Sunday, September 14. All relatives and friends are urged to attend.

There will be a message by the pastor, Bro. Moore at the eleven o'clock hour. After the lunch and fellowship the afternoon will be devoted to singing in the new song books with Mr. J. D. Devaughn as Chairman.

ELECTED PRESIDENT GAISSONS CLUB; AP!

Don Davis of Clanton, has been elected president of the Gaissons Club at Alabama Polytechnic Institute for the school year which begins on Sept. 22.

BROTHERHOOD MEETING

The last Associational Brotherhood meeting, ending the Associational year, will be held at Liberty Baptist Church Monday night Sept 15th at 7:30 p.m. There will be information and discussion about the Brotherhood work. All pastors and laymen are urged to attend Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

AT API—

SELECTED AS STUDENT LEADER

Ann Spicer, Clanton, has been selected as a student leader. School of Science and Literature, Alabama Polytechnic Institute. In her role Ann will laid incoming freshmen with orientation and registration beginning September 21.

She was selected to the position because of outstanding ability and her academic record. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Spicer of Clanton.

NO. OF CASES—

DIPHTHERIA TAKES DIP

As of August 23, Alabama had reported less than half as many cases of diptheria as were listed during the same period last year. According to records of the State Health Department, this year's total on that date was 16 while the 1957 figure was 34.

Although Alabama has reported considerably less diphtheria this year, only five states have reported more cases. They are Texas 41, Georgia and Minnesota 30 each, Oklahoma 25 and Florida 23.

Wanda's On Her Way . . .

Sunday morning, September 14, at 11:00 a.m. little Wanda Limbrick will leave Montgomery aboard a national guard C-47 plane for her date with the decisive operation which could save her young life.

Flying to Chicago with Wanda will be her mother and her doctor who will attend her while she is gone.

During the past several weeks while new attention and hope has been given to Wanda, she herself, has been bubbling over with excitement and renewed faith in her chances of being a normal healthy child for the first time in her life.

Her doctor has been amazed at her physical achievement due, it is believed, to her now outlook on her condition.

And so thousands of Alabamians have each, literally, given Wanda and her family something good to hope for.

The Fund in her behalf attained the proportions of somewhere between $3500 and $4000 and a special Board of Directors of The Wanda Limbrick Fund has been appointed and is in the process of deciding the best ways to handle the available funds

Chairman of this Board is Joe Turner of Billingsley, Wanda's hometown. Along with him from Billingsley is Mr. Gilliland. From the Clanton Civitan Club are Honrie Little and Representative Frances Speaks. Representing the Civitans of Prattville are Mr. Northington and Mr. Smith; Also serving on this committee during its first formal meeting was Noel Robinson, president of Clanton Civitans and outstanding worker in the Wanda Limbrick Fund organization.

The time draws near for Wanda's chance at living. And with the prayers of scores upon scores of people are that she will successfully complete her trying times and come well, happy and this is for certain. . she will be coming home to possibly the greatest number of close friends that any little girl her age would or is hoped to have. Good Luck Wanda!

GOOD LUCK, WANDA!

TWO INDICTED IN ELECTION FRAUD

Car Thief Nabbed Here After Wild Spree

Wednesday night, September 3 James Scott alias David Long 29-year-old escapee from Mobile County Jail was apprehended here due to the quick thinking of Lewis "Pig" Headley and efficient action of Sheriff Hugh Champion

Scott is also wanted in Jefferson County on a similar charge. According to reports, he bought a Lincoln convertible with a bad check at $900 in Columbus, Ga. He drove to Clanton and during his time here he traded for a '50 Ford owned by Lewis Headley. He then drove the Ford to Little Rock where he wrecked it, putting one person in the hospital. Sheriff reports that he said he sold the auto for $35. He then rented a U-Drive It '58 model Chevrolet and drove back to Clanton where he offered to trade it for a '55 Ford owned by Lewis Headley.

Needless to say, Mr. Headley became suspicious and notified the FBI. Upon their arrival Sheriff Champion was notified and Scott was put under arrest. He was taken to Montgomery by the Federal officers.

Scott has also served time in Mississippi State Prison. His records show that he is a native of Perdido, Ala., down around Mobile.

CIVIC CENTER COMMITTEE MET

Monday at noon at Bob's Cafe the Community Center Committee met for the first meeting since late Spring. Purpose of the committee get-together was a reorganization of the plans for a F. H. drive to continue the fund drive started earlier in the year.

The property allocated by the City Council in the City Park has been cleared but has not been filled in yet.

To date the treasurer has $3,301.65 donated by the various clubs and citizens towards the community center.

Plant rye on productive, well-drained soils.

DANCE STUDIOS OPEN TODAY

The Prince Dance Studios will open Thursday of this week at the Veteran's Club on the Enterprise road. Ballet and tap will be taught and classes will begin at 1 o'clock.

FOR SCHOOLS—

GARDEN CLUB UNANIMOUSLY ENDORSES 1 CENT SALES TAX

The Garden Club of Clanton met Thursday afternoon in the first regular meeting of this year. Mr. LeCroy, Superintendent of Education made a most informative talk to the Club in which he told of the pressing need for classrooms and facilities in our County School System. Since many of the women in this Club have children in school, or nearing school age, they were all very interested in this subject.

Mr. LeCroy stressed the fact that this election on November 4th would not actually levy the One Cent Sales Tax but rather would express to our County's members of the State Legislature our approval and desire that they introduce and pass such Legislation through the State Legislature. He invited all members to visit our schools and see for themselves the crowded conditions, lack of facilities and in many cases the dangerous conditions in which our children attend school.

A motion was made and seconded that the Club express its approval of this One Cent Sales Tax and endorse the Superintendent and Board of Education in this effort to improve our social facilities. After discussion, this motion was passed unanimously. Sept. 9, 1958.

CLANTON HAS A NEW BAKERY

Last Saturday a new bakery was opened in the building next to Central Alabama Gas Company.

The bakery will specialize in all kinds of pastries and take orders for special cakes, pies and cookies for parties and anniversaries. Bob Wilmarth is the proprietor who is assisted by Mrs. Wilmarth.

CKICKEN BAR-B-Q AT CITY PARK

There will be a chicken bar-b-q at the City Park next Wednesday evening. The supper is sponsored by the WSCS of Walnut Creek. Plates will consist of chicken, slaw, potato salad, dessert and drink. Serving will start at 5 p. m. and the public is cordially invited.

GRAND JURY TURNS IN 35 TRUE BILLS

STATE OF ALABAMA,
CHILTON COUNTY.

Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama, July Term, 1958.

To The Honorable Oakley W. Melton, as Judge of said Court:

After having been empannelled and receiving your Honor's charge, we entered upon the investigation of all matters that came before us and herewith submit the following report:

During our deliberation we examined 95 witnesses and are herewith returning 35 true bills.

A personal inspection of the County Jail found it to be generally neat and safe for the detention of the prisoners housed therein.

A personal inspection of the County Court House building revealed it still to be in a run-down condition and with insufficient room and vaults to house essential County records. For the most part the sanitary facilities are a disgrace to the people of Chilton County. It is the opinion of this Grand Jury that a new Court House building large enough to accomodate all agencies of our county government is an absolute necessity. It is our recommendation that action be initiated to again have citizens of Chilton County vote on the measure as to whether or not we should have a new Court House building.

A great portion of the Grand Jury's time was devoted to the investigation of the alleged irregularities of the May 6, 1958 Primary Election. An examination of all the ballot boxes of the May 6 Primary revealed that the said boxes had not been tampered with in any way since election day. All ballots were in the ballot boxes and proper seals were on all ballots.

A thorough check was made of the voters who voted challenged ballots. A large number of persons voted in the May 6 Primary who were not qualified to vote in Chilton County. It was found that the election officials failed to comply with the law pertaining

'Pig' Presents Charlie With Heifer

A Boost To Local Youth

Lewis Headley, owner and operator of Pig's Super Market, is shown making his annual award of a registered Jersey heifer. Receiving the 1958 award is Charles Strain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Strain who is looking on with an approving smile.

This is the third heifer that "Pig" has awarded to an outstanding 4-H Club member. Major projects which Charles has completed are three years in corn production, two years producing over 100 bushels per acre; he has fed and marketed twelve 4-H feeder beef calves, and now has two Registered Hereford brood cows.

Charles is now feeding five more steers for the Spring Fat Stock Show in 1959. Profits from the sale of these steers will be used to purchase more brood cows. With the continuation of his 4-H projects Charles' college financial problems will be solved after graduation from High School.

Congratulations again to Pig for his voluntary support of the County's 4-H Club program and its future.

PAYTON BUYS LOCAL EATERY

The Clanton Lunch Room Cafe has been purchased by O'Delle Payton and will be operated by him in the future.

Regular dinners and short orders will be served as will all kinds of sandwiches, hot dogs, hamburgers and barbecue.

The new management invites you to come in and visit them.

A BABY BOY

A six pound boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. James A. Minor of Shreveport, La. Wednesday morning. Mrs. Minor was the former Joyce Veazey of Isabella. The grand parents are Mr. and Mrs Renfro Veazey and Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Minor. They named the newcomer Jeffery Allen.

CHILDERSBURG FIRST —

Clanton's Coach Has New Style; Old Knack

The 1958 Chilton County football Tigers take the field Friday night, Sept. 12, seeking revenge from the perennial football power from Childersburg.

Clanton's eleven will enter the games with a new coach, a new type offense, and an inexperienced team. The new coach is Don Finlayson, and assistant last year who has moved up replacing the retiring F. H. "Bull" Spicer. Also new on the coaching staff is assistant Roy Scruggs, who graduated from Livingston and played on the same team with Coach Finlayson. The new offence is the "T" formation installed by Coach Finlayson replacing the sigle wing. The inexperienced team must replace eight starters from last year's highly successful eleven which won nine games and lost only one. That one to Childersburg.

The Tiger lineup's of 1958 include Captain and Co-Captains, Neil Rice and James Knight, the offensive sparkplugs of last year who led the team in scoring. Also in the backfield will be Buddy Vines a 175 lb. junior quarterback, and Junior Baker a 155 pounder who will play fullback.

Replacing the line that held 7 team scoreless last year will be Elliot Monroe a 160 lb. sophomore and Kenneth Ray, 155 lb. senior, who will play at the ends. Billy Miller at 160 lbs. will alternate with Ray. At the tackles will be 200 lb. Junior, Tom Edwards and 180 lb. Ralph Davis. Don Jones and Jimmy Dennis, a pair of 170 lb. juniors will operate at the guards. Don Norton, a 155 lb. defensive whiz, will play center.

Substituting in the backfield will be Tem Shelton, Larry Culpepper, Mike Mims, Buddy Baker, John Will Wyatt, and Warren Edwards.

Ready for line duty are John Argo, Bobby Easterling, Melvin Billingsley, Don Pottridge, David Cobb, Freddie Lewis, Clay Carrol, Gene Roach.

Coach Finlayson and assistants Scruggs and V. L. Bulger say that the teams has lots of hustle, spirit and desire. They will win some ball games.

The season may not be entirely successful, but there should be lots of excitement. Support the Tigers this Friday night at 7:30.

TAX RELIEF

Vice President Richard Nixon called for "Top-Bracket Tax Relief" in a speech last week to the Harvard School Association. The idea sounded very much like a man who expected to be a presidential candidate in 1960.

However, our guess is that if he wants to get anywhere with the American electorate he had better change that line to "Low or medium bracket tax relief." That would interest many more voters and maybe fool some of the people. What we need is tax relief for the little man. We, somehow, just can't find it in our heart to weep for the tax troubles of the top bracket tax payers.

HIGHER CIVILIZATION

What kind of higher civilization" do we have when more than sixteen hundred people can be killed in three week-end holidays this summer? Mind you, that amount were killed--plus thousands maimed and unestimated thousands of dollars in property loss.

The American people had better slow down. We are racing to oblivion in shiny new automobiles.

The present "modern" highway being constructed through the state is expected to be finished in the early or mid-sixties. At the rate speed and power are being put into new automobiles by the time the "modern highway is finished it will be "old-fashioned" and dangerous to drive on.

Less speed and more care for the other man is the only answer. Try to practice it whenever you drive.

ANOTHER IMPROVEMENT

It is reported from City Hall that a traffic light will soon go up at the school crossing at the Presbyterian Church and Selma Road. This is another decided improvement in our city for which the present City Administration is making itself famous.

May their good work go on and on.

YOUR MONEY --

We read somewhere that a reader of an Oregon newspaper had written offering a suggestion that the people stop the silly practice of calling Federal financed projects "government money" or Federal Funds".

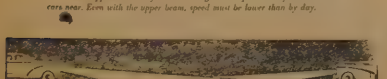
Instead he thinks we should start calling it just what it is: "Our money" or "taxpayers" money, or "your money" There's a lot of sense in this statement and it would wake the people up to the fact that the money, whatever it is for, comes out of their own pocket. It isn't something past down from Heaven or donated by Santa Clause--it's your money, and our money, and "the taxpaer's money". And that includes everyone in the country because even if your salary is so low you don't pay income tax there is always the hidden taxes on everything you buy.

The use of the term "your money" or "taxpayer's money" would be a tremendous help in correcting this impression by some of our wasters. Anyway, next time you read about Government spending remember it's our money, collected in taxes that most of the smaller income group can ill afford to pay.

LOCAL ADVERTISERS HAVE INCREASED OVER 100% DURING THE PAST THREE MONTHS IN CHILTON COUNTY NEWS THERE MUST BE A REASON!

USE HIGH AND LOW HEADLIGHT BEAMS PROPERLY

Use upper beam only when driving in the open country without other cars near. Even with the upper beam, speed must be lower than by day.



Always use lower beam when approaching other cars so as not to blind the driver. Also use lower beam when driving where there are street lights, in a fog and when following another car closely.

STILL DOWN TO EARTH

Labor and related expenses per loaf of bread to the baker "have just about tripled since 1945," according to a report released by the Agricultural Marketing Service of the United States Department of Agriculture. The price of retail bread, however, is up only 35% in that period.

The report titled, "The Marketing and Transportation Situation" showed that between 1948 and 1957 the average price of bread has increased from 13.9c per pound to 18.8c per pound. The farmer's share of this price received for ingredients—flour, shortening, sugar — declined from 3.4c to 3.2c.

"Increases in wages and salaries (paid by the baker), since they are the largest part of the (baker's) expense, accounted for the major growth in the baker-wholesale margin," the report states. "Between 1951 and 1957, average hourly earnings for bakery employees rose from $1.43 to $1.92. Indirect labor payments in the form of fringe benefits and social security taxes also made advances and in 1957 probably amounted to more than five times the 1945 level."

"Combined costs of advertising and promotion and of bakery products bought for resale are more than three times what they were in 1945," the report continued. "It appears that packaging and wrapping materials also have risen in about the same proportion. Delivery expense, other than wages and salary, has more than doubled and other items have shown gains of 100 per cent or more.

"Profits of six leading baking companies declined from approximately 4% of sales in 1947 and 1948 to 2.3 per cent of sales in 1956 and 1957.

Commenting on the report, E. E. Kelley, Jr., President of the American Bakers Association, said the information was not particularly news to the baker. "We are fully aware of the climbing costs of operations," he said, adding that "bakers deserve considerable credit for holding the price increase in bread to a smaller percentage than the increase in costs of operation."

INFLUENCE OF SMALL BUSINESS

The above statistics from the American Bankers Association indicating the individual banker's expenses and his increases in overhead and in profit are very representative of other small business enterprises which altogether are doing a great deal toward holding together our economy, keeping prices reasonably down an absorbing increased overhead with less profit.

While big business, union and otherwise has increased their profit, percentage-wise the small businessman's net profit has decreased to a point which thratens his very existence.

Small business is boviously a vital part of our economy, in fact, it is the very backbone of our economic existence.

The destruction of our "backbone" would mean financial chaos and ruin. Something needs doing!

Moral Observations

Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works.--Matt. 5:16.

The direct verness of what we do or say is what really counts for good. Influence is the force behind effectiveness. We may go all -out in efforts to accomplish and achieve good ends, spending time, talents, and money, but much or all is lost without the power of influence.

We once owned an Aladin Lamp which afforded a wonderful light until something went wrong with the mantle, and the globe started smoking up, and became so blackened with soot that it no longer gave out its shining light. Our influence can be like that lamp Our influence is the globe through which the light of our good works shines to the world.

We knew a preacher who had dynamic delivery of words in the pulpit. His oratory was out of the ordinary, and his sermons bore evidence of hard work and study. In the pulpit the was a wonderful preacher. but his influence had become sooted, and the light of his great sermons could not shine through.

So much can be lost or spent in vain because of inferior influence! Self-styled religion, selfish or careless mannerisms in living, unbecoming habits and conduct may be smoking up our globes, and regardless of the ernestness or extent of of our efforts, or the eloquence of our talentas, it can not shine through to give light unto the world.

An old saintly preacher had a habit of smoking a pipe. After church services one day, he was going home with a friend who had invited him to take lunch with him. As the two of them walked toward ly asked the beloved old preacher the friend's house, the friend gentif he would mind discarding his pipe while in the presence of his small son whom he had seen a few days before in the act of trying to smoke a pipe, and when he was repremanded he protested saying, "But Brother Bell smokes a pipe!" When the friend explained that this was his reason for asking him to discard his pipe, Brother Bell, in loving apology said, "I will not only discard my pipe while in the presence of this little boy, but I will discard it for the rest of my life; because if this can be offensive to him, it is wrong for me". How we all need to keep the mantle of our lives in trim, and the globe of our Christian influence clean so that the light of all that we do or say may shine brightly before men! "THAT THEY MAY SEE YOUR GOOD WORKS"

A good woman recently passed on to her eternal reward, but her light is still burning brightly in the world. Her talents and gifts (in the sense of eloquence) was very limited, but she was great in humility and unselfishness. Her sincerity and ernestness in trying to do for others and to witness for Christ was so noticeable and impressive that it touched the lives of those with whom she came in contact And today, as we stand beside her hallowed grave, we can feel the presence of a vibrating power of illumination in our hearts that inspires us to a better and more useful life.

We are not all endowed with great talent, gifts or eloquence, but the light of purity, sincerity and ernestness of effort, can so shine through that we can all be truly the light of the world.

From my front porch
By CARL HELM

I haven't lived with a dog long enough yet to discover why in tarnation they have to dig holes. It's understandable when they have a bone that heredity impels them to bury against a rainy day (and the rainier the day, as our backyard attests, the deeper the holes!)

But, bones or no bones, my little spotted collie-terrier seems driven by some mysterious instinct to dig holes for the sheer delight (or heck) of it, with nothing to bury but his inquisitive snoot. . . .

By the way, has any old hand with dogs ever taught one to so dig one hole that the dirt he excavates will fill up the hole just behind him? . . .

Mother Nature And The Lack Of Education

This is common knowledge by now, a great deal of money came into Chilton County with this year's peach crop, but the grower got a very low percentage of the profits according to what he normally does.

Even a good businessman-farmer would have had to be sharper than usual this year due to the freak conditions that prevailed, not too few of which were brought about through the mismanagement of the grower as to the condition of his crop.

WARNED EARLY IN SEASON

Very early in the season (March) local growers were urged, reminded to thin out their crop so as to acquire the minimum 2-inch size which most buyers were looking for.

Not enough growers followed this advice and though buyers were here in abundance from chain stores as well as wholesalers they soon tired of the 'under-sized' Chilton peach this season produced and moved themselves on to greener pastures.

2-INCH FRUIT WANTED

Local packers and graders who realized that the market was going to be glutted and that 2-inch and over peaches were the accepted fruit refused to run any undersized peaches. This caused misunderstanding among growers and grader. The condition, however, was brought about by several reasons, not by the graders greed nor by the farmers failure.

One grader asserted that he ran some number of peaches this season that he knew at the time would not sell or even get to the market in good condition. He also stated that he had to run his grader machinery "at a snail's pace" this season due to the inferior quality of the fruit.

THINNING PRCTICES UNHEEDED—

And Red Glasscock reminded that had the growers listened to repeated warnings and requests to "thin that fruit" the story, though he knows not to what degree, would have been a different one. Also, those growers who have peaches and limbs laying over on the ground are reminded that proper pruning several seasons back would have prevented this widespread ruination of older trees. An example was from one Thorsby orchard where ten-year-old Elbertas produced bumper proportions and only one limb was seen to be ruined. . . this was due largely to proper pruning at the proper time.

TRICKED BY NATURE

Mother Nature tricked the Chilton peach grower this season and she has caused some friction between parties. First of all she started out with bumper crop proportions; then it got dry and the peaches were small; then she let it rain, rain, rain and the peaches, though developing into a good size, turned to water. To top this all of Mother Nature brought in North Caroline, Arkansas, Georgia, Alabama peaches practically all at the same time. She was again' us this season.

Do not fail to see, however, where we helped Mother Nature foil ourselves. Perhaps greed, perhaps necessity of a bumper crop, or maybe fear of losing to a costly freeze again caused local growers not to thin, but it is evident that this one oversight cost the grower more this season than all other factors combined.

COOPERATION, HAVE WE LEARNED ANYTHING

There is no doubt that grower can help grader and grader can help grower in our peach industry and to our way of thinking this year's misunderstanding should serve well toward that end. Cooperation between the key men in our peach industry will answer the question of "our lack of education" we cannot depend entirely on Mother Nature, but properly prepared for her uncertainties, we can overcome them to a degree of satisfaction to everyone concerned. . . but first, that cooperation is essential.

Dear Editor.

I have before me your issue of August 28th. I would just like to pass my opinion on that letter of Mr .Gletty's.

In my opinion, it should have gone "Across the Editors Desk" into the round file. (The one you burn occasionally) I know America has press freedom, but let's not abuse it. — Sincerely, Mrs. Laverne Krause.

THINGS
We see and hear
by BOB

The man who is as good as his word has to be mighty careful what he says!

Friend Bobby Lane of Sherwin-Williams here in Clanton had this one to tell us the other day. Fellow came in who identified himself as a painter and was checking over prices throughout the store. Presently he declared "If I get that outside job (meaning paint contract) I'm gonna get one of those outside brushes and if I get that inside job I'm gonna get one of those inside brushes." If he gets that all over job. . . wonder what he'll do then?

A certain member of the Clergy, who is a good friend of yours truly tells of a true experience. It seems that while at another charge (in some other town) one Sunday morning a member (a certain barber) of the congregation was giving preachers in general up and down the country. Our friend says that he soon tired of this harassment and just broke out and said "You know, I've known some barbers who made utter jackasses of themselves at times, but that didn't stop me from getting my hair cut." Well, there's a moral to this one. . . and though we don't exactly know what it is at the moment, we do know that preacher said he and this "barber" became very good friends. You did the right thing too preacher, we don't want to make any enemy out of a guy who makes it his business to handle straight razors!

Why is it that every time we set out to do a two-bit paint job we have to go and buy a two-buck brush to do it with.

Honrie Little and his little daughter went to visit Wanda Limbrick the other day and took her a great big doll. Honrie says it was worth a large maount of money to see the little girls face when she uncovered the doll. "She said, 'oh, mother, just the kind I've always wanted". Apparently this is true too because Honrie was notified the other evening that she would hardly part with it. You know, these are the things in life that really count, Honrie!

There is no limit as to how far the hand of friendship, understanding and brotherly love will extend. As your probably know, the Civitan Clubs of three local towns are sponsoring the Wanda Limbrick Fund. We learned Monday night that plans are in the making for the Civitan Club nearest to the hospital (in Chicago) where Wanda and her mother will be staying to look out for them while there. This is the finest example of what an organization of this type is for. that we have ever seen. The job is enveloping literally hundreds of persons who otherwise never would have known each other and they are working hand in hand for one noble cause. . . to save another's life. The Almighty truly works in 'strange and mysterious ways'.

Accidents and misunderstandings may not prove to be our fault when they happen, but many times it is our fault when we don't make efforts to prevent them.

Heard by way of a very nice and friendly lady that Clint Carlisle and his International Harvester business is moving to their new location in the old Dent Williams Motor Co. building sometime in October. Also heard from this very same lady, who was thrilled herself, that Clint has earned for himself a deep sea fishing trip with other members of his company for his truck-selling ability. We're proud for him and especially since it was last year when he saw the group going on the trip that he made up his mind then and there that this year he'd be one of them. Determination pays, eh?

CANCER

Discovery of cancer of the stomach in its early stage is not easy. What is called the silent or unaware period of most cases of gastric cancer does not last for a long time. Persons who suffer from upper gastrointestinal symptoms compose a large group of those patients who seek medical attention. First recognition of cancer of the stomach is usually made by the family physician or internist Many of these patients suffer from complaints which suggest the possibility of cancer of the stomach.

Little is known regarding the cause of cancer of the stomach. Vital statistics, which due to the wide margin of error are not to be taken too seriously, indicate that both heredity and enviroment are factors in cancer of the stomach. Some authorities have shown that cancer of the stomach occurs about four times as frequently among the relatives of patients with gastric cancer as would be expected on the basis of chance plays a part in the cause of gas- distribution. That enviroment tric cancer is suggested by observations on the differences in the number of cases of the disease in different localities.

In this country, recent figures show the average death rate from cancer of the stomach for white males between 35 and 74 years of age is 48 per 100,000 population. In Japan the death rate from cancer of the stomach is five times as great as among white males in the United States. In Finland, Iceland and Norway the number of cases of gastric cancer his high, approaching the level of Japan, while Canada and the United States are lowest.

Upper abdominal discomfort is the most common first symptom of cancer of the stomach. Proper examination is called for early to rule out of confirm the possibility of cancer of the stomach.

The first Navy "SeaBee" battalion went into battle Sept. 1, 1942, when they were landed on the beachhead at Guadalcanal in the Solomon Islands.

On Sept. 13, 1847, U. S. Marines stormed through the "Halls of Montezuma" on their way to Mexico City.

HOW GOD VISITED GENERAL CLARK

During our Charleston, South Carolina Crusade, I had the privilege of visiting the Citadel, South Carolina's "West Point." General Mark Clark was my gracious host, and while I was there, he told me the following inspiring story, which I believe he will be glad for me to share with you God visited the General in a crisis and helped him through one of the most desperate problems of World War II. At the last moment, before the invasion of Europe, orders came from Washington altering the invasion plans and removing the protective covering of 13,000 paratroopers who had been designated to protect the landing of General Clark's men. The General tells in his own words how God helped the Americans to meet this emergency and gave their leader strength and wisdom to lead his men to victory.

"There I was on the night of September 5—my plans twisted, yet knowing we must sail the next morning.

"Did the Germans know about the invasion? How much did they know? Just what would we run into?

"All these things were running through my mind, and with the fate of so many thousands of men, as well as the hopes of the free world, resting upon the success of the invasion, I was literally overwhelmed with a sense of my responsibility.

"Troubled and worried, I went to my cabin. A sense of my own helplessness swept over me. I desperately needed help from some greater power.

"I picked up a little book of devotions and began to read. I turned to the prayer for September 5. There I read the following inspiring lines:

Father, in Thy name I pray,
Let me know Thy will today.
With Thee I am unafraid,
For on Thee my mind is stayed.
Though a thousand foes surround,
Safe in Thee I shall be found.

"As I began to read, the words seemed fairly to leap off the page at me. A sense of another presence overpowered me. A great reassurance of the rightness of our cause, as well as the certainty of ultimate victory, came. God was with me. I knew it. I felt his presence! And a glad thankfulness rose in my heart. I knew we would succeed.

"As I finished reading, I was literally overwhelmed. And I can tell you, I slept better that night.

"We sailed early the next morning with a convoy of about seventy ships. . . . Ten minutes before midnight I stood with Admiral Hewitt on the bridge of the Ancon. The naval phase of the assault was completed.

"Then the incomparably brave officers and men of the Fifth Army started that last dash toward the beaches. Their fierce fighting, their countless inspiring acts of heroism and the ultimate victory are written in our nation's history—but that is another story. My purpose here is to say very simply and sincerely that I will always thank God for his visit to me in my hour of desperate need."

A Salute to HENRY COUNTY

One of Alabama's "First" Counties Honors Patrick Henry

Created in 1819 as one of Alabama's first seven counties, Henry County bears the name of the great American Revolution leader, Patrick Henry. Originally it included most of the territory known as the "Wiregrass"—areas now embraced by Covington, Dale, Coffee and Geneva; and parts of Pike, Crenshaw and Barbour counties.

Abbeville, one of the oldest settlements in southeast Alabama, is the flourishing county seat. It is named for Abbie Creek, which flows through the center of the county.

While small industry is gaining in Henry County, agriculture (cotton, peanuts, truck farming) and livestock are major factors in its growing economy.

Another factor enhancing the prosperity of Henry County—and Alabama as a whole—is the sizable sum of state, county and municipal taxes paid by the Brewing Industry. In 1957, for instance, this amounted to some $8 million. The light, bright beverages of moderation—beer and ale—pay their way handsomely!

In this friendly, freedom-loving land of ours Beer belongs... Enjoy it

Four-Season Comfort

"BEWITCHED, BOTHERED AND BEWILDERED" goes the song, and so go we when the temperature's off beat. And it seems that is most of the time. In summer it's too hot, in winter it's too cold—but the house is too hot. What a dilemma. Or is it? We seem to forget that we can now control the air year 'round.

Each summer sees more of us living in air-conditioned houses, eating in air-conditioned restaurants, bowling in air-conditioned alleys. Then winter rolls around and we bugin grumbling about steam heat and drafts, flushed faces and cold feet, dried-out skin and stiff necks. It's almost as if we wanted to suffer. Well, it's time to stop all this nonsense. Year 'round air-conditioning means we can be comfortable winter as well as summer, and dispositions will no longer resemble the pickle.

John W. Norris, President of Lennox Industries, and a noted authority on central air-conditioning, has this to say on the subject of temperature: "Excessive heat and humidity are known depressants, and this has nothing to do with what month of the year it is. You can be just as miserable in January as July. But year 'round conditioning of the air you live with takes the load off your mind as well as your body. It acts as a permanent tranquilizer to frazzled nerves—a thing no pill can do for more than a couple of hours."

"School days can be the happiest days of your life, if your child's old enough to attend."

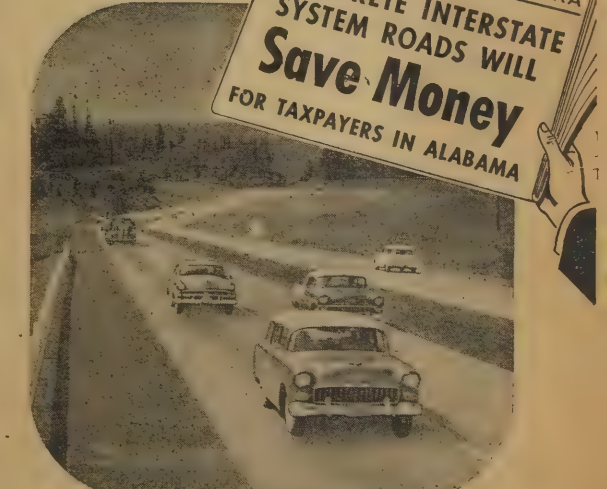
CONCRETE INTERSTATE SYSTEM ROADS WILL Save Money FOR TAXPAYERS IN ALABAMA



Federal funds will pay 90% of the building costs of the great new National System of Interstate and Defense Highways. This state pays the other 10%—and pays all maintenance cost forever. That's why taxpayers favor the use of durable concrete for these roads. Concrete's maintenance costs are lower—much lower than the annual maintenance cost of the next most commonly built type pavement.

And since maintenance costs come out of your state's highway budget, the use of low-maintenance-cost concrete leaves more money in the highway fund to build other urgently needed new roads.

Vo-Ag Teachers Plan For FFA Learning

Vocational Agriculture instruction in the Clanton County High Schools will include several additions beginning with the coming school term, according to Charles Owens, Gordon Conway, Lamar Shields, Royce Slate and J. Ross Thompson, local vo-ag teachers.

The newly initiated program will place a greater emphasis on scientific methods in agriculture and will focus attention on increased farm mechanization two essentials for courses in vocational agriculture to be useful to future agriculturalists. It is imperative that the instruction be streamlined and actually reach out into the future for probabilities, so that the person who follows an agricultural vocation will not find himself behind when he begins his work.

The adjusted curriculum is set up to include four divisions, one division for each year of vo-ag instruction with each higher division becoming more specialized and more related to actualities which an agriculturalist will face.

The first-year of instruction in this program has been designated as an exploratory course. Students will be directed in ways and means of scientific agriculture, and in addition will receive instruction in skills, a start in agriculture and student conservations. This phase of the program is aimed at student self-discovery and a recognition of the merits of the field of agriculture.

Second year students will receive extensive instruction in the farm and home shop in addition to study based on the home project programs. It is the role of the vo-ag teacher in this year to help the student develop the mechanical skills and an understanding of their uses in vocational agriculture and related fields. Such a course of study endeavors to develop to a large extent the mechanical skills and the knowledges needed to provide a better home and community life.

Efficient and scientific production of farm crops and livestock will receive major emphasis in the course for third-year students. This program of instruction will assist students in becoming established in farming, and it will help students to accept more and more responsibility for study and research in the improvement of farm efficiency.

In schools where the fourth - year vo-ag is offered it will be found that this course is designed especially for the students who have definitely indicated a preference for agriculture as a vocation. This final year of instruction will be concerned with farm management principles and their application for better living and greater profits.

"This program", says the (vo-ag) teachers, "is not entirely new, for our program of instruction has long been concerned with this purpose. However, in view of our changing times, adjustments which we felt were necessary have been made and the total instructional program revised to meet the needs of tomorrow's agriculture."

Small Business Gains Cited By Sparkman Series on 85th Congress

By Senator John Sparkman

Alabama's small businessmen will profit for years to come through legislation enacted during the Second Session of the 85th Congress.

Three major legislation victories came in the small business field in this session of a Democratic-controlled Congress. Indeed, as able and keen a Washington observer as syndicated columnist Sylvia Porter has called this "a small-business Congress." She concluded a recent column with; "the small-business can say truthfully today that the 85th Congress not only has talked piously about his plight but also has done something great to ease it."

First, Congress agreed that there should be a permanent, full-fledged government agency existing solely to serve small busines. Second, Congress passed the Small Business Invesment Companies Act, which should help smaller firms obtain long term credit financing. Third, Congress passed a small business tax relief and tax adjustment bill.

Shortly after the Korean war began, I proposed legislation establishing an agency to help small business. In 1951, a bill I introduced became law bringing into being the temporary Small Defense Plants Administration. From then on, I worked to strengthen that organization. In 1953, we changed its name to the Small Business Administration, and last month we made the SBA a permanent one-stop service station for independent businesses to enable them to secure loans, government contracts and to provide other aid. The Agency also received additional powers to make it more effective.

With reference to the Small Business Investment Companies Act, as long ago as 1950 I recognized the fact that smaller firms have been unable to fill their requirements for longe term loans of for investment type equity financing. Only last year the Federal Reserve Board, through a study bore out my own findings. Since 1950, I have actively worked for the establishment of capital banks or investment companies which would be formed with the assistance of the Federal government, to make loans to or investements in worthy small firms. My efforts achieved success this last session when both the Senate and the House overwhelmingly passed the Small Business Investment Act of 1958.

Let me stress that the Federal government does not become an investment banker under this law. Rather, it merely assists private groups nationwide to organize, charter, and operate investment companies.

Finally, and probably most importantly, Congress passed a small-business tax relief bill. I believe every Alabama business will receive some benefits, immediate or long-range, from this law. Frankly, it is not all I wanted and I know small business will still be sorely handicapped by the high levels of Federal taxation. Nonetheless, the law should greatly help small business.

Among the six general provisions in the tax bill which the President signed last week, the most important allows businesses a special first-year tax reduction to cover 20% of the cost of newly-acquired machinery and equipment purchased for use by the business. A second section allows a closely held estate to spread estate tax payments over a period of ten years.

Another item gives closely held corporations the right to be taxed as partnerships in the same way that certain proprietorships and partnerships may choose to be taxed as corporations. The fourth provision increases the minium accumulated earnings credit from $60,000 to $100,000, while the fifth allows a three-year operating loss carryback instead of the present two - year privilege.

Finally, the 1958 small business tax relief measure permits investors in stock of small businesses to offset their losses against ordinary income up to a limit of $25,000 a year.

I am delighted that Congress has taken these farsighted steps. They are by no means subsides nor coddling of small business. They bring equity to a most important segment of our economy and represent a wise investment in the future health and vigor of the nation.

I shall gladly send copies of these laws and explanatory materials to anyone requesting them.

1959 SOIL BANK CHANGES

The Soil Bank program for 1959 will be different from this year's program in many ways.

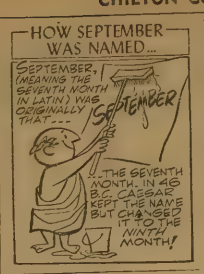
"In the first place," "the Conservation Reserve will be the only part of the Soil Bank in operation during 1959. All Acreage Reserve contracts expire at the end of the 1958 agreement year, and no new ones will be made. However, changes in the Conservation Reserve program will make this part of the Soil Bank more attractive to many farmers."

The Acreage Reserve is a year-to year contrate arrangement under which farmers are paid for not planting their alloted share of crops under acreage controls. Conservation Reserve contracts cover periods of several years, not a single year and are not restricted to land growing allotment crops.

"Next year, rental payments will be higher. This year's average annual rental per acre was $10, while in 1959 it will be $13.50. Some states will receive as much as $20 per acre, and others as little as ment per acre will be $12.

"There will be greater incentives $9. In Alabama, the average pay- for putting whole farms in reserve." "Those placing all eligible cropland under contract for five years will receive the agreed payments plus an additional 10 percent of this amount."

Finally, the government will pay a smaller share of the cost of establishing some of the required conservation practices. "Because of these changes, a farmer must figure very closely how much he can gain by placing land in the Soil Bank, and whether or not, under the changed program, it will be a profitable thing for him to do."



U OF A FALL ENROLLMENT TO TOP 12,000

Student enrollment for the second straight year at the University of Alabama is expected to top 12,000 as the 1958-58 school year open

Orientation and freshman testing program is set at the Capstone for Sept. 7-14, with all students registering 15th and 16th. Classes begin Wednesday, Sept. 17.

Condition and deferred examinations will be in progress Sept. 18-19, and the final day of registration and payment of fees is Sept. 27.

The enrollment figure of 12,000 this year includes some 4,500 students enrolled at the six extension centers in the state from Mobile to Huntsville, over 7,00 on the main campus, and 700 at the Birmingham Medical Center.

USDA Extends Two Programs of Interest to Chilton Farmers

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has extended indefinitely the farm storage facility and mobile dryer loan programs. Previously, these programs have been authorized on a yearly basis.

Loans under these programs are designed to help farmers throughout the country obtain needed farm storage. Under these programs, farmers can borrow large part of the cost of additional farm storage space and drying equipment.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson recently warned that grain storage will be tight in some sections of the country this year and offered the full support of the Department of Agriculture in helping producers get the additional facilities which will be needed to handle 1958 crops. Secretary Benson also said, "Farmer themselves have the first responsibility. In order to be in position to hold their grain for orderly marketing, and to take advantage of the price-support programs, they must have adequate storage And right on the farm is a good place for this place for this in most cases."

Extending the farm storage loan program is one of the major aids the USDA is making available to help producers increase on-farm storage. Continuation of the program will lenable producers to more storage during the coming year. Any farm-operator, share tenant, share landlord, or producer partnership is eligible to participate in the farm storage facility and equipment programs. Application for a loan may be made at the county Agricultural Stablization and Conservation Office. The loan may be made eithed directly through the county office or through a local bank. Loans may be obtained on storage for wheat, corn, oats, rye, barley, soybeans, grain sorghums, dry beans, rice, peanuts, cottonseed and flaxseed.

Farmers in most States can borrow up to 80 percent of the cost of new storage bin, cribs, or other approved structures. The structures must meet requirements for storage under the price-support program. The loan runs for five years from the date the loan is taken out. The loan may be repaid in four annual installments with the first installment due on the first anniversary of the lian Interest on storage loans is at the rate of 4 percent per year

Since 1949 when the program started and through January 31, 1957, 93,150 loans totaling approximately $95.703,025 have been approved on farm storage structures having a total capacity of approximately 341,426,000 bushels. During 1957, 6,910 loans totaling $7,959,806 were made on storage structures with a total capacity of26,410.497 bushels.

Up to 75 percent o fthe delivered and assembled cost - exclusive of labor an dcosts of equipment to keep store grain in proper condition may be borrowed under the mobile dryer loan program. The equipment includes mobile dryers, air circulators, vent.lators, tunnels and fans. The loan is payable in three annual installments. s in the case of storage structure loans the first installment is payable 12 months after the equipment loan is disbursed and interest is at the rate of 4 per cent per year.

Since the equipment loan program started 1,598 loans totaling $3,447,542, have been made on grain drying and conditioning equipment. During 1957, 331 loans totaling $1,-174,748 were approved.

ELECTION FRAUD. . .

to administering the oath required in voting a challenged ballot. Therefore, this Grand Jury could not indict these persons for illegal voting. However, a list of these unqualified voters who cast ballots in the May 6 primaries has been prepared and submitted to the registrars of Chilton County. It is requested that the Board of Registrars call before it all of these unqualified voters for the purpose of rectifying this condition.

A minute inspection of the poll lists of those who voted in the May 6 primary revealed that two persons voted more than once in said election. Indictments are herewith returned against those two individuals.

There were some irregularities noted in the way and manner in which the election was conducted. However, it is believed that these irregularities are due to lack of proper instruction of the election officials. It is our recommendation that a school of instruction be conducted for the election officials prior to each election. It is believed that such a school of instruction would be beneficial in alleviating many irregularities in elections.

Under Title 17 Section 80 the Code of Alabama 1940 the Board of Revenue of this county is charged with responsibility of dividing election precints whereby no election district shall contain more than 300 legal voters. There are many boxes in Chilton County where more than 300 voters are required to vote in a single box. It is our recommendation that the Board of Revenue of Chilton County take immediate action to comply with the law in this respect. It is our further recommendation that each election box have its own list of qualified voters and discontinue the practice of permitting voters to vote in either box of a precint.

While it is the belief of this Grand Jury some laws were violated in the primary election of May 6, it is our further belief that these violations have been greatly exaggerated. The County has been rife with rumors of wholesale violations of our election laws, yet no one could or would come forward and present any testimony that could be given credence in a court of law, despite the fact that a large reward for such evidence was offered by citizens of this county who are interested in clean government.

The matter of income of the public officials of this county was studied. It is the consensus of opinion of this Grand Jury that our present officials should be on a salary basis rather than a fee basis. The amount received by most officials of this county is out of keeping with our ability to pay. It is our recommendation that action be initiated to have our local representative investigate this matter thoroughly and that he bring appropriate action in the State Legislature to have our officials placed on a salary basis.

Now, having compiled to the best of our ability with Your Honor's charge, we respectfully request that we be dismissed until such time as your Honor may deem it necessary to have us again convene.

This the 9 day of September, 1958.
--Milton Diefenderfer, Foreman.

'Faith Hope Charity'

REMEMBER the new MISS AMERICA said she wore a mustard seed around her neck with an inscription which said "If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed nothing shall be impossible unto you." Well, obviously she had faith and the mustard seed helped to keep her reminded of it. We have beautiful pendelum lockets with genuine mustard seeds now at our store in Clanton.

Oh, and say, by the way, we also have some of the dantiest yet most dazzling charm bracelets you ever did see. They have C.L.A.N.T.O.N spelled out on them and an emblem with Alabama on it. Real cute for the high schooler!

If We Cannot Educate Our Children, What Can We Expect From Them?

FOLKS and THINGS About Town

by Ben

THANK goodness they've located Dick Tracy.

WE'RE holding some surprises for next issue that you will want to read. We have a wonderful write up on Clanton's Jackie Hayes written by the sports writer of the "Expositor" of Bratford while Jack was up there attending the International Blind Golf Tournament. You'll see it next week.

DID you hear about the fellow who while trying to be funny asked the ticket agent for a ticket to the moon. The agent told him: "Sorry sir, but all trips have been cancelled. The moon is full right now".

SPEAKING of good things to come, we have on our desk a letter, which arrived too late for this issue, from Opal Deason of Billingsley, to Mr. Wes Gletty which is a wonderful piece of writing and be in our "Across The Editors Desk", next week.

WE'VE heard a lot of cute "drunk stories, but the best one lately was about the drunk who walked up to the parking meter, deposited his nickle, turned the leaver as far as it would go, which was 60, of course, and said: "My goodness. I've lost a hundred pounds".

THE Chilton County Hospital Board voted Tuesday night at their regular meeting to lower the hospital tax 2 mils. This will come as good news to many and as quite a surprise to everyone. Imagine any taxing agency lowering a tax! it just isn't being done any more. Anyway we sure wish to commend this Chilton County Hospital Board on their move and hope it catches on with other State and Federal agencies soon.

MISS Carolyn Robinson is now in Montgomery working with Southern Bell Telephone Company as is Miss Ellen Lusk. Carolyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Johnson of Rt. 2, Verbena and Miss Lusk is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Milton of Marbury. She was very active during her high school years at Marbury having served as cheerleader, member of the Glee Club, F. H. A. and M Club. Oh yeah, Carolyn was a cheerleader too.

OH BOY! This music you hear on TV and at juke joints. Heard about one such place a waiter walked through the rock 'n roll juke joint and dropped a tray of dishes--six couples got up to dance.

THE SHAPE OF THINGS

On each and every page of CCN this week you'll find evidence of the deplorable condition of our school facilities throughout Chilton County. Take a good long look at the crowded, antiquated conditions in our schools and then stop and ask yourself. . . "Do I want my children to continue in this inferior way of education?" "Will they truly be educated under these circumstances?"

REV. SEYMORE: 4 BIG QUESTIONS

1. Whom should we report to the Association as active members? Should you be reported? Matt. 10:38, Luke 9:23.

2. Who should tithe? Mal. 3:10, 1 Cor. 16:2.

3. Who is responsible for the spiritual condition of our churches? Rom. 8:5.

4. With the awful conditions: Sabbath breaking, drinking, killing, backbiting, gambling, honky-tonking, etc., has the Good Lord excused you from attending church? Especially on Sunday Night, to look at TV, read Sunday's paper, visit with neighbors and let the lost and young people run amock? Ezekiel 33:7-10.

You are especially invited to Oak Grove Baptist Church Sunday, September 21, 1958 from 7:00 to 8:00 p.m. for an open discussion on the above questions.

Submitted by W. R. Seymore.

Alabama is served by 10 class I and 12 class II railroads with a total rail mileage of 5316.

Sports Enthusiasts Request 'More Sports'

CHILTON County News asks the cooperation of various high schools in Chilton County during this football season. If your high school has a sports reporter or anyone enclined in that direction please have him (or her) notify a member of the News staff as soon as possible. The News wants to publish sports happenings but cannot do so without this cooperation. It will be appreciated and also worthwhile!.

CHILDERSBURG CLOBBERS CLANTON'S 'NEW STYLE' 20-0

Clanton Tigers were handed a hot potato in the form of a stalwart Childersburg line that would not give under any circumstance and a backfield who very obviously took advantage of their opportunities.

The alert Childersburg backfield turned three breaks into three lovely TD's.

Joe Barnett scored twice; from the two and from the four yard stripe. Each time the score was advanced by costly Clanton fumbles recovered on the nine.

"Chilly" guard Winfred Giddens scored the other TD intercepting a handoff - fumble by Clanton quarterback. Extra points were racked up by brother Wayne Giddens who plays the other guard position.

Clanton defensive standouts were end Elliot Monroe and halfback Neil Bice with center Don Norton putting on quite a show also.

Clanton Tigers take on Maplesville this Friday night at home field with kickoff at 7:30. Coach Finlayson had no comment on the tilt with Childersburg, but close observers claim he was pleased with the performance and is anticipating a good year for the local Tigers.

ANNUAL HOMECOMING

The Annual Suttle High School Homecoming Barbecue and Square Dance will be held Wednesday, September 24, 1958. The Homecoming Court will be presented at 8 p. m., followed by a Square Dance with Dub Johnson and his "Dixie Drifters." Serving will be from 12 noon to 11 p.m.

This event is sponsored each year by the Parent-Theachers Association. All proceeds are used for current expenses of the school.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

RECEIVES NEW ASSIGNMENT

CADET HUDSON

Aviation Cadet Sidney B. Hudson, son of William F. Hudson of Verbena, Ala., has been assigned to Harlington AFB, Tex., for initial training as an Air Force navigator. He recently was graduated from the USAF Pre-Flight School here.

Cadet Hudson is a graduate of the Bob Jones Academy in Greenville, S. C., and attended the Alabama Polytechnic Institute in Auburn, Ala., prior to entering the Air Force.

Cripplled Children Clinic Here Next Thursday

A clinic for the crippled children of Chilton County will be held in Clanton on Thursday, September 25, 1958. The clinic will be held at the First Methodist Church. This is the regular field clinic which is conducted by the State Crippled Children's Service and sponsored regularly each year by the Chilton County Chapter of the Alabama Society for Crippled Children and Adults. Mr. I. S. Levine is chairmag of the Chilton County Chapter.

Dr. Fletcher Comer and Dr. Fay Randall of Birmingham will be the orthopedic surgeons in charge. They will be assisted by Mrs. Marion F. Tupper, District Orthopedic Nurse and a team of other workers who are attached to the staff of the Crippled Children's Service. Mr. John R. Gordon, representing the Vocational Rehabilitation Service, will assist at the clinic. He will interview handicapped adults. The Rehabilitation Service offers vocational counselling as well as other services needed by handicapped adults to restore them to gainful employment.

Representatives of the County Health, Welfare, and Education Departments will assist the above taff in the coduct of the clinic.

Crippled children or handicapped adults who should be seen at the Clinic should be referred to the County Health, Welfare or Education Departments.

CONFERENCE MEETING

A Church Workers Conference for the Methodist Church of the Selma District, will be held at Church Street, Methodist Church in Selma, September 24th, 7:00 p.m. All workers and officials in the local churches are urged to attend.

Dr. James W. Sells, from the jurisdictional counsel office will discuss, Major Methodist Beliefs, first hour. The second hour will be devoted to group meetings, for the purpose of increasing effectiveness in local church work.

BELL GOES 'UNDERGROUND'

Work began the last of August in Clanton on the construction of additional telephone facilities throughout the exchange area.

I. M. Commander, Jr., local manager of Southern Bell Telephone Company, said the expansion is being undertaken to care for the ever increasing demand for telephone service in the Clanton trade area.

Cost of providing the facilities is estimated at $30,500 by Mr. Commander.

The program calls for the insatllation of underground cable along 2nd Avenue from 7th to 9th streets; aerial cable north along the Birmingham Highway and east along 1st Avenue. Feeder lines will be provided to Thorsby and Jemison.

No date has been set for the completion of the project at this time, the Telephone Company manager said.

BELL PRESENTS SPEAKERS AT ISABELLA

Friday morning, Southern Bell Telephone Company representatives, Floyd Smith and Rufe Evans of the company's speaking bureau known as the "Bell Teletalkers" presented an assembly program at Isabella High School. Mr. Smith and Mr. Evans presented a lecture-demonstration entitled "Communications and Air Defense" and a film entitled "Dew Line Story." This program deals with the vital part which the Bell System communication facilities play in our present air defense set-up.

FAMILY GET-TOGETHER

The family and friends of the late J. R. White, will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Broadhead, Sunday September 21. All relatives and friends are invited to come and bring lunch.

Local Housing Authority Receives Appointments

Certain conditions in the City of Clanton indicating that a low-rent housing project would not only be feasible, but effective to the progress of the community the City Council and Mayor made preliminary surveys and set about to do something about the situation at hand.

Federal and State laws make available certain funds for this specific purpose where "private individuals either fail to, refuse or cannot afford to provide standard housing facilities for themselves and their families."

The program is designed to ultimately do away with any slum conditions, or near slum conditions existing in the City.

Bonds for this project are issued by the Housing Authority who have the designated job of bringing into existence an 80 or 90-unit housing project. Federal grants take up certain deficits that arise.

"This is no precedent by any means" says chairman of the Authority Thompson. These projects are being carried on all around us. It does indicate however, that Clanton is aware of its position, both socially and economically and is working harmoniously toward the end that will bring about a better standard of living for all concerned.

In 1947 Alabama produced only 4,796,000 broilers and was given no national ranking, but by 1956 Alabama was producing 82,473,000 broilers and was fourth in the nation.

GOOD DEED CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

On September 9, 1958 our Club held its first meeting in Mrs. Frances Littlejohn's room at the Clanton Elementary School. We elected officers.

Officers are: president, Sara Love Cutright; vice-president, Russell Enfinger; secretary, Greer Blankenship; treasurer, Charles Craig; librarian, Billy Wayne Swift; Host & Hostess, Mike Cox and Betty Robinson; Nurse and Doctor, Wanda Davis and Jimmy Miller.

Program Committee, Cecil Wade, Nancy Walker, and Brenda Maddox: Science Committee, Mary Clyde Chism, Earl Wray and Alicia Adams; Flower Committee, Mike McKee, Betty Ann Harris and Peggy Durbin; Room Committee, Buddy Ellison, Diane Holman and Dwan Wilson; Bulletin Board, Janice Cleckler, Carolyn Cooper and Wayne Wough. — Greer Blankenship, Sect., Sara Lou Cutright President.

Last year, Alabama reported its corn crop had produced an income of $68,577,000 to rank the State 15th in the nation.

C of C Drive For Members Gets Going 22ND

THE Chamber of Commerce of Chilton County enters upon its annual membership drive beginning this Monday, September 22.

He ding the drive are Mr. Archie Ogburn of Thorsby and Mrs. Essie Mae Wali of Clanton.

The Chamber of Commerce has a number of worthwhile accomplishments to its credit during the past year or so. In the outset, the Chamber members and friends purchased the industrial site at South Clanton, and held it in readiness for any industry that might become available.

Then there was Thorsby Manufacturing Company, and the Business Forms Company which is underway for Clanton on the site mentioned.

The Chamber has sponsored the Peach Festival, County Fair, and Christmas street lighting. It has erected welcome signs at County boundaries, helped pave the floors of hangars at the airport and assisted in wiring and extending water pipes.

The Chamber played a part in plans for Chilton County Exchange combining with Clanton Fertilizer Company, enlarging and extending same, as well as planning for the spur paved road from Highway 31 westward to the plant. It helped in the selection of the Maids of Cotton, assisted in entertaining beauty queen, Miss Alabama, eight years ago, also the Alabama Maid of Cotton two years ago. The C of C encouraged the project to put Chilton farms on the market.

The project of clearing the trees on the bluff east of the airport and the improving of the old soldiers home site at Mt. Creek—assistance was gladly given. It published pamphlets advertising Chilton County, its towns and communities and also led the movement, in cooperation with merchants, in closing for holidays which affords the employees and operators more time for recreation and/or home work.

These and many other successful undertakings, due in various degrees to the untiring work and efforts of your Chamber of Commerce mark it as essential to our healthy progress.

Membership is the only thing that will keep the C of C alive!

Business houses are urged to join the Chamber of Commerce—the only community-business organization which is entirely dedicated to the merchants and the betterment of local business

SOFTBALL—

CLANTON WINS DOUBLEHEADER

Last Saturday night at the City Park, the Clanton Civitan Softball Club won a double header over Quality Control at Hayes Aircraft, Birmingham, Ala.

Clanton won the first game 5 to 2 behind the pitching of Paul Morrison, the act pitcher, of the Pepsi Cola Club, the State Champions.

Pitching the first game for Hayes Aircraft was Fred Powers. Fred has pitched several no-hitters and hut-outs this season in Birmingham going against such teams as Baggett Transportation Co., Bessmer Tobbaca Frisco and Alabama Life, etc.

In the second game Clanton won a close one 5 to 4 behind the pitching of Don Merritt, the boy that pitched for Clanton in the State Tournament this year.

The boys playing for Clanton in the double header: Don Plyler, Charles Wright, Derald Bannister, G. D. Jones, John Ed Bates, Bobby Easterling, Joe Ellison, Harold Lockhart, Mack Edwards, Paul Morrison, Don Merritt, Lamar Robinson, Johnnie Smith, Billy Bonner. A schedule is being worked out to have some of the best teams in the County to play here next year.

Alabama forests cover 63.5 per cent State's total acreage.

Alabama has 193,865 commercial motor vehicles registered in the State.

RARE BOOK EXHIBIT AT LOCAL SCHOOL

600 new and recent children's books by America's foremost authors and illustrators, save for an occasional contribution from other lands, will go on display Friday and Saturday, Sept. 26 and 27 at Chilton County High School gymnasium, according to Alpha Delta Kappa. The books fall into no fewer than 32 subject categories and cover all grades from kindergarten through high school. Both fiction and non-fiction are represented.

The exhibit will be open from 7 a.m. to 9 p. m. Friday, Sept. 26 and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 27.

A complete graded and annotated catalogue of the exhibit is available for free distribution to teachers, librarians and other school people. Through the device of numbering the books and catalogue and providing a detailed subject and author index, the 600 books are, in terms of any and all interests, directly and easily accessible. The 32 subjects the exhibit covers include Adventure, Aeronautics, Animals, the Arts, Biography, Careers, Classics, Conservation, Exploration, Fairy Tales and Folklore, Fiction (with 17 sub-divisions), Foreign Lands, Games and Parties, Geography, History, Hobbies and Activities, Indians, Information, Intercultural Relations, Inventions, Language, Nature, Picture Books, Pioneer Life, Religion, Science, Ships, Social Studies, Sports, Story Books, Transportation, Verse.

Books on Exhibit, a cooperative enterprise of the country's leading publishers, has sent the exhibit here. The purpose of this service is to make available to schools and libraries a completely representative collection of Junior Library Books in organized exhibit form and thus make it possible for busy teachers and librarians, with a minimum expenditure of time and effort, to do an informed and intelligent job of book selection. On the other hand, parents and the public will find the exhibit well worth their time and attention.

No books of the above exhibit will be sold, but there will be another exhibit on the opposite side of the gymnasium for sale. Among these will be some of the latest books on science.

Some rare old books will be displayed in a glass case. Call 835 if you have an old book which you would like to have in this display.

Sponsors for the Book Fair are: Alpha Delta Kappa, The Woman's Study Club, The Study Club, The Clanton Garden Club, The Hemercallis Garden Club, The American Association of University Women, Delta Kappa Gamm, The Pilot Club, The Junior Chamber of Commerce, Lion's Club, Civitn Club, The Music Appreciation Club, and the Kiwanis Club.

NEIGHBORS HELPING NEIGHBORS

The local Civitan Club conceived the idea recently of asking another Civitan Club for assistance. Frances Speaks spokesman for the local group contacted Joe Graham, who had connections in international channels. He in turn assisted in getting through to the Chicago Civitan Club closest to the hopital where little Wanda Limbrick is confined. That Club graciously offered all assistance possible and are, according to local reports, carrying out their offer. How big and warm, the hand of brotherly love!

MUST WE SACRIFICE OUR CHILDREN FOR THE SAKE OF COMPROMISE AND LACK OF UNDERSTANDING?

The debate, issue, stalemate, call it what you will, concerning segregation-integration is a blight on the American people and goes much deeper than to tarnish the bright surface of our everyday world.

For months now the Faubuses, King's, the NAACP, and even the Supreme Court and Legislature's of our land have acted to further aggravate a situation already well out of hand and have come to completely and grevlously disregard the welfare of the school children themselves--our children--your children!

The blight is the misunderstanding and misinterpretation of individuals and groups for each other. The tarnish we witness is the carrying out of threats of violence; unthinking action which causes only harm and further violence.

And how are our children being affected by all this adult quibbling? We're setting them back about 20 years that's how! Our high schools have become thrashing grounds for our stupid display of emotions which accomplish nothing save further disagreement. Right is evidenced on both sides of this important question. However, we have come to make mountains from mole hills as usual and our original purpose is being eclipsed by our baser instincts of emotional confusion.

We have always tried to steer away from saying anone was "all wrong: but, the American people and the American government is certainly as near to being "all" wrong on this question as to any we've ever seen or heard of.

A different approach entirely is necessary. We are uprooting our own fundamentals by one extreme demanding the impossible and the other refusing the obviously inevitable. The law wants equal rights; the people want common sense, straight thinking, understanding. These things will not come about through the use of force and violence!

WAYS AND MEANS OF KEEPING BUSINESS HOME--

We have been discussing of late at great lengths the possibilities, pro and con, of enticing local consumers to be just that and keep as much trade as possible at home.

After talking with many merchants we are firmly convinced that with the proper kind of advertising and promotion campaign covering the general trade area of our city we can keep local trade at a maximum.

First comes the advertising of the fact: something which the Chamber of Commerce should maintain largely. Then comes the carrying out of the campaign through display in local stores and a cooperative spirit among local merchants. Try to have as good a fine of products as the larger cities and as far as possible, at competitive prices.

Dollar Day, Coupon Day, call it what you will, but with the proper promotion, carried out in detail in each and every place of business we can keep the fickle consumer here at home to the best interests of all concerned. There is no need for a consumer to sacrifice quality just to trade at home. Why not maintain that quality locally and advertise it effectively so as to prove to the buyer that we not only CLAIM to have the goods they want, but we have them at prices that will satisfy them. It's good business. . . businessmen! Let's see some action!

FIRST THE MEASURE; THEN THE MEASURING --

City of Clanton has done a splendid job of safety campaigning with regards to the traffic light on Selma highway at the school crossing.

Now it is a question of "will every last parent who has a child or children in grammar school teach their children how to obey traffic laws and signals?" Then again it isn't a question of "will they teach them?" They must teach them! We have never held higher regard for a mayor and city council than we do our present administration here in Clanton and we certainly want to see as much of the public as will cooperating to the fullest on all worthwhile projects. That's the way we grow. . . you know!

MORAL OBSERVATIONS

By A Reader

Some years ago we heard a sermon entitled "THE OTHER SIDE OF THE PICTURE." The title is about all that we can remember, but we would like to use this same title for this article.

The evil tempter is a great artist. He can paint a beautiful picture before the mind of his subject. Of course, the picture portrays only one side, and that is the side that fascinates the imaginations and desires with alluring glamor. He is careful not to reveal the ugly, deceiving, horrible side of the picture. In the beginning of the human race, in the garden of eden, he painted before Adam and Eve a beautiful picture, but did not reveal to them the other side of that picture as the world has seen it since, with all of the death, the suffering, and heartaches that sin has brought to the world as a result.

Since that time he has been painting beautiful pictures before the minds of individuals. Several years ago I, along with a group of others, visited one of the large prisons, and a guide showed us through the prison. We observed, as we passed by the cells where the prisoners who were serving life terms were kept, that there were many nice looking young men. We were impressed with the thought that these young men were seeing the other side of the picture of wrong and evil doing. They once had seen the pretty side; the inviting, alluring, tempting side; but as they sat in their cells to look at the monotonous gray walls of that prison for the rest of their lives, deprived of freedom, home, friends, loved ones, and everything else worth living for, they were seeing the other side of the picture.

A woman was heard crying one dark night on the street in a city. A crowd gathered and she, (a drunken degenerate human wreck) sobbed out a story of her life. She told of how she had once been married to a nice husband, had a sweet little boy, and a good home. But the evil tempter had painted before her a beautiful picture of how she could have more fun and get more thrills and excitment out of life. Her home was soon broken up, and she was well on her way to the condition in which she was that night. Her life had been full of one horrible experience after another, and that night found her penniless, friendless, and without even a place she could spend the night. She was sick and broken with sin and disease. She was seeeing the other side of the picture!

When we pick up the evening paper and see the picture of some one condemned to die for a crime, the thought occurs that this man or woman is looking at the other side of the picture. And then we think, somewhere perhaps, there is a father and mother who is suffering as much as the one who must die. Maybe they too, are seeing the other side of the picture. They perhaps were once among those who say to themselves, "Oh, that sort of thing will never happen to one of mine." The temptation to take the easy way around discipline and training, and let them have their own way may look good, but so often it is too late when we see the other side of the picture.

I sat with an old man in his home one Sunday afternoon. He talked at length about how he had worked and managed to accumulate land and property. He owned a nice home and had money, but he sadly pointed to a picture that hung on the wall. It was his only child, a son, who had died some few years before. He had died a pre-mature death as the result of fast and sinful living. The old man said, with tears in his eyes, "All that I have cannot make me happy. I would gladly give it for my son back." He was seeing the other side of the picture! He had failed to give his son the kind of training that might well have been the means of preserving and prolonging his life. In his quest for other things, he had lost his son. How often this is true!

LEGION HAS NOBLE IDEA

ROBT. H. WILDER

One major project of The American Legion for the ensuing year is the elimination of voting irregularities in future elections, according to a statement issued by Robert H. Wilder of Dadeville, Alabama, State Legion Commander.

Commander Wilder states that he has charged the Americanism Commission with the responsibility of formulating plans for necessary legislation to eliminate the selling of votes and for purging voters' lists to insure that elections will be honest. Wilder calls upon Civic, Religious, Fraternal, and other Veterans' Organizations to join with The American Legion, and takes special note of the League of Women Voters in appealing for their assistance.

Commander Wilder also urges all citizens interested in "good, clean elections" who have ideas of how this program can best be enacted, to contact him by mail or in person. Headquarters in Montgomery. He son at the State American Legion adds that he believes every Legion Post in Alabama will work in their local communities because they are genuinely interested in clean, honest elections because they know that the result will be honest, efficient government.

Shades of the storm clouds. Alas, Clint Carlisle, after winning the fishing trip and after going to the coast to fish--didn't get to fish: The storms in that area prevented them from getting any fishing done, but Clint says he enjoyed the trip anyway. Better luck, next year Clint

You know, all this local advertising in CCN is paying off! We never saw as many folks in town on a Monday as we did this one just past and most of the merchants were pleased with the fact that the folks in town were here to buy and not just to 'shoot the bull'. See, we told you. . . we get 'em into town. . . it's your job to sell 'em the product!

"Pig" Headley was among those who saw Wanda Limbrick off Sunday and he says that they didn't want much publicity. We understand and our prayers, and we hope thousands of others are with her this week!

Noticed a sign on a car Sunday that read "Don't buy R. L. Zeigler's. . ." it further stated something about "until they give us a decent contract". This, to our way of thinking is one of the best advertisements they could be giving any company at this particular time when different unions and their pettiness has a great portion of the public just about full-up on their notions of "What's fair and what ain't".

Understand that G. D. Jones is the proud poppa of a baby girl born last Wednesday at four o something. Anyhow, he's proud as we said, and the others are doing fine. G. D. says its been a long time since he's been a 'new' daddy and he'll have to get used to it all over again. We're proud for him!

And speaking of G. D. Jones. . . he and Greeley Powell are having a hard time figuring out who's the cheapest. Now, we are positive that this was all in good natured fun, but just the same. . . G. D. bought an apple from said Mr. Powell and according to G. D's version of the story, the apple came to 5½ cents. He refused to pay the extra penny, whereupon said Mr. Powell cut ½ cent worth off the apple and ate it himself. Well, G. D. went away, 1 cent richer perhaps, but a whole lot wiser and with a lot less apple!

THE COURTHOUSE QUESTION . . .

Another Grand Jury has gone on record as stating that the Chilton County Courthouse is a disgrace to the people of this County.

The people of Chilton County had the opportunity to build a new courthouse and they flubbed the chance. "It's too expensive" they cried!

In the long-run we would have been much better off had we gone ahead with the original plan and built ourelves a decent housiing facility for our County offfcial business.

Certainly it was, is and always will be expensive! Nobody is likely to 'give us' a brand new courthouse; or, for that matter, an old beat up courthouse.

The point is this: The courthouse we now have is shot to pieces; we are in bad need of space in many of our County offices; we should be ashamed of our present building and the fact that recommendations by responsible parties have been made time and again to "do somthing about the situation" and we have done practically nothing. . . c-o-n-s-t-r-u-c-t-i-v-e!

It's time we came down off of our high horses of 'just voting against a thing because it costs money. We've been doing the same thing with regards to our schools and look at the mess some of them are in.

The old saying is "we get what we pay for"; well, we're going to get Chilton County Courthouse in our laps if we don't get on the ball and pay for another being built. Call it a necessary evil or what you will. . . Chilton County still needs a new Courthouse! And soon!

FARM ACCIDENTS

There is an increasing number of fatal farm accidents involving tractors. In one state more than 30 farm people are killed annually by being crushed in roll-overs or upsets of high-wheeled farm tractors. Another state reports 13 persons killed in one year in accidents resulting from tractors turning over and crushing the operators.

Operators have been jolted from their seats and thrown to their seats and thrown to their deaths under the machine or under the implement being pulled by the tractor. As for injuries there is no official record but it is estimated there are at least five times as many seriously injured in tractor accidents as are killed. Seat belts have been suggested as a partial solution to the problem of tractor accidents. A wide safety belt with a quick-release buckle might save a man's life in a roll-over, and also help hold him in his seat when he is working rough ground. Added to the seat belt, safety engineers have been developing safety arches or roll-bars for farm tractors.

A rugged arch or roll-bar would provide excellent opportunity for an awning as sun protection and would shield the operator from falling trees or contact with tdee limbs. The operator of a tractor who is protected with a heavy steel safety arch and also held securely in his seat with a belt should be exposed to little or no injury if his tractor upsets. Automotive safety engineers believe that if operators of farm tractors used safety belts they might readily adopt the use of belts in their automobiles and trucks.

It is estimated that sixty of every 100 persons who die in highway accidents could have been saved by the use of safety belts. And, sixty of every 100 injured in highway accidents could have come out of these accidents unscathed or with greatly reduced injury if they had been equipped with safety belts.

Pilate saith unto them, What shall I do then with Jesus which is called Christ?
—(St. Matthew 27, 22.)

This question was asked by a pagan judge of a riotous mob nearly two thousand years ago, but it is a question of prime importance today. Each of us should ask himself daily, What shall I do with Jesus which is called Christ? The destiny of the world may depend on our answer.

Alabama is the only region in the world where the principal ingredients needed to make steel are found in plentiful supply, near the surface, within a radius of 25 miles. Vast deposits of coal, iron and limestone are located in the Birmingham, Ala. area.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

YOU CAN RENEW YOUR STRENGTH

They that wait upon the Lord
Shall renew their strength,
They shall mount up with wings as eagles;
They shall run and not be weary;
They shall walk and not faint.
Teach me, Lord; teach me, Lord —to wait!

This was a song sung during a recent convention of Christian businessmen which I attended in Philadelphia. Taken from Isaiah, it is a beautiful, inspiring song, with only the last line added— "Teach me, Lord; teach me, Lord —to wait!"

The song reminds me of the eagle, which can fly 90 miles an hour and soar to an altitude of 20,000 feet. Although the eagle lives to an age of about 70, it dies "young." It seems to have some secret of youth.

When an eagle becomes old, it flies to a high, lonely place, and there it beats off its old feathers and waits until its strength is renewed. The words of Scripture, and of the song, remind us of God's loving provision for our every need—if we will only believe and wait upon the Lord.

What is old age?

I believe old age comes when one loses interest in God.

Our life consists in what we do for the Lord, and this is like the eagle beating off its old feathers. If we do nothing, we get older and older, weaker and weaker; if we do something, we beat off the old feathers and renew our strength.

We must believe, for we are what our believing is.

The way to grow old before your time is to refuse to exercise the gifts God has given you; the way to remain eternally young is to exercise your gifts with all your might and as often as opportunity allows. Living is in doing.

Jeremiah said, "His blessings are new every morning." When we cease to trust God for his blessings every morning, we cease to receive them. Then we dry up and become old and stale. I believe God wants us to renew our strength every morning and come to the fullness of our years with vigor and victory. Each time we "beat our wings" in doing God's will, our strength is renewed.

Keep something of God flowing into you and out of you all the time. Christian people who get careless are perhaps the loneliest and oldest people in the world. They get lonely beyond any other lonelimess. They can't get healed either by doctors or God, and they are almost as sick as the unsaved. They are old before their time.

Wait upon the Lord and renew your strength.

ALABAMA'S NEW STATE OFFICE BUILDING, located behind the State Capitol, Montgomery, is nearing completion and will be dedicated by Gov. James E. Folsom this Fall. It has taken 20 months to build and will house 18 State agencies. Some 800 State employees will work in this seven-storied building which has 165,000 square feet of office space, 25,000 square feet of storage space, an auditorium to seat 750, a cafeteria, and four electronic elevators. The structure has cost $2,960,000 exclusive of the elevators, and is being financed by a bond issue authorized by the 1955 Legislature, and administered by the Alabama State Building Authority composed of the Governor, State Finance Director and Attorney General.

SOCIAL SECURITY —

COUNTY INCREASE OF $7 PER MONTH EXPECTED IN OCT

Needy old people in Chilton County can expect average increases of from $6 to $7 per month in their old age pensions when October payments are mailed late next month, Miss Joyce Clements said today. "This will be true unless individual need is less," she added.

"Recent changes in the Federal Social Security Act will make these increases possible," Miss Clements declared, pointing out that the overall state wide average is expected to reach $44 or $45 compared with the present figure of between $37 and $3.

The amendments just adopted by the Congress increased the maximum from $60 on any individual old age payment to $65 on the average old age payment in a State, the director added, and also changed the Federal formula for matching that part of the payment over $30 up to a maximum $65 average, the director said.

The Federal share is still $24 of the first $30, but instead of half the rest up to $60 as it is now, for Alabama and other low income states, it is 65 percent of the remainder up to an average $65 maximum. "In other words," Miss Clements pointed out, "so long as Albama's average is $65 or less, it is anticipated that Federal matching in a nursing care case will not stop at $60 as at present will be $24 of the first $30 and 65 percent of the remainder up to the State maximum." The State cannot pay over $100 monthly for the nursing care item, but under the old formula all over $60 had to be State funds only.

It is tentatively estimated that the new amendments will bring some $5 to $6 million into the State for needy people, the director said. Though some small increases may be expected in aid to blind and aid to permanently and totally disabled and even less in aid to dependent children, these categories will not benefit to the extent that old age will, the director declared. She said "Albama does not have funds for these categories," and she added, "at the same time the caseloads are rising for the disabled and dependent children. The caseload is decreasing for old age pensions, thus leaving more money for fewer people instead of less for more."

It was also pointed out by the director that in February, 1955, about two percent of the Alabama old age pensioners also got social security benefits, whereas in February of this year the number had reached 16 percent and probably is even higher at present. "The changes in the insurance titles of the Social Security Act are also expected to benefit the aged," the director said.

In Chilton County in August, the number receiving old age pensions was 1325 and the average payment was $37.00, Miss Clements said.

IT'S FAIR TIME IN ALABAMA

Once again it is Fair time in Alabama, and as the leaves fall and a crispness is felt in the air, Alabamians will be trekking to State Fairs in their three major cities to view the exhibits and enjoy the midways.

Alabama's State Publicity Bureau points out that giant Fairs in the State's three largest cities have once again been scheduled so their dates interlock.

The Alabama State Fair at Birmingham will be held at the Fair Grounds, September 30--October 5.

The South Alabama Fair at Montgomery is scheduled for the State Coliseum October 6--11 and

The Gulf State Fair at Ladd Stadium, Mobile, has been set for October 13-18.

All three Fairs will feature the agriculture, industry and education of the State as well as supplying plenty of amusements for the thousands who are expected to flock to them during the three weeks of continuous Fair days in North Central and South Alabama.

A LETTER TO THE PEOPLE

The Citizens and Voters of Chilton County:

I am announcing as a candidate for Probate Judge of Chilton County as an independent candidate. Ever since I became twenty one years old, I have been a strong advocate of free m . . . and I still am to this day. I believe in freedom of religion, freedom of speech, freedom of education and freedom of politics, and voting like you please.

My program is to open up the books and let every taxpayer know where his tax dollar is being spent. I am a strong advocate for good roads . . . believe in putting all the road tax money into good roads and not elsewhere. I am a strong advocate for education. Give a child a good education and he has a better chance in life.

I am a native of Chilton County, born in Jemison August 23, 1904 . . . attended grammar school at Jemison . . . moved to Clanton when I was twelve years old . . . have been living in Clanton forty-one years this past February. I attended grammar school and high school here in Clanton and was graduated. Thereafter, my education continued at the University of Alabama for two years where I was a pre-med student.

My business experiences varied, but construction and real estate have been my main lines. Both my parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Reynolds, are in their late 80's and since they lived alone, I have been with them for the past ten years, and have been selling real estate on a part-time basis, when not busy looking after their best interests.

I am running as a business man with twenty-five years experience in the business world. I qualified as a candidate, as an independent, according to the law, by having forty-five qualified voters of this County to sign a petition that my name be placed upon the ballot. My petition was completed and filed before the May 6th Primary. I can truthfully say that I am running as a true independent, and I have no connection with either the democratic or republican organization in this county. I do not represent any political clique or group, but I am a Southerner to the core. If elected Probate Judge, I will serve the people as one body, Democrats and Republicans alike. I will show no partiality. No favortism.

Chilton County is one of the outstanding counties in Alabama. It is one of the few that has money in the treasury and doesn't owe any debt. Let's keep it that way.

Go to the polls and vote in November. If you want a man with twenty-five years of business experience, I will greatly appreciate your vote. If fortunate enough to be elected your Probate Judge, I will run the Judge's office just like the law says to run it. I qualified just like the law said for me to. I believe in being a law abiding citizen. — Sincerely yours, Hoyt B. Reynolds.

(Pd. Pol. Adv., by Hoyt B. Reynolds, Clanton, Ala.)

LUNCHROOM AT CLANTON

This lunchroom is located at Clanton Elementary School with an enrollment of over 800. The children eat in a room that is so small that it takes 7 shifts a day to feed them and they begin serving at 10:15 and finish eating at 1:00. This condition is extremely bad for rural children who have to leave home early in the mornings.

ISUGGESTIONS WELCOMED!

WMU: "KEYS THAT OPEN DOORS"

The Woman's Missionary Union of the Clanton First Baptist Church, held their monthly mission program meeting, at the church on Monday, September 15th.

The theme for the program was "Keys That Open Doors".

The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. George Curlee and the hymn, "Come Women, Wide proclaim" was sung by the group. The devotional was given by Mrs. Dave Tingle and a dialogue on "installation" was presented by Mrs. Charles Moore and Mrs. Robert Powers.

The installation service was conducted in a very impressive manner by; Mrs. L. G. Nichols. She used a candelight service and as each officer's name was called she lighted a candle, and each officer was given the following source of vitamines--A-Acceptance, B-Belief and Brifhtness, C-Confidence, D-Determination, E-Efficiency and Endurance.

Roll call was answered by 42 members.

WSCS CIRCLE 6 HOLDS WORKSHOP

Circle 6 of the Clanton Methodist W. S. C. S., held its business meeting and a Bazaar Workshop, at the Church last Thursday, Sept. 11.

The business session was presided over by the Chairman, Mrs. R. W. Walker. During this session plans were made for serving Crippled Children's Clinic and the Lay Speakers, also plans were made for another Workshop to be held on October 2nd.

The program for the morning was presented by Mrs. Charles Klinner and Mrs. Howard Buckner, who also gave the closing prayer.

At the noon hour the group enjoyed a delightful and delicious covered dish lunch after which they worked on articles for the Bazaar.

MUCH ADO AT STANTON

Mrs. Ola Mae Weaver

STANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

The church was blessed with a day of worship, and fellowship the first Sunday of this month, Sept. 7. Our pastor brought a wonderful message in the morning, after the Sunday School hour, and Bro. L. C. Hill brought another good message in the afternoon. Everyone enjoyed the noon hour fellowship together, and dinner that was spread on the tables behind the church.

The Rhythmaries Quartet from Birmingham was with us for the day. Everyone enjoyed listening to them sing. An inspiration to all was the testimony that each of these gave, that they were Christians, and sing to the Glory of God.

This day of fellowship and worship was sponsored by the Brotherhood. Joe Dennis is president of this organization and much interest is being shown in the work by our men.

Visitors with us for the day included: Brother and Mrs. L. C. Hill of Birmingham; parents of our pastor; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ponder of Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. L. Posep and family of Morris, Ala., Mrs. Ponder and Mrs. Posey are sisters of our pastor.

On Sunday, August 31, Bro. and Mrs. Hill, and children, Ricky and Nancy united with our church. Little Mary Lee Lawley, came accepting Christ also. She was baptised this past Sunday. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Lawley. We thank the Lord for her sweet life.

There was a good attendance at all the services Sunday. Brother Hill brought a wonderful message from Genesis 3. On "Where Art Thou", A great spiritual blessing was felt by all. We are happy to have a good number present at B. T. U. and the preaching service in the evening. We cordially invite everyone to worship with us in all our services.

Mrs. Don E. Hill has been elected WMU president; Mrs. Erly Parnell, vice-president. Mrs. Billy Gregg was elected GA leader. Mrs. Bud Burnett was re-elected Sunbeam leader. Mr Oden Harrison has been elected Sunday School Superintendent and Mrs. Clyde Gregg, Training Union director for the coming year.

WHITEFLIES NOW ATTACK PLANTS

Whiteflies -- those small, gnat-like insects -- are appearing as usual in large numbers all over the state.

"These insects, are a serious pest of broad-leafed evergreens of all kinds. They seem to have a preference for gardenias, which some folks know as cape jasmine. Whiteflies are sneaking insects, in that they attack the underside of leaves, and the inexperienced gardener rarely ever sees them except when plants are disturbed and they are on the wing."

The specialist said the whiteflies can be controlled effectively with malathion, as either a spray or dust. Malathion is safe to use around the house when applied at recommended concentrations it is not a hazard to small children or pets. A dust containing five percent malathion can be applied in late afternoon, according to Ruffin, with very effective results against whiteflies.

Those preferring a spray can purchase malathion in the form of a 50 or 57 percent emulsion in most feed, sed, and drug stores. This liquid form of malathion should be diluted with water as directed on the container.

"Use two tablespoons of the malathion emulsion in one gallon of water. When spraying, remember that the insecticide must be applies to the underside of the leaves of infested plants because the material must come in contact with the insects to kil lthem. And, since whiteflies are swarming all over the countryside during late summer, plants attacked by them must be sprayed or dusted every 10 days to two weeks to control the pests."

Where And How They Are

COMISSIONED AS 1ST. LIEUTENANT

Loretta Veronica Peterson, daughter of Mrs. Loretta V. Petersen, Thorsby, Alabama, has recently been commissioned a 1st Lieutenant in the Air Force Nurse Corps.

Lieutenant Petersen was graduated from the University of Washington, and received her nurses training in Berea, Kentucky.

She is at present assigned to duty with the 3700 USAF Hospital, Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

CADET HUDSON ASSIGNED TO HARLINGTON AFB

Aviation Cadet Sidney B. Hudson, son of William F. Hudson of Verbena, Ala., has been assigned to Harlington AFB, Tex., for initial training as an Air Force navigator. He recently was graduated from the USAF Pre-Flight School here.

Cadet Hudson is a graduate of the Bob Jones Academy in Greenville, S. C., and attended the Alabama Polytechnic Institute in Auburn, Ala., prior to entering the Air Force.

COGGINS; AN AIRCRAFT HYDRAULIC SPECIALIST

S Sgt. Louis V. Coggins of Rt. 1 Clanton, Ala., an aircraft specialist assigned to the 345 CAMS Squadron from Langley AFB, Va., is beginning his second month of duty with Strike Force Brave, a Composite Air Strike Force Which flew to Turkey 15 July.

Sgt. Coggins and other members of his squadron was alerted at midmorning by the Tactical Air Command. By noon pilots of the B-57 tactical bombers in his squadron were briefed and took off an hour later.

Sgt. Coggins' initial job was to load C-130 transports with equipment set aside for just such an emergency. That afternoon and evening saw his entire squadron over the Atlantic in 300 mph transports heading toward the troubled Middle East with enough equipment to sustain themselves for at least 30 days. In less than 48 hours after the alert at Langley AFB, Va., Sgt. Coggins was in Turkey and his organization was ready for any eventuality. Tents were set aside the bombers, Flyaway kits loaded with neceessary maintenance equipment were opened and the unit was ready for operation.

How engineers design modern concrete roads to save lives and money

Highway engineers design these four important features into the main roads they are building today to give highway users the utmost in safety, comfort and service.

Controlled access provides safe entry or exit from the road at periodic intervals while allowing continuous speed for through traffic.

No grade crossings and no stop lights! On modern highways all traffic on intersecting roads goes over or under the highway.

Wide median strips separate opposing streams of traffic. Result: no blinding lights, no danger of a head-on collision.

Wide traffic lanes allow you more room. And maximum safety results when the lanes are paved with concrete. Concrete is skid-resistant, wet or dry. Its light color provides the best night visibility. Concrete lasts longer, costs less to maintain, gives low-annual-cost service.

The 41,000-mile National System of Interstate and Defense Highways is scheduled to be built by 1972. When finished it will provide safer, faster, more comfortable travel for everyone.

PREPARE NOW FOR SPRING STRAWBERRIES

Fruit buds for next year's strawberry crop will be developed in the fall and early winter months.

An application of 500 pounds of 8-8-8 fertilier per acre in early September in North Alabama -- and about a month later in the southern counties -- will help make those buds strong and well-developed, and will result in large, high -quality fruit next spring.

"If the beds have become matted with plants, it is advisable to thin them to about six inches apart at the time you apply the fertilizer. This will give the individual plants plenty of room to develop into thrifty, strong plants that will produce good fruit.'

Modern chemicals can reduce the problem of wood control. After thoroughly destroying existing weeds with plow and hoe, spray the plants with two pounds of Crag Herbicide No. 1 plus two quarts of Chloro-IPC in 50 gallons of water. About 50 gallons of this mixture will be required per acre

"This should keep th patch relatively free of grass and weeds for about 50 days, or until just before spring growth starts." "Another application at that time ought to carry the bed through the harvest season.

Chemical weed control can save a lot of hand work in weeding strawberries."

THE shell color of eggs makes no difference in their flavor or food value.

CLANTON - Thursday Mornings At New Rockett Building

BENEFITS OF SOIL BANK

Farmers in Chilton County who want to scale down their farming operations have an opportunity to do so by putting part or all of their cropland in the 1959 Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank, Chairman Eddie Owen of the County Agricultural Stablization and Conservation Committee explained today.

The Chairman pointed out that by taking advantage of the program, farmers could: (1) Reduce costs of equipment, seed, fertilizer, insecticides, or other cash outlays necessary in farming operations; (2 reduce the need for extra labor; and (3) reduce the hazards of uncertain markets and prices for farm commodities.

When cropland is put in the Conservation Reserve, it is taken out of production and put to conservation uses, Mr. Owen said. Cost-share payments are made to farmers to help with the establishment of the conservation practices and annual per-acre rental payments are made on the land for the duration of the contract.

This is assured income from the land for the life of the contract regardless of weather, crop diseases, insect pests, variations in market prices or other farming hazards.

Chairman Owen emphasized that annual payment rates for land put in the program are higher if all eligible land on a farm is put in the Conservation Reserve. Generally, he said, this available extra payment is 10 percent above the regular annual payment rate for land on the farm. Even when all of the eligible land on a farm is put in the program, the farm family can continue to live on the place and grow a home garden or use any part of the farm not in the "reserve".

Any farmer can participate in the Conservatioin Reserve if he has cropland which is regularly used for cultivated crops or tame hay.

Alabama listed 328 incorporated cities in 1957 of which 305 used the mayor-council plan; 20 used the City Commission form of government, and three employed city managers combined with one of the above plans.

"S&H GREEN STAMPS are helping Dixie grow"

"During the past few years a major addition to business in the South has been the fast-growing trading stamp industry.

"Proof of the growing importance stamps play in bolstering the area's economy is found in the Southern operations of The Sperry and Hutchinson Company, distributors of the widely-known S&H Green Stamps.

"In 1957 alone, S&H purchased more than $12 million worth of merchandise from Southern manufacturers, providing many of the area's industries with increased outlets for their products and boosting Southern payrolls.

"Added to those figures is the $2,250,000 annual payroll written by S&H for its present and growing 866-person Southern personnel. The Company has invested hundreds of thousands of dollars in real estate to locate its modern redemption centers, indicating that the industry has become a permanent part of the area's business life."

Put Your Trust In The Lord; Faith And Hope Will See You Through!

An Urgent CD Meeting

We are asked to announce that there will be a very important meeting of all Civil Defense personnel and persons interested in any phase of this important community work.

Earl Wilson, spokesman for the group, said early this week that "We have a very good chance of picking up some new equipment and we need interested people" in order to keep the ball rolling.

If you are interested in Civil Defense, either the Local Rescue Squad, or some other phase be at the Chilton County Courthouse tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m.

There is a probability that officers will be chosen at this meeting. Public is urged to be present!

E. T. CLAPP WINS AWARD

E. T. Clapp, President of Maplesville Bank, and Chilton County Chairman for the U. S. Savings Bonds Program, has received a Treasury award for outstanding patriotic service to the Bond program.

The "100% Club" Citation is in recognition of this county's having acheved its 1957 sales goal of $283,-620. County sales for the year totalled $291,224 in Series E and H Savings Bonds.

The award was presented by W. Newell Reeves, Area Manager for the Treasury's Savings Bonds Division. He praised the efforts of Mr. Clapp and other volunteer workers who made the achievement possible.

"The people of this county are to be congratulated," Mr. Reeves said, "for their joint contribution to personal thrift and to a sound national economy. Show me an area where the people have good thrift habits, and I will show you a progressive community with a sound economy. I have seen this proven many times in my travels over the state."

LIBERTY HILL PLANS BIG DAY

There will be a home-coming and singing at Liberty Hill Sunday, September 28th, all day. All singers have a cordial invitation to attend, as well as members, former members and friends of the church. Services will begin at 10:30.

Baptist Pastors Resolve Ban On 'Spirits'

The Baptist Pastors' Conference of the Chilton - Unity Association passed the following resolutions in their last meeting: First, that a vigorous protest be made against the possession, sale and use of beverage alcohol in any form in Chilton County. Second, that letters be formed and sent to the county newspapers, the Probate Judge, the Sheriff, the County and Circuit Solicitors, and the heads of municipalities in the county. Every pastor present was in perfect agreement with the resolution and desired that their signatures accompany the communication.

We do not desire to evade our responsibilities as ministers. Neither are we interested in bringing pressure where pressure is not needed. But there is a deep realization on the part of each of us that it is imperative that much more be done than is being done at the present to suppress this evil that exists in Chilton County. We are calling upon all Christians in this area to cooperate in this struggle against beverage alcohol. When homes are breaking, children hungry for food and affection, the lives of thousands literally becoming a mess, souls being damned as the result of drinking, we feel that sermons should be preached, lessons taught by precept and example, prayers prayed and influence used to deliver the people of Chilton County from the presence, sale and use of alcohol as a beverage. Therefore, we insistently urge those who have been chosen by the citizens of this county to exert themselves to the extent of their ability to accomplish the objectives for which they have been chosen in confidence by the people.

The following ministers were present and willingly agreed that their names be printed as sponsoring the resolutions and covenanted to continue a firm and determined stand against the presence, sale and use of alcoholic beverages in Chilton County: Rev. F. F. Gildewell, Rev. Thomas Cox, Rev. B. B. Burks, Rev. C. E. Hand, Rev. E. C. Handley, Rev. M. Lockhart, Rev. Glennis Askins, Rev. Richard Sharp, Rev. J. W. Jones, Rev. Fred Donovan, Rev. W. S. Cox, Rev. A. W. Nix, Rev. Don Hill, Rev. J. L. Adams, Rev. Erwin Moore, Rev. C. Patterson, Rev. Robert Cardin, and Rev. N. E. Cook.

There were quite a number of the members of the Pastor's Conference who were not present at this meeting; however, we have every reason to believe that all and each of them stand with us in perfect accord in this move.

Little Wanda Doing Fine in Chicago

In conversation with different interested parties yesterday your reporter learned that Wanda Limbrick, who underwent a major operation; delicate and "most difficult of it's kind that I've done" said her doctor. Though Wanda was still on the critical list Tuesday night her condition was much improved and the only danger was a common one of possible infections.

Mrs. W. F. Harris, next-door -neighbor to the Limbricks reported Tuesday that she had talked with them early in the day and the first thing Wanda had said when she woke up from her ordeal was "Am I pink like other little girls?" Seems she's been quite worried about that all along. Doctors say it will be a matter of a few months before she is "perfectly pink" like other little girls!

Wanda will be in Chicago another two weeks if all goes well. She has learned 42 new words while there and though still under an oxygen tent it is reported that she is anxious to get on with her "studies".

Her address is Children's Memorial Hospital, 707 West Fullerton Avenue, Chicago 14, Illinois.

Reports Tuesday from Francis Speaks, negotiator for local Civitans ,indicated that the Chicago Civitan Club was anxious to "defray expenses of Wanda's aunt, Mrs. Grady Rhodes of Wetumpka, while she was in Chicago." Leslie R. Bishop, president of Chicago Civitans wrote Speaks requesting permission to pay those expenses.

The power of faith and hope and the desire for many to help one in need is what brought little Wanda out into the sun. The surgeon's hand was steadied by the prayers and good wishes of thousands!

ANGLIN AT STANTON FOR REVIVAL

BRO. JOE ANGLIN

Brother Joe Anglin of Madison County will conduct the revival meeting at the Stanton Baptist Church Sunday, Oct. 5th through Friday, Oct. 10th. Services will be held twice daily during the week. The morning services will begin at 10 A.M and the evening services will begin at 7:30 P.M. Each evening service will be preceded by a church-wide prayer service at 7 p.m.

Bro. Anglin comes to us from the Mt. Zion Baptist Church at Monrovia, Ala. This church is reported to be the largest rural church in Alabama. Brother Anglin is well known throughout the State as a Faithful preacher of the Gospel. He has been voted by the "Progressive Farmer" magazine to be "The Outstanding Rural Pastor of The Year" on two occasions.

Mr. W. C. Childress of the Fairview Baptist Church, Selma, Ala., will conduct the singing during the revval.

Negro Taken At Gunpoint

Five white men took a negro at gun point Saturday afternoon late from the place where he worked at Maplesville. According to Sheriff Hugh Champion who investigated and directed the search for the negro he returned to his home about midnight unhurt.

The negro, Robert Clinton Works, could give the officials such vague descriptions of his abduction and the men who picked him up that the officers had absolutely nothing to work on. As the story went he was taken some two miles down State highway 2 where the car turned off a side road. They were met by other cars according to the story reported to the Sheriff. When the men in the car with the negro walked back a ways to held conversation with the other men, and left only one man watching the negro, he made off into the woods and returned home about midnight.

He stated to the officers that he could identify none of the men to give them any reason for his being taken at gun point by them.

Officers from Chilton and Dallas counties searched until mid-night Saturday night before giving up the search.

GREEN LIGHT INSTALLED AT AIRPORT

A green light was installed at Clanton Airport Monday of this week in place of the white light on the beacon. To you this may not mean so much but to the operator it could spell life or death. The green light tells him that it is a landing field and he can come in. Tuesday night a Lt. from Ft. Rucker was on his way from Columbus, Miss., to Ozark, Ala., and landed out there to find out where he was. He was in a light plane and as is usual the first words he spoke were, "where am I"

Mrs. Charles Foshee, chapter president, received the charter at the General Board Meeting held in Montgomery on August 22. It was presented by Mrs. M. F. Wittichen, Coral Gables, Florida, president general of the UDC. Among those taking part in the ceremony were Mrs. W. J. Holladay, Fayette, Alabama president of the Alabama Division and Mrs. Frances Askew, Eufaula, third vice-president and director of the Children of the Confederacy in Alabama. Mrs. Crawford, who organized the new chapter, was also present.

BEGIN COLLEGE CLASSES

Phillip Foshee of Clanton will begin classes this week as a first year student at the University of Alabama Medical College in Birmingham. Announcement was made by Dr. Robert C. Berson, Dean of the Medical College.

MT. PLEASANT ELECTS PASTOR

The Mt. Pleasant Baptist church is indeed proud to announce that they have re-elected Rev. Ocie Colley as their full-time pastor.

Everyone has a cordial invitation to attend the church and hear Rev. Colley as he brings the message each Sunday and Sunday night.

'WITNESSES' HOLD CONFAB AT OPELIKA

787 Jehovah's Witnesses, gathered in convention at the Opelika Junior High School, were told Sunday afternoon that, "The purpose of Jehovah God calls for a channel of communication now that will serve notice upon all his enemies that Armageddon is impending; otherwise when it strikes they will not know the reason why." z

The speaker was J. W. Filson, district supervisor for the group in their final session.

"Proof of God's manifest blessing," he said, "is the phenomenal growth of this movement from a mere handful in 1919 to the more than 700,000 active ministers now preaching in 172 countries throughout the world."

V. D. Ellis of Selma gave a summary of "The Watchtower" article on "Prayer, a Precious Loving Provision", which is normally considered in classroom fashion at all congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses on Sunday.

C. M. Johnston, circuit supervisor, urged his listeners to "Be Balanced in All Things".

Four hundred twenty-nine delegates were on hand for Friday's opening session and the keynote address, "Expanding Our Ministry" given by Mr. Filson.

"The program stressed the responsibility of continued improvement during the next six months if we are to become the kind of teachers who will bring praise to Jehovah," the circuit declared William F. Robinson of the Clanton congregation.

THIS week local merchants have again, as consistently during the past four months, chosen space in Chilton County News to present their products and their services to the people of Chilton County. This may not prove that it's best for your business but we may "this many local merchants can't be wrong" and they obviously get results. The following are some of the local merchants represented in CCN this week:

Goodyear Service Store, Spigener Funeral Home, Ward's Flower Shop, J. C. Page Insurance Co., First National Bank, Peoples Savings Bank, Ala. Power Co., Clanton Drive-In Theatre, Woods Jewelry Co., Bell Hardware Co., Ala. Farm Bureau Ins. Co., Clanton Jewelry Co., Carter Radio & TV Service, Wyatt Drug Co., City Tire Service, The Hat Shoppe, Upchurch Drug Co., Chilco Quick Freeze, Ltd., Hayes Chevrolet Co., C. W. Bentley, Dr. J. L. B. Headley's Store, Scott's Studio, and several others.

All in all over ● 30 ● local merchants who prove by their number and presence that local newspaper advertising pays them and they appreciate its results! !

Air Reserve Unit Wanted, Clanton

The 9021st Air Reserve Squadron, whose headquarters is Montgomery, Ala., is interested in organizing an Air Reserve unit in Clanton and Montevallo. They are primarily interested in prior servicemen that have been recently released or discharged from any branch of service.

Each Reservist receives one day's pay for each meeting he attends. The meetings are two hours long and are generally held on a night most convient to all members. This type unit holds 24 pay meetings per year from September through June. In addition to the 24 meetings each member is required to perform a 15 day active duty tour each year; which is also performed at a time most convient to the individual. The unit does not go to "summer camp" as most units do, so this allows its members to go on their active duty tours whenever they want to.

If you are a prior service man and interested in affiliating with an Air Reserve unit, write to AIR FORCE RESERVE, Room 3 Old Post Office Building, Montgomery, Ala.

VERBENA P.-T. A. HOLDS MEETING

A special P.-T. A. meeting is to be held in Verbena, for the election of a new president, secretary, and Treasury. This expects "YOU", so please be present.

CHICKEN SUPPER AT ENTERPRISE

There will be a chicken supper at Enterprise School, Thursday, September 25th, at 6 p.m., the purpose to raise money for library books and equipment, also the superintendent and members of the Board of Education will be there to discuss the proposed 1c sales tax. All interested persons are invited to attend. Price of chicken plates will be 75c.

GOOD AMERICAN CLUB MEET

On Friday, September 19, 1958, the Junior Citizens Club sponsored by Mrs. L. C. Warrs room presented a Talent Show to the Good American Club.

The Good American Club enjoyed the program which consisted of a variety of entertainment.

The Good American Club had a brief business meeting on Monday, Sept. 22, 1958. The following Committee were appointed:

Program Committee Chairman, Ann Dailey, Peggy Mitchell, and Mary Frances Perryman.

Cleanup Commttee Chairman, Jeanette Seals, Michael Tyus, and Janice Vines.

Sunshine Committee, Chairman, Tommy Medly, Martha Byler, and Olivia Teel.

Hospitality Committee Chairman Douglas Collins, C. Cox, and Patricia Cox.

Host and Hostess, Michael Denman and Connie Cole.—Pasty Williams, Reporter.

IN MEMORY

In the early morning hours of August 22, 1958, Mrs Vena Pyron Jones, of Thorsby, Alabama, was called home. She died at the residence in Thorsby after a long illness. Funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church, August 24 at 2:00 P.M., with burial in the Deatsville cemetery.

Mrs. Jones was born near Mountain Creek, Alabama to Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Pyron, and was one of the younger members of a family of fifteen children.

She accepted Christ at the age of 14 and began teaching a Sunday School class of small children at the age of 15. She taught various age groups until her health failed.

She married Rev. J. W. Jones December 3, 1905 and two children Horace C. and Evelyn Lorine, were born to this union. She was a wonderful helpmate to her husband in his pastoral work and was faithful to her home and church while he was away in evangelistic campaigns and associational work. She was great inspiration to him while he was attending Howard College and the Seminary at Louisville, Kentucky. Her home was always open to ministers and state workers.

Mrs. Jones was a leader and organizer in W. M. U. work. She was an associational W. M. U. President for many years, visiting the churches and organizing societies. She was at home at the piano and often led the choir and congregational singing.

Her work was always done in a Christ-like spirit and she endeared herself to all who knew her.

What do you intend doing about this ?

THIS is a before and after scene on a Chilton County school bus, but the problem is, nothing has improved "afterward". Over 100 pupils are forced to ride this bus . . . count 'em if you like! Anyone with common sense knows that a safe number would be little over half that many. The proposed one-cent sales tax is not the booger that some indicate and it would help greatly to reduce such situations as pictured here. These are "our" children . . . not some foreigner's!

FAULT finding--like charity--very often begins at home.

WE always meintained that a few words to the point are better than a long speech.

LITTLE white lies are seldom really white.

WHEN history repeats itself most people are hard of hearing.

GOOD advice is the kind you forget to take until it is too late.

BLEST IS CHILTON--

What with the turmoil of the world Chilton County is doubly blest. So far as the segregation question is concerned if we did not read about it in the newspapers or hear about it on radio and TV we would not know it existed.

And with the hustle and the bustle of the work-a-day world Chilton County merchants and citizens take it all in stride. Many times we think that a little pep and enthusiasm wouldn't hurt, but too, the calm life is very good--good for the health and good for the the soul

You'll find few places on this earth blest as Chilton is. As to people first; ;then her climate, crops, small idustry, fishing, that neighborliness that has all but vanished in man's hurry to race through life, make a name for himself, then die and be forgotten.

You guessed it. We're sold on Chilton County. We just wish more people in this strife ridden world could share our peace and contentment.

NOBODY'S PUNCTURE-PROOF --

As the hunting season opens, landowners are posting "No Hunting" sings and the nation's druggests are preparing for an event of their own - known as "Emergencies Don't Wait" week and to be observed from October 10 to 18.

That these two activities have more than a little in common is suggested by the 1958 report of the National Safety Council, which shows the same number of human deaths from firearms in 1957 as in 1956 - a shocking 2,200! Hunters that are so careless or inept as to shoot themselves or each other will also leave the farm gates open and mistake cows and other domestic livestock for game. And since, as history proves, there will be emergencies, the druggists are doing their best to get people to prepare for them - to check and restock both first aid kits and home medicine cabinets.

With similar ideas of life-saving in mind, Dr. John Henderson, author of "The Complete Book of First Aid" and medical director of Johnson & Johnson, offers some capsule advice, which - whether it is taken or not - is [illegible] needed

"There is no general first aid for gunshot wounds," says Dr. Henderson, "since they range from lacerations to serious abdominal, chest and head injuries - with varying degrees of bleeding and possible broken bones. What-to-do depends, therefore, on the particular injury.

"First, place the victim in the 'shock position' - reclining, with his feet higher than his head. Next, check copious bleeding by binding or holding a clean compress against the wound Pressure and compresses are recommended over tournaquets Then, place a blanket under the patient as well as over him. Keep him warm and as comfortable as possible. If the wound is in the chest or abdomen, give nothing by mouth.

"Do not attempt local treatment, washing or examination of the wound - these are jobs for the doctor or hospital. A clean pad plus a mild antiseptic such as first aid cream are the only things that should go on the wound. If there is "sucking" chest puncture, make the bandage as air-proof as possible. Do not change bandages. If more are necessary on way to doctor, place a new one on top of the first."

We suggest you cut out Dr. Henderson's instructions and paste them in your first aid kit-and pick hunting campanions who can recoonize game and who know how to handle firearms and have proper respect for them.

An ounce of prevention is still better than a pound of cure-especially when there is no cure out in the woods and fields.

ACROSS THE ED'S DESK —

Mrs. Deason Says "Yes There Is An All-Wise And Perfect God"

(EDITOR'S NOTE: On August 28, Chilton County News published a letter from Mr. Wm Gletty concerning religious beliefs and opinions. The following is in answer to that letter.)

Billingsley, Alabama
September 15, 1958

Dear Mr. Gletty:

Your letter to the Chilton County News August 28th concerning juvenile delinquency and the Bible was "all wrong".

The majority of juvenile delinquents of our day have never attended church regularly nor had religious training. I heard this statement made by a judge from one of our juvenile courts. You will find that J. Edgar Hoover of the F. B. I. confirms this truth as regards to the youthful criminals in our land.

As I look out the doorway and see the big oak in the back yard with the lovely green pines in the background and feel my own heart beating inside my breast. I look to God who alone is the Creator of the heavens and the earth. No man create these things. There is no argument here. A ten year old child can look around him and deduct this truth for himself.

Truly, "The fool hath said in his heart, 'There is no God,'" I quote from a book that has more wisdom, more influence, and more understanding of man's ways than any other book ever written. I quote from a book that contains in its pages the history of man, his sin, the prophecy of deliverance from the bondage of sin, and the fulfillment of this prophecy in the coming of the Son of God who is the Way, the Truth and the Life. Quite evidently you are unaware that this Bible which you say is "bolderdash" and out dated" is still the best seller every year in this modern scientific age. Doubtless you have forgotten how the history of mankind reveals that as a nation begins to receive the Word of God and becomes a Christian nation, then that nation begins to progress in civilization, in education, and in scientific advancement. The greatest scientists and the leading statesmen alike realize their own limitations and humbly bow in allegiance to the All Powerful and All Wise God. The honest laborer worships the God who gave him health and the ability to do his work. The Bible teaches us to put God first, others second, and self last. Your philosophy is self first, others second, and no room for God.

God is not to be mocked, Mr. Gletty. Come down off that pedestal. Take that shield of distortion from before your eyes and take a look at the would around you. Read the Bible for yourself. Have you ever heard of the New Testament? From your unjust and highly prejudiced criticism of the Bible, I gather that you have only read certain parts of it with the idea of finding fault. The Old Testament contains a history of the Jewish race including some of the laws they made for themselves as they wandered farther away from God. It also tells of the prophets that God sent to warn them of their evil ways and to tell them of a redeemer who would come to save them from their sins. The New Testament tells of Christ who tells us we must do more than keep the letter of the law. We must be clean on the inside as well as the outside. In Matthew 5. 6, and 7 Christ has set forth the highest standard of living ever to be given anyone. A person or a child who studies these teachings and tries to live by them will be a decent law abiding citizen who is an honour to this country, his family, and have the respect of his fellowman.

You say that the Bible teaches one can get forgiveness for any sin except that of rejecting Christ. I say to you that I have experienced this forgiveness in my own heart. Christ told Nicodemus, "Ye must be born again." All of us have been born physically, but only those who have accepted Jesus Christ as Lord and Saviour have experienced the second or spiritual birth. "The new birth is an act of God in which he exercises his divine power, creating in man a new heart, new attitudes and new desires." "If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and cleanse us from all unrighteousness." "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in him might not perish, but have everlasting life."

I challenge you to teach your children of this love of God, teach them to love the Lord their God, and to love their neighbor as themselves, and you need not fear that one of them will ever become a juvenile delinquent, but they will instead become fine Christian citizen. -- Yours truly. Opal Deason.

From my front porch

By CARL HELM

The paper says that, with Alaska admitted to statehood, the "geographical center" of the U. S. is now in the Dakotas. Well and good. . . .

But the "heart" of America is someplace else. It is in the collective hometowns of our homeland where generation follows generation in the same or adjacent confines; where the kids grow up and marry their playmates on the same or nearby block and have their own children; where families gather regularly for Sunday dinner and Grandma and Grandpa are unreluctant baby sitters, and life flows on in an unbroken line of our star-spangled tradition and heritage.

Speaking of which, in my hometown there is a proud tradition and heritage of fine craftsmanship among the generations which continuously since 1902 have made Studebaker cars. Fathers and their sons and their sons after them, in an unbroken line, have made these cars with skill, to be useful, long-lasting — as the generations before them (dating back to the South Bend, Ind. of 1852) made fine wagons and buggies. . . . 106 fruitful years of putting (and keeping) America on wheels! . . . .

MORALO BSERVATIONS

BY A READER

How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?--Hebrews 2:3.

The most undermining and dangerous things in life is "neglect". On the highways thousands upon thousands lost life and limb because of just one thing, "neglect." Even though the highway is plainly marked by signs, at every curve and danger point there stands a sign pointing to "danger" ahead! Yet people heedlessly and carelessly plunge to their deaths.

The great highway of life is also marked pylainly with warnings of the impending "danger" ahead. In every city, community and countryside, there stands a church with a warning message to the lost. Even preachers take to the streets, the radio, and every possible means of attempting to reach those who will not go to church, with a message of warning to those who are carelessly neglecting their soul's salvation. But you can drive around a block from the church on Sunday, during the Sunday School hour, or during church services, and you will see children playing on the streets. The grown-ups working on a car, mowing the lawn, or working in the yard. Go to the river, or becah, or to any resort or entertainment, and there you will see them by the thousands! Not such bad peopel, but it all just adds up to one thing, "NEGLECT!" how many ever really stop to think How shall we escape? I wonder about this all-important question.

We are now living in a busy day. Our lives are full of attractions, and on every hand, there is that something to occupy our minds and fill up our time; At home, the television, the radio, the newspaper, the family, the telephone. And then there is business, the clubs, the sports, the entertainments and so many things to crowd into life, Sbut at the end of this busy life, WHAT THN? Remember, every marker that God has placed along the highway of life warns of "danger" ahead.

One of the most impressive warnings of God's Holy word is, "Seek ye the Lord while he may be found --Isa. 55:6. This implies that there will be a time when we may seek, but he cannot be found! "Then they shall call upon me, seek me early, but they shall not but I will not answer; they shall find me." Prov. 1:28. My friend there is death, hel land the judgement right at the end of this busy life's road, and without God, how shall we escape? If we were to suddenly realize that we were at the end of life's highway, would we be satisfied in our present state? Take five minutes to think this over today!

Pregnant sows kept in drylot, though otherwise fed a balanced ration will farrow weak, small pigs. Experimental date show that only 10 percent of the litter will live to weaning age. However, if 10 percent of the sow's rations during pregnancy is high-quality alfalfa meal or legume grazing, she will farrow a large litter of strong pigs, a high percentage of which will live.

CITIZENS ENDORSE SALES TAX

A group of interested citizens met at the Maplesville High School Wednesday, September 17 at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. W. A. LeCroy, Superintendent of Education, was the guest speaker. He made a most informative talk to this group in which he told of the presing need for class rooms and facilities in our school system.

Mr LeCroy stressed the fact that the election on November 4 would not levy the tax but would express to our State Legislators our approval and desire that they introduce and pass such legislation through the State Legislature

A motion was made and seconded that this group endorse the one cent sales tax. The motion was passed unanimously.

THAT'S a good question! And it isn't all as bad as the above indicates, but the point is that this situation "Does" exist in our school system. Have we no pride in our children? Will we always "let somebody else" do the job for us when it's "our" children's education which is threatened?

The above picture shows the very bad conditions of an outdoor toilet in one of Chilton County's Schools. It should be pointed out to the people of this County that such unsanitary and outdated facilities make it hard for the Board of Education to convince parents that they should send their children to such schools rather than to look for better conditions elsewhere. It is evidently the opinion of some people that the above facilities are good enough for Chilton County children just so long as it is the other person's child that is involved. If the one cent sales tax becomes a reality, these conditions will be corrected and the existence of these community schools will be assured.

Remember that the one cent sales tax will be earmarked for buildings, equipment, and maintenance and not one penny can be spent for salaries.

Remember these are our schools and they will be no better than we make them.

THINGS We see and hear

by BOB

SOME folks call it a 'rut', but we think that establishing a pattern for your way of living is the first step toward your feeling of security.

SOMETHING'S bothering us! Why is it people treat salesmen as if they were trying to steal their pocketbook. Once the fact is established that you are a salesman, of any description, magnitude or lack of it, everything you say automatically becomes questionable. The average salesman, though he'd naturally like to sell you his product, is actually only making that product a little more available to you by bringing it to you. The fact is, if he's cordial and sincere and not brash and forceful he's doing you a favor by being there. We realize there are too many salesmen in our everyday life, but think how hard it would be for us to run our business or live ordinary lives if it weren't for "that salesman".

NEXT week is promotion Sunday at our Sunday School and we're losing Freddie Headley and Butch Carter from our class. These young fellows are on the threshhold of becoming teen-agers and they have a whole new world before them. You can become very attached to a guy even though you just see him once a week and then not one hundred percent regular. It's worth it, though, to see them become responsible teen-agers. We're proud of them and we hope they take a small portion of the "Followers of Christ" class with them when they depart from us to move on down the hall.

HERB Salter and Jeff Miller agree that these new "Hula Hoops" that are the present craze of the youngsters would be very good for those "older" folks who could use a little reducing around certain areas. We agree! We told Jeff we'd even buy one of the things if he'd get out front and demonstrate and the look in his eyes indicated that he almost took us up on it. Oh well, we save a $1.49 and he saved his along with his dignity, so it turned out O.K. after all we suppose.

FRIEND Bruce Braze was in Clanton Tuesday of this week with some very discouraging opinions on the good and bad points of advertising, but the point remains is that his business (Suburban Gas Company) is advertising and they do feel they know which media suits them the best. This is an advantage over so many businesses that do not put the proper emphasis on advertising. We always contend that you should advertise your product and your business no matter if you get out on the sidewalk and yell it out yourself. That's advertising right along and its the paying thing to build your business. Nice to see Mr. Bruce. He says business is fine and dandy and anytime a fellow says that we know he feels right with the world.

Tigers Down Red Devils With A Score Of 20 To 0

By LARRY MINOR

Coach Don Finlayson's Tigers got their offence rolling last Friday night and downed the Red Devils of Maplesville by a score of 20-0.

Clanton rolled for 220 yards on the ground led by James Knight who had 137 of them. Knight also set up the first touchdown with a 45 yard scamper to the 10 yard line on the first play Clanton had the ball. Neil Bice also ran well and had a fine 35 yard touchdown run nullified by a penalty. Tommy Shelton, Carl Baker, and Freddie Lewis looked very good carrying the mail.

Clanton's defense again was outstanding, holding Maplesville to 2 yards on the ground, and allowing only 8 of 28 passes thrown to be completed. Don Norten, Elliot Monroe, Tommy Edwards, Jimmy Dennis, Don Jnes, Ralph Davis have gained themselves somewhat of a reputation by not permitting a gain of over 12 yards against them this season.

Another bright spot for Clanton was the fine play exhibited by it's second team. These boys are mostly Sophomores and Juniors and give fair warning that Clanton can be feared in years to come.

This Friday night at 7:30 P.M., Clanton will host Coach Theron Fisher's undefeated Montevallo Bulldogs. It appears that a fine game is in the making. Let's go out and cheer our fine team. See you at the game.

Summary Of County Peach Sales For 1958

Experiment Station's 1958 peach sales summary shows labor and management return average of $2.50 per tree. As reported by C. C. Carlton, Superintendent, Chilton Area Horticultural Experiment Station, one thousand (1,000) producing peach trees produced a total sales income of $3,700.00 Total charge to the management of these trees was $2,515.00, or a net profit above all costs including labor, of $1,185.00.

The above peach production cost and sales summary was supplied by local station superintendent in an effort to clarify some of the questions and wild rumors that are prevalent relative to the 1958 peach production and marketing. The Chilton Area Experiment Station figures are looked upon as a measuring stick for the grower who followed good practices. All peaches from the experimental orchard were marketed through one of the county's commercial marketing sheds, and station peaches were paid for on exactly the same basis of other peaches reaching the marketing shed. A grower following recommended practices and doing a practical farmer job, rather than a record-keeping one, in many cases will show a much higher net return from 1958 peach sales than did the experiment station. The above income figures were priduced from six hundred (600) 8-year old Elberta trees (this block of Elbertas was heavily contaminated with bacterial leaf spot and ran a very high percentage below U. S. No. 1 grade) .Also the Elbertas, a late variety of peach, were marketed on the cheaper end of the marketing season). Other peach trees making up the 1,000 trees harvested at the experiment station consisted of two hundred (200) 9-year old mixed varieties and two hundred (200) 3-year old trees of mixed experimental varieties.

In attempting to pinpoint items of cost involved in producing peaches on the experiment station orchard in 1958, it was found that $1,145.00 was charged to the trees as cost of materials including fertilizer, spray, land rent, use of tractor and equipment, etc., and $1,370.00 cost was charged to labor.

The above set of figures will be more carefully studies in a peach growers' meeting to be held at an early date.

The above brief report should partially answer questions in many growers and citizens minds that the overall Chilton County peach situation could have been much more profitable if all growers had followed the practices that they all know are best and that were suggested to them throughout the growing season.

Miss Klinner Weds Mr. John H. Pierce

An improved altar of traditional wedding greenery, white carnations, mums, glads and candlelight in the living room of the brides home in Lakeview Heights, provided the lovely setting for the marriage of Miss Barbara Klinner and John Harold Pierce, 5:30 p.m. Sunday. The Rev. Edward Wilkins read the nuptial vows.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Klinner and Mr. and Mrs. John Pierce, Clanton.

Given in marriage by her father, her gown of white imported sheer handkerchief silk linen over blush pink taffeta featured a fitted short sleeved bodice with eyelet embroidery and a portrait neckline of the tull ballerina length overskirt, a blush pink taffeta sash circled the waist and tied in the back in a large old fashioned apron type bow. She carried a white Bible showered with white orchids.

Miss Jane McMasters of Montgomery, Ala., was sole attendant for the bride, she wore a white taffeta princess style gown cocktail length. She carried a boquet of white and blush pink feathered carnations tied with a matching sweetheart bow.

The brides mother wore a cotton file tailored navy dress splashed with a white figure. The bridegrooms mother wore a silk dress of navy. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

Doyle Pierce served as his brothers best man and Capt. E. F. Klinner, Jr., brother of the bride, lighted the candles.

Pianist was Miss Ola Mae Pierce sister of the groom, Mr. Randall Veazey vocalist.

A reception followed the ceremony. The dinning room was done in the same wedding greenery. The table was covered with an imported linen cloth with cutwork embroidery, the beautiful wedding cake was the center attraction flanked on either side silver candelabras holding burning tapers. The huge crystal bowl of green punch completed the table appointment.

Mrs. Ralph Patterson, sister of the bride served the cake. Mrs. E. F. Klinner, Jr., sister-in-law of the bride served the punch, assisted by Mrs. McMasters of Montgomery, Ala.

The bride chose a black and gray silk tweed suit, with gunmetal accessories, her corsage was a white orchid for her trip to the Smokey Mountains.

The bridegroom finished one year in State Teachers College at Troy, Alabama, after finishing school at Verbena High School 1953, entered the U. S. Service 1955 and was discharged in 1957, and now Mr. Pierce plans to enter Auburn this year and finish his interrupted educat on. The bride chose a business course at Massey-Draughn after finishing high school at Isabella in 1956. She has been working with the Government in secret service since she completed her course. After the wedding trip the couple will make their home in Auburn, Ala.

Berries and figs should be refrigerated as soon as received, because they deteriorate quickly if allowed to become warm.

MRS. HODGES SUCCUMBS IN GA.

Mrs. Ola Jones Hodges, 78, died Wednesday morning, September 22nd, at 10 o'clock, at Piedmont Hospital, Atlanta, Ga., following an illness of a few weeks. She had been suffering a heart condition.

Services were held at Spigener-Jones chapel, Tuscaloosa, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Dr. H. G. Williams, officiating. Burial was beside her husband in Memorial Park cemetery, Tuscaloosa.

One son, Dr. W. W. (Bill) Hodges, of Atlanta, survives, also three grand-children--two boys and one girl; two sisters--Mrs. Irene Rasberry of Montgomery, and Mrs. A. S. Prince of Clanton; one brother, Oscar W. Jones of Clanton.

Native of Chilton county, Mrs. Hodges was a daughter of Will am Wilson (Bill) Jones and Eliza Mullins Jones. The husband, W. Z. Hodges, died some seven years ago. It will be remembered that Mr. and Mrs. Hodges operated a store in Clanton for a number of years. They lived in Tuscaloosa while their son was in college there, and remained there for some years afterward.

MT. PLEASANT CHURCH NEWS

We are happy to announce that our church has called a fulltime minister, Rev. Oc.e Colley. Rev. Colley, will be our pastor full time for the coming year. This is the first time in the history of our church that we have had a full-time pastor, and we request the prayers of all praying people to pray that we will stay strong and continue to do the Lord's work as we know we should.

Our Young Married peoples class served refreshments to all the B. T. U. Classes Sunday night. Everyone enjoyed it and the chating afterwards. Thanks again, young folks.

These young people are sort of making history around our church They are meeting at each others homes to discuss the ways and means of serving the Lord better, and by their efforts we are seeing some fine results, due to their prayers and work.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Oates visited the D. M. Oates family over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. V. O. Moore attended the singing at Billingsley Sunday.

The Young Married People met at the home of Ivan and Sue Smith the past week and this week they met at the James and Lois Meltons home. They serve refreshments and attendance is growing.

Mrs. Tim Blackmon is somewhat improved we are happy to report.

Mrs. Minnie Riggins visited our church Sunday night. We are always delighted to have her with us.

We elected officers and teachers for the coming year. A published liste of teachers and officers will be forthcoming in this paper at a later date.

If you have any news in this community you would like to have published call Mrs. Irene Riggins phone 773-R4.

Remember prayer service each Wednesday night.

We take this opportunit to welcome to our community the Arthur family Eving in the Carolle Johnson home.

MARBURY FFA PLANS BIG YEAR

Vocational Agriculture instruction in the Marbury High School will include several adjustments beginning with the coming school term, according to Clifford M. Manning, vocational teacher.

The newly initiated program will place a greater emphasis on scientific methods in agriculture and will focus attention on increased farm mechanization-two essentials for courses in vocational agriculture to be useful to future agriculturalists. It is imperative that the instruction be streamlined and actually reach out into the future for probabilities, so that the person who follows an agricultural vocation will not find himself behind when he begins his work.

The adjusted curriculum is set up to include four divisions, one division for each year of vo-ag instruction with each higher division becoming more specialized and more related to actualities which an agriculturalist will face.

The first-year of instruction in this program has been designated as an exploratory course. Students will be directed in ways and means of a scientific agriculture, and, in addition, will receive instruction in making a start in agriculture and related occupations. This phase of the program is aimed at student self-discovery and a recognition of the merits of the field of agriculture.

Second-year students will receive extensive instruction in the farm and home shop in addition to study based on the home project programs. It is the role of the vo-ag teacher in this year to help the student develop the mechanical skills and an understanding of their uses in vocational agriculture and related fields. Such a course of study endeavors to develop to a large extent the mechanical skills and the knowledges needed to provide a better home and community life.

Efficient and scientific production of farm crops and livestock will receive major emphasis in the course for thru-year students. This program of instruction will assist students in becoming established in farming, and it will help students to accept more and more responsibility for study and research in the improvement of farm efficiency.

In schools where the fourth-year vo-ag is offered it will be found this this course is designed especially for the students who have definitely indicated a preference for agriculture as a vocation. This final year of instruction will be concerned with farm management and has as its purpose the presentation of efficient farm management principles and their application for better living and greater profits.

"This program," says Clifford Manning, "it is not entirely new, for our program of instruction has long been concerned with this purpose. However, in view of our changing times, adjustments which we felt were necessary have been made and the total instructional program revised to meet the needs of tomorrow's agriculture."

SOIL BANK FARMERS STILL HAVE "OPERATING" RIGHTS

Farmers who put all of their eligible cropland in the Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank still will have certain "operating" rights on their farms. Chairman Eddie Owen of the Chilton County Agricultural Stablization and Conservation Committee revealed today.

In the first place. the Chairman said, farmers who take advantage of the additional 10-percent payment for putting all their eligible land in the Reserve can continue to live on the farm.

While they cannot, of course, produce any Soil Bank base crops, generally, all grain and row crops, these farmers can grow a farm care of the family's needs. If they garden sufficiently large to take are set-up, Mr. Owen added, there are several other things participating farmers can do on the farm. Among them, he listed: Use barns, other farm buildings, and feed lots graze noncrop open pasture or range land that is not in the Conexisting timber stands, fruit trees, servation Reserve; manage already vineyards, nursery stock, or nut trees.

The Chairman urged all farmers who have questions about putting their entire eligible acreage in the program, and any others who are interested, to consult with county ASC officials. He pointed out that any farmer who has cropland regularly used for cultivated crops or tame hay is eligible to take part.

THE GREAT GREEN FLEET is just that! Over 85,000 cars and trucks are used by the Bell System—the largest private automotive fleet in the world. Of this total, over 10,000 of these vehicles are in use in Southern Bell's nine-state area. They're a familiar sight as they roll through the highways and byways of our land, and in times of emergency or disaster they're often first on the scene. Bearing the Southern Bell emblem, this great fleet is a symbol of progress and good telephone service to all of us wherever we live.

SAFE DRIVING is a habit. With school days underway, it's a good time for all of us to get the habit of driving carefully, especially near school zones and playgrounds. Each year traffic deaths of children alone add up to a terrible toll—a fact that should remind each of us to drive with extreme care. Drivers of telephone cars and trucks can be counted on to set a good example . . . because safe driving is part of every telephone employee's training. Southern Bell is proud of the record of its drivers who have helped earn for the Bell System the nation's top safety award for the sixth time in seven years . . . the Award of Honor by the National Safety Council.

Seems like that Summer just slipped right on by and now here it is -- Fall again! I guess by now that all of the children are back in school or perhaps some are leaving this week to go off to college. I know that you will miss them while away, but you can still keep in touch with a frequent telephone call to that son or daughter at school. Long Distance rates are low and even lower after 6 P.M. in the evening and all day on Sunday. For those teenagers still at home, I would like to pass along to you a real tip. Have an extra colored telephone installed in their room where they can enjoy the privacy and convenience of their own world. And too, you can have their names listed for just about a penny a day. Just call our Business Offce so we can make the arrangements.

CONVENIENCE and ECONOMY
You Can Put An Electric
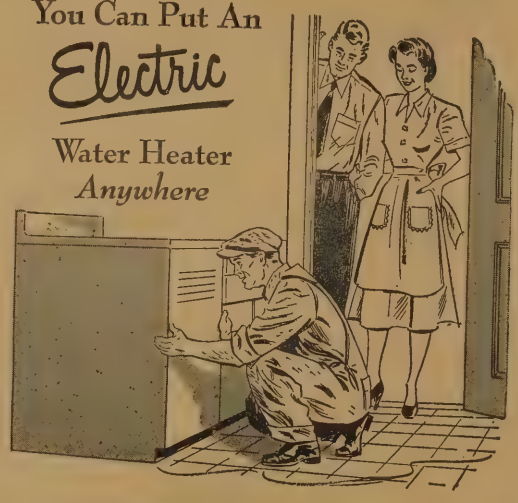
Water Heater
Anywhere



Two of the most outstanding advantages of ELECTRIC water heaters are their convenience and economy. Because they require no vent or chimney, and heating elements are unexposed, they are safe to put wherever desired.

The cost is moderate because no electricity is wasted. It comes on only when hot water is used and more cold water flows into the tank—or when you don't use hot water for long periods of time and it gradually cools. Ample tank insulation also helps keep the water hot.

The Only Water Heater You Can Put Anywhere Is Electric

Counter-top models fit in with kitchen counters and also are ideal for laundries. Square or round tall types can be installed in closets, pantries or alcoves. Seldom, if ever, will you be out of hot water with a new high capacity, quick-recovery, automatic electric water heater!

'Yankee' Praise For A Southern Great

Ted Beare, Sports Editor
BEARE SPORT FACTS

From The Expositor, Brantford

Jackie Hayes has a favorite expression when he slices his drive. "I guess I'm just a right-field hitter," he laughs. It's easy to pick out Jackie in a field of blind golfers—he's the one wearing a Chicago White Sox baseball cap. He can wear it with distinction, because for 14 years he was a major leaguer and when he retired in 1940 he sported a life-time batting average of .265, considerably better than par for the course for an infielder. Hayes sprinted from the putting green to the North-Ridge pro shop to escape a sudden shower, adjusted the cap more firmly on his slightly-greying hair and reasoned that it was tougher making the big leagues in golf than it had been on the diamond. "It's harder to correct your mistakes in this game," he sighed. This 52-year-old native of Clanton, Alabama, actually never played in baseball's minor leagues. He went straight from the University of Alabama campus to the Washington Senators, then was traded to the White Sox in 1931.

"They put too much stress on batting averages," Jackie believes. Although he once hit .314 and drove in 50 runs, he considers his finest season in the majors was the year he batted .229. "I batted in 81 runs that year—I can't remember whether it was 1938 or '39," he pointed out. "My boss sent me a contract the next winter and said he was sorry, but because of my low batting average, he'd have to cut my salary. My wife and I sat down and went over all the records and we found that I had been second in the league in fielding, led in double plays, was second in fielding chances accepted and 16th in runs-batted-in. I wrote back to the boss, told him this, and do you know, I got a raise. My boss said to me, "I guess you never realized how little batting averages mean."

Jack Hayes And Rowdy

A shortstop in his school days and a second baseman during most of his big league career. Hayes broke in with Washington at third base. "I was on the bench in my first game up there when Bucky Harris, the manager, turned to me in the late innings and said, 'Go in at third,'" Jackie recalled. "I told him I'd never played third base in my life but he sent me in, anyway. And you know, if he'd said 'Go in and catch', I would have put on the mask and gone behind the plate. I loved baseball. You have to love it, to stay up there. I always said it was easier getting a chance to play in the big leagues that it is to stay there. There's always somebody on the bench or down in the minors waiting to take your place. But I enjoyed every minute of it. Those were the 14 best years of my life."

Hayes played with or against most of the greats—Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Walter Johnson, Ty Cobb. There were too many outstanding pitchers to name the best, but for sheer speed he takes Lefty Grove. "Bobby Feller was a great pitcher and he had a good curve bass as well as speed, but I don't think he was as fast as Grove," Jackie says. "That's all Grove did, rear back and fire it. When you faced him, you didn't have to worry about curve balls or change-ups. You knew it was going to be a fast ball but even then you couldn't hit it." The beginning of the end for Hayes, as a ball player, came in 1940 when he lost the sight in his right eye. He received special permission from the league commissioner to wear a protective headgear, and with this aid he played nine more games and batted .229. At the end of the season he went to an eye clinic for an examination, was told that a scar had started to form on his left eye, and was advised to give up baseball.

Jackie became totally blind in December of 1943, just a few days before Christmas. "The last thing I can remember seeing," he recalls, "is my wife and son under the Christmas tree, with their presents." Now that son, Jack Jr., is a tall, handsome lad of 16. He's in Brantford this week, too, as his father's coach. And this is the ironic part of the Hayes' success on the links. Jackson, as his dad calls him doesn't play golf. He claims to have played it only three or four days. But despite his inexperience as a player, he does a remarkable job in a coaching capacity, lining up shots and giving invaluable tips on the distance required for each shot and the nature of the course. In fact, between father and son they probably have less experience than any player-coach combination in blind golf. Jackie Sr., has been playing only two years, yet this is his second appearance in the international tournament. "They tell me," he says with becoming modesty, "that was the first player ever to qualify for the international in his first year."

Even before he lost his sight, Hayes seldom played golf. "In my time in baseball," he explains, "managers didn't approve of us playing golf. They felt it would interfere with our swing. Even now I have a tendency to bend my left arm and I keep wanting to stride when I swing. I guess it would help if I had a more experienced coach. But the first year I played I had a coach who lived in another city and it was sometimes difficult for us to get together for practice. Now I'm with my son all the time and we manage to practice an average of three or four days a week. Jackson does a good job, too. He's cut a few strokes off my score." Like every blind player at this tournament, Hayes has a terrific sense of humor. All of them give the impression that they haven't a care in the world, they are constantly joking and they don't hesitate to make light of their physical handicap. Typical was the player who, after missing several practice putts, equipped: "I guess I better put my glasses on." Hayes uses lingo in poking fun at his own game. "I hit the odd line drive," he laughs, "but I still hit too many grounders and pop flies."

Those on program were: Mary Ann Bolton, Patricia Vines, Sandra Rogers, Lynda Clements and Peggy Lewis. Miss Mary Clements, newly elected counselor, was present. Mrs. Rogers assisted Sandra in serving refreshments to the group.

VACATION TRIP FOR SOLDIER

Pfc. Edgar F. Peterson of the 4th Armored Division stationed at Ulm, Germany, writes of vacation trip while on furlough.

My Buddies and I left Ulm on September 1st by way of Stuttgart, Germany. Here they have the highest TV tower in Germany. We went up into the tower and looked out over the City and took some pictures. We drove on toward Luxingburg and stopped at Saarbrucken, a small city on the French-German border and spent the night. On September 2nd, we stopped off at Trier, the oldest City in Germany. Then we moved on to Luxingburg, checking in at Hotel Gaissa, while there we attended the Moscow Circus from Russia, which we enjoyed. We went on to a tour of a City by a travel agency, the guide explaining in English. Leaving Luxingburg, we stopped at Bastione. Here the American General gave this famous reply to the Germans in World War II, when he was surrounded - It was: "Nuts" We went through the "N u t s" museum. We visited the memorial in Bastione. It is shaped like a star with all the States and territories written on it. From Bastione, we travelled on to the Worlds Fair in Brussels. Here, we met a German Doctor, who spoke English. He secured a room for us just outside the fair gates. On September 4th we started, nearly an impossible task of sight seeing at the fair. We visited each Nations building. In the center of the fair was a huge square called Belgium Square. Here different bands from all over the world played and they had all the various dances. We rode the cable cars over the fair and did a lot more sight seeing. While in Brussels we went on a down town tour with a guide explaining things to us. We saw "Hapt Brau" the old famous house. I think I shall never forget the time we spent there. We journeyed to Amsterdam and walked along the streets of canals. This City is a lively seaport. We took a boat tour of the City, which is the only way to see it. Here over half the people own bicycles, the boys use them to carry their girls on dates. In Holland all the students are required to learn and speak English. We took a boat to Marken Island. Here they still wear the native costumes and wood shoes. Mae West invited us to see her home. From the Island we drove to Essbertm a resort town on the North Sea, where we spent the night. We went swimming on the beach and drove along, seeing, different wind mills, some are used for sawing wood, some for grinding grain, and some for pumping water. We stopped at Bremen, visited the American Consulate Building, then to Hamburg. We saw the Germans making a movie, then drove to Kassel, leaving Kassel, we drove to Frankfurt, stopping at the Military Post. Our next stop was Herdelberg. We went out to the famous University, here some charming girls took us to a dance on the campus. We spent the night in Patton Barracks. We went on a tour of Ludivigs Castle in Heidiburg. From here we drove back to Ulm, having completed a very interesting and delightful trip.

Mrs. Margaret Adair is now living in Helena, Ala., with her son, Mr. Bascomb Morgan. We wish her much happiness in her new home.

Attending the Brotherhood meeting last week at Liberty Hill were: Rev. Louis Brasher, Mr. L. L. Hale, Mr. J. A. Chandler and Mr Marcus Hancock

Mr. and Mrs. Lerve Roberson of Montgomery, came for his mother, Mrs. J. C. Fulmer and Mr. Fulmer on Saturday. They spent Saturday night, drove to Greenville on Sunday and returning late Sunday night.

Mrs. Willie Bean of Clanton spent Wednesday with her sister, Mrs. Tom Cost.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Ray of Birmingham spent Sunday with the C. C. Conways.

Friendship Is A Fragile Thing; Protect It!

FOLKS and THINGS About Town

by Ben

Today's short poem:
We're here to announce
We haven't an ounce
Of bounce.

JAMES PARR, manager at the local V. J. Elmore Store here went to the football game last Friday night. Now that in itself isn't so much, but James did it the hard way -- he went on PTA barbecue tickets. He was all set Tuesday afternoon for some chicken barbecue when he reached in his billfold where he had placed his football tickets along with his PTA chicken barbecue tickets. Well, you're right. He reached for his chicken tickets and found only football tickets. The only way he can figure is that he gave the ticket-taker at the football game his barbecue tickets because he got in after passing two tickets of some kind to the gate-keeper. The only trouble was that he couldn't get his supper Tuesday evening at the Veteran's Club with two tickets to a football game that had been played the week before.

OUT of the mail bag: Mr. Wes Gletty brought a letter in the past week for our Letter to the Editor column. We are sorry we couldn't print it but the length of the letter prohibited our using it. We appreciate the views of our readers and are always glad to pass them along but they must be kept as brief as possible . . . The new president at Alabama College, Dr. Howard Mitchell Phillips will be inaugurated Oct. 14. . . . An illustrated 48-page booklet of football facts and team schedules is available in the "1958 Texaco Football Almanac" now free at your Texaco service stations in this area . . . . A story on motorcycle racing at the Alabama State Fair. That reminds us of the old story about the mountaineer who had never seen a motorcycle. A young man on a tour went by the old fellows farm one day with his motor exhaust poping and making a fuss in general. The old mountaineer got his gun and proceeded to take a few shots at the "thing". The young man wrecked the machine about that time the old fellows wife came out and ask if he killed it. "No", he answered, "but I made him turn that boy loost."

. . . . Now back to the mail bag: According to the Automobile Dealers Association of Alabama, the dealers like the new Federal Law of pricing. You know from now on, the price will be on the windshield of the car. All extras, taxes, etc., will be on the price tag so you can see for yourself just what you are paying for and getting. . . . Cottages on the Gulf of Mexico have gone down as low as $25 per week. We still lack $19.25 of having enough to stay three days . . . . We forgot to tell you. That information was for winter tourists. . . . Alabama's home accident death rates has fallen off this past summer. For instance in July there were 26 who died at home by accidents. Thirteen of the number were 65 years of age or older. Five were four years old or younger. Three between 25 and 44 and two between 45 and 64. Add 'em up. That should come to 26. . . .

THE little boy rushed home from school yesterday and asked mother to please buy him a set of pistol, holsters, and a gun belt. Mother promptly asked what in the world for. Well, the little boy said he needed them at school. Teacher said tomorrow she was going to teach them to draw.

Transient--

Found Dead In Corn Field

The skeleton of a dead man was found three and a half miles north of Clanton just off U. S. 31, Tuesday. According to Sheriff's report it was identified as Charles B. Goodwin, of Hanceville, Ala., fifty-seven years old. They estimated the corpse had been dead for at least three weeks.

The body was found 100 yards west of the L. & N Railroad and about half mile south of Bean's Grocery.

It is assumed that Goodwin lay town under the shade of some bushes to rest and died there. No foul play is suspected.

CD Needs Assist To Retain It's Usefulness

"A lot of people feel that we who get out and work in Civil Defense or other capacities are nothing but a bunch of 'flag wavers' . . . well we are. . . and we're darned proud of it".

These were words of Sgt. Hudderston who spoke to the local CD organization last Thursday night at the Courthouse. The fact is your CD units are your best insurance against enemy attack and the ravages and uncertainties of nature.

At this meeting new officers were installed. Alvin Ellison was reinstated for his third consecutive term as president of the local Rescue Squad. Earl Wilson was elected vice-president; Fred Smitherman returns as treasurer and Henry McKee is secretary once again.

Burton Mullins is local head of Civil Defense itself.

Robert Earl Martin has been installed as public relations man for the group. A membership committee composed of Alford Gentry, Gene Gore and Dick Scott was formed to screen prospective members to the organization.

Support is needed. It was reported at this meeting that Chilton stands a good chance of getting a 200-bed unit portable hospital through the CD program. This could prove invaluable to us in days to come. We need to work to support this organization.

MR. FISHER SUCCUMBS AT 49

Clarence Jewel Fisher of Rt. 4, Clanton, age 49, died September 29th at 3:00 p.m. He was born on June 23, 1909.

Funeral services were held at Liberty Hill, with Rev. R. L. Sharp conducting the services. The services were held Wednesday, October 1, 1958 at 11:00 a.m.

Pallbearers were: W. A. Leeroy, Roy Baker, Sam Wilson, Tom Leslie V. C. McKee, Rennie Baker.

Surviving relatives are. Amy L. Fisher of Clanton, Ala., wife; Mrs. Susie Lee Pickett, Morris, La., sister; Vira Fisher of Bunkie, La., brother; Foster mother, Mrs. Hazel Quinn of New Orleans, La.; Foster Sister, High Hogan of Franklin, La.; Foster Brother.

Spigener Funeral Home in charge.

NEW FHA SUPERVISOR

Mr. James A. Hutchinson, formerly of Auburn, Alabama, has joined the local office force of the Farmers Home Administration. Mr. Hutchinson will work in the county with borrowers and applicants of the organization. He is a graduate of Alabama Polytechnic Institute and worked with the Ag Economics Department there before accepting his present position.

Mr. Hutchinson and has family have already moved to Clanton and live on Selma Road. They have moved their church membership to the Clanton First Methodist Church.

CEMETERY CLEANING

There will be a cemetery cleaning at Cox Chapel, Saturday Oct. 11th. Please come and help if you have loved ones in this cemetery.

OFFICIAL TO VISIT PILOTS

Miss Stella Bray, Lieutenant Governor, District II, will be guest speaker at the Pilot Club meeting Tuesday evening, Oct. 7th.

Mrs. Ellen Brinker is president of the Local Club.

TRAINING UNION MEETS MONDAY

The Training Union Quarterly meeting of the Chilton Unity Association will be held at Jemison Baptist Church next Monday night at 7 o'clock.

May we urge all churches to be well represented for this last meeting of this associational year. Come and bring others.

Thieves 'Clean Out' Local Firm Tuesday

[illegible] went into the Edwards & Daniels Jewelry Store [illegible] Tuesday night and literally cleaned [illegible] out according to sheriff's [illegible] High Champion Wednesday morning.

[illegible] was made by prying the hasp off the front door it is stated.

A complete check is being made by the owners to determine the loss, but according to reports rings, watches and various items in jewelry was taken.

Chilton Meets Quota; Blood Program Saved

The Chilton County Chapter, American Red Cross, has been short of funds needed to provide blood and blood derivatives for the local hospital, to render aid to members of the Armed Forces and veterans, to provide instruction in water safety and first aid, to provide a Junior Red Cross program in the Chilton County schools, and to render aid in times of disaster and need.

It has been necessary to conduct an emergency drive to raise funds to continue this work. Since only a little over $1,200.00 was raised in the regular fund campaign last March and April, the goal in this emergency drive was set at $2500.00. This amount has already been reached, and some contributions are still coming in.

The success of this fund campaign has been due to the warmhearted response of the people of Chilton County who did not want to see their Red Cross Chapter close down, and to the enthusiasm and team spirit of the volunteer workers who gave their time and substance to call on the people for help.

The Red Cross chapter has been reorganized. New officers have been elected, and the Board of Directors has been enlarged to twenty-four members, giving all towns and areas in the County full representation. A five member Executive Committee has been appointed to pass on all business matters of the chapter. This Executive Committee is composed of Judge M. D. Tuggle, Mayor J. Hollis Jackson, Mrs. Hugh Jones, Mrs. Dick Hayes, and John Higgins.

Mrs. Joe E. Gowan is the Chairman of the Blood Service Program, and Mr. Jim Sudduth at Chilton County Hospital is a Red Cross Director working in this Blood Service Program. These two volunteers are giving their time and service without pay to help all those in need of blood to receive a good and safe supply. Any citizen of Chilton County will receive free of charge at Chilton County Hospital, except for a small charge to cover containers and transportation. Any citizen of Chilton County who expects to have an operation in an out of town hospital may possibly obtain Red Cross blood if needed. Anyone desiring information on this or any other phase of the Red Cross Blood Program should contact Mr. Sudduth or Mrs. Gowan in order to get the correct information.

Your Red Cross chapter is operating on minimum expenses and overhead. There is only one [illegible] worker, the Executive Secretary. Mrs. Beth Davis, who keeps the office open on Mondays and Thursdays from 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

She is on call twenty-four hours a day every day and receives Fifty Dollars per month for this work. All other Volunteer workers officers and directors receive no compensation for their services and pay their own expenses.

Open House at Temple

DEDICATION service of the Temple Assembly of God parsonage at 301 Second Ave. S. will be held at the parsonage on Sunday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. T. H. Spence, state superintendent of the Assemblies of God, will pronounce the dedicatory prayer.

Open house will be observed for the remainder of the afternoon. The pastor, Rev. Nelson E. White, cordially invites the public to attend.

DOES HELPING OTHERS MAKE YOU FEEL GOOD?

Sunday morning, September 28th while Mrs. Louise Messer and her two sons, aged 10 and 12, and [illegible] daughters 16 and 17 were at church a fire destroyed their home at Poplar Springs and everything they owned.

The Poplar Springs Church members are working to help this unfortunate family and are asking aid from anyone who feels in their heart compassion for their fellowman. The little girls wear 12 and 14 size dress and the boys clothes are size 8-10 and 12.

Now here is your chance to do a good turn and make yourself feel better. Just take your contribution to the Ed Bowden Grocery in South Clanton and they will be delivered to the family. The Poplar Spring Church is behind this project and Bowdens has been designated because of it's location. Help all you can.

Band Queen Float in Parade

MISS SEWELL BAND QUEEN

The Band Queen contest which is held at the beginning of the year, sponsored by the Band mothers, ended last Thursday and the following girls were finalists, representing the six grades in Chilton County High School: Junior 1, Sandra Sewell, who was chosen Queen and her six runner ups were Patsy Baker, who rides on the [illegible] Float; Junior 2, Nell McKee, Junior 3, Patsy Boozer; Senior 1, Jan Dave Chatman; Senior 2 Betty Dale; and Senior 3, Bennie Gale [illegible].

The floats for these lovely girls to ride in the parade held Friday afternoon, were prepared and decorated by a group of Home Room [illegible] Band Mothers.

The parade led by the very competent and colorful Chilton County High School Band and majorettes circled the business section of Clanton, and helping to make the parade even more lively was the Cheerleaders who marched behind the Queens float and cheered all of the lovely girls on their tour of the town.

The grand finale was held during the football game, when last year's Queen, Miss Judy Miller, crowned Miss Sandra Sewell, Band Queen for 1958-1959.

COUNTY CLUBS, ORGANIZATIONS AND INDIVIDUALS HEARTILY ENDORSE MORE MONEY FOR SCHOOLS

All over Chilton County people, interested in their children's welfare, are openly and heartily endorsing the proposed 1-cent sales tax for Chilton County; funds from which will be earmarked to improve school facilities in our County.

Superintendent of Education "Bing" Lecroy said in an interview this week that "the Board of Education is making very definite provisions for every school in Chilton County if the 1-cent sales tax becomes law."

It is also noted that there are a number of citizens who want to know "how do we know where and how this money will be spent?" A certain amount of confidence and respect is due our board of education, we think, and nobody is asking that we "sign our life away" in order to get something we've needed for many years, mainly better educational facilities. We are of the opinion that the project, big as it is, is enough to harness the Board with without making up fairy tales and shoving accusations into their faces. For once, let's all pull in the same direction!

In this week's News you will find endorsements by many Chilton citizents and public spirited groups. Talk to someone you know about this important decision and see if you can't see your way to bettering our way of life for our children.

Our youngsters should not have the additional handicap of getting a "second - hand" education, and that's about all we're giving them at this point. Perhaps Junior would like school better if he had something there to entice him to want to learn: namely, facilities to use and work with.

LITTLE ROCK -- A PATTERN

Now what will the Republican Administration and the Supreme Court say about segregation since last Saturday's declaration by the voters of Little Rock, Ark?

If this is a free country where the wishes of the majority are considered then the question is answered, but our guess is that the present administration, the Supreme Court and the Northern Press will continue to try to force intergration on the South whether we want it or not.

As we have contended in the past, even the Negro as a majority would rather have regregation. Three of the five predominately Negro Beats in Little Rock voted for segregation of the races in the school election Saturday.

The final vote was approximately two to one for segregation in the schools. Our only surprise is that as many as did voted for intergration.

DO YOU WANT A CIVIL DEFENSE TEAM OR NOT?..

We agree with the gentleman the other night who said, "the very idea of men having to pay to work" on a project such as the Civil Defense Squad "is beyond comprehension".

These words magnify the need in Chilton County for a better understanding of what, who, why and how we are to maintain a Civil Defense program in our County.

Words have been spoken by influential, intelligent parties which indicate that they do not know the least bit about their Civil Defense actions in their own community and worse still, they don't care or don't want to know! Is this a healthy attitude?

True! We do not apparently need a Rescue Squad or a Civil Defense at present and as one fellow put it, "they don't do anything here in town anyhow". But what about tommorrow, or the next day? What about the day (pray that it never comes) when we need the facilities of the Civil Defense and the training of citizens who give freely of their talents and money to make the organizaton tick ?

We take our Civil Defense organization too much for granted. With the proper backing and financial support it could become a vital part of our everyday life. And it's oh, such good, insurance. Do you believe in this type of insurance?

Your Unequaled And Uncensored Free Voice

GUARDING OUR TREASURE

Written by Dean Ira W. Cole, Medill School of Journalism, Northwestern University.

Each time you read your newspaper, you are receiving a special kind of report, a report you may not recognize. Your newspaper brings you something more than a mere recital of happenings. It brings you a report on your freedoms.

Does the Federal, state, or local government propose a new regulation which will restrict your freedom in some important respect? Does a court ruling cost you a right you have taken for granted? Does the ruling of a government bureau express contempt for your right to know how your tax dollars are spent? Does the decision of a school board curtail the freedom of your child to learn? Do criminals threaten your freedom to live in peace in your community?

The news stories which appear in the uncensored press of America raise and answer these questions. These news stories, the product of a vigorous and independent press, constitute a regular report on the state of your freedoms. The report is essential to the preservation of these freedoms. Armed with the information which reaches you in every issue of your newspaper, you are able to exercise your rights as a citizen. Through the exercise of these rights, you can protect yourself and your family from those who would take away your freedoms.

So in a very real sense your newspapers guards your freedoms.

There is nothing new about this function of American newspapers. Before the United States of America came into being, colonial editors fought courageously for the freedoms of their fellow citizens. Many early editors were imprisoned, or deprived of property, or forced to flee to avoid prosecution, because they battled for the freedoms of other men.

In his brilliant plea in the defense of John Peter Zenger, a colonial printer accused of seditious libel, Andrew Hamilton said: "The question before this court, and you, gentlemen of the jury, is not a small private concern; it is not the cause of a poor printer, nor of New York alone, which you are now trying. No! It may in its consequences affect every free man that lives under the British government on the main of America."

The nation's founding fathers recognized the need for the sort of vigilance which newspapers could provide. The first article of the Bill of Rights forbids Congress to make any law "abridging the freelom of speech or of the press." And Thomas Jefferson surely spoke for other Americans newly freed from tyranny when he said, "Were I left for me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers or newspapers without a govesnment, I should not hesitate a moment to prefer the latter."

The first article of the Bill of the press to guard your free- Rights was a milestone in the fight doms. But it was not an end to the fight. Newspapers engage in a continuing battle against attempts from many directions to restrict the press as a first step in limiting all your other freedoms.

Some of these attempts to restrict the press are made by criminals who fear exposure. The editor who tells the truth about a gang of gamblers who seek to "move in" on a community risks bodily injury or even death. One of the martyrs of American jurnalism was Don R. Mellett, editor of the Canton (Ohio) News. Gangsters murdered Mellett in his own dooryard because he was trying through a vigorous newspaper campaign, to break thei rhold on Canton's city government.

Some attempts are made by those who deny the right of the press to support what may be unpopular cause. Another editor, Elijah P Lovejoy, died because he supported abolition of slavery in his Alton (Illinois) newspaper.

Some who seek to discredit and restrict the press appear to believe that anything as popular as the American newspapers cannot be worthwhile! Persons in this group favor some sort of regulation which would prevent your newspaper from offering you that which you want to read.

But by far the most important continuing threat to press freedom, and consequently to all other freedoms, is that posed by some government at all levels. Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, recently issued a report on governmental secrecy. The report cites Department of Defense testimony to the effect that more than one million Federal employees "are classifying security information," and that there is a higher rate of classification today than during the World War II.. Discussing governmental secrecy at the state and local level, the report asserts that in one state an investigation showed that "187 town and school councils, boards and committees were accustomed to conduct the proceedings of the people's business in secrecy, with the press and public barred."

Those in government who would seek to abridge your freedoms by attacking first the right of your newspapers to bring you information fall into three general categories.

First, there is the occasional crook who is elected or appointed to an office of public responsibility and trust. He seeks to avoid the light of publicity which the alert newspaper will turn on his activities. He may be an officer of the law who has made a secret pact with racketeers. He may be an official who is selling his influence to the highest bidder. He may be a custodian of public funds who is stealing your money. When newspapers succeed in exposing such a person the story sometimes attracts national publicity. Such was the case of Orville Hodge, state auditor of Illinois, whose embezzlement went undetected until enterprising newsmen unearthed evidence which shocked the public and brough Hodge to a speedy trial and conviction. But for every Hodge case there are many others which are brought to light by newspapers with little publicity beyond the local community.

Second, there is the official who is incompetent and who seeks to hide his incompetency behind a veil of secrecy. This is a particularly vicious matter when an attempt is made to justify the secrecy with a claim that national security is involved. It is a sad fact that many alleged "national security secrets" appear to be secrets only so far as the American public is concerned, but are not secret from our enemies.

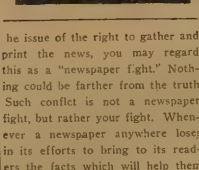
Third, there is the often well - intentioned governmental official who is reluctant to trust the American public with the facts. This type of official apparently does not believe in a basic tenet of our democratic system. That basic tenet is that the public, armed with information, will arrive at a wise taaevn eelnortuio hevftonghqtbinei decision. Convinced, it would seem that he knows far better what is best than the public is supposed to serve, this type of official seeks to deprive our citizens of that information which is essental to them in their exercise of the citizens responsibiltes.

It is with persons in all categories, private citizens and governmental officials alike, that your newspapers do battle in order to guard your feedoms. The American newspaper, independent and uncensored, is the greatest single bulwark you have to protect you from those who would destroy the precious rights of every American citizen.

Modern history contains many examples of attempts to destroy the freedoms of the individual by first controlling the press. In Germany, in Italy ,in Russia, in Argentia, dictators were quick to realibe that when the citizen's freedom to obtain the news was destroyed, the way was celared for the destruction of other freedoms. In some countries today, men and women risk their lives to obtain scraps of information from the outside world. We are more fortunate but even in the United States there are current examples of communities in which city councils have attempted to divert newspapers from campaigns in the public interest by restrictive legislation and punitive taxation which strikes at the roots of press freedom.

In its efforts to guard your freedoms, the American newspaper does not and cannot stand alone The newspaper will be successful as a guardian of your freeedoms only so long as you recognize what is doing and offer it your support.

When you hear that the press is in conflict with government on the issue of the right to gather and print the news, you may regard this as a "newspaper fight." Nothing could be farther from the truth Such conflict is not a newspaper fight, but rather your fight. Whenever a newspaper anywhere loses in its efforts to bring to its readers the facts which will help them protect their freedoms, it is you who haev lost.



With your continued support, this year's National Newspaper Week slogan "Your Newspaper -- Guards your Freedoms" -- will be as true tomorrow as it is today.

WHY THE GOVERNOR?

Why should the Governor of Alabama have to be judge, jury and executioner just before a man dies in the electric chair at the State prison?

Shouldn't a Board be appointed to take on this responsibility? No Governor relishes the duty and to some it is a nightmare to know that a man's life is in his hands. Granted a lifetime in prison is no picnic and some may rather be dead, but life is a precious thing to us all and few would be the men, or women, who chose the electric chair rather than the life sentence.

The Legislature should take this grave responsibility off the shoulders of the Governor.

MORAL OBSERVATIONS

The title we would use for this article is "Substituting brass for gold." An interesting story is told in the 6th chapter of I Kings, of how Solomon decorated the interior parts of the sanctdary of his temple with gold. Later this gold was removed from the temple by the king of Egypt, during the reign of Rehoboam. I Kings, 14:25 -26. Then king Rehoboam substituted brass to redecorate the temple.

Brass is a poor substitute for gold. There can be no comparison, except in resemblance. Brass will discolor, tarnish, and corrode. Many people substitute brass for gold in their moral and spiritual principles of living. They live, so to speak, behind a front which is not a genuine expression, or representation, of their inner selves For example, there is a friendliness which is more or less fictitious. The "put-on" smile or greeting, which is not, at all, an expression of a genuine feeling of friendliness, and like brass, under the acid test of friendship, it will tarnish and discolor.

It was always nauseating to me to receive a friendly greeting from someone who would not know, or see me under other circumstances. A friendliness just to be polite, or a friendliness used to promote our own self esteem or favor from others is not a genuine friendliness. and to practice this principle in living is to practice deceit.

Too many are satisfied with a substitutionary sort of religious life. The empty formality of religion! The holding on to the things they like to do or partake in, and going to the places they like to go to, regardless of the moral and spiritual principles involved! Christ said, "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself." Matt. 16:24. How grossly ignored is this command in religion today! We can not ignore the command of self denial, and have genuine Christ-like religion in our lives. In the very same verse, he says, "Take up your cross, and follow me." Genuine religion involves the willingness to make whatever sacrifices that is necessary for the cause of Christ, and for his sake. The appearance, or resemblance of religion is like brass, it will not stand the test now, or at the great judgement par of God.

"If you want to get rid of someone, just tell 'em something for their own good."

Jemison Panthers Down Calera Eagles With 20 - 0

By Robert B. Johnson

Capitalizing on fine blocking, excellent passing, hard driving, fumbles, and pass interceptions Coach Johnny Otts Jemison Panthers literally ripped the Calera Eagles defenses to bits and posted a 20 - 0 defeat on Coach Charles Jones High School Gridders.

Taking the ball on their own 29 yard stripe, from the opening kick-off, the Panthers, led by QB Donald Owens, LH, Zane Martin; RH, Horace Davis; and FB, Harry Benson, all alternating in carrying the ball, marched 71 yards where Martin banged over for the first TD early in the first quarter.

The conversion attempt bogged down.

Calera then received the ball on their 27, managed to get to the Jemison 43, where Linesmen, Charlie Price, Charles Collins, Jimmy Don Posey, Jerry Robinson, Horace Cooke, Donny Guy and Bill Ray decided "that's far enough, boys"! and forth-with proceeded to put the ole stop-a-roo to an ambitious aggregation of Eagles.

The second TD came in the second quarter when LE Donny Guy intercepted a pass on the Eagles 39. Three line-plays moved the ball to the 22 where FH Harry Benson, with tip-top blocking, went all the way.

Owens, on the QB sneak made the conversion. Half-time score was 13-0.

The 3rd quarter was mostly defensive play in mid-field, the Panthers did drive to the Eagle 19 once, only to fumble and lose the ball.

The fourth-quarter found the Eagles, with the aid of two Panthers penalities, a 5 and a 15 yarder the closest they ever got to the er, on the Panther 34. This was Jemison goal line. They fumbled, Jemison recoveled on their 43 and ploughed 57 yds., where Owens passed to Ray, who went over from the 3. This same combination and play converted for the extra point.

The game was played at Calera before a large group of supporters for both teams. The game was hald fought, but the Eagles simply could not mount any defensive against a determined Panther line, who was out to avenge the loss of last season. Coach Ott substituted freely throughout the game giving his first string subs, and his baby Panthers a taste of their first inter-scholastic grid-iron match. Among this group were: Wayne Mallin, Floyd Langston. James Barnett, Benny Sims, George Pier, Franklin Johnson, Glenn Childress, Gene Lesley, John Lewis, Raydon Ellison, J. T. Glass, Roger Land, and Charles Burgess.

This gives the Jemson team a 2-won, no loss recoard for the season. They take on Coach Theron Fishers Montevallo Wildcats tomorrow night, Friday, Oct. 3 for a Homecoming affair. Montevallo has a 2-won record and a t.e.

The game on Friday night will be played at Jemison, and should be a ding-dong-doodler hen-puller. If the weather man cooperates and gives us a pretty night, a record crowd is expected. Game starts 7:30 p.m.

Better see this 'un folks: Its gonna' be rip-tootin dilly-whacker.

OIL PROGRESS WEEK

OCTOBER 12 - 18, 1958

Autos consume gobs of gas Yearly; Oilmen keep it coming

It takes staggering quantities of gasoline to fuel America's 67 million motor vehicles. Last year, passenger cars, trucks and buses gulped down the amazing total of 50,925,000,000 gallons—an all-time high.

But that's only part of the story, according to the American Petroleum Institute, for while consumption hit a new peak in 1957, so did quality. Octane numbers—the industry's best-known yardstick for measuring gasoline quality — rose more than one point for premium grades, and better than a half point for regular grades, in 1957.

Price-wise, U. S. motorists fared well, too, for despite increased production and distribution costs, competition held the average price increase for the year at one-half cent. In actuality, the price went up an average of one cent, but half of this represented a direct increase in gasoline taxes. over year, the national weighted average for premium grade was 98.5, while that of regular grade was 91.1. Compared with February, 1957, the premium in '58 was 1.2 octane numbers higher, and the regular grade was 0.7 octane numbers higher.

Over and above these two grades, however, are the super-fuels which many service stations have available. Samples taken by Ethyl Corporation in February, 1958, indicated these superfuels ranged from 100.5 to 102.8 octane numbers in 20 cities.

Thus, where American motorists are concerned, they not only had a wide range of gasolines to choose from, but also considerable variation in octane ratings.

The octane race among oil companies in the last two decades has brought tremendous improvement in modern gasolines. For example the regular gasolines of today, which run around 91.1 octane number, are far superior to the premium gasolines of 1940, which ran around 80-87 octane number. As recently as 1953, premium grades averaged 94.1 octane number, and regular gasolines already have already equaled that figure.

The rise of foreign cars and sports cars on the American scene which the petroleum industry had no control.

To meet the increased demand for gasoline in 1957, the oil industry really outdid itself. It produced more than 60 billion gallons of motor fuel, thus assuring every motorist in every section of the country an abundance of gasoline, no matter where he lived.

Actual consumption of motor fuel in 1957 amounted to 55 billion 930 million gallons. Of this, however, nearly nine per cent went to meet what is termed "non-highway requirements"; that is, stationary engines, tractors and so on. The balance, 50 billion 925 million gallons was consumed by motor vehicles, and of this, 35 billion 902 million gallons went to passenger cars alone.

Octane ratings have been climbing steadily through the years and at the end of February of this year, the national weighted average for premium grade was 98.5, while that of regular grade was 91.1. Compared with February, 1957, the premium in '58 was 1.2 octane numbers higher, and the regular grade was 0.7 octane numbers higher.

Over and above these two grades, however, are the super-fuels which many service stations have available. Samples taken by Ethyl Corporation in February, 1958, indicated these superfuels ranged from 100.5 to 102.8 octane numbers in 20 cities.

The rise of foreign cars and sports cars on the American scene in 1957 had little material effect on U. S. gasoline supplies. To the contrary, these little cars gave further proof of the superiority of American gasolines, for they are satisfied with the U. S. regular grades, which are better, by far, than the premium grades currently available in Europe.

With a new driving season at hand, the U. S. oil industry is more than ready with an abundance of motor fuels for the millions of motor vehicles. There are close to 200,000 service stations from coast-to-coast, of which 19 out of 20 are independently owned or operated. Competition is getting tougher and tougher, so it's a bright future indeed for American motorists—one filled with quanity, quality and service plus!

BILL BURNETT HEADS TEXACO OIL IN CLANTON

Bill Burnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Burnett, is local Consignee for the Texaco Company in Chilton County. By-the-way Shelby and Autauga counties are also included in his District.

Bill is married to the former Miss Frances Collins of Thorsby and they are the parents of two children, a boy and a girl.

In 1956 when Mrs. W. E. Huddleston moved to New York City, Mr. Burnett took over the Texaco business in this District and has steadily increased the business for he company ever since.

Bill is a hometown boy who has grown to manhood here among his scores of friends and enjoys a wide popularity throughout his territory.

OIL MAN WITH A FUTURE IN SERVICE

Joe Smith, alias your local Sinclair dealer has been in the business 21 years. In September of 1937 it was that Joe got started in business and he's been at it ever since--growing every year!

He has owned his own station on the corner of 4th Avenue and 7th St. since 1942 and has built it into one of the best in this vicinity.

Joe has two children, Jo Ann, who is married to Bill Hayes, local barber (they also have two now) and Joe has a son, Bonny, age 17 who helps dad out whenever needed.

Hard work and perserverance and a knack of knowing how to greet folks has put Joe ahead in his class! Speaking of 'class', he says he didn't even finish the first year in high school (7th grade) and with that against him--he's a remarkable symbol of achievement!

T. R. BURDETT DEAN OF OILMEN

Longer than any other man in Chilton County, Mr. T. R. Burdette, local Sinclair Distributor has been in the old business, both as station operator and distributor. He started in the business at Thorsby in 1923. That was 35 years ago. In 1933 he came to Clanton and operated a Service station until 1942 when he was made Distributor for Sinclair Oil Co.

Today, with his son Jarrel as partner, the two still distribute the same gas. Mr. Tom says he will retire soon and leave Jarrel to do the work. He probably has visions of taking it easy and doing all the things he has wanted to do in the past but didn't have time. Bet a plugged nickle it doesn't work that way. You can't take an old warhorse like that and turn him out to pasture with nothing to do--he'd go nuts.

OIL PROGRESS WEEK

Many liquid deodrants are quite acid and are likely to disintegrate the fabircs with which they come in direct contact. Cotton, linen, and rayon especially susceptible to acid deterioration.

BEN STUDDARD, A COUNTRY BOY WHO MADE GOOD IN OIL

Ben Studdard, that isn't his real name its B. N. Studdard, but since coming to Chilton County in 1939 he has been known to all his friends as "Ben".

Ben was born in Cherokee County went with the Gulf Refining Co. at Oneonta, Ala. He was such a good sales representative they promoted him to Clanton as distributor for Chilton County. Ben is a country boy who has made good and is deeply appreciative of his friends and the men who gave him the opportunity to accomplish what he has.

To give you an idea of the growth of his business since he came here light oil sales has jumped from 18,000 gallons in 1940 to 175,000 gallons last year.

The Studdards, Hazel is the other half of the team, have three fine children already grown. The oldest, Melba, is Mrs. Oakley, Melton Jr., of Montgomery. Next is Jerry who is an officer in Uncle Sams Navy and Dwight a student at the University of Alabama.

MR. "31" IN THE BUSINESS 25 YEARS

Clarence Easterling down at "31" Service Station in Clanton has been in the service business for 25 full years. He started out in August of 1933 at the Woco Pep station across from the courthouse and with the exception of some War years has stayed with the gas and oil business. His two assistants, Leon Murr and Clyde Mims have been with him a total of 14 years. "31" has been in business since Sept. 1, 1948.

Clarence and Mrs. Easterling have two fine boys. Jimmy the oldest is a Senior at the University of Alabama, this year. Bobby, 22 is employed by S. D. Wynn Company here.

Almost 40 years of service is represented here. Any time you need experience, looks like here's the place to find it.

that keeps America on the move!

You see us on the road every day. We're one of the transportation companies that keep oil power moving—to you, to industry, to towns, to farms—in all kinds of weather.

The future of America will be so great—in both prosperity and population—that even today we're getting ready for the future demands on oil transportation.

So whatever your oil power needs may be in the near and distant future, you can be sure we'll deliver the goods.

THE GOODWILL AMBASSADOR WHO NEVER LEAVES TOWN!

Public servant—diplomat—goodwill ambassador. Call me what you will, my job is to serve you—and everyone who drives into my station—the best way I know how.

To you, my neighbors, I'm a local businessman who supplies you with the finest products the petroleum industry can produce. To out-of-towners, I'm an information bureau, traffic guide and booster of our community.

Making friends for our town is part of my job as a good citizen. As a good businessman, I'd like to make friends with your car by giving it the kind of service I'd give my own. Why not drive into my station this week—Oil Progress Week—and let me show you why with today's gasoline you're driving a bargain.

MOTORISTS SPEND LESS FOR GAS, OIL IN '58 THAN IN '57

Despite increased production costs and higher consumer prices generally, American motorists are paying less for gasoline and lubricating oils this year than last.

The American Automobile Association, in a report which it made public recently, said the cost of gasoline and lubricating oil averaged 2.42 cents a mile in 1957, and 2.39 cents a mile in 1958. The decrease is slight, yet it is there.

The AAA report found that the national average for gasoline consumption in 1958 was one gallon for each 15.2 miles of travel.

The AAA said its fuel costs were based on an average price of 33.9 cents per gallon for regular grade gasoline. The actual price range ran from 29.5 cents in Chelsea, Mass., to 39 cents in Butte, Mont.

The Automobile Association explained carefully that its figures were developed with specific models and tests. It adde that higher price automobiles would cost more to drive.

PROFITS? It Takes A Million In Sales To Set Up Two Jobs

One million dollars for two average jobs?

Sounds far-fetched, yet that's a real and authentic picture of what goes on in the modern business world.

An oil company house publication explained it this way:

Management is modernizing a refinery, and one of the new tools needed is a pipe bender.

The company found that a new bender would cost $72,000—and this incidentally, was a replacement for one which originally cost only $19,000 back in 1927.

In operation, the pipe bender provides employment for two men.

To earn the $72,000 of net profit after taxes to pay for the pipe bender, the oil company calculated that it must receive $975,000 in income. In other words, it will have to do almost a million dollars worth of business in the open market to buy a tool which at the most, will involve only two workers.

Plan your storage space so that nothing sits on the closet floor, and it will be easy to clean. Pull-out trays or shelves for underwear, sweaters, and other clothing are very useful.

BELL DELIVERED LICENSE TAX

Alabama's Educational Trust Fund got a welcome boost today when Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company delivered its state license tax payment to the Revenue Department. Proceeds from the license tax are earmarked by law for support of the state's schools.

The check for the tax, which is based on the company's intrastate operations, totaled $1,355,537 and is the largest amount for this particular tax ever made by the utility. The record making check was presented to Arthur Joe Grant, Commissioner of the Revenue Department by Harry B. Lackey Assistant Vice President of the Telephone Company.

On presentation of the check, the Southern Bell official said that "In view of the recently publicized shortage of funds for Alabama schools, we are glad to make our payment earlier in 1958 than in previous years. I hope it will be the turning point in the immediate financial crisis facing our school system."

Southern Bell is one of the state's largest taxpayers. Today's payment is part of an estimated $4,300,00 tax bill to be paid by the company to the State of Alabama, its municipalities and counties for the year 1958, exclusive of income, social security and excise tax payments to the Federal Government.

Approximately 28 cents out of every dollar received by Southern Bell is paid out in taxes to the Federal, State, County, and Municipal Governments. Mr. Lackey said that "When we include the ten percent Federal Excise Tax with the taxes already noted, telephone users pay more taxes on their telephone service than they pay on any other utility service." It is estimated that a total of approximately $21,000,000 will be paid in taxes on the company's 1958 operations in Alabama.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS From the Bible

What doth the Lord require of thee but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?
—(Micah 6:8.)

For all the greatness of His love and mercy to us, God requires so little of us—and yet some of us find that little so difficult. We find it so hard, even while doing justly, to be merciful to those less fortunate, to be humble in our proud self-assurance.

YOUR HEALTH

THE ROLE OF PSYCHIATRY

In practically every phase of medical practice, physhatry is playing a part. Being sick, with all its aspects of suffering and physical impairment, calls for re-adjustments, sometimes painful and difficult recovery may be interfered with, cult to make. The normal course when neurotic mechanisms come into play. Physical symptoms produce emotional disturbance.

And, as we know, emotional disturbance can be a starter for physical upset. For instance, a person with an insatiable ambition develops a pattern of hostility and resentment in his battle for attainment. He is a type likely also to develop a gastric ulcer calling for surgery. The psychiatrist can give help to the emotionally or mentally sick patient in a number of ways. Psychotherapy can prevent much of the unhappiness and anxiety that not infrequently lead to emotional invalidism. The victim of psychoneurosis as exemplified by an abnormal form of behavior can use the aid of the psychiatrist.

Often, psychoneurosis stems from seemingly intolerable family relationships, or the loss of a member or the family or close friend, or from a condition people have a common word for today, frustration. Probably the most important tool for the psychiatrist is the psychological approach with psychotherapy. He is concerned with the study and treatment of the psyche, a part of the patient classified as other than organic. Sometimes he uses physical methods such as insulin coma, electro-convulsive or other shock treatment, and drugs.

From Other Papers

Columnist Kidd Brewer, in the Mecklenburg, N. C., Times — The son of a prominent Raleigh pastor had gone to Sunday School, church, an afternoon Sunday school picnic, young people's meeting in the evening, and then church. He came to his mother and told her he was ready to join the church. Although he was only eight years old, she was elated. She questioned him a little—but found he wanted to line up with another denomination. "I've checked on it, Mother," he said, "and they're just as good as we are — and not half as busy."

Editor - Columnist James H. Russell, Belton, Tex., Journal — I'm not at all convinced that Alaska is bigger than Texas. Surveyors do make mistakes, you know. We'd better have Texas resurveyed by a Texas surveyor.

The Prosser, Wash., Bulletin — Politics is not a bad word. Politics is the science of government. A politician is one experienced in, and well versed in government. Being interested and active in politics is a good and healthy thing for the community.

Editor Carl W. Reinig in The State Labor News, Columbus, O.— The U. S. labor movement is the only mass organization in the United States, North and South American countries and West European nations, that claims it cannot function unless it is allowed to exercise compulsion in order to obtain and retain members.

Labor union leaders will claim "Freedom of Choice (Right to Work) is a movement to destroy labor unions. This is not so. It is merely an attempt to make labor unions conform to democratic principles that other mass organizations have to abide and function by. Only by adhering to the "Freedom of Choice" principle can U. S. labor unions regain and retain public support.

What's My Line?

I'm in business for myself. I'm my own boss in one of the most competitive businesses you can imagine. Many of us in your neighborhood are competing for your business every day of the year.

I do many jobs: supply you with gasoline and oil . . . diagnose your car's troubles and fix them . . . supply you with many complimentary services . . . maintain stocks of tires, batteries, and accessories. I furnish you refreshments and clean rest rooms. I am a traffic guide and a booster of our community to out-of-towners. Yes—you've guessed it—I'm your service station dealer—competing with other dealers to serve you!

This competition between us dealers is typical of the whole oil industry—and it assures you of finer products and excellent service year after year.

HAROLD LAWRENCE STANDARD STATION

Harold Lawrence operator of the Standard Service Station is the son of J. P. Lawrence, long the local Distributor for the Standard Oil Company.

Harold must have grown up with oil in his blood as he purchased the local Standard Station upon his return from service in World War II and has operated it ever since. He is married to Dean Holis Lawrence who teaches at the Chilton County High School.

SOME NEWCOMERS IN OIL AND GAS BUSINESS HERE

A newcomer to the oil business here is W. H. Thomas, Agent for the Standard Oil Company. He replaced Mr. J. P. Lawrence when he retired after many years of service to Chilton County motorists. Thomas married a Verbena girl, Miss Hazel Messer, and they have one child.

J. B. Hyde is another newcomer here, but old at the game. He came to Clanton from Oneonta and is operating the South City Gulf in South Clanton.

At Suburban Gas Company is Johnny Vines. Absolutely no newcomer. Johnny is a native of Chilton County and knows just about everyone in the county. He is married to Miss Lorine Vines and they have a daughter. He has been manager at Suburban Gas for two years. They carry a full line of appliances.

Around at Central Alabama Gas is John Morgan Foshee as manager. John Morgan is another native of Chilton County. He is in business with his father, Luther Foshee and their business is going steadily. He is a faithful civic worker and is married and has two children. John Marris to Nova King, a daughter of J. T. King, former manager of V. Elmore's here.

TODAY--OIL BUILDS for your TOMORROW!

...because by 1965 over 190,000,000 Americans will need more oil power than was ever dreamed of before!

America's greatest growth—in both prosperity and population—is in the future. Around 1965 there will be 30 million more Americans. They'll drive 14 million more cars and trucks than exist today. Twelve million new homes will need heating, cooking and air conditioning.

By 1965 each American family will use up 650 more gallons of oil than it does today. The oil industry will be ready for 1965. Today every phase of the oil industry—exploration and production, refining, research, transportation, marketing—is hard at work building new products, more plants, better methods and ideas for your future.

SENATOR HILL DECLARES SOUTH FACES NEW "TRAGGIC ERA"

Senator Lister Hill of Alabama today issued the following statement on the U. S. Supreme Court's Little Rock decision of September 12, 1958:

"The South endured the tragic era of Reconstruction at the point of Federal bayonets under a Republican administration. Now the Supreme Court seems determined that we shall live through another tragic era, at the point of Federal bayonets under the Eisenhower Republican administration.

"With full knowledge of what they are doing, the Court and the Eisenhower Administration create new bitterness and strife, and defeat so much of the progress the South has made.

"We must meet the situation with the same courage and determination our fathers did. We must and we will fight on to preserve our Southern way of life."

Alert Free Press, Prescription For Religious Freedom

By Dr. Everett R. Clinchy
President, Nat'l. Conference of Christians and Jews.

Religious liberty is a heritage of the past struggle for democratic freedom. It was obtained through sweat, toil and tears; it will be maintained for ourselves and the future generations only through eternal vigilance.

For this we depend, as our forefathers did before us, on the watchfulness of the American press.

Without a free press, alert to the dangers of tyranny and quick to report any infractions of the rules of fair play, religious liberty would be impossible. It is not an accident that in countries today which deny a free press, there too, freedom of conscience is denied. Nor is it an accident of American history that when groups like the A.P.A., the Know-Nothing Party and the K.K.K., arose to stifle another religious culture, our free press met the challenge, exposed the leaders, and reduced them to impotence.

Yes, we rely on our newspapers as a devoted ally in the fight for religious liberty, but we also depend on them as an educative force, creating a climate of opinion which checkmates the growth of prejudice, inhibits its overt expression and makes bigotry unpopular. In the cause of freedom, particularly, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

Thus we rejoice in the wholehearted cooperation that the American press gives to the annual observance of Brotherhood Week, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews to emphasize the moral and spiritual values of our democracy. Thus we rejoice in the space given by our papers, day in and day out, to the activities of all religious groups and especially to the cooperative efforts of Protestants, Catholics and Jews for the common good.

F & G SAVINGS BONDS MATURE

Secretary of the Treasury Anderson today announced that in order to afford the individuals (and personal trust estates) who have held Series F and G Savings Bonds originally issued on and after September 1, 1946, and which mature beginning September 1, 1958, for an opportunity to continue their the full 12 years until maturity, investments in United States Savings Bonds, they will be permitted until further notice to reinvest the proceeds, as they mature, in Series E or H Bonds, without regard to the annual limitation of $10,000 (maturity value) for each series.

Those holders can purchase Series E or H Bonds or a combination of both up to such denominational amounts as the proceeds of their matured bonds will fully cover. This can be accomplished by presenting the Series F and G Bonds to any Federal Bank or Branch.

Series E or H Bonds so purchased will be dated as of the first day of the month in which the matured Series F or G Bonds are presented for payment. In order to preserve the continuity of their investment holders of the maturing bonds are urged to present them for exchange during the month in which they mature.

Holders other than individuals and personal trust estates will not be permitted to reinvest the proceeds of their maturing Series F or G Bonds outside of the limitation on holdings for Series E and H Bonds.

Stocker Feeder Cattle Auction

CENTRAL ALABAMA STOCK YARDS
CLANTON, ALABAMA

OCTOBER 6, 1958
1:30 P. M.

There will be a number of extra buyers present as well as the regular buyers and some twenty-five or thirty 4-H and FFA members looking for feeder calves. All classes of livestock will be handled as usual, but we especially want to stress that you bring your good calves that will be suitable for Club Calves. We will have a good market on Slaughter as well as Stocker Cattle.

Remember this, a calf hauled 40 miles will shrink 5-9% in weight. This means that a calf bringing $30 at Clanton must bring $32.40 at Montgomery to return you the same dollars. Also, the commission is a great deal less at Clanton.

We have a good steady market for all classes of livestock every Monday and will appreciate the opportunity to serve you.

CLANTON, ALABAMA | VOLUME XXXVI | THURSDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1958 | NUMBER 41

FROM the mailbag: There were two hundred new cases of tuberculosis in the state recorded in August but none were from Chilton County. . . of 33 of the best voices at Huntingdon College this year Elizabeth Oglesby was chosen. She will sing with the Huntingdon Chorale the 1958-59 season. . . Of 510 cases of cancer reported in the State in July four cases were reported from Chilton County . . . "The letter E is the most important one in the alphabet since it is always out of cash, forever in dEbt, never out of dangEr. Still, it is the beginning of Existance, the commencement of Ease, and the end of troublE. Without it there would be no mEat, no lifE and no hEaven. It is the center of honEsty. . .the letter E is in Everything."

MR. Driver from Montgomery way came in to pay his subscription and chat for awhile Tuesday. It does our old heart good for our old friends to come by and shake our hand and tell us we are doing a good job. Mr. Driver is quick to admit that although he lives in Montgomery it doesn't hold a candle to Chilton County. He lived at Verbena for about 40 years.

WHEN you open your mail, why is it that the letter marked with the biggest red "important", isn't.

THE ferry at Mims Crossing will be in operation in about a week or ten days according to Judge Dave Tingle. The ferry will be operated by Chilton and Coosa counties jointly.

FUNNY how the TV set even brings families thousands of miles apart closer together. Mrs. Verna Bean and daughter Judy was watching the Auburn-Tennessee game the other week here at their home. Daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Calfee were watching in San Diego, California. Son Billy Bean was watching in New York. Daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Jones were watching in Tuscaloosa, and son Jack was watching the game at Legion Field. Three of her children are Auburn grads.

A NAUGHTY little girl was put in a clothes closet for punishment. For 15 long minutes there wasn't a sound. Finally the stern but anxious mother opened the door and peered inside.

"What are you doing in there?" she asked.

From the darkness came the emphatic answer, "I'm thpittin' on your new hat, I'm thpittin' on your new dreth, I'm thpittin' on your new thatinthlippers and-and—" There was a breathless pause.

"And what?" cried the mother.

Came the voice of vengeance. "Now I'm waitin' for more thpit!"

DON M. DAVIS has been awarded the Distinguished Military Student Badge at Auburn. To merit this honor a student must possess outstanding qualities of leadership, high moral character, a definite aptitude for the military service, must have attained a class standing in the upper third of his class, and must have an average of "B" or higher in the advanced military course. Congratulations Don.

OCT. 5 through 11 is Fire Prevention Week and in Chilton County we need a year of fire prevention, Oct. 1, to Sept. 30th. Chilton County is 71 percent woodland. The forest is our greatest natural resource. The income from our forest in 1957 were $3,500,000.00 to the county. Fires could do enough damage to stop this income. It is the duty of every citizen to prevent this happening. Carelessness is the cause of all the damage.

CORN VARIETY TEST TO BE HELD OCT. 3

All Chilton County corn producers are encouraged to attend Corn Variety Test - Result Demonstration meeting Monday, October 13th at 10:00 A.M. - ½ mile north of Liberty Church on Liberty Hill to Thorsby Road.

An experimental corn production arear will be harvested, yields recorded, and corn will be displayed for study and observation at this meeting. Farmers will not only have an opportunity to study and compare a number of different recommended hybrids, but will also see some of the experimental steps made by commercial seedmen in testing foundation corns for hybrid corn seed production.

Test area was planted last week of April, mineral fertilizing material was applied in accordance with soil-test indicated needs, and adequate Nitrogen was supplied. With summer rainfall adequate, corn yields are expected to run in excess of two tons per acre.

Corn is becoming of more and more economic importance in Chilton County.

The Monday, October 13th meeting is a further attempt to study the methods of producing quality corn.

FOOTBALL-

Clanton Upsets Wetumpka 13 to 6

An underdog Clanton team upset favored Wetumpka last Friday night 13 to 6. Coach Finlayson's Tigers relied on an alert defensive unit to lead them to victory. Early in the first quarter Clanton's terrific sophomore end Elliot Monroe, broke through Wetumpka's line, jarred the ball loose from the quarterback, grabbed the ball in mid-air and raced untouched for 65 yards and a touchdown. Buddy Vines passed to Tommy Shelton for the extra point.

Wetumpka scored in the second period set up by a 30 yard sprint by halfback O'rby. Quarterback Stiff plunged over for the score. Wetumpka missed the extra point and Clanton held on to 7 to 6 halftime lead.

In the last half Clanton's defense dominated the game as Wetumpka never threatened seriously. In the fourth period Don Norten, Clanton's fine line backer intercepted a Wetumpka pass and scampered 55 yards for the clinching score.

Besides Norten and Monroe's fine play, Tommy Edwards, played his best game. Clanton could never get an offensive threat going however, James Knight had a beautiful 65 yard touchdown jaunt called back because of a penalty.

Clanton plays Columbiana there this Friday night.

CHILTON COMING PROGRESSIVE --

Chilton County has been known in past years as a backward county, comparatively speaking, by other counties and other states.

We are fast shedding our shell of indifference and Chilton's people are more and more coming to realize that we will never gain until we believe we need to gain.

Reason for this change of public patriotism is greatly due to many new faces in local business and economical life which indicate that Chilton is finally outgrowing her deeprooted feeling of "if it was O.K. winth me".

For years sympathy for one progressive cause or another has been diminished by pure apathy. Folks just didn't care whether Chilton County grew or went to the dogs. Times have changed, however, and with it the knowledge that as we go so goes our County and we cannot hope to enrich our own lives without also enriching lives around us.

It is a crusade toward a better understanding of each others needs and the things which will make our County a better place, This change of attitude is long overdue and the shot in the arm given it in the past few years by enterprising businessmen who have a sincere desire to see their community show something of itself is appreciated as indicated by the genral trend toward more, better, intelligent sizing-up of situations as they reveal themselves.

From my front porch

By CARL HELM

I happened to be passing by one day when the five-year-old daughter of my neighbor brought in from the nearby vacant lot "a bouquet" for her mother — a little handful of Bouncing Bet and Queen Anne's Lace and other wild flora: flowers, to the child, and beautiful.

Her mother thrust them aside with a frown. "Those are weeds, Dotty," she said. "Throw them away!"

Somehow I felt a little hurt, and I think the child felt a big one. I think, too, that flowers are flowers to a child, wherever they may grow"— and they're beautiful, until some grownup says that they're not: they're only weeds, because Mama says so!

I got to wondering, then, about when and where race prejudice starts — and I can't believe it begins in the heart or the mind of a child! . . .

THINGS We see and hear

by BO—

Learned from Lamar DeLoach recently that the CCHS Band is progressing nicely this year. He says a strong clarinet section is evidenced this year, but they're a little weak in brass section. We sincerely hope that Lamar can put the spirit of yesteryear back into CCHS Band and produce march music befitting old Chilton County High's past reputation. Don't get us wrong. we're all for Lamar and what he and the Band Boosters and members have done. . . anyway, if we didn't feel he could handle the task mentioned, we wouldn't have opened the subject. More power to the band. . . man!

Bet lasting peace throughout the world would be more certain if someone would show some of the bigwigs of the "big" powers of our world some of the movies of the horrors, pestilence and desolations of wars (since memories do not suffice and then inform them (the negotiators) that they were going to "fight" right alongside the common "you" and "me"! Negotiations would doubtless take a urn for the better. Whataya think?

Alvin Ellison is due a vote of appreciation from his townsfolk and fellow citizens for again accepting the position as president of the local CD Rescue Squad. This is his third term It's been a rourh go, as Alvin will testify and it's still slow progress. The main thing, however, is that it is progress and that's what counts in any undertaking Look to next week's News for a feature concerning present needs and expectations of your Civil Defense and Rescue Squad

Letters to the Editor

HOW TO LICK STAMP SITUATION OFFERED BY READER!!

Dear Mr. Bean:

The past few months I have noticed lines of business people and others waiting for the Post Office window to open in the morning at 8:30. Many of these people are waiting to buy stamps. It seems to me that a stamp vending machine in the Post Office lobby would not only serve people when the windows are closed, but people could use the machine while the window is open. and thereby take some of the load off the clerk.—Sincerely Yours, James W. Beall.

A Sinless Life --

Whosoever abideth in him, sinneth not: whosoever sinneth hath not seen him,(neither known him. --1 John 3-6.

To do anything spiritual you have to abide in the Lord, John 15:5.

To abide in the Love of the Lord you have to do his commandments John 15:10.

The only way we may know the Lord is to keep his commandments . John 2:3.

He that saith, I know him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a lier, and the truth is not in him. 1 John 2: 4.

When we qualify to live a sinless life, to give us all things, we have obligated our Lord to give us all things, make us know all things, teach us all things, enable us to do greater things than He while on earth. -1 John 2:20-27, John 14:12. and why call me, Lord, Lord and do not the things which I say?

POLICE RECORD ONLY 3 BURGLARIES IN 1958

Clanton's Police Force has been the target lately of some unjustified criticisms which are based on rumors, gossip, and misinterpretations of intentions.

To begin with Clanton now has one night policeman more than the average city its size. It has two police cars on at night and a man at the City Hall at all times on a two-way radio. The men pounding the pavement every night has a walkie talkie with which he can call in to the station or to the police car on touring duty. "Some nights", says police chief Wallace Foshee, "we put as much as 125 miles on one car". Some folks are of the opinion that the policemen on night duty make one round of town and spend the rest of their time in a local drive in restaurant. These folks are invited by the police chief to come by and take a look at the radio log of any day and it will show them exactly where who was and when they were there.

For example, on checking the log ourselves we found that in one average 24-hour period four men took off a total amount of 78 minutes for meals and coffee breaks. They work a 12 hour shift to boot.

Local records, other than those classified as juvenile cases, show that a total of three burglaries have occurred during the entire year. This includes business houses only. They are:

Local Yellow Front Store; broken and entered on March 15; no arrest has been made as yet.

Upchurch Drug Co.; broken and entered May 6th; arrest made; confession obtained.

Edwards & Daniels Jewelry Co.; broken and entered, September 30th; investigation now being conducted.

Clanton's police department is doing a jam-up good job, everything considered. Every citizen-businessman interested in promoting his community would do well to consider these things:

Am I doing my part to help the police force?

If so, do I show my appreciation of my police force in any way?

Do I take the necessary precautions to discharge burglary of my place of business?

What can I do to better the situation of the police force in order for them to better serve my community?

If you honestly answer these questions and then follow up your answers, we think you'll think better of our local police force and realize that, with what the have, they are serving their community very well!

Various Groups Endorse 1c Tax

LOCAL — UNDERWRITERS SAY "YES" TO SALES TAX (?)

THE Central Alabama Association of Life Underwriters had their regular monthly meeting on Friday, September 26th. Vice - President Jack Lawrence presided.

Guest sperker was Mr. Bing Lecroy, County Superintendent of Education, who gave a very interesting presentation of our local school needs.

Mr. Lecroy passed around several photographs indicating the rundown and crowded conditions of most Chilton schools.

The local Life Underwriters voted unanimously in favor of the one-cent sales tax that the school board is asking, to be used for maintenance of school buildings and facilities.

VERBENA SAYS "WE NEED BETTER SCHOOLS"

In its September meeting the Verbena PTA voted unanimously to endorse the proposed one-cent sales tax for the county. The PTA feels that this is a fair tax and a good way to give our schools the help they so desperately need. — Myrtle Jenkins, Sec. and Treas.

T-J LIONS ENDORSE SCHOOL TAX

At the meeting on October 6 the Thorsby-Jemison Lions Club discussed at length the physical needs of the Chilton County School System. The club went on record as endorsing unanimously the one-cent sales tax which has been proposed for building, equiping, and maintaining the schools of Chilton County. — Signed G. Carl Raegner, President Thorsby - Jemison Lions Club.

SOUTH CHILTON COMMUNITY FOR 1-CENT TAX

Supt., of Education, Mr. W. A. LeCroy, spoke at Thomas Jr. Hi School last Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. A nice group including the trustees of the school were present at this meeting.

Mr. LeCroy made a very interesting and informative speech regarding the need for additional funds for our schools. Also, pictures were shown showing the deplorable conditions that exist in some of our schools.

It was the unanimous opinion of those present that the one-cent sales tax should be approved by the voters of Chilton County at the election to be held November 4.

CARPENTERS SAY "YES" ON 1-CENT TAX

On Saturday night, October 4, the Carpenters' Union met in Clanton. Superintendent W. A. LeCroy discussed with the group the needs of Chilton County Schools and how the needs could be met with the proposed one-cent sales tax which will be voted on November 4. If this tax passes, the entire amount of revenue derived will be used for building, equiping, and maintaining all the schools of the county. Not one cent can be used otherwise.

After the discussion, the group voted to endorse the tax unanimously and pledged their cooperation to work for its passage.

VERMONT PASSES ON SCHOOL TAX

Vermont School endorses School Tax on Tuesday night, September 30. The Vermont P. - T. A. voted unanimously to endorse the one - cent sales tax for schools.

SEARS ROEBUCK GIVES FFA SOWS

Fifteen Alabama FFA chapters will have 103 hogs in the FFA Hog Show which will be held at the South Alabama Fair, October 6 - 11.

During the past nine years Sears-Roebuck and Company has given purebred gilts to FFA chapters in Aalbama. To date 190 of these gilts have been placed with chapters. As a result of this program several thousand head of purebred hogs are on Alabama Farms.

In order to further encourage and expand the FFA pig chain program, this special show is being held. Only hogs obtained through the pig chains can be entered.

The names of the chapters from which these hogs will come and the number they will enter are as follows: Excel, 15; Bakerhill, 3; Opp, 3; Five points, 5; Highland Home, 4; Rawl, 9; LaFayette, 3; Inverness, 7; Verbena, 6; Clanton, 6; Troy, 7; Suttle, 5; Ozark, 6; Wetumpka, 5; and Hartford, 24.

MORAL OBSERVATIONS

By A Reader

There is that scattereth, and yet increaseth; and there is that withholdest more than is meet, but it tendeth to poverty. Proverbs, 11: 24.

Although it seems contradictory and inconsistent to reasoning, experience in life and observation teaches that this rule is absolutely true. Dr. Norman Peale tells the story of one of his experiences with a very wealthy man whom he came to know in a hospital. This man, in obtaining wealth, had become so self centered and so devoid of respect for the rights and well-being of other people that he had become so distraught in mind that he was actually sick in body. He was in a wheel-chair, and demanded constant attention. He was very discordant in disposition, an flayed everything and every body around him.

Dr. Peale, in talking with him, decided to try a physiological approach in an attempt to change his outlook on life and give him a new perspective toward happiness and health. He told him of a good old lady who was an inmate of the same hospital, but was in need of financial help, and suggested that this man make a small contribution. He did so, reluctantly somewhat, but after seeing the cheer, and the genuine expression of appreciation on he face of the old lady, he could not conceal the look of great satisfaction. He continued, unreservedly and voluntarily to give to her needs, and found so much joy in doing so that it completely changed his course in life, and Dr. Peale says that a few years later he met this man, and in talking with him, he found that he had undergone such a change in personality and disposition that he was hardly recognizable. He said that he was about the happiest man he had ever seen, because he had found the secret to successful living through sharing his life and his services with others.

It is wonderful to be successful in life, but real success, in the sense of happiness and contentment, and even security, does not lie altogether in the accumulation of earthly possessions. I have known people whose lives were empty and desolate and lonely even though they owned a lot of worldly goods. They had missed so much in life by being narrow and selfish. When we selfishly hoard the blessings that God's good providence gives to us, it has a way of becoming stagnant and polluted like a pond of water that has no outlet, and our lives are made poorer instead of richer by our possessions. How richly rewarding it is when we learn to live successfully by sharing what we are and what we have in service to others

ALA. POWER CO. HOLDS OPEN HOUSE

six thousand customers, an increase of one thousand eight hundred during the past ten years. In the District Office you will meet Mrs. U. L. Headley and Mrs. Faye Honeycutt, Local Office Clerks, and Mrs. Bobbye Minor, Stenographer. Mr. C. A. Price is the District Engineer, Mr. F. E. Wray is the District Superintendent, and Mr. Gordon Robertson is Manager of the Clanton District. Mr. R. L. Scott, a member of the Land Department of the Company, is also located in the Clanton Office. Mr. Scott is Recreational Director for the areas of company owned land adjacent to the lakes of the Coosa and Tallapoosa Rivers.

The Clanton District is a part of the Southern Division of the Alabama Power Company System and the Division Headquarters is Montgomery. Mr. J. T. Nolen, Jr., is Division Manager and Mr. E. B. Marsh is the Division Vice-President.

The territory served by this District Office includes Clanton, Thorsby, Jemison, Coopers, Verbena, Marbury, Isabella, Maplesville, Plantersville and Billingsley. In addition to these towns a large number of customers are located on Mitchell Lake and Lay Lake. Assisting in the operation of this District and maintaining electric service to all customers are four employees that visit your homes at regular intervals and you often see them as they go about their work in the Company Trucks. These employees are Messrs. Houston Nivens, Earnest Bates, Jeff Pilgreen and George Fulmer.

The Clanton District Line Crew builds and maintains the electric lines in the Clanton District and does construction and maintenance work in the area served by our Prattville Office. Foreman of this crew is Mr. G. C. Robbins, and the crew members are the following eight men. Messrs. R. L. Kinney, Webster Cooper, Mardis Kilgore, Jeff Bates, Jessie L. Culpepper, C. M. Pendley, George M. McCullough and Lester H. Johnson. This group has an outstanding record of working safely and has not had a lost time accident in over ten years. Of course good housekeeping is a part of our everyday living for it is a responsibility of any good citizen. Our office and crew headquarters building are kept clean by Kyner Gissendaner, our Janitor.

Our only product is electric service. Electricity is one of the most useful servants of man. On of our major jobs is to assist our customers in obtaining the full benefits of electric service. To that end, the Company sells electric appliances at its local offices and a corps of rural service engineers assist farmers by suggesting ways in which electrical equipment will help make farming more profitable. Industrial power engineers consult regularly with industrial customers to assist them in the most economical use of electrical power. Commercial and institutional customers commercial engineers concerning have the benefit of competent lighting in store, office, church, school or other installations.

From Humble Beginning to Vital Influence

SOME eight years ago what is now as West End Baptist Church had its beginning in an old unused building on 2nd Avenue in Clanton.

Since that date the church has grown, and grown, and grown until today it boast approximately 450 members and is one of the most active and influential churches in the community.

Taking the helm of the church from the Rev. Ed Wilkins was one of the best loved clergymen in these parts, the Rev. L. D. Brookshire. He took over the duties as minister in February of 1958. He and his family, previously at Liberty Hill Baptist Church moved into their new pastorium in July of this year. Dedication and Open House was held Sunday, September 28.

Serving as deacons in the church at this time are: I. J. Brock, J. G. Blair, H. U. Courtney, E. H. Davis, B. M. Deason, Howard Fulford, Lewis Headley, Jessie C. Jones, E. F. Qlinner, Honrie Little, Jack Meek, W. C. Muncher, C. F. Perker, Roy L. Traywick, C. B. Weldon, J. W. Williams and William Hicks.

A good church with a good pastor and a wide awake "flock" is a vital organ in any community. Clanton is fortunate to have this evidenced in West End Baptist.

STATE OF ALABAMA
A PROCLAMATION
BY THE GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama at the Regular Session 1957, ordered an election to be held by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama which said amendment is herein set out, and ordered that the said election be held on the date of the general election next succeeding the final adjournment of the 1957 Regular Session of the Legislature; and

WHEREAS, the date of the general election next succeeding the final adjournment of the 1957 Regular Session of the Legislature will be and occur on Tuesday, November 4, 1958; and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment is required by law and by the provisions of the act submitting the amendment, to be given by a proclamation of the Governor to be published in each county in the State of Alabama once a week for four successive weeks next preceding the day appointed for the election:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, James E. Folsom, as Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday the 4th day of November, 1958, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama, in the manner and form provided by law upon the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901:

"The provisions of an act of the Legislature approved on the seventeenth day of June 1957 relative to the powers of Marion County to provide for schools and other improvements, being Act No. 29, H.B. 107, 1957 Regular Session, are hereby ratified, validated, and confirmed, any provisions of the Constitution of Alabama as amended to the contrary notwithstanding."

I further direct and proclaim that notice of this election upon Tuesday the 4th day of November 1958, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901, be given by publishing the same once a week for four successive weeks next preceding Tuesday the 4th day of November 1958 in each county in the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed by the Secretary of State, at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery on this the 18th day of August 1958.
